PHILATELIC FINANCE OF THE HOUR.

Optimism of the French Dealer.—A great deal of credit is due to the big firms like Champion, Lemaire, Maury, etc., who have kept their establishments going right through the war, even when the Germans were almost at the gates of Paris, and thus helped to maintain the prestige of Philately. Throughout they have shown a notable example of confidence and patriotism, more in keeping with spirit of "Business as usual" than the timorous attitude of many English dealers. This lack of confidence amongst many of our own dealers reflects small credit upon the stamp trade.

A striking example of pluck and enterprise during war time has been shown by Messrs. Yvert and Tellier of Amiens, who, within a few days of the evacuation of that town by the German forces, produced a new issue of L'Echo de la Timbrologie, which has now resumed publication as usual! The other leading French journals are now being issued once more. Altogether French philatelists seem to be taking things much more philosophically than we, supposedly phlegmatic, folk in England. Let us endeavour to follow their example.

French and English Advertisements.—One cannot but be struck by the marked difference between the business methods of English and Continental dealers at the present time. The latter—appreciating the fashion of the moment—devote their announcements to topical items such as war issues, stamps of the countries at war, Levant stamps, Epirus, etc., all calculated to take the public taste at the moment. Here are a few sample quotations:—

French Red Cross stamps, Type I., 25c
French Red Cross stamps, Type II., 20c
4. Belgian occupation, 65c
7. Epirus, National flag, 3fr
Santi Quaranta on Italian, the set, 2.25fr
Other offers are sets of the various Foreign Post Offices in Turkey, German Colonials, German Post Offices in Morocco, etc.

I am not suggesting, of course, that our dealers need offer German Colonials, etc., as their "Star Turn," but there are many war issues and cancellations which interest the British philatelist apart from anything originating—or more correctly—originally originating from our present enemies.

Compare the above with the "Stamps bought and sold" advertisements in the British stamp journals. And then I am told that advertising is no good! What wonder? It is the uninteresting advertisement that is at fault.

War Stamps and New Collectors.—Profit on the handling of war stamps and current issues may be small, but one has to realise that it is the interest taken in these stamps at the present time that is doing much to keep the hobby alive. The collector who at first goes in for war stamps will ultimately launch out in other (and to the dealer, more profitable) directions. Not only regular collectors, but the newspaper reading public are anxious to buy these historical souvenirs of the war, but they must be told where they are to be obtained and that is why the dealer with an eye to his own interests should be advertising more freely now than at any time. Thousands of new collectors can be made at the present time, if only the dealers make the most of their opportunities.

The New Catalogues.—Despite the war the standard catalogues all seem to be appearing as usual. The new editions of Senf and Kohl are on sale on the Continent, whilst the 19th editions of the Yvert and Tellier-Champion Catalogue was announced to appear on the 15th of last month. In America the new Scott was to have been issued about the middle of October, but no copy has reached me as yet. At home the only new catalogue issued this season is the 15th edition of the Standard Catalogue published by Whitfield King and Co.

Speculation in War Stamps.—Things are not as they used to be in the good old times when a certain type of "smart" individual was practically unknown. I refer to a genus known as the Speculator.

Nowadays one never knows what one is doing when buying provisionals (or sometimes even new regular issues) when they are still in the "red hot" stage without their full pedigrees available.

That clever "philatelist" and business genius, the speculator, now has an excellent chance of working. War is ever a God-send to this individual, especially when the Censorship aids the scheme! Let us look at the case of Samoa. Some G.R.I. provisionals are issued, and we at home, in our innocence, think they will be very rare: so few are about. We see a copy at a stiff price, but they are rare, so bang goes a Jimmy O'Goblin.

Gradually a little news leaks out, and it transpires that our cherished rarities are so uncommon because Mr. Speculator has "cornered" a nice little bundle!

We await more news, and when it comes—lo and behold—a 1/- SHILLINGS and a SAMOS error have been found. Presently blocks of four, etc., will also be "found."

MORAL: Don't pay fancy prices for these new war provisionals until their full story has been unravelled.

France and "Enemy" Stamps.—Evidently the French Government does not share the views held by our own Home Secretary upon the subject of the importation of "enemy stamps," for not only overprinted "Belgien" stamps, but the Austrian and Hungarian War Relief issues also are being freely offered by Parisian dealers at new issue rates. One franc is the price asked for the full set of German "Belgiens" and 30 or 40 centimes for the pair of Austrians or Hungarians. On the other hand prices for the I.E.F. series range slightly higher than in this country, 10 francs being demanded for the set exclusive of the 1 rupee, which sells for about 6sh in the English market.

Now that the Government and society are returning to Paris, the French stamp trade is rapidly resuming its normal aspect.—Stamp Collecting.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Some weeks ago we announced that the home of Hon. E. R. Ackerman at Plainfield, N. J., had been entered and some $20,000 worth of jewelry taken. Solely on the evidence of finger-print experts, Charles Connors of Chicago was convicted Dec. 18 at Elizabeth, N. J., for burglary and theft. Finger-marks found in the house were sworn to be identical to those of Connor.

—In our issue of Dec. 19, the Economist Stamp Co. was made to advertise some St. Louis 1904 as imperf. when it should have been mint. The firm will no doubt be flooded with orders and we make this statement so that our readers may know that the announcement in the advertisement was a mistake.

—Clippings are received from D. E. Lantz, Edw. A. Crumb, A. C. Roessler, F. D. Guggenheim, Frank Kocher, Rush B. Johnson, W. T. Lathrop, Brockett R. Bates (3).

—On Dec. 20, Waxahachie, Tex., organized a stamp club which will be known as the Waxahachie Philatelic Society. E. L. Harding is president, Homer R. Hendrix is secretary, and L. R. Sessions treasurer. We are advised that this is the first society of its kind ever formed in that city.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The Southern Philatelic Association Year Book for 1915 is a very pretentious and bulky document, and one which the Association may well feel proud of. A review copy is at hand from the secretary, C. V. Webb, Perry, O., who will no doubt be willing to furnish a copy to any interested parties. The price is 50c, but free of charge to all members of the Association. In the book is found the proceedings of the annual meeting held at Indianapolis last September, the constitution of the Association, and roll of members. There is a half-tone picture of the delegates to Indianapolis, and twenty-five pages of advertising lends financial strength to the publication.

WAR STAMPS OF THE WORLD.

The story of the part played by the postage stamp in war during the past fifty years is interestingly related in a small volume entitled "Postage Stamps of War," which comes opportunely from the pen of D. B. Armstrong, the well-known philatelic authority. Commencing with the Crimean War, which provides the earliest instance of the use of the adhesive postage stamp in war, he passes in rapid review the special issues associated with the American Civil War, the Franco-German War, the war between Chili and Peru, Arabi Pasha's Rebellion, the first Boer War, Spanish-American War, South Africa 1899-1902, Boxer Rising in China, Russo-Japanese War, Balkan War, etc., etc.

Perhaps the chapter dealing with the war stamps and postmarks of the present European conflict will appeal most to collectors at the moment, all varieties which have appeared to date being enumerated and in most cases illustrated. They include special Red Cross issues from France, Belgium, Russia, Monaco and Morocco, German stamps overprinted "Belgien" and value in centimes for use under the Imperial Governor Generalship, stamps of German Togo overprinted "Anglo-French Occupation," "G. R. I." on former stamps of German New Guinea, Indian stamps overprinted "I. E. F." used by the field post offices attached to the Expeditionary Force in France, together with almost countless varieties of naval and military postmarks, censor marks, etc., forming an unique historical record of the great war of the Nations.

The effect of the war upon the stamp market is fully dealt with in a valuable appendix by W. H. A. Williams, an acknowledged authority on stamp values.

Published at the modest price of 4½d net (5½d post free), by the Holloway Press Co., London, England, in their series of Stamp Collecting Handbooks, well printed and copiously illustrated, this little volume is one that should be in the hands of all who are in any way interested in the fascinating hobby of philately.

STAMPS VERSUS POEMS.

By W. E. IMESON.

I've been re-reading a fascinating article that appeared some time ago on "Where to hunt for rare stamps" (I've been hunting ever since). Its author, Mr. Percy Bishop, writes:—
"I know of an instance of a beautiful block of six unused penny blacks being found in a copy of 'Young's Night Thoughts'."

As the above appears to lend itself to poetic treatment, please hand me the harp:—

Though strange the story, on its truth
Would I make no attacks,
A Bishop would not even tell
White lies of Penny Blacks.
For Young I don't a penny care,
Yet—though it colour lacks—
I'd give a penny for his "Thoughts"
To find six Penny Blacks.

Then again, Bishop Percy—No (I was thinking of the "Reliques of Ancient Poetry"), I mean Percy Bishop, adds, concerning the discovery of some old letter-sheets:—

"A batch of such sheets, each one having a used 'penny black' on the reverse side, was recently found among the effects of a gentleman deceased, and on these was written an epic poem running to some fifty stanzas. The poetry was poor stuff, but the stamps realized nearly three pounds!"

Once again I must strike the lyre:—
Now stanzas fifty odd, you'd think,

Though not exactly "fine,"
Were worth as many Penny Blacks—
A penny, say, per line?
Alas! this painful fact remains,
Too sad to dwell upon,
That "epic" was not even worth
The paper written on!

NEWARK, N. J., CLUB OBSERVES CHRISTMAS.

Santa Claus, a Christmas tree and holly gave the members of the Newark Stamp Club an early taste of the holiday spirit. Old Santa distributed philatelic gifts at the club's room, 33 Court street, on Friday evening. Novel contests, in which the need of much geographic, historical and philatelic information was necessary, made the hit of the entertainment and over fifty prizes were given to the winners. Secretary Fuss made most of the arrangements, attending especially to the refreshments, for which the club is noted. Visitors were present from Stapleton, Elizabeth, Plainfield, the Oranges, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Passaic.

BELGIAN STAMPS HELP THE NEEDY.

A chance to secure a souvenir of the European war and at the same time do something for the Good Fellow charity fund has been made possible through the Reeves Pulley Company. The company recently received 1,200 Belgian postage stamps, from its Belgian agent. The money for these stamps was sent the agent for him to apply on the Belgian relief fund. But the Pulley company has no use for the stamps and has turned them over to the Good Fellows without any cost whatever. These stamps will be sold as souvenirs for five cents each and every five cent piece received from the sale will be turned over to the Good Fellows. The sale of all these stamps will net the Good Fellows $60.

For some time Edgar Amand, who lived at Mierebehe station, Brussels, Belgium, was the agent of the Reeves Pulley Company in that country. When the war broke out he was pressed into the service of his own country and went to the front. He was wounded and had to quit fighting. By devious ways and after enduring many hardships he secured passage to England and is now in a hospital in Manchester, recovering from his wound.

After the Germans had overrun Belgium they took charge of the postage facilities of the government. Instead of issuing new postage stamps they utilized a regular issue of German stamps by printing across the face of each stamp the inscription—"Belgian 3 Centimes." These stamps thus become in themselves a silent witness of German occupation.

M. Amand secured a large consignment of these stamps and decided to make an effort to sell them in America. He thought that in this manner he could secure some money to be spent in the relief of his fellow countrymen. So 1,200 of them were sent to the Pulley company because M. Amand knew the company and had done business with it in the past.

Officials of the Pulley company thought they might just as well investigate before sending any money so they wrote to their agents in Manchester, England, people with whom they have done business for the past twenty years. The English agents of the local firm, together with some English military officials, visited the Manchester hospital and interviewed M. Amand. They were convinced that his story was true and that he would make proper use of the money. They so advised the Pulley company in a letter which came this week. Consequently the officials of the Pulley company forwarded money for the stamps to M. Amand at Manchester. He will use the money in taking care of the Belgian refugees and in extending relief to those who are in dire need.

And as the local company has turned these stamps over to the Good Fellows without a cent of expense they will continue in their work of poor relief in this country. Each one of them will be sold for a nickel and each nickel will go to the Good Fellow fund.—Columbus, Indiana, Republican.

THE SAMOA PROVISIONALS.

At 8.30 A. M. on Sunday, 30th August, a most impressive ceremony took place. It was the hoisting of the British Ensign in Samoa.

When taking possession of the Island, all cash belonging to the Government, also post office money and stamps, were confiscated.

Since 1900 the stamps used in Samoa had on all the different values the same picture, viz., a ship. The stock on hand was, on September 3rd, overprinted with the letters G. R. I. and the value in English currency. The new postal authorities had apparently no idea that by overprinting these stamps they created a philatelic event which seldom occurs. The first issue of this provisional supply consisted of:—

16,000	1/2d on 3pf.
14,000	1/2d on 5pf.
5,900	1d on 10pf.
18,000	2 1/2d on 20pf.
2,000	3d on 25pf.
1,000	4d on 30pf.
1,000	5d on 40pf.
6,000	6d on 50pf.
1,000	9d on 80pf.

100	1 shilling on 1 mark.
100	2 shillings on 2 marks.
400	3 shillings on 3 marks.
400	5 shillings on 5 marks.

The second issue was printed a few days later, and consisted of:—

700	1/2d on 3pf.
1,100	1d on 10pf.
1,700	2 1/2d on 20pf.
1,800	3d on 25pf.
600	4d on 30pf.
400	5d on 40pf.
700	9d on 80pf.

20	1 shilling on 1 mark.
20	2 shillings on 2 marks.
40	3 shillings on 3 marks.
120	5 shillings on 5 marks.

Two days later the following were given out:—

15	1 shilling on 1 mark.
6	2 shillings on 2 marks.
18	3 shillings on 3 marks.
14	5 shillings on 5 marks.

This makes a total of:—

16,700	1/2d on 3pf.
14,700	1/2d on 5pf.
7,000	1d on 10pf.
19,700	2 1/2d on 20pf.
3,800	3d on 25pf.
1,600	4d on 30pf.
1,400	5d on 40pf.
6,000	6d on 50pf.
1,700	9d on 80pf.

35	1 shilling on 1 mark.
100	1 shilling on 1 mark.
126	2 shillings on 2 marks.
458	3 shillings on 3 marks.
534	5 shillings on 5 marks.

There were also a few stamps of the different values up to 80pf, but not being complete sheets they were destroyed.

Sixty sets of all values, with the exception of the 1 shilling (without "s"), were given to the Admiral on board the flagship "Australia" to be divided amongst the officers of the Australian fleet, and I do not believe that a set has been sent to the Berne Postal Union.

As already stated, the new provisional issue was given over for distribution on September 3rd. To make the quantity last, stamps were sold only to those who really had letters and cards to send away by the mail. There was no chance at the beginning to obtain greater quantities for speculation. A few days afterwards the mail left for Australia and New Zealand, the military force occupying Samoa nearly using up the whole lot of the 1d, 3d, 4d, 5d, 9d, 1sh, 2sh, 3sh and 5sh stamps, so that even some philatelists living in the vicinity of Apia were unable to get a set for their own collection at face value. In consequence, there was soon a sort of stamp exchange in Apia. The soldiers had mostly the collectors in hand, and demanded prices out of all proportion to the value.

The last hope of obtaining stamps at face value were the other post offices at different villages around Upolu and Savaii, but to the great regret of collectors it was learned that they had ceased to exist, and that for the present the regular service was suspended.

It was therefore considered high time to get the stamps wanted at the lowest price possible, and in some cases they had to be obtained from the tenth or even twelfth holder. Collectors and non-collectors were greatly excited. Stamps were the only topic of conversation, "shillings" stamps being "the best card," for which prices were paid ranging from £15 to £30 sterling.

I might add that the printing office of the Samoanische Zeitung, where the stamps were overprinted, is under Government control.

On September 29th New Zealand stamps arrived here, overprinted with the word "Samoa." Two denominations, viz., the 1/2d King Edward and the 1d Dominion type have been put on sale. At the same time the public was notified that the first provisionals could be used for postal purposes until further orders. Each sheet of New Zealand overprinted stamps contains 240 stamps. The other values up to 1sh will follow in a few days.

Before finishing this article I should like to say that the first ordinance issued by the postal authorities was dated August 29, and reads as follows:—"The German stamps in mark and pfennig values are from this date out of issue. Letters with the remark 'No stamps available' are accepted until the issue of intermediate stamps."—Australian Stamp Journal.

OUR ANNUAL RECRUITING NUMBER.

We generally issue in January of each year a recruiting number that lends a great deal of strength to the collecting enthusiasm, and in keeping with that custom we shall on January 30 present a number of the WEEKLY of great pulling power.

We have advertised in numerous publications and have not hesitated to take the same publicity treatment that we advise for others. All the best and most suitable publications will be patronized by us.

We have also purchased a number of gilt-edged stamp orders dated not earlier than September 1, which we shall use in increasing our circulation. We shall leave no stone unturned to make this particular issue of the WEEKLY a producer of business.

Our regular advertising rates will prevail, $57.60 per page, and $15 per quarter page. How much space can you use?

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Half and Half—An error has been shown us that is of striking character. It is the two cent current stamped envelope, government size 8, with the "U. S. S. E. 1911" watermark, with the governmentally printed inscription in the upper left hand corner: "After 5 days return to Postal Savings System, _____." This envelope with the regular U. S. stamped envelope impression was sent out in a package of twenty-five envelopes of the same kind, doubtless, it having been received with a lot of regulation two cent postal savings bank stamped envelopes. It may be added that the envelope described was received and used for postal savings bank business before the order discontinuing the use of the postal savings bank stamps was issued. It might be interesting to know how the envelope under notice came to be the victim of the misleading circumstances.

The End—The following amendment to the postal laws and regulations seals the fate of the postal savings bank stamps: "The postal-savings officials stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards held by postmasters and other officials and employees of the Post Office Department and the postal service shall be sent to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Postal Savings for destruction. They shall not be sold or given to the public, whether canceled or uncanceled." This ruling is a consequence of the action of September 23rd, 1914, discontinuing the use of postal savings bank stamps.

Many Minds—When it comes to the appraisal of anything of a "fancy" nature philatelically, it is perplexing or amusing, according to your view-point; to find how the opinion of experts on the standard things of philately, varies so amazingly. We secured a fine copy of the six kreuzer brown, broken circle, Bavaria, nicely postmarked and canceled on the cover. The stamp catalogue at $1.25, off the cover, of course. We showed the cover to an experienced philatelist who could value a large collection in the most approved way. "What is such a combination worth?" he was asked. "Easily a dollar; that is, to a cover collector. He should not expect to buy it for less." The second expert, with limitations, said that the cover should bring every bit of catalogue. The third sage of philately was somewhat rapturous in his estimate. "Why, the thing is cheap at double catalogue or more," he averred. Number four advanced the price to a "five dollar bill or even more." The fifth was delirious in his appreciation of the cover's financial possibilities; and we refrain from quoting him, as we do not care to see stamps rise so rapidly in value, even though they happen to be our own.

So—The foregoing recital of a common-place instance is not submitted for its instructive features but to reflect the uncertainty of mind attending any general judgment in a pecuniary way of a stamp that is not in what may be termed standardized condition. Philatelists of ripe experience are not nearly in unison in determining values in a case of the kind; and here, we may say, one of our most trying duties is to attempt to place equitable prices on out-of-the-ordinary specimens that are sent in for examination and appraisal by some of our readers whose faith, at least in our opinion, is flattering. We can always present our idea of the market value of a specimen that is of a character that is not amenable to the rules of philatelic calculation but it must be understood that we, like others, may hit much below or above the bull's-eye.

En Bloc—We are informed that there is in existence a block of fifteen of the four-cent Pan-American inverted center without ever having received the imprint of "Specimen." There is a price attached to this block but we do not care to name it, lest some light-minded reader succumb to the temptation to utter the artless remark that he did not know that there was so much money on this mundane sphere. We show our respect for the piece by the use of "en bloc." Those who do not care to acquire the foregoing lot may be interested in hearing that there is a block of twenty of the one-cent Pan-American inverted for sale at a price.

The Easy Life—We read recently, a pathetic poem, "The Rural Carrier's Lament," in which "lonely stretches," "sad silences," etc., were judiciously interlarded. Now, his lamentations will be turned into rejoicings as under date of December 21st, 1914, the Washington authorities have decreed that he be given a touch of high-life in the city as "postmasters at second-class offices having both city and rural delivery service are authorized to use rural carriers in the delivery of parcel post mail within the city delivery limits whenever the performance of such duties will not interfere with the regular work of the rural carriers, who are directed to cooperate to the fullest extent with the postmasters in this regard." For an illustration of the rural carrier we direct attention to the four cent parcel post stamp which is in every collection.

Postmarks—The postmaster general rises to remark: "Postmasters shall not use any postmarking stamps but those furnished by the Post Office Department. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit postmasters from purchasing or renting canceling machines from their personal friends' funds, subject to the approval of the Department. Provided, That no allowance shall be made for the purchase or rental of such machines in the event the office becomes entitled to a canceling machine under the rules of the Department."

Crook's Stamp—From an old "Cash Book" dated 1872, distributed in the interests of the proprietors of Dr. Crook's Wine of Tar, that has been given us by Mr. W. E. Marsh, we take the following text which accompanies a large facsimile in black of the four cent private proprietary stamp of Dr. Crook: "For the protection of the public we here give a copy of the Revenue Stamp (enlarged one-third) which is placed on every bottle. See that this Stamp is on every bottle, for only such are genuine." This stamp cut of heroic size was a good advertising feature until its use was prohibited by the authorities.

Happy New Year—We have received a large number of Christmas and New Year cards as well as other forms of greeting; and we wish to return our appreciation of the kind remembrances of readers. We are pleased, too, to know that some of our "shut-in" friends have been substantially cheered by the gifts of stamps from those of our readers who wrote to us for names; and in this connection, it is to be said that but one new "shut-in" name was received this year.

WAR AND PEACE ON POSTAGE STAMPS.

If nations obtain the Governments that they deserve, it may be hoped that they do not always deserve their postage-stamps. If that were so, we should be a less deserving nation than we were in the twenty or thirty years which followed the introduction of "adhesive labels" in 1840, when we had some of the finest stamps that have ever been issued. The black penny, the red penny, and, above all, the blue twopenny stamps of 1840 to 1880 have never been surpassed for strength of colour and simplicity of design. When 1880 brought the brick-red penny, and 1881 began a pale procession of lilacs and greens, surely England fell far. When in 1911 the first issue to bear the head of King George saw the light in English post-offices, and was eagerly bought by collectors, who wanted to see what the chosen artist and printers could do for a nation whose King is a philatelist, we possessed what is probably the worst series of stamps ever printed. We are rather better off now, but if the current of our national being is to be judged by the shades of our inks, British blood runs discouragingly thin.

National emblems might be expected to find their way on to postage-stamps, to represent their separate countries among other nations, in postbags at home and abroad, in times of peace and of war. But not all the national animals are on the stamps. The Prussian and Austrian and Russian eagles are in their places, but the Gallic cock does not crow from French envelopes, and the British lion does not roar; indeed, he only made his first appearance on any stamp three years ago, when he was depicted asleep, and, indeed, very nearly dead; now, after his doze, he has been put on the shelf again. The modest retirement of the British lion is the more remarkable in that the stamps of British Dominions, Colonies, and Protectorates make up a gallery of animals almost representative of the fauna of the globe. Canada's first stamp, issued in 1851, shows a beaver; Western Australia began with a black swan, and her swan has swum now for sixty years; New South Wales has chosen to be represented by a lyre-bird, an emu, and a kangaroo; New Zealand has a kiwi; and Tasmania an ornithorhynchus. Tigers bound and growl on the stamps of Pahang and Perak, and elephants march side by side on the issues of the Federated Malay States. Perhaps the most representative series of wild beasts belongs to British North Borneo, which musters bears, alligators, orang-utans, elephants, rhinoceroses, tigers, hornbills, and rusa deer. But a more individual collection is that of Newfoundland, which embraces a cod, a Newfoundland dog, a seal, and an animal which, so far as its natural history is concerned, might be described, like Trinculo's monster, as "no fish, but an islander that hath lately suffered by a thunderbolt." It is a seal, which, instead of flippers, has paws and claws like a big dog. As an effort of philatelic imagination, the portrait of this curious creature is only to be compared with the elephant in the 1912 issue of Sierra Leone. These are stamps of a generous design, which have offered the artist many opportunities. King George's head appears on a medallion at the top of the stamp, and underneath is another medallion showing an elephant trumpeting under a palm tree. The elephant has hocks like a horse.

Here and there history writes itself on postage-stamps plainly enough. Nothing could be simpler or more emphatic than the change from "Repub. Franc." to "Empire Franc." over the head of Napoleon in the French issues of 1852 and 1853, or the change back again in 1870, first with the rough lithographs of Bordeaux, and then the fine engravings printed in Paris. Spanish history, in the same way, if it is not easy reading, is on the stamps to be read. Queen Isabella's head disappears from the currency in 1870, to be followed in turn by the head of Liberty, King Amadeus in 1872, Don Carlos in 1873, Justice holding the Scales of the Republic in the same year, and King Alfonso in 1875. The inscription "Impuesto de Guerra" of the war tax stamps of 1873 occurs twenty-five years later, when the enemy was the United States. Stamps of other countries are intentionally reminiscent or commemorative. The Canada stamps of 1908, issued for the tercentenary of Quebec, make an epitome of the history of the city; on the one-cent stamp are Cartier, the discoverer of the St. Lawrence, and Champlain, the founder of the fur trade settlement, whose troops fought Admiral Kirke after his victory over the French Fleet; and on the seven-cent stamp the portrait of Wolfe is side by side with that of Montcalm. Another picturesque commemorative series is the Columbus issue of the United States, and another the Colonization series of Newfoundland, which ranges for subjects from Guy's ship, the 'Endeavour,' to the paper mills of Grand Falls. Such series must begin, of course, with ancient history. Modern history is less deliberately illustrated; it may even set itself in a series by accident. The Serbian issue of 1904 is one of the most remarkable of all. It was intended to commemorate the coronation of King Peter, and to celebrate the centenary of the Karageorgevitch dynasty; and it was issued the year after the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga. King Peter's head and that of his ancestor, Kara George, are shown side by side in a medallion in the centre of the stamp; and almost as soon as the series was issued it was discovered that if the stamp was turned upside down, the chins, moustaches, and noses of the two heads combined to make a ghastly portrait of the murdered King. The country people believed that the death-mask had been placed on the stamp by divine intervention, and the series was withdrawn. The Near East has added other records of battle and sudden death to the issues of the present decade. In 1913 Greece printed a series to commemorate her victories of 1912, and the inscription will doubtless be spelt out by schoolboys of the future as carefully as the more peaceful legend words which the present war has probably made certain will never be placed again on a stamp, since the next games were to be held in Berlin. A less triumphant series than the Greek war stamps is the Russian "charity" issue of 1905. This was an issue of four large stamps marked three, five, seven, and ten kopecks; but the public paid more than the face value for these stamps, the proceeds being devoted to the assistance of the widows and orphans of the troops who fell in the war with Japan.

It might be possible, though it would lead to no conclusive argument, to trace some kind of connexion between the designs of postage-stamps and the national aspirations of the countries which made use of them. British ideals, judged by this standard, would seem to be simple enough, at all events in years gone by, when we were content with a head and a plain statement of value. Can we trace any conflict of ideals between the designs adopted by other nations—between those of France, say, and Germany? France, since the establishment of the Republic in 1870 has been uniformly and consistently pacific. Her issues of 1870-6 show Peace and Commerce joining hands across the inhabited globe. When she changes the design in 1900 it is to a figure of Liberty holding a tablet inscribed "Droits de l'homme."

Three years later she takes as her ideal figure a girl sowing—vera incessu patet dea; her goddess is agriculture. Her neighbour's ideals are different. In 1900, which is the year of the great naval programme, Germany sets for the first time on her stamps a goddess in full armour, mailed and crowned, her hand on the hilt of the sword. Bellona still franks the envelopes that leave the Prussian frontier. German colonies receive a new stamp in the same great year. For the first time the Cameroons and Togoland behold the future of the Empire—a white liner riding up to the horizon.—The Spectator.

UNITED STATES.—F. L. Bennett writes to correct an error in last week's item regarding the 20c Proprietary stamp. It should have been placed under the list of those on paper watermarked "U. S. I. R." and not that watermarked "U. S. P. S." Mr. Bennett calls attention to the extreme shades of the Proprietary set, as well as for the Documentary and Wines and Cordials, already mentioned, though in the case of the Proprietary this seems to be due to the quantity of ink used. The "U. S. I. R." paper appears to have a darker grayish tinge, and some values, notably the 5/8c, of which Mr. Bennett submits samples and the 1 7/8c are printed on a paper of a curiously mottled texture when held to the light. Could almost be said to be diagonally laid. The watermark seems to be invariably vertical on the Documentary and Wines and Cordials stamps and horizontal on the Proprietary. The marginal imprint is correctly spelled on the "Five Eighths" cent and "Three and One Eighth" cents, but reads "One Eights" and "Three Eights" on those values. Nicely engraved marginal imprints have thus far been found only on the Proprietary stamps, and not on all values at that. The 1 1/4 Proprietary, like all the Documentary seen, being a single lined free hand scrawl.

HONDURAS.—The C.E. Hussman Stamp Co. has shown us several varieties of Official stamps. These include the 1c on 5c carmine, with double printing of the new value, the 1c steamer type, overprinted "Official" in carmine, and "20 cts" in black horizontally, and later "Official—10 cts" in both black and yellow. These are probably rare, but would be worth much more on cover than off.

RUSSIA.—We have received through the courtesy of Hugo Griebert & Co. the Charity stamps issued Nov. 26, each stamp having a kopec added to the postal value for the benefit of the widows and orphans. We are unable to translate the inscriptions, except the name of the country and the values. While similar in a general way, the designs of the frames are all different in detail. "Russia" appears in small letters at the top with the postal value in figures in the corners above the vignette. Below the vignette is a Russian inscription, presumably explaining what the stamps are issued for. Across the bottom of each stamp, is a line beginning and ending with the gross or face value, probably explaining the limited use of the stamps. The central vignettes are: 2k, ancient warrior, with helmet, sword and shield, the latter bearing the Russian double eagles; 4k, soldier bidding his wife farewell; 8k, woman and children; 11k, St. George and the Dragon. The stamps are printed on tinted paper, LIBERIA'S NEW SET HELD UP BY WAR.

Just before hostilities broke out, Liberia had placed the order for new postage stamps in Germany, but whether any of these will ever find their way into the collector's hands is very doubtful. Liberia has been selling large quantities of the current issue, canceled to order, to the trade, and the new series was expected to be even more imposing and ornamental than any stamps hitherto issued by the West African republic.

It would appear that this new issue, so strangely held up by war, consisted of 10 values—1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30 and 50 cents. The 1, 2, 3 and 30 cents, which are oblong and very much like the Belgian Congo stamps, bear views of the country, and on the 5-cent stamps there is the portrait of a dusky gentleman, probably the president.

There is an unreal alligator upon the 15 cents, or it may be the agama lizard, much magnified, which is remembered upon the same value of the 1906 series.

The 10 cents bears the armorial bearings of the country, strongly resembling the type which appeared in 1886. On the 20 cents there is some fruit-bearing plant, upon the 50 cents a native surf-boat, and upon the 25 cents an animal of the large cat tribe. The whole series is in shape unlike any yet issued by the country, and both in size and design strongly resemble the pictorial Congo issues.—London Clipping.

FROM ANNUAL REPORT OF 3rd ASST. P. M. G.

Precanceled Stamps.—Shortly after the beginning of the fiscal year the conditions governing the use of precanceled postage stamps on third and fourth class matter and on that of the second class mailed at the transient rate were modified so as to permit the mailing at one time of any number of pieces of matter bearing such stamps regardless of whether the pieces are identical. This change has resulted in greatly extending the use of such stamps, the number of patrons availing themselves of this method of prepaying postage having been increased more than five-fold. The advantages of using precanceled stamps, both to the Government and the mailer, were greatly emphasized during the holiday period when the amount of parcel-post mail was at its highest.

Mailings Without Stamps Affixed.—The postage collected during the year on mailings of third and fourth class matter without stamps affixed amounted to $6,715,290.59. The method of mailing matter of these classes without stamps affixed and prepaying the postage thereon in money is particularly advantageous to both the mailer and the postal service. The postal service is relieved of canceling stamps on such matter, and this not only effects a considerable saving in the cost of handling, but expedites its dispatch and delivery, as all such matter under the postal regulations is arranged by the sender according to States, counties, cities, etc., thus relieving the postal service from the labor and expense of distributing the matter at the office of mailing. There is also a saving to the Government in the cost of manufacturing and distributing postage stamps. The mailers are relieved from the labor and expense of affixing stamps to the several pieces. For these reasons the method of mailing without stamps affixed, the postage being paid in money, is preferable to the use of precanceled postage stamps.

Applications Received.—The number of applications received for admission of publications to the second class of mail matter, for change in title, frequency of issue, or office of publication, during the fiscal year was 4,649. The number favorably acted on was 4,470, while 179 were denied. During the same period issuance of 4,029 publications having a second-class status was discontinued, leaving 29,148 publications passing in the mails at the second-class rates of postage on June 30, 1914, a net increase of 441 over the previous year. Permits to mail second-class publications at the rates applicable to second-class matter were issued to 309 news agents during the year, and 353 permits were canceled, leaving 2,568 news agents' permits outstanding on June 30, 1914.

Coiled Stamps.—Another very large increase in the demand for coils of 500 and 1,000 stamps each is recorded. The number of coils issued was 1,212,283, an increase of 446,253, or 58 per cent. In 1913 the increase in the number of coils issued was 66 per cent. These coils afford the public an exceedingly convenient form of stamp issue, for affixing by hand as well as by machine, and for use in coin-actuated vending devices which are growing in popularity. The coils are also advantageous to the postal service, being convenient and economical to handle, in that the stamps need not be counted when sold. A widely increased use of coiled stamps would be desirable, and with the use of an improved method of production which has been perfected it is hoped to reduce the present coiling charges of 3 cents per coil of 500 and 6 cents per coil of 1,000, if not eliminate them entirely. This new method prints the stamps in continuous, unjointed strips, instead of in flat sheets which must be cut apart and pasted together as under the old method. Unjointed coils of 2-cent stamps, arranged sideways, were first issued without perforations June 30, 1914; with perforations July 3.

Stamp Books.—The revenue upon the stamp books issued during the year, derived from the 1-cent charged for each book above the value of the stamps contained therein, aggregated $293,108.50. Cost of manufacture was $85,211.14, leaving $207,897.36 to defray cost of distribution.

New Stamp Books.—Two new stamp books were issued during the year, one containing twenty-four 1-cent and twenty-four 2-cent stamps, first issued and

H. F. COLMAN,

Second National Bank Bldg.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

New Denominations.—Five new denominations of postage stamps have been issued, being necessitated for postage on parcels. They are of the same shape (a rectangle on end) and size (about 7/8 by 23/32 inch) as the other ordinary stamps, series 1911. The 7-cent stamp is black; 9-cent, pink; 12-cent, maroon; 20-cent, light blue; 30-cent, vermilion. All of these denominations were first issued by the department, April 29, 1914, and were placed on sale in the Washington, D. C., post office, April 30.

The 7-cent bears the head of Washington in profile, from Houdon's bust, looking to the left. The border design is the same as that of the first six denominations of the current series.

The 9-cent, 12-cent, 20-cent and 30-cent bear the head of Franklin in profile, from Houdon's bust, looking to the left. These four denominations have the same border design as the current 8-cent to $1 stamps.

In addition to its use on parcels, the new 12-cent stamp is convenient for prepayment of registration or special-delivery fee with a single rate of letter postage.

New Postal Cards.—The new 1-cent postal card to replace the No. 4 mentioned in the report for 1913 was first issued by the department and placed on sale in the Washington post office, June 4, 1914. It is known as the No. 8 card, and the dimensions are 3/4 and 5/2 inches (the same as the present No. 4 card). The paper is cream in color and is printed in green ink. The subject of the stamp is a profile portrait of Thomas Jefferson looking to the left. The background of the portrait is open and is surrounded with a circular border bearing in capital letters the words "U. S. Postal Card. One Cent." This border rests upon a base containing a curved ribbon in which appears the name "Jefferson," with the numeral "1" within an ellipse on end, on either side. To the left of the stamp in a horizontal line of Gothic capitals is the inscription "This side of card for address" within a frame of plain lines having concave corners.

The No. 8 postal card is issued in sheets of 48 cards each for special printing when desired by purchasers in that form.

Christmas Mailings.—To meet the anticipated heavy increase in the demand for postage stamps for Christmas mailings under the new parcel post law, instructions were published in the December supplement to the 1913 Postal Guide directing postmasters to carefully consider their probable needs and to draw special requisition for any stamps likely to be required in addition to their regular stocks. They were further authorized in emergencies to use postal funds in purchasing stamps from neighboring postmasters. In addition the postmasters at eight centrally located cities were supplied by the department with extra stocks of stamps, specially packed for mailing, which postmasters throughout the country were authorized to draw upon direct if their supplies became so depleted by unexpectedly large holiday demands that they could not await the filling of requisitions by the department. These measures were effective in preventing any embarrassment to the public or the postal service on account of shortage of postage stamps for the unprecedented Christmas mailings.

Stamps for Vera Cruz.—As soon as news was received of the probability of a military expedition to Vera Cruz, Mexico, steps were taken to provide postage stamps, postal cards, and stamped envelopes for the expeditionary forces. Stamps specially packed in paraffin paper to resist the humid atmospheric conditions of the Tropics were sent to the postmaster at Galveston, Tex., which city was made the base of military supplies. When a United States postal agent was appointed at Vera Cruz these stamps were placed at his disposal, being shipped from Galveston upon the postal agent's telegraphic requisition as needed for the use of the Army and Navy.

The suggestion was made that the stamps issued to the postal agency be surcharged "Vera Cruz" or otherwise, to indicate the special service for which they were used. The Postmaster General very properly took the ground, however, that as United States domestic rates and conditions of postage were made to prevail as to mail dispatched from the postal agency at Vera Cruz to the United States, no reason existed for a special stamp issue.

U. S. REVENUES.

By STEVENSON.

After over four years' attention to our postage stamps alone, I recently became interested in some points connected with the revenues. I bought the Toppan, Deats, Holland book on the subject and several other sources of information. I studied the subject somewhat. I found out quite a little about the revenues that was distinctly new to me.

The most important thing (to me) that I discovered was that the reason that the revenues had not before now been more interesting to me was that they were miserably represented by the catalogue and that my lack of interest was due to lack of knowledge. Further, I now believe that this illogical arrangement of the catalogue has had much to do with preventing these stamps from receiving proper attention from collectors.

Here is the situation. The first issue of the adhesives began in September, 1862. It consisted of special titled Documentary stamps, special titled Proprietary stamps, and General Purpose stamps. It is a complete series of stamps and even the catalogue has not tried to depart from Sterling's original method of listing them, except in the details. The following series, described in the catalogue as two separate issues, also consists of Documentary stamps and Proprietary stamps. Every stamp of these two "issues" belongs to but one continuous series of stamps which cannot be divided as in the catalogue without confusion. More especially, the Proprietary sets cannot be detached from the Documentary sets without giving collectors a wrong idea of the series as a whole. Why this illogical division was made cannot be said, unless the attention of collectors was not directed strongly to the Proprietaries and they were thus thrust aside, although the first issue cannot be so divided. This is exactly where my own confusion seems to have arisen in the early 90's when last I had been collecting revenues, mainly from the documents themselves.

For my own purposes, I have re-arranged the revenues in my own quite modest collection, and have, further, worked out a reasonable listing of them which appears simple to me. It has several other advantages besides simplicity.

In the hope that my results may be of assistance to some other collector, I have here tried to re-arrange the fundamental facts so they cannot be easily misunderstood. Much more can be, and has been, written about these stamps. I here present only the most necessary facts, all dug out of course from other sources of information.

The revenues which we are here to consider are the adhesives, first issued

OUR ISSUE OF JANUARY 30.

We are advertising this year in the widest range of publications that we have ever used, and we expect that our publicity campaign will cost us several hundred dollars. We are determined to go over the 8000 mark this spring with flying colors.

Our issue of Jan. 30 will be a master effort in our subscription campaign and our advertisers should profit by our activity.

Regular rates will prevail and a quarter page of 144 lines for $15 is truly a bargain in advertising space.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Five to Two—The post office department has given the public a New Year's gift in the form of a reduction in the rate of letter postage between the United States and the Bahamas. Under date of Washington, December 30th, 1914, the second assistant postmaster general issued the notice:

"The United States and the British Colony of the Bahamas having agreed thereto, notice is hereby given that, commencing January 1, 1915, the prepaid rate of postage applicable to letters mailed in the Bahamas addressed for delivery in the United States will be one penny an ounce or fraction thereof and to letters mailed in the United States addressed for delivery in the Bahamas two cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Letters unpaid or insufficiently prepaid will be dispatched to destination subject on delivery to a charge equal to double the amount of the short payment. Postmasters will please cause due notice of the foregoing to be taken at their offices and their patrons to be correctly informed respecting the matter."

We do not imagine that the actual saving as a result of this new economy will be so very large but the reduction is significant of the progress of postal reciprocity among the great nations. The American resoriter in the Bahamas has no excuse now for not writing often to his stay-at-home friends.

All Right—Some time ago we mentioned the series of articles on the postal service of this country by Frederic J. Haskin and syndicated by him in different of the publications of the country. We notice that Mr. Haskin now has an article in some of the newspapers on the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, and in the interesting account the process of stamp production is detailed and the work of the bureau generally is reviewed in appreciative words that certainly seem to be justified. Here, we shall show only how Mr. Haskin starts his descriptive article but elsewhere we may be able to republish more of the attractive account which will lead the lead to entertain a higher regard for the more or less "humble postage stamp". Mr. Haskin says: "It is safe to say that few persons, with the exception of stamp collectors, could describe the designs upon any three United States postage stamps, and that still fewer have any appreciation of their artistic value."

Nothing Much—A reader asks: "Have you seen the reference to stamp collecting in Harold Bell Wright's 'Eyes of the World'?" In the classic words of Nebraska's great and only stamp sage: "It may help some." Our correspondent is a hopeful soul. We saw the scant recognition but though we have an eye for such things, the words did not burn in our memory. It was a grudging comparison on the order of "like a person collects postage stamps," if we remember well. Evidently, Mr. Wright has not been touched by philately's magic wand, as the poetically minded would say, and been made a devotee at the shrine of Philatelia.

* * *

Started and Stopped—A long time ago, Mr. H. E. Deats, Flemington, New Jersey, made a brave start in compiling from works of fiction, all references to stamps or stamp collecting. However, as the work entailed the necessity of reading somewhat religiously the output of the writers representing all schools from the primary to the finishing, it is not surprising that Mr. Deats' zeal was effectually discouraged. He soon lost affection for his labor of love. He turned over several sheets of the history to us and we trust that he has forgotten all about the subject. O, yes, we know all about Robert Louis Stevenson's philatelic tantrum in his story, "The Wreckers."

Symbols—We have heard so much about stamp symbolism or the depth of meaning that often is carried by symbols on postage stamps that we cannot refrain from recording that the post office department has a few symbols itself, each one of which has a meaning all its own. We read in the instructions to postmasters for the use of "the new card forms, No. 3201 for postage stamps, postal cards and unprinted stamped envelopes and No. 3202 for special-request or office-request stamped envelopes" that "On invoices for adhesive stamps the following symbols are used after the denominations: B—for Books of stamps. CS—for Coils of stamps. D—for Due stamps. I—for International reply coupons. P—for Panama commemorative stamps. R—for Registry stamps. S—for Special delivery stamps. Absence of symbol letter indicates ordinary postage stamps in sheets." We can account for the "registry stamps" space in the new order blank on the supposition that stamps of ten cent denomination are meant. "On the invoice for printed stamped envelopes the first number in the description of the envelopes represents the designation of size number, the second number represents the denomination and the third number represents the quality. For example: 5-2-1 stands for No. 5, 2-cent, first quality."

Lot For the Money—Our latest handbook, Number 6, "The Stamps of the German States," by Bertram W. H. Poole, perhaps is the most satisfactory work that we have published. A book of over one hundred pages of most attractive typographical dress for thirty-five cents assuredly is "popular priced." The stamps of the German states from Baden to Wurtemberg are all thoroughly described in the entertaining manner that Mr. Poole has mastered. The print is excellent and the illustrations are clear. The instructive value of "The Stamps of the German States" is apparent even upon cursory examination and we are certain that the appearance of the work will be considered most timely. There is a place in your library for our new handbook and it should be filled.

Jay's Locals—An allusion to Jay's locals by a correspondent recently led us to look through our curiosity hall to behold again the emissions that added so greatly to the gayety of philatelists over a quarter-century ago. Mr. James C. Jay, an enterprising collector and to some extent, dealer, at LaHoyt, Iowa, conceiving about 1887 or 1888 that the renaissance of the United States local was about due uttered three different labels whose characteristics followed these descriptions: Number one—Jay's Dispatch—Paid to the—P. O.—One Cent. Number two—Richwood's Dispatch Paid Stamp to & from P. O., with central design of stock cut of a carrier pigeon. Number three—Richwood's Dispatch. 1 Carrier Stamp 1. Paid to the Post Office. The stamp is triangular in form and in 1888, the selection of a triangle even though slightly lop-sided was something of a triumph in its way and in our enthusiasm over this shape selection we almost neglected to say that the central portrait in this last stamp was that evidently of Mr. Jay himself. We possess one of these triangular locals on the original envelope, postmarked LaHoyt, Iowa, May 1, 1888, bearing the two-cent green regular United States in the upper right corner but in the lower left corner, there is the local in question neatly canceled with a "J." Of course, there were those who laughed immoderately at these Iowa-grown locals and we remember that old E. W. Voute of the peppery Stamp Collectors' Figaro got out stamps with central design of a Bologna sausage for use "to and from the grocery." Mr. Jay was one of our oldest readers we learned several years ago; and if he is still a subscriber we should like to hear from him about his locals, which fooled no one and surely not himself to any great extent.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORK

U. S. REVS.—(Continued from p. 11.)
 PROPRIETARY.

Playing Cards. 1c; 2c, blue; 2c, orange; 3c; 4c; 5c.

Proprietary. 1c; 2c, blue; 2c, orange; 3c; 4c; 5c; 6c; 10c

As in the postage stamps, not a few experiments were made with a view to preventing a second use of revenue stamps. As a supposedly final solution for their troubles, stamps in bi-color were adopted and actual issue of them began September 2, 1871.

This second series consists of a set of Documentary stamps and a set of Proprietary stamps. There were no special title stamps as in the first issue.

The documentary stamps were first printed with black centers and all with blue frames. The resulting confusion made changes necessary in several values, none in the designs, but in the colors of the frames. The unchanged stamps remained in use with blue frames and are part of this same series, which therefore cannot be intelligently separated into the two issues of the catalogue. They are of this one series.

These changes began in November, 1871, and were made from time to time till March, 1872. Even as altered, the series was not permanent, as changes in the revenue laws dropped all except the 2c from use to date October 1, 1872. This 2c value was retained to the end of this period, October 1, 1875, when the National Bank Note Co. obtained the contract and produced the third series of stamps. During this latter part of the period, the color of the paper for the 2c stamp was changed to green, that of the current proprietary set, to avoid use of two papers.

The Proprietary stamps of this series are also in bi-color. The centers are black while the frames are green. The paper used was at first violet, later changed to green.

The Documentaries of this series are: 1c; 2c; 3c; 4c; 5c; 6c; 10c; 15c; 20c; 25c; 30c; 40c; 50c; 60c; 70c; $1.00; $1.30; $1.50; $1.60; $1.90; $2.00; $2.50; $3.00; $3.50; $5.00; $10.00; $20.00; $50.00; $200.00; $500.00.

The values, the frames of which were changed in color, are: 1c; 2c; 4c; 5c; 6c; 15c; 30c; 40c; 60c; 70c; $1.00; $2.00; $2.50; $3.00; $5.00; $10.00; $20.00.

The Proprietary values are: 1c; 2c; 3c; 4c; 5c; 6c; 10c; 50c; $1.00; $5.00.

As thus arranged, this series becomes a continuous unit, easily understood by any collector. Thus arranged, the specimens illustrate the facts.

The third series was issued October 1, 1875, and was produced by the National Bank Note Co. till October, 1880, when the Bureau of Engraving and Printing began printing the same stamps from the same designs, and to some extent at least, from the same plates. The 10c was not added to the series till 1881 and the series was dropped from use about April, 1883.

This series consists of one Documentary stamp and a set of Proprietary stamps. There are differences in paper and in method of separation which can be handled in a check-list.

The 2c, Documentary shows the Liberty-head.

The Proprietary values are: 1c; 2c; 3c; 4c; 5c; 6c; 10c.

The fourth series consists of but two stamps. The first was for such Playing Card stock as was "On Hand" August, 1894. The other, still in use, covers Playing Cards coming into stock after that date. There are variations in paper and in methods of separation.

The fifth series came into use as a result of the Spanish-American War. It consists of a few temporary Provisionals, issued in June and July, 1898; of a set of Proprietary stamps; and of a set of Documentary stamps with changes and additions to the latter set made in the following years. All belong to the one series and cannot be logically separated. For convenience, I place the Proprietary set of 1898 ahead of the Documentary set of the same year.

The Provisionals are: 1c on 1c postage stamp; 2c on 2c postage stamp; and $5.00 on $5.00 periodical stamp.

The 1898 Proprietary stamps are: 1c; 1/4c; 3/8c; 1c; 1 1/4c; 1 7/8c; 2c; 2 1/2c; 3 3/4c; 4c; 5c.

The 1898 Documentary stamps are: 1c; 1c; 2c; 3c; 4c; 5c; 10c; 25c; 40c; 50c; 80c; $1.00; $3.00; $5.00; $30.00; $50.00.

In 1899, there were added to the Documentary stamps: $100.00; $500.00; $1,000.00.

In 1900, changes were made as follows, the old designs being used: $1.00 to carmine; $3.00 to lake; and $50.00 to gray. Also the following were printed in gray in the old designs with an overprint of a simple outline numeral in black: $1.00; $2.00; $3.00; $5.00; $10.00.

In 1902, the following, in the old designs, were printed in green with an overprinted ornate numeral in black: $1.00; $2.00; $5.00; $10.00; $50.00.

There are many details of interest which can properly be handled only at length. I will not attempt a check-list as yet based on this arrangement, especially as in my short examination into the revenues, I have found several things which need study and several things of interest in the nature of varieties which seem to have been overlooked.—Collectors' Journal.

THE KANSAS CITY SOCIETY.

The Kansas City Philatelic Society, organized a year ago, is in a flourishing condition, with 80 members at present and a campaign under way by which it is hoped to increase the membership to more than 200. The average attendance at meetings this year has been 25 members. The present officers are H. F. Kohr, president; W. C. Michaels, vice president and S. H. Barnes, secretary-treasurer. The annual election will be held at the first meeting in 1915, January 8. The club has been meeting at the Densmore Hotel, but has obtained from the Middy Club, the use of its beautiful quarters on the fourteenth floor of the Commerce Building.

The club meets every two weeks, and regular auctions are held once a month. Dates for the next meetings are January 8, January 22, February 5, February 19, and March 5 and March 19. The next regular auctions will be held January 22, February 19 and March 19. Bids for these auctions are accepted from non-members and catalogues are sent gratis to intending bidders. In the auction held December 18, 65 lots were entered, with a total catalogue value of more than $250, and lots sold at an average of one-fourth catalogue. The most valuable stamp entered was a 6-cent proprietary, which brought $20. Informal auctions are held at meetings between the regular auctions.

The Kansas City Philatelic Society charges 50 cents a year dues, but juniors are given the privileges of the society free, and every effort is made to encourage the younger collectors to attend the meetings. Expenses beyond the dues are met from auction fees and gifts. Non-member bidders are charged 5 cents per lot purchased.

Visiting philatelists are always welcomed at the meetings and are extended all of the privileges of the club.

Talks on some philatelic subject are to be regular features of the meetings, a talk being given by some member each month. Arrangements so far made include a talk on the 1-cent of the 1851-1857 issues by W. C. Michaels, "Some experiences of a Country Postmaster," by George Baker, "Stalking the Minor Variety," by H. F. Kohr.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Subscribers to the WEEKLY who are interested in the collecting of revenues will be pleased to know that Forbin's catalog of the revenue stamps of the world has now been issued and can be obtained from Vahan Mozian, Box 1994, N. Y. City. A particular feature of this catalog is the fact that U. S. revenue stamps are illustrated.

—In a news gleaned recently we made a mistake in regard to a Detroit exhibit. There are two societies in Detroit and it was before the Collectors' Club that Mr. Koslowski exhibited his collection of Russia.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—C. M. Breder calls attention to the fact that many of the current 2c stamps, perforated 10, show a little less of the distinctive carmine or rose shade of the previous issue. It is as though a little vermilion had been mixed with the carmine.

We have been shown by Olaf J. Olson a block of four of the 50c pale violet, head of Franklin, with "U. S. P. S." in single lined capitals. The plate number is 7057.

Edward Stern adds to the list of watermarked stamps in the new revenues the following:

Watermarked "U. S. I. R."—3 1/2c Proprietary; 1/2c, 50c, 80c, $1 Documentary.

John C. Morgan calls attention to surprising differences in the shades of the Panama Pacific 2c stamps, some being clear and sharp while others are muddy and much darker in shade. Such differences have been common enough in recent years, as an examination of any specialist's collection will show. Mr. Morgan also submits a copy of the 2c due of 1895 showing a wide fold in the paper. This fold became straightened out in the process of gumming so that the two parts of the stamp are 8 to 13 mm. apart. The perforation corners into one of the parts.

AITUTAKI.—The current 1sh King Edward stamp of New Zealand has been overprinted for use in this Colony.

CAMEROONS.—Maury's Collectionneur reports that the German stamps of Cameroons have been overprinted "G. R. I." to signify the English occupation.

CEYLON.—Whitfield King & Co. report the 5r King George stamp printed on the provisional surface tinted paper with white back.

DENMARK.—According to the Nederlandsch Tijdschrift Voor Postzegelkunde notes that the 5 ore post cards and letter cards have been overprinted "S. B." in black, for the correspondence of the mobilized troops.

ERITREA.—Notwithstanding the Director General of Italian Posts informed Whitfield King & Co. that no pictorial stamps of 5c and 10c values had been issued, our French contemporaries report the issue, and Maury's Collectionneur illustrates the 5c which shows a native ploughing in the fields.

FRANCE.—Offices in Morocco.—All the stamps of the series of 1911 have now appeared with the additional overprint "Protectorat Francais."

INDIA.—I. E. F.—Ewen's Weekly says that the Indian stamps surcharged "I. E. F." are unknown with the Indian forces operating in Europe. Covers have been seen which came from the Indian forces serving in British East Africa.

PENRHYN ISLAND.—The current 1sh vermilion stamp of New Zealand, King Edward, has been overprinted for use in this island.

The values surcharged being, 5pa, 10pa, 20pa, 1pi, 2pi, 5pi and 10pi. They were on sale for a few days only.

WAR NEWS AND NOTES.

Danish Service Cards.—Every member of the mobilised forces receives one free card per week. The cards bear the word SOLDATER (Soldiers) above BREV-KORT whilst the card stamp is overprinted SB—"Soldiers postal cards."

Military Free Frank Envelopes.—Ewen's Weekly has been shown some war mark curiosities, we quote our contemporary:

"Capt. S. A. Forbes has kindly sent us some interesting envelopes, issued for the Highland Cyclist Battalion, and informs us that these 'frank cancellations' are used for official letters only sent free.

These envelopes are of small size, and of grey colour. ON HIS MAJESTY SERVICE, is printed across the top. In the place where the stamp should be affixed appears a large violet double circle with the inscription "HIGHLAND CYCLIST BATTALION," and in the lower half circle "SCONE," in the centre figures a large F, below which is placed COMPANY. Across the left-hand corner is stamped Commanding "F" Coy. Highland Cyclist Bn. and the signature of the commanding officer. We have two of these envelopes before us and both are postmarked Leven. On the flap of the envelope are the Royal arms embossed.

The latest envelope appears now without the large double circle, in place of which appears H.C.B. in large violet letters otherwise unaltered. The envelope is postmarked Tayport."

Canadian Postal Corps.—The Canadian Postal Corps now seeing active service for the first time with the Canadian Expeditionary Force quartered on Salisbury Plain was constituted early in the year 1912 to provide for the military postal service of the Canadian Militia at camp and in the field.

It is under the control of the Transport Department with headquarters in Toronto. A detachment serves with each military division, the staff of a base post office comprising 1 Major, 1 Capt. and 1 warrant officer, and of a field post office 1 lieutenant, 1 staff sergeant and 1 warrant officer. Candidates for appointment to a commission in the Canadian Postal Corps must be officers of the Post Office Department of a rank not lower than second division, grade "B."

Regular "Belgiens"?—A Glasgow paper is responsible for the statement that the Germans have issued three labels bearing the portraits of the King and the Queen of the Belgians, with the words "Belgique—Belgie" in addition to the face value.

It is pointed out that these "scraps of paper" have not been issued by the Belgian Postal Administration, and are merely therefore fraudulent bait for collectors.

A letter which arrived in the United States from Germany bore the following inscription rubber-stamped in red—"Received through Department of State in Diplomatic Pouch."

The Stamp Collectors' patriotic sale held at Sydney, Australia, on September 26, realised £40 8s 5d for the War Funds. A cheque for above amount has been sent to the Lord Mayor's Fund, with a request that £5 be sent to the Red Cross, and £5 to the Belgian funds.

The Liverpool Philatelic Society has devoted £20 to help the suffering caused by the war. £10 is for the Liverpool Base Hospital to be established in France, and the remaining £10 to be given to some fund at the discretion of the Committee.—Stamp Collecting.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

TRADE COLUMN ADVERTISING.

The "trade column" or classified advertising columns are designed principally for use by the small advertiser who cannot afford to use the displayed space. The fundamental rules of advertising require that attention be attracted, then the story told as attractively and briefly as possible. Of course, trade column advertising does not permit of the use of screaming headlines to draw the attention of the reader, but the opening of the advertisement should be based on the same rules as outlined for display space. By using a "catchy" opening, the attention of the reader is attracted as he glances over the column. After his attention is drawn, the story should be told as concisely as possible, lest he seek further without reading. Bear in mind in preparing copy that the reader is not going to read every word of the column, any more than you yourself read all the want-ads in the evening paper. He may skim hastily through the column looking for something of interest (as many interesting things are often found there) but unless you can draw his eye and then hold his attention, your efforts are wasted.

In writing trade column advertisements, it is often the aim of the dealer to cram as much matter as possible into as small a space as possible, hence many abbreviations are used, many of which are unintelligible to the average reader. Here is a good example of what not to have in advertising copy: (This adv. actually appeared in a Western paper not long ago.)

C.Z. 40 @ 8c, 44 @ 5c,
Very f. ap. 60% Nice Stk Cf
Lists wtd. Blank Stamp Co.

This copy was intended apparently to reach only those readers who were gifted with ability to solve puzzles. With a little work the reader might make out the facts that certain Canal Zone stamps were offered and that 60% discount approvals were to be had. Just what impression the reader would get from the "Nice Stk Cf," is unknown. Personally, I think it denotes a nice stock of counterfeits, though I am advised that it refers to Confederates. This is the type of ad that the dealer writes while he is eating his lunch, and then wonders why he gets no results from his advertising. Of course, the paper is at fault. The fact that the Company gets $50.00 worth of business from a $2.00 ad makes no difference. The dealer does not see how it can be done. The only way it can be done is with the aid of headwork. In writing copy, concentrate your mind on the job, and work out the copy by writing it up on a piece of scratch paper. Then look at it from the reader's point of view. If you still think it is satisfactory and will attract, then see that it is as concise as possible. Rewrite it until all superfluous words are eliminated. At the same time, use care that the fundamental points are not omitted. Don't crowd your copy. You are advertising to get results. Spend a few cents more if necessary, or cut out some of the copy. Don't run so much in a small space that a jumbled mess like the preceding example results. Remember that advertising is one of the most important features of your business and one of the hardest to handle efficiently. These remarks apply to all branches of advertising.

Many of the dealers have gotten good results by writing little one, two or three line ads and running them in different locations in the same issue. This idea is good for the reason that it creates a number of impressions on the mind of the reader where one large ad only creates one. Often more results will be gained from three or four of these little ads than from one large one of the same space.

Really, the best way to learn to write good advertising copy is to study the copy of others. As you read this paper, you will be impressed by certain advertisements. Some will appeal to you, because they are original and "catchy." Some will interest you because of the bargains offered. Some will be ineffective because they have nothing to offer you, or are so poorly written that you will hesitate to patronize a house that cannot make its bid for your favor the way it should be made.

Remember that at all times you are facing competition; so make your advertising distinctive. Put your personality back of it. If you can see your way clear to do it (and as will be explained later, every dealer can do it) give a premium with your goods. Make your line just as different from the other fellow's as you can, and beat his quality or prices or both. Then, pick out all the good points of your line and let the people know about them.

In writing copy, it is a good plan to avoid extravagant phrases, such as, "My books are the finest on earth," or "the only perfect series in America." Every one with the common sense required in collecting stamps will know that you are handing yourself a few bouquets. How do you know that some other dealer has not excelled your line? You do not know, hence you cannot truthfully claim that your books are the finest in the world. Therefore, the reader will put you down for a liar and who wants to do business with a liar?

In writing the above remarks, I note my own advertisement wherein I claim that my books are in the "finest possible condition." This phrase is also quite frequently used, but note the difference. I do not claim that my books are the finest in existence or any such rot. I merely state that the stamps are in the finest condition possible to be secured, and the reader will know that a hundred or a thousand other dealers could, if they chose, offer stamps in as good condition, and that a great many do offer them just that way. In short, I am not trying to impress the reader that I have exclusive rights to all the fine copies on earth, merely that I share them with other dealers.

Also, avoid the use of the first person as much as possible. It is sad to relate, but a great many dealers use their space to tell the public how nice they are and how much better they can serve their customers than the next fellow. Cut out the "I" whenever possible. Instead of saying "I offer you a superb line of approvals, which I have designed to please you," say, "You will be pleased with my new approvals." The world dislikes a person who is gifted as his own publicity agent. The secret of success lies in calling the buyer's attention to the goods without exploiting the remarkable feats accomplished by the dealer in offering the stock. Instead of patting yourself on the back, in print, make the buyer think he is the only spoke in the wheel. He likes to be complimented just as well as you do, and when you compliment him, it will bring you his favor. The little "I" should be relegated to the cannery. Let the customer talk about you, and it will pay you far better.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

X. Y. Z.—Since the Post Office official ruling requires all unused Postal Savings stamps and stationery to be returned to the central office of distribution, with report of quantity used, etc., and forbids the sale or possession of unused stamps or stationery under severe penalty, it is impossible to put a price on these items in unused condition, since the department treats them as stolen property and therefore they cannot legally be sold.

The envelope you have that has traveled around the world is very interesting and would probably bring a premium from a collector interested in such things, but the actual value of the stamps is not increased for this reason.

H. C. R.—I have never seen the Nicaragua 10 peso pink and black fiscal stamp with error "Postalb" so cannot put a price on it. These typographical errors usually bring from 50c to $1.50, some lower, and a few higher. This stamp is one of the better class.

The 1c Cordoba on 15c on 35c mountain type of Nicaragua sells for about fifteen cents, and I cannot understand why Scott failed to price it, as the stamp does not appear to be unusually rare.

The five peso blue official surcharged Vale—c0.05 for regular postage is worth about 15c with black surcharge, and will be better very shortly, as the set is getting quite scarce. I believe this stamp exists with red surcharge, and in that condition, is a great rarity.

F. K. G.—Large stocks of recent issues of Costa Rica are coming on the market, cancelled to order, which accounts for the fact that certain stamps are becoming common. The 50c, 1 varieties used in the ordinary ways.

L. M. S.—While the present demand for the European stamps will probably force the price up on certain of the early issues, I do not believe that the more common varieties will increase in value, as immense stocks are held of most of these. Some will increase slightly, however.

The envelopes should be kept intact; or if this is not possible, enough of the paper should be preserved to show the postmarks.

Charity stamps that have a connection with the war are worth collecting at this time, especially if they have been available for postage. Already France has issued two Red Cross stamps good for carrying letters, and devotes part of the proceeds from the sale of them to hospital work in the field. The first is a provisional made by overprinting a cross and 5c in red on the current ten centime stamp; the second is a permanent stamp specially designed. The little principality of Monaco has also issued a Red Cross provisional similar to the first French one. All three of these are good for postage. Among the charity stamps not good for postage but identified with the war, are the Austrian "National Defense" stamps, which have been on sale for several years. Although of small value, they make an attractive collection.

Another opportunity, especially for advanced collectors who have plenty of money to spend on stamps, lies in the chance to get the best stamps from European collections at reasonable prices. For years European collectors have persistently gathered the older issues of their own countries, until they have virtually exhausted the stocks of European and American dealers. There is not much doubt but that the war will impoverish many such collectors, and force them to sell their collections. Both during the war and some time afterwards this country will offer the best market for sales.

Nevertheless, during the war and afterward, American collectors ought to continue collecting United States stamps as earnestly as before. Remember that hundreds, perhaps thousands, of European collections with United States stamps among them will be destroyed in the war area; that this destruction will enhance the value of the collections that remain; and that eventually, when the world settles down again and business becomes normal, the market prices of almost all stamps are bound to go up.

Altogether, stamp collectors are at the threshold of the most exciting period in the history of their hobby.
—Youth's Companion.

NEWSPAPER PHILATELY.

The war has greatly stimulated the interest and activities of the philatelists, those gentle-souled acquirers of postage stamps whose highest ecstasy is realized in the discovery of some rare specimen, and for whose pleasure governments from time to time vary the designs of their issues. German stamps, with a heavy black surcharge have taken the place of the old Belgian post. England has introduced a variety, bearing the significant initials "G. R. I." for use in what was once German New Guinea, and Samoa is using New Zealand stamps with its own name printed across the face. All of these are temporary expedients, samples of which will quickly appreciate in value after the war ends. And there will probably be others.—Chicago Post.

A NOTABLE CONTRACT.

The Michigan Stamp & Coin Co. have contracted with the WEEKLY for 5000 lines of advertising space to be used during 1915. This is well worth noting and shows the esteem in which the WEEKLY is held as an advertising medium. We have one other advertiser using 5000 lines, the Marks Stamp Co., and we shall be pleased to hear from any other firm that desires information relative to such a contract.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—A very striking set of postal labels has been issued by the San Francisco Exposition authorities. We are indebted to H. B. Phillips for a set.

—Elsewhere in this issue will be found the advertisement of a stamp business for sale. We are somewhat acquainted with the property as the business has been developed quite largely by the use of the WEEKLY, and our dealings with its manager have always been very satisfactory. A letter to this office will be forwarded as indicated in the advertisement.

—W. A. Langdon informs us that he has a specimen of the Sonora "E. S." stamp with the overprint sideways. However, we are not at all surprised at this. Applied with a rubber stamp, this surcharge could be applied in any fashion.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Carl O. Swaney (3), Sam T. Vary, Hugo Kuenstler (5).

—On January 1 an agreement went into effect between the United States and the Bahamas extending the 2c postage rate to mail between these two countries. It marks another step in the movement to make effective a 2c rate throughout the western hemisphere. Already Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico and Cuba are included.

—"I have just discovered a double transfer in the 1c 1912, Booklet Pane, with Plate No. 6363 attached. The stamps are perforated 10.

The shift exists on the left stamp, in the center row of the pane, and shows in the bottom of the stamp.

It consists of a line running through the top of the letters 'ENT' of 'CENT.' The 'C' of 'CENT' is decidedly doubled. The numerals each show a line of color at their tops and the line directly below the word 'CENT' is duplicated. Anyone having a booklet pane with this plate number will find that he has a very fine double transfer in this stamp."

GEORGE B. SLOANE.

—At the last regular meeting of the Mountain State Philatelic Society the following officers were elected:—Godfrey Schirmer, President; John W. Bradbury, Vice President; Robert A. Turner, Corresponding Secretary; C. Gordon Adams, Secretary and Maitland Milliken, Treasurer. Directors Godfrey Schirmer, Charles A. Nast, C. Gordon Adams, Charles Huscher and W. W. Bigler. All for the year 1915.

—The first annual dinner of the Boston Philatelic Exchange Club will be held at 8 P. M., January 28, 1915, at Louis, 15 Fayette Court, Boston. The meeting and dinner will be open to non-members. All philatelists are invited to attend and get acquainted with a live stamp club. The dinner has been arranged for at $1 per plate not including wine. Please communicate with A. M. Wright, 208 Tyndale St., Roslindale.

—At the annual election of the Suburban Stamp and Curio Club, January 7, 1915, the following officers were re-elected: President, Henry Schuhmacher, Jr.; Vice President, A. M. Wright; Treasurer, E. C. Thompson, and Secretary J. A. Gallant.

Encouraging reports from all officers were read. Total membership, 64. Meetings are held the first and third Thursdays in each month at 67 Warren St. at 8 P. M. All collectors welcome.

PRISONERS' MAIL.

Forty special officials are kept busy with the transmission of postal money orders sent to prisoners. One day last week German friends sent 1,153 postal orders (to the aggregate value of 21,820 francs) to prisoners held in France. The same day French friends sent 3,453 postal orders (to the aggregate value of 61,868 francs) to prisoners held in Germany.

At first prisoners' friends were chary of sending money, skeptical as to its eventual destination, but as acknowledgments began to flow back from grateful consignees the business increased enormously.

Yet another section of officials, stationed at Geneva, deals with the transmission of postal parcels. As many as 5,000 a day pass through, bound for prisoners of war in the belligerent countries.

In many directions the Swiss post office is having to exercise considerable initiative nowadays. Every week, almost, the postal situation needs sweeping readjustments. All letters to Roumania, Bulgaria and Turkey hitherto have been sent via Italy and Greece, which has led to considerable delays. Now these mails go, as in peace times, through Austria.

At the moment the Swiss postoffice refuses all mail for German colonies in Africa. There is no one to carry it.

From the beginning of December all mails to Germans and Austrians in China, from Switzerland—which means, to all intents and purposes, Germany's communication with her subjects in China—are to pass through Chicago, the route being Naples, New York, San Francisco and the Chinese native post office at Shanghai.—Chicago Daily News.

EDITORIAL.

In The Mail—We have seen a number of Cuban stamps of the current issue, two and five centavos, from non-philatelic sources in Cuba, in imperforate condition. A cover just received from Havana by a business house has five of the two centavos all imperforate and all single specimens. We remember having seen the one, two and five centavos of the preceding issue in single imperforate copies on ordinary Cuban mail. In the absence of a pair of imperforates no importance is attached to the imperforate singles but we cannot explain the occurrence of these stamps, granted that they did not emanate from philatelic sources.

They Are Here—Any uncertainty that has been expressed regarding the issue of the five and ten cent, pictorial set of Eritrea, plowman type, must now be removed as we have received an envelope bearing the five and ten of the design "Cultivation of 'Senafe,'" (Alfalfa?) from the colony dated November 27th, 1914.

An Old Timer—Every now and then, a label is found in odd lots of stamps, showing the dial of a clock, without any hands. We have seen conjectures as to the origin of the label and it has even been considered to have some philatelic significance as a sort of local stamp. Recently several sheets of these labels have come into our hands and so that the character of these labels, which come in different colors, may be understood, we quote from an advertisement published forty-six years ago to show that they had no philatelic standing and that none was claimed for them: "Time Posted Label. This is a new, original and very useful little stamp just now becoming popular, and having a large sale. Its object is to show the recipient of a letter just the hour and day the letter was mailed that in case of its non-receipt at the proper time, the blame can be placed on the right party. It very frequently becomes not only an object of great interest but of importance Written—From the International Stamp Company, we have received a copy of a manuscript official envelope, Confederate States of America. The envelope, which is formed out of coarse, brown paper, is addressed to a lieutenant-colonel of the 42nd regiment, North Carolina militia at Townesville, North Carolina and is endorsed in the same handwriting at the left top of envelope: "Official Business" and opposite at right: "Adjutant General's Office, Raleigh, N. C." Unfortunately, the envelope had not been through the mails and in consequence, it lacks any postal markings. The printed Official Business envelopes of the Confederate States exist in no small variety; and not a few of them are to be found printed on the three cent, 1857 United States stamped envelope and, more rarely, on the three cent, 1853, U. S. stamped envelope.

U. S. Below Face—Merely to surprise collectors of this generation, we like to repeat occasionally the information that for some years after the close of the Civil War in 1865, the United States set, 1857-60, was sold by dealers under face value. The demonetization of the set as a consequence of the war threw many of the high values on the market which was slow in absorbing them. As may be imagined the supply of these stamps in the south that was not returned to Washington was considerable and the stamps gradually found their way into the hands of dealers in not a few cases. Within years of easy recollection, the three cent of the issue, in sheets of one hundred were available at prices more or less under face; and as late as 1868, a Boston dealer advertised the set of eight varieties, including the ninety, with a face value of one dollar and seventy-five cents, for one dollar and ten cents.

All Aboard—We have received a circular from Genoa, Italy, whose envelope bore the special cancellation in three lines: "Esposizione Internazionale—Genova 1914—Igiene-Marina-Colonie." In this connection we are pleased to know that the good boat "Stampalia" exists, as according to the rubber-stamped inscription on the envelope the circular was to be dispatched by steamer (Col Vapore) "Stampalia."

Good Stuff—The newspapers have taken kindly to the story of the extra-territorial use of the Belgium stamps at Havre, France and some weeks ago we spoke of the appearance of the Belgian stamps with the Havre postmark and remarked upon the historical suggestions of the combination. The explanation is that a section of the city of Havre has been assigned temporarily to Belgium as its capital or seat of government and among the government houses, there is a branch post office that "is said to be the most interesting in the world just now to stamp collectors." A letter posted in the Belgian boundaries of Havre must bear full postage at the foreign rate even though its destination is a part of Havre aside from that dedicated for the time being to the official needs of Belgium. From the Brooklyn Eagle, we take the following interesting and intelligent account of operations at the post office in question:

"It is not due to the fact of a Belgian stamp being used, but the postmark of Havre on the stamp that makes it valuable to the collector. During office hours collectors stand in line waiting a chance to buy a certain issue, consisting of a post card with an embossed stamp, two stamps of 2 centimes and one of 1, making a total value of 2 cents. Having acquired the prize, they stick all the stamps on envelopes addressed to themselves and have them cancelled at the window. But the most valuable collection is one placed on an official envelope marked and signed by the mail censor. It is thus a triple souvenir.

If it were not for the collectors this Belgian office would do a small business. But in view of the stamps canceled for the sake of the postmark it is probably the best paying office of its size in any part of the globe."

Mail For Captives—We have no doubt but that the story of the mail service in the armies now engaged in the European war will be told in a most thorough way when conditions will admit. The Swiss have organized a postal service as a consequence of the war that while a necessity has its philanthropic side. Bern is the clearing-house of letters for prisoners of all the nations engaged in hostilities. The wonderful development of the system is to be realized when it is said that on a single day recently, 130,000 prisoner-of-war letters were received at Bern. According to the Chicago News, "Another day the Swiss post office sent along 104,345 prisoners' letters, 54,755 to France, 45,665 to Germany and the rest to England and Russia.

The gymnasium of a local 'gymnase' has been set apart for the staff examining this mass of mail. Part of the work is the burning of all picture postal cards supposed to be offensive to the nation in whose keeping are the addressees."

handstamped, the cancellation stamp of the different offices being used for the purpose of surcharging the stamps. In applying these surcharges by hand it often followed that the surcharge was placed inverted or sideways, the mistake being discovered immediately the operator would change the position of the stamp in his hand; and in this way there would appear one or more stamps on a sheet with the surcharge in another position than the normal. It is not uncommon to find pairs of these stamps one having the surcharge inverted and the other normal.

As you state "these stamps are not worth much more than with the normal surcharge," in fact, I have purchased such pairs as mentioned above greatly below catalogue value.

In your reply to "T. P. S." you refer to Cuban stamps surcharged "October." I do not recall offhand any Cuban stamp surcharged thus, but your statement that the u in October is caused by broken type is incorrect as October is spelled Octubre in Spanish, which is the language in which a Cuban stamp would naturally be surcharged.

INDIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

The response of India to the call of Empire has been one of the most impressive factors in the great war. It is not necessary here to write of the great achievements of the Indian troops in the forefront of the battle, but I may profitably call the attention of collectors to the splendidly-equipped postal organization of the Indian Expeditionary Force, which is already represented in a distinctive way in our albums. As far back as the Abyssinian campaign of 1867-68 the Indian Army had its postal arrangement for the troops; but the establishment of its special Army Postal Service dates from the Afghan War, when train, mail cart, and horse routes were set up by the Indian Post Office between Peshawar, Jallalabad, Kabul, and Jhelum.

INDIAN ARMY POST OFFICE.

The system of the Indian Army Postal Service is similar to the British Army system, but it is rendered more interesting to the collector by reason of the issue in modern campaigns of special postage stamps. A base office is established at each military base, working as a head office communicating with India and with the field. Field post offices of first and second class are attached to brigades, divisional troops, and divisional headquarters, and these fly a distinguishing flag by day and display a distinctive lamp by night. Officers and men attached to the postal corps bear the word "Post" on their shoulder-straps. Indian postage stamps including postcards and embossed envelopes, are stocked, and a six months' supply is sent out with the force, it being the duty of the base office to see that the field post-offices maintain a constant and sufficient supply.

CHINA EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

The first issue of special stamps for Indian troops was sent out with the troops despatched to assist contingents from other Powers in guarding the Legations during the Boxer troubles in China in 1900. They were the current Indian stamps (portrait of Queen Victoria), overprinted C. E. F. (China Expeditionary Force). On reaching China the base post-office was established at Hong Kong, but owing to difficulties with the British post-office there it was temporarily shifted to Wei-hai-wei. The latter place did not prove a convenient base, and arrangements were concluded to return to Hong Kong. A large number of field post-offices were established at many points, sometimes lodged in a couple of khaki tents, but often during that campaign in more substantial quarters, and even in the Temple of Heaven at Peking.

As India has maintained troops in China ever since, the successive issues of the King Edward and King George reigns have been supplied to those troops with the overprint "C. E. F.," which effectually prevents the wily Chinaman from taking advantage of currency variations.

INDIAN STAMPS FOR EUROPE.

When occasion arose for sending an Expeditionary Force to Europe, and, incidentally, other forces to Egypt and the Persian Gulf, the "China Expeditionary Force" stamps were not appropriate to the new expeditions, and those forces have been supplied with Indian postage stamps of the current Georgian type, overprinted "I. E. F." (Indian Expeditionary Force). These are now being used in France and elsewhere by the Indian troops engaged in the present war. The first instalment of the supplies included ten denominations of adhesive stamps from the 3 pies to the 1 rupee, in the following quantities:

3 pies, grey,	230,400
1/2 anna, green,	768,000
1 anna, rose-carmine,	422,400
2 annas, mauve,	204,800
2 1/2 annas, ultramarine,	51,200
3 annas, orange-brown,	51,200
4 annas, olive,	51,200
8 annas, purple,	25,600
12 annas, dull claret,	25,600
1 rupee, green and brown,	9,600 and 3,700 reams of stamped postcards and envelopes.

THE USE OF THE STAMPS.

There has been some doubt expressed as to the actual use of these stamps in France, but Mr. W. T. Wilson and other correspondents have shown me copies actually used at the base office or in field post-offices with the Indian Army on the Continent in November, with postmarks of the distinctive barred circular type familiar to collectors of Indian Army stamps and cancellations. The doubts arose from the fact that most letters and postcards come through to England free of postage, a limited privilege of free postage being enjoyed by the Indian and other British troops. The Indian troops may send postcards and unregistered letters free to the United Kingdom, to any address in France, or to India but in sending registered letters or parcels they have to pay postage, as also in the case of any letters or postcards to neutral foreign States.

A BELGIAN WAR CURIOSITY.

The use of Indian stamps in Europe is only one of many novel results of the great upheaval. The same or similar stamps are also probably being used in Africa, and wherever there are Indian forces opposed to the enemies of the Allies. Another curious postal anomaly has arisen through the establishment of the seat of the Belgian Government in France at Havre. There is a special post-office for the use of the Belgians, using a circular postmark, reading, "Le Havre (Special), Seine Infre.," and the date. The headquarters and habitations of the Belgian Government are reckoned part of Belgium, and while the Belgians may send letters to their different addresses in Havre, or to Belgium, for the unit rate of 10 centimes (1d), letters for France, even for another part of Havre are treated as foreign letters, and require to be paid for at the 25 centimes (2 1/2d) rate.—London Telegraph.

MEXICO.—C. B. Waite writes as follows regarding some of the Mexican provisionals. These stamps made to signalize "the coming into authority of the Constitutional Government were mostly made on the arrival of Carranza to any town. However, the Army of the N. W. carried a stamp with them (E. C. Transitorio) which was placed on all stamps found in offices captured by them and which means 'Ejercito Constitucionalista Transitorio.' i. e., 'Constitutionalist Army in transit.' These surcharges are very rare as they were only used for a few days while the army stayed in that town. I have in my possession twelve different hand stamped surcharges used in different places at that time.

"A new issue has just been gotten out using the head of Madero as a center in the former Constitucionalista issue, sometimes called the Denver issue. They are in 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 20c denominations, not on sale yet, however. There has been printed only an issue of 4,700,000 of these stamps."

There is No Advertising Medium for the Stamp Dealer That Can Surpass

Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News

It stands in a class all by itself and one who has read it will continue to read it just so long as the collecting interest is alive. If you have stamps to sell you can find no better medium in which to offer them.

8,000 Paid
Subscribers

We have been years building our circulation until now we have 8000 paid subscribers. We carry no dead wood on our mailing list. We use standard magazines and newspapers and every medium that has any "go" to it in our subcriptive campaigns. We have spent thousands of dollars in our publicity work and the money has been well spent.

The ideal advertising is displayed advertising. It can tell an eloquent story and make a most forcible appeal. Our transient rate is $3.60 per inch but where space is taken regularly each week we make a special rate of only $1.80 per inch. We want advertisers to take space long enough to know our paper. It can be known in no other way.

To accommodate the advertiser of modest means we have a page of "Adlets" where a few lines can be obtained at the low rate of 20c per line. Even this price is cheapened in the purchase of 50 lines for $7.50—the space to be used at will. These blocks are very popular and deservedly so. This department is more eagerly read than any other page in the paper.

In recent years we have offered very low rates on advertising where large space is used in a single issue. For instance an entire page costs $57.60 and a quarter page only $15. This latter rate gives 144 lines at practically 10c per line and the printer will give you reprints for circular use at a low figure. These quarter pages are very popular.

Patrons

We could publish innumerable testimonials had we the space. Write any of our advertisers and ask their opinion. During the past 20 years our pages have been filled with stamp offerings and many special numbers have been dazzling in their brilliancy. We have fairly demonstrated our ability to lead the world and have earned the title bestowed upon us,

The King of Stamp Papers and the Stamp Paper of Kings

If you have not seen the paper, send for a sample copy. If you want larger confidence in your stamp dealing activities, send 10c for our book, "How to Deal in Stamps."

THE "E. S." SONORAS.

By C. H. MEKEEL.

We notice that you chronicle Mexican Federal stamps overprinted in purple with a monogram "E S", the initials standing for "ESTADO SONORA". The stamps bearing this overprint are being sent out by Francisco O. y. Roeha, a fugitive postmaster of Mexico, now located at Nogales, Arizona, engaged in perpetrating frauds on stamp dealers and collectors.

I received overprints of this kind, submitted by this party, and communicated with a gentleman recommended by the First National Bank of Nogales, Arizona, who gives me information through a reputable Mexican attorney to the effect that such stamps are not issued by the State of Sonora and are not in use there. This is further confirmed by communications from various correspondents in the State of Sonora whom we have addressed for information on the subject.

While of course this is not conclusive proof, it is a pretty good indication that you should proceed with caution in recommending these stamps to your readers, as they are likely to be defrauded.

ADLETS.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world.

RATE.—20c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $7.50, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

We shall use every possible endeavor to protect our subscribers, but we cannot undertake to be responsible for unsatisfactory trade relations. Advertisers against whom complaints are proven will be debarred the further use of these columns.

Advertisers sending out approval selections must take precautions to secure satisfactory references. We cannot undertake to settle all the petty disputes arising from the widespread scattering of approval selections.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

USING THE PREMIUM TO ATTRACT TRADE.

Since it is necessary to appeal to the customer in order to sell to him, the dealer who uses the most attractive line of appeal will get the business. Human nature the world over, from the beginning of time, is attracted by "something for nothing" or presents. In the early days, if a traveler wished to secure safety and the favor of a monarch through whose territory he was passing, he sent him gifts. To-day the merchant desires the favor of the customer, so he sends him gifts. It is his way of saying, "I appreciate your business. You make me successful. Therefore to show you that I appreciate your favor, I give you this little gift." Go into the corner grocery. The grocer offers you two lines of starch. With one you get a souvenir spoon, and the other offers you nothing. Which will you buy? Really, now, don't you prefer to walk a half block farther and buy your cigars (or candy, if you don't smoke) from a dealer who offers you a coupon? The cigars are the same in both stores. Are you any different from your customer?

I have been asked by dealers why the premium is a success. It costs money to give premiums away. No apparent results are seen for the money invested. However, it is a well-proven fact that business increases when premiums are added, so the results are there. Like much advertising, premiums must be charged to indirect results. The American Tobacco Company, Proctor and Gamble, United Cigar Stores Company, and a host of other concerns guided by bigger financiers than the largest stamp company can boast of, have worked out the problem, and they find that it pays. If you were buying from approvals, wouldn't you buy from the man who offered you the same stamps at the same price as the other man, and throw in another set of stamps. You will say that the cost of the premium must come out of your profit. It does. The sales it brings enables you to sell so many more stamps that the price of the premium can be well afforded.

Now, Mr. Man who says that "I spend enough money on advertising. I can't afford a premium." What kind of advertising are you spending it on? Why not spend some of it on the premium for advertising? Pretty soon you will find yourself able to spend more money on space advertising to advertise the premium.

Of course, in order to work a premium system successfully, it is necessary to make all advertising cooperate with it. If possible, it should be well advertised by space advertising in the leading channels. Make it known that you give premiums with your goods.

In giving premiums, the different concerns have found it advisable not to give a premium in the line they are selling. However, the stamp dealer has a narrower field to choose from. He might give hinges, or small stock books, or catalogues, or tongs, or accessories away in place of stamps. Stamps themselves make excellent premiums, but care should be used to see that they do not conflict with stamps offered. That is, don't give a man what you are apt to sell him. Set aside a certain line for premiums and confine yourself to that line. Don't take them from your general stock.

A feature generally overlooked by the stamp houses is one of continuous giving of premiums. Out of a hundred dealers who will pay the customer to try their first lot, not two will pay him to continue his business with them. Result: He moves around from house to house until he benefits no dealer. Consider that the first lot must bear the expense of indexing, investigating, opening account, beside usual expenses. The profit lies in continued sales. Why not pay him to continue his purchases?

Let this be an example of the possibility of giving premiums:

A sends out a sheet selling at 25c, with premium, as follows
Selling price of sheet	.250
Cost of sheet	.076
Cost of premium	.020
Cost of postage, etc.	.030

Profit .124

The profit of 12.4c is certainly large enough to reimburse any dealer for his labor, investment, advertising, losses, and running expense. Allowing 20% net for these latter items (which is more than enough) the dealer can take out 20% for profit, and still have 2.4c left. Why not use this for a reward to the customer for his courtesy in spending his money with you? With that amount, you could offer him a stamp listing 15c. Certainly, after receiving such a present, he would feel kindly disposed to you, and would not only give you his business, but would pass the word around among his friends. Wouldn't this pay you? However, the above amount is more than necessary. The writer considers a premium listing 20% of the net amount sufficient to give for remittances. In his past experience, he has found this system a good business getter and keeper (the more important of the two).

In giving a premium, give something worth while. Don't be stingy. Get a really good stamp or set, different from the other fellow's premium, and something that you would be attracted by yourself. Don't economize by giving away the contents of your damaged box. Give them something that will be appreciated, or else don't give anything. Bear in mind that the better the premium, the better the results.

The following are some good premiums to use to attract trade:

- 5 unused South American stamps (cost about 2c a set).
- 5 unused picture stamps (very successful).
- 10 Animal stamps.
- 63 good foreign stamps (odd number for distinction).

Stamp cataloguing 25c (can be had for 3c each).

In offering premiums like the above, do not ask the customer to send 2c for postage. Remember that he can buy many of these premiums for 2c or 3c. Such petty requests do not reflect credit on the dealer. Pay your own postage and pay his, too, if it will get his business.

There are countless ways of giving premiums, numberless premiums to give, and myriads of questions to be asked on the subject. Since this space is limited, let me ask you fellows who decide to make use of this article to study the other fellows' ways of doing it (not only the stamp dealers, but any premium house) then devise your own schemes and ask me the essential questions on the subject. I am always glad to hear from everybody and I spend at least twenty-two hours a day answering your questions, some days twenty-five, so come ahead with them. Think them out for yourself if you want to be successful.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

C. O. S.—The stamp you picture is apparently a private revenue for the State of Durango, Mexico. These stamps correspond to our State Revenues. The perforated talon or coupon is detached and retained by the revenue auditor, I believe. Your drawing is remarkably well executed and must have taken some time to make.

The Great Britain stamp you mention has probably been affected by soaking, as some of these English greens lose their original shade in the process. It may be a shade, however. I have seen quite a number of them.

M. R. P.—The Seychelles are small islands off the coast of Africa.

In making stamps, the design is engraved on a piece of metal known as a die. This in turn is impressed on a curved piece known as a "transfer roll" and from this roll the plates are made. Whenever the roll is impressed twice on the same space, a part or all of the design is liable to be impressed twice, giving a blurred appearance. Usually, however, the difference is so slight that only a very few lines will show it. This double impression is called a "double transfer."

Sorry, but I am not well posted on consular fee stamps and cannot tell you where they can be obtained.

When a letter is opened by the post office or is damaged, it is sealed with a label inscribed, "officially sealed." These stamps are not for sale by the post office, but can often be found cancelled on letters that came open in transit. They are not at all rare, as a rule.

As far as I know, it is lawful to collect tobacco stamps. The stamps must be mutilated to prevent a further use of them, however.

"Segnatasse" appears on the postage due stamps of Italy & San Marino.

Your second inscription is "Bulgaria" in native characters.

"Ultramar" appears on the Spanish issues of Cuba.

"Jhind" and "Indore" are native Indian states.

Your sixth inscription signifies a Russian or Austrian local stamp. Kiauchou is a port in China, recently occupied by the Germans under a lease, and seized by the Japanese in the present war.

NASSAU STAMP CO.
118 Nassau Street, NEW YORK CITY

NOTES ON THE 3c GREEN, 1870-1887.

By H. L. WILEY.

"Paid" cancellations are quite rare. Dated cancellations which are of great value in determining the approximate time of printing are scarce. The philatelist fortunate enough to own more than ten dated copies of these stamps should use his accumulation as a basis for a larger collection of these things, adding to it as opportunity offers. The date on the stamp is of value in establishing the status of the specimen and as a contribution to the data applicable to the various issues of a similar kind.

Under date of January 14, 1885, A. D. Hazen, then Third Assistant Postmaster General, in recommending the destruction of the existing stock of official stamps and other obsolete issues of the regular series, included in his letter the following paragraph:

"I have excepted from this recommendation the 3c stamps of the ordinary series of which there are 135,800 in the vault, for the reason that though their general use has been discontinued, occasional calls are made for them by some of the larger offices."

In compliance with another clause in the recommendations made by Mr. Hazen, the Postmaster-General, under date of January 14, 1885, ordered that plates for all obsolete ordinary and official stamps be cancelled, "except one working plate of each." In the Issue of 1870, as it was officially known, which was then the current series, the plates for the 3c, 5c, 7c, 12c and 24c denominations were included among those ordered cancelled. The intention of the Department was to keep the original dies, one or more transfer rolls, and one working plate, of each denomination.

On February 24, 1885, the committee reported that the destruction of the various stamps had been accomplished as ordered, except for certain issues and denominations of the Newspaper and Periodical stamps, with which we are not at present concerned.

Provisional Issues, Etc.

To the best of my knowledge, none of the 3 cent stamps under discussion, were used in an irregular manner. Bisected provisionals and pre-cancelled issues are not recorded by any philatelic writer nor have such stamps appeared. Mr. Luff speaks of a stamp which may possibly be in the nature of a provisional issue but it is improbable that such is the true status of the stamp.

He says: "I have in my collection, a 3 cent green of the regular issue of 1882 which is over-printed in two lines in black, 'P. O. DEPT.—24c' with a bar across the original value. This stamp was presented to me by Mr. C. A. Townsend who writes that he knows nothing about the stamp except that he found five or six copies including one pair in a large quantity of stamps which he purchased some years ago. The stamps had been accumulated by a young lady who was not a philatelist who had made the oft repeated attempt to collect a 'million stamps.' My copy is uncanceled."

Re-Issues.

The Post Office Department issued a circular dated Washington, March 27, 1875, reading in part as follows: "The Department is prepared to furnish upon application, at face value, specimens of adhesive postage stamps issued under its auspices as follows:" (Included under this list of stamps was the issue of 1870 then being printed by the Continental Bank Note Company under the terms of its first contract.)

This circular was issued from time to time after the date given above. Mr. Luff in describing these stamps, says that "it is certainly difficult to distinguish the stamps of this printing from those of the regular issue. It requires a keen eye for color and great familiarity with the stamps of the period. The stamps of the special printing have the finish and appearance of careful workmanship which have been noticed in companion sets. Many of them were printed from worn plates. They are on the peculiarly white, crisp paper which was used for the reprints and reissues. Occasionally one has the cracked white gum but most of them have none.

A notable feature of this set is that the perforations are seldom perfect. The stamps were not separated in the usual way by tearing them apart but were cut apart with scissors and as a result the perforations were much mutilated and the design is practically damaged. The color of the 3 cent as nearly as can be described is a blue-green."

The plates used for the 3 cent stamp of this printing were probably included between numbers 238 and 255 although no definite data is obtainable.

A second special printing unknown to philatelists until discovered and reported by Mr. Luff in 1896 was made by the American Bank Note Company probably in 1880; the records show that 500 copies of each value were received from the stamp agent on July 16, 1880. The characteristics according to Mr. Luff's description of these stamps are as follows: "The paper and the perforations are the same as were then in regular use (soft paper, perforated twelve); the stamps were not gummed, the colors are slightly deeper and richer than usual but the differences are not easily expressed. The color of the 3 cent stamp is blue-green.

It is very difficult to tell these stamps from those of the regular issue. A very careful comparison with a set known to have been purchased in the period is the only way to identify the specimens. The stamps are of great rarity. Only five complete sets and a few ordinary copies are known to exist. It has not been possible to learn the numbers of the plates used for this printing. The two special printings of the 1872 series are treated in the records as being one issue and we are therefore unable to say how many of each were sold. The total of the two is small and it is probable that the sale of the latter was extremely limited. The figures are as follows:

1875 Received	10,000
July 16, 1880 Received	500
Total	10,500
July 16, 1884 On Hand	10,233

Sold 267

A few of the 3c of 1881-82, with various other stamps of the period, were surcharged "SPECIMEN." These were intended for the Universal Postal Union.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of a clipping from Charles A. Harvey entitled "Packing and Stamps." We would reprint the same only that it has previously appeared in our columns.

—O. D. Challans submits specimens of two new precancels from Kalamazoo, Mich. Specimens of the current 5c and 10c with old perforation are shown with "Kalamazoo, Mich." in two lines in sans serif capital letters printed horizontally between two heavy rules.

—At the regular bi-monthly meeting of the St. Louis Stamp Collectors Society, Tuesday evening, January 5, at the Club Room of the Central Library the following officers for 1915 were elected: R. H. Eilers, President; H. W. Marston, Vice-President; William. C.

Schmidt, Secretary-treasurer; Herbert Klein, Librarian. This Society will celebrate its tenth anniversary, Feb. 2.—Wm. C. SCHMIDT, Sec.

—Herman W. Boers sends us a couple of clippings from Detroit papers, one of which gives the particulars of beginning of work on a new library to cost $1,500,000. The interesting part of the proceeding to philatelists is the fact that Herbert Bowen turned the first shovel-ful of gravel.

—A correspondent writing us from Halifax, N. S., says: "I am situated where I see considerable of the mail matter that enters this office. The incoming mails from abroad show some nice covers I should like to get. They come from the front and the lack of stamps is made good by war postmarks. As we have a large number of German and Austrian prisoners here in Halifax we have a wide variety of war cancellations that would prove of more than ordinary interest to the stamp collector."

—Why not try an adlet? The rate is only 20c per line. If you have anything to trade or exchange, use this column.

A NEWFOUNDLAND WAR STAMP.

J. H. Jost sends us a war provisional from Newfoundland, consisting of the 5c blue Guy issue, overprinted horizontally in three lines in red as follows:—"Money Order," "Stamp Tax," "Only." The purpose for which this stamp is intended is evident and without doubt further provisionals of this kind may be expected from various British Colonies as the war progresses.

A HALT CALLED.

The P. O. Department is evidently determined to prevent the further advertising of precancelled stamps. J. D. Hubel advises us to discontinue his advertisement and informs us that his attention has been called to a government regulation forbidding the sale of these stamps.

NEW REVENUES ON POSTAGE PAPER.

Wm. T. Kimball advises us that he has the following new revenue stamps on U. S. P. S. paper and states that some mentioned upon the list have not as yet been chronicled elsewhere:—

Documentary—1, 2, 4, 5, 10, 25, 40 and 50c.

Proprietary—1/8, 1/4, 3/8, 1/2, 1 1/2, 2 1/2, 3 1/2, 3 3/4c.

Cordials—1/4, 1/2, 1, 1 1/2, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 20c.

Mr. Kimball questions whether the following varieties of the proprietaries have been issued:—1/2, 1, 2 and 3c.

CONVENTION AT SAN FRANCISCO.

As San Francisco has been chosen as the convention city of the American Philatelic Society in 1915. In this connection the Pacific Philatelic Society of that city, acting under the advice of the President of the Society to "get busy," and realizing the need of an early reservation with the Exposition people for a convention hall; a reservation has been registered with them for the month of August next. As to the exact days, previous experience teaches that there is but little variation in time from year to year, the President will in due time announce the exact days, therefore members will be safe in making their plans to attend at the usual time in August next.

As soon as members can definitely say they will attend, they should notify the Secretary of the Pacific Philatelic Society, Room 310-311 Luning Building, No. 45 Kearny St., San Francisco, to which address all communications and letters "in care of" should be sent; these rooms having lately been leased by the Society as a permanent headquarters and for mail and registration during and after the Exposition.

The official hotel headquarters will be at the Stewart Hotel, No. 353 Geary street, very centrally located in the shopping district, and on the direct municipal car line from the Ferry entrance at the foot of Market Street, where all overland passengers are landed and directly across the street from the St. Francis Hotel at Union Square.

Among the activities planned for convention week will be an auction sale and mart.

The matter of a general exhibition of stamps in connection with some department of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is yet open, but the Pacific Philatelic Society has definitely decided to hold under its auspices limited monthly exhibitions, on the third Wednesday of each month, for a period of nine months, during which the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be open; thus giving the utmost latitude to all our stamp friends, "withersoever dispersed," to be with us at some time during the Exposition months, even though they cannot find it convenient to be here during convention week.

The adopted schedule of the limited exhibition is as follows:

March. Russia and Finland.
April. Great Britain.
May. China and Corea.
June. British West Indies, any or all parts.
July. Greece and Turkey.
Aug. United States, (convention week).
Sept. France.
Oct. Any one Central or South American state.
Nov. Germany.

Suitable awards for each month will be allotted in order of merit; special trophies will be thankfully received, credited and awarded. These monthly exhibitions are open to all persons of any country. Intending exhibitors who cannot attend in person should make arrange with some friend or correspondent to care for custody and safety; the committee of the Pacific Philatelic Society will act if requested so to do; there will be no costs for entry fee nor charges, other than expense charges.

It is not necessary to allude to the customary adjuncts to the convention. The committee assures you that the products of our vineyards and orchards are in bountiful supply and that the Pacific Ocean, our Parks' mountains and drives will be as attractive as ever, to say nothing of the superlative attractions of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition before and after the convention. —Collectors' Monthly.

THE NEW PERFORATION ABANDONED.

Our chronicle of new issues will no doubt furnish the information that the new perforation on U. S. adhesives has been discontinued and the regulation perforation called again into use. A great deal of fault has been found with the new perforation not only by the postal officials, but by the general public. It has been impossible to detach the stamps without tearing them and the complaints registered against the new perforation has been strong enough to cause it to be abandoned. Blocks of four of this perforation will look well in a U. S. collection and will prove a good investment.

BRITISH NEW GUINEA.

New Guinea stamps of the German colonial type have already been reported as having received a "G. R. I." overprint, but no details have hitherto come to hand. We now learn from a correspondent that he has received nine stamps of the German New Guinea set, which we hope to illustrate shortly. They are overprinted "G. R. I." and surcharged in English currency. All the German stamps up to the 80 pfennig have been utilised, but strange to say, neither 1/2d, 2 1/2d nor 6d have been provided for. The 3pf and 5pf stamps are surcharged 1d; the 10pf and 20pf are surcharged 2d; 25pf and 30pf, 3d; 40pf, 4d; 50pf, 5d; and 80pf, 8d. The stops after the letters G. R. I. vary considerably in size, some of them being almost invisible. On the 8d stamp there is no stop after the "8d," but it is quite possible that all of this denomination may be without a stop. The type is about 3 mm. high. We hope to be able to furnish further particulars of this set next week.—Postage Stamp.

BRITAIN HOLDS UP MAIL TO GERMANY.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Great Britain has decided to hold up letters destined for countries with which she is at war if they are inclosed in letters being forwarded to neutral countries, unless the envelope is unsealed. An announcement to this effect was issued today by the British War Office. Hitherto considerable mail from England has been sent to Germany by way of the United States.—Chicago American.

EDITORIAL.

British Samoa—The letters from Apia, Samoa, come through with the New Zealand, 2½ pence surcharged Samoa in red and we noticed that one cover bore the stamp uncanceled; and on the back of the envelope was the printed paster: Apia—Censored—Samoa in three lines. On the front was the impression, Passed by Censor.

From India—A letter from a mission in Pilibhit, India, was received with the notice on the face of the envelope, "Passed Censor, Bombay;" and on the reverse is the label, surmounted by the British arms: Opened by Censor.

Collecting Fraternity—Our attention has just been called to a newspaper story by Herbert Corey that appeared some time ago in the New York Globe. It is told how August, the German soldier and Armand, the French soldier became detached from their companies during a night sortie and after hiding from each other during the hours of darkness agreed upon an armistice the next morning: "They laughed together. The Frenchman was a stamp collector. The German owned to a passion for butterflies. They bored each other with their fads." They walked together, "elbow by elbow talking stamps and butterflies." They were fired upon first by the Germans and then by the French and when they got near the Holland line they decided to ask for interment in Holland. "We were destined to be friends," they told the frontier guard.

The Right Stuff—The Christian Science Monitor of Boston is still making a feature of its fortnightly stamp news; and we are pleased to find that our columns are drawn upon liberally at times for the information that is so well presented by the editor of the stamp corner. It is gratifying to notice that recently there have been two recruits to the number of newspapers in large cities that have established stamp departments as a regular attraction.

Organizing Philately—In addition to the Chicago Philatelic Society, which, by-the-way, holds its twenty-seventh annual banquet on January 30th, 1915, in the city by the lake, there is a stamp club of the younger folks which meets at Sinai Center, 4622 Grand Boulevard, Chicago, on the first and third Saturdays of the month at two o'clock. So successful have the meetings of this junior organization been, that a member of the club has suggested that those who cannot well attend the meetings organize clubs in their own neighborhoods; and he has issued a call to collectors in his own community for a neighborhood stamp collectors' club.

Testy—An old subscriber indites the following recital: "Many ya-ars ago, when I was a guileless collector, or in 1902, I wrote you to ask if the two cent U. S. flag design stamp which was supplanted by the shield type, two cents, 'would ever be rare?' I was one of many who asked the question which was repeatedly answered in your columns in those good old days, in the manner of speaking. At any rate I wanted to ask the question myself and have an answer all to myself, about the destiny of a current stamp whose retirement had been announced; and the constant iteration of the self-same question must have pestered you as you vociferated, 'No!' In view of the fact that said stamp now catalogues at forty cents unused and that a grasping dealer asks me one dollar and half of another one for a block of four of the stamps because they are so hard to get well centered, what have you to say before sentence is imposed on you? If you had told me to put away several entire sheets, just think of the money that I would have made; and in fact, I blame you for the loss of a considerable sum of money, to put it with reverse english." Well, you see, it was this way. We thought that you meant the used stamp (and he did) and we will sell you a hundred of them for a quarter.

An Uncomfortable Person—Another disagreeable letter comes from a reader who sprinkles his Attic sale a bit too freely. He says: "Great Grief! 'Senape' on the Eritrea stamps, new pictorial set, is queried as 'Alfalfa' and I always understood that you had 'a little Latin.' To mistake mustard for alfalfa. Ho! Ho! In the bright lexicon of Italian in your shop, there must be no such word as 'senape.' Try a mustard-plaster next time." Our one-time friend but stranger now is too unrefined to be much of a gentleman. We have read "Italian at a Glance" but did not depend upon its aid in this instance. An Italian said that he did not recall just what the word, Senape, was in English, but suggested alfalfa,—and so, the joke is on him and not us, after all.

Added To The List—Some time ago, we reported in these columns, the discovery of a western frank of the C. C. Huntley Stage & Express Line, on the three cent, 1864 U. S. stamped envelope white paper. The owner of the cover, Mr. R. J. Tarry now furnishes us with some interesting details that fully establish the legitimacy of this frank. He writes: "I have since found out something about the Huntley express and thought that you would like to see the envelope itself. I had heard rumors that the Huntley franks were bogus and also learned that the frank was listed years ago on buff but not known on white. I wrote Mr. H. B. Phillips who replied that he had a frank of the same name which he regarded as a fraud. I then sent my envelope to Mr. Phillips who said after examination that he was glad to be able to report that it was genuinely franked. The 'fake' that he had listed was on buff and printed in some combination of purple and red. Next I wrote to the State Historical Library of Montana and found that the C. C. Huntley Stage and Express Line was operated from Helena beginning in 1868 to some time in the '70's. Two advertisements of the Company follow. From the Helena Herald, 1868: 'C. C. Huntley, Daily & Tri-Weekly stage & express & carrier of the United States mail from Helena to Hell Gate, via Blackfoot, Deer Lodge & Beartown. Leaves Helena alternate days at 6 A. M. for Blackfoot and all Western camps. Office No. 40, Main St. S. S. Huntley, Agent.' From the Rocky Mountain Gazette, Helena: 'New Mail Route from Helena to Cave Gulch, via Eldorado Bar. Huntley's Mail and express coach leaves Helena each alternate day, commencing Monday, July 6, 1869.' The foregoing, capitalization and all, are just as they were copied for me out of the respective papers. Later in 1870, the company advertised 'Helena to Cedar Creek half daily.' Hell Gate, Cedar Creek, etc., do not exist to-day." The envelope bears the Helena postmark and is addressed to Fredonia, New York. The cover is stamped "registered" and the adhesive stamps evidently came off accidentally as the envelope has seen rather rough usage and is water-stained. The early days of the west are graphically suggested by this memento and the names of long-forgotten camps have the flavor of pioneer times. We felicitate Mr. Tarry on the intelligent search that he made so successfully to authenticate his frank which must now be placed with the accepted varieties.

THE PERFECT PHILATELIST.

VOLUME ONE.

Originated, Owned and Operated By Parnassus Penflip

NUMBER TWO.

Editorial."Per Angusta ad Augusta."

Hold fast and true, brave gentry, else the fiends of darkness will chortle with ghoulish glee over the supposed capitulation of the PERFECT PHILATELIST to the impish horde. Our first number fell like a bomb-shell in the camp of the mercenaries and with blanched faces, the emissaries of evil scattered in seeming hopeless confusion. Fearing, however, that their death-knell was sounding, they rallied from their panic and with the desperation of the fated, they have been launching superhuman efforts to annihilate the champion of truth and the vidette of virtue as exemplified in the PERFECT PHILATELIST. Threats of the most terrifying nature have been hurled at us; bribes of the most insidious character have been thrust at us and infamous attacks have been leveled at us. Mayhap, we wavered for a moment or two but with sudden inspiration, we overcame the menace of the malevolent; and now clad in armor of burnished steel, we swing our trusty Toledo above our visor and bid our sturdy soldiers to the fray to rout abuse and error.

* * * *

We trust that our readers will excuse the delay in the appearance of our second number but truth to tell, the deceptions of the disgruntled, and the fulminations of the fatuous plunged us into the depths of depression. The realization of the existence of a host of unbelievers saddened us—but only for the nonce; and now genius germinates and will grow into the great oak that will remain unshaken by the turmoil of the pygmies.

* * * *

In the next number we shall detail our plans for the first campaign against the bulwarks of philatelic blasphemy and we shall acquaint our valiant followers with the necessary and secret information for our successful onslaught.

* * * *

Is it amiss to say that the first contribution of that sterling soul, H. Wesley Legg, was most gratefully received? He sent us a bill of no paltry size for the purchase of a carton of cigarros of exquisite bouquet. We trust that the dignified example of our most valued contributor, at the time of writing, will inspire a spirit of emulation on the part of other members of incomparable galaxy. What more laudable ambition may one have than to strew gladness on life's pathway?

Attacks Tax.

"Possibly the PERFECT PHILATELIST, O. O. & O. by P. P., might use the enclosed clipping:"

Olney W. Weave, the sweet singer of the Sedgwick Pantagraph, lifts up his voice:

"I've licked a dozen stamps today for telegrams I've sent; I licked and stuck one on a bill with which I paid the rent. I licked a stamp to paste upon a note which I renewed, and then I licked another one to make the mortgage good. I've licked these stamps to show that I respect my country's will, and now I'd like to lick the man that introduced the bill."

Brazil and Its Stamps.

By PERCIVALE NITWIT, D. F.; P. O. D.; D. L. O., ETC.

I am credibly informed that Brazil is a country of no mean size in South American and it is to be alleged without fear of successful contradiction that it has issued not a few different stamps. Reference to a catalogue will show that some of the specimens are worth more than others. The first issue was made in 1843 or approximately and the stamps were often used on the backs of the covers as a seal and so it behooves those collectors who have glanced hurriedly over their Brazilian correspondence to make a more leisurely examination of it; and no doubt they will find some of the bulls-eyes (as the stamps may be called by their familiars) that they have heretofore overlooked.

(This is the second instalment of a series of exhaustive stamp studies by our celebrated specialist. A third will appear in an early number.)

Saved by Gum.

Again I greet you from bleak Kerguelen. Revivified in mind and body by the air of these solitudes, I sought to escape from my lonely islet. Providentially, I found that my little pocket-album of duplicates was unharmed and a plan to use the stamps came to mind. Selecting an Austrian stamp, unused, of high denomination because of its tenacious gum, I softened the adhesive by exposure to the fierce rays of the sun and placed the stamp so that one of the many birds that frequented the rock was soon trapped by alighting on the stamp. I found that the bird was a sort of carrier petrel and I affixed a used three cent Columbian to its neck and on the reverse of the stamp I wrote that I was marooned in latitude so and so and longitude this and that; and set the bird free. In a short time, I saw a proa approaching and the crew of natives soon were making obeisance to me. They carried me off in state to the fruitful land of Bydang where I was proclaimed Totoot of these brave yet gentle folk. More anon.

That he attended a philatelic banquet the menu of which did not make a play on philatelic terms, such as "Mock Turtle (Counterfeit)."

That at the annual meeting of a local stamp society, the secretary of the organization said that he liked his work and would be glad to serve another year.

The Desperate Dilemma of Robert Harbinger or How Majolica Ware Was Wooded and Won.

By MISS GUSHIE GURGIE.
Author of "The Philatelic Cupid"; "The Love Affairs of Bill Bloss," etc.

CHAPTER V.

There was a peremptory knock at the door of the Harbinger home and the silk-hatted banker stood on the threshold. He greeted the widow and her manly son; and placing his hat and cane on a chair, he produced the mortgage. Perfunctorily, our hero read the instrument and with a start, he noticed that it bore a revenue stamp, a one hundred dollar documentary of the 1898 issue, with inverted center! "Let me read the mortgage in the quiet atmosphere of my room," said our hero in a voice that trembled despite himself. Robert slipped away post haste to the mansion of the village Worthington, who, to make a long story short, pressed eight thousand dollars in his hands for the great rarity, the only one in existence.

CHAPTER VI.

Hastening home, our hero impetuously burst upon the scene. The color in the cheeks of the widow was heightened and a strange glow was in the eyes of the banker. "Yes," the banker was saying, "you have a son of whom to be proud"; and hearing this our hero made the avowal, "I love your daughter." With a dry chuckle the banker said, "Pay the mortgage and my motherless child is yours." Then to the surprise of all, Robert nonchalantly counted off fifteen thousand dollars from his roll of twenty thousand dollars and handed it to the admiring banker.

CHAPTER VII.

There was a double wedding in Squatdale. The banker and the widow spent their honeymoon of several weeks at Saratoga Springs. Robert and his bride took even a more extended tour. They went to Philadelphia, having heard of the Philadelphia Stamp News, and the happy pair paid its editor a visit of five weeks. The time passed all too rapidly for Robert and Majolica and in time they departed, after having made inquiry into the rates of subscription for one year and for six months, respectively; and if they were a bit disappointed that the editor gave no premiums, they did not show their feeling.

Thus did philately unite loving hearts.

Our Aristocracy of Brains.

Our brilliant corps of contributors is the personification of perfection; and it has come to our ears that many an one would give his all to achieve a place in the sun with them. Needless to say, additions to our list will be made only after the severest tests are withstood and a probationary period successfully passed. Here are the immortals; count 'em: Count Lapp de Booz; Sinpod, the Stamp Sage; Miss Gushie Gurgie; Embossed Emil; H. Wesley Legg; Percivale Nitwit, D. F., P. O. D., D. L. O. etc.; W. Hamilton Barnum; Beller, Our War Correspondent and PARNASSUS PENFLIP. (Note to printer: Use caps.—P. P.)

CHAS. S. OSGOOD, SALEM, MASS.

Dear Charley:—

I haven't time to write an ad this week. I just picked up a big lot of high valued colonials USED such as 6d, 1sh, 2sh Jamaica, and I'm busy putting them into my "Blue Books." Tell your friend that I have those scarce ones he wants. Joe sent me some nice Hong Kongs and I'm putting them in the books, too. I'm working night and day, because lots of your readers will want those books. See you next week.

UNITED STATES.—After fifty-three years continuous use of a standard method for the separation of postage stamps, the United States postal authorities adopted a new standard of what collectors call "perforated 10." The Philadelphia Stamp News announces "that the complaints from users of postage stamps issued in sheets were received in such quantities by the Postmaster General, not alone from the public users but also from the postal clerks handling these stamps, that the Department is at present occupied in exchanging perforated 12 for the perforated 10 and the production of the latter has been stopped, if they are not recalled and destroyed. The change back to the old order of things may not, and perhaps will, effect the issues in coil and booklet form. Incidentally, the Postmaster at Philadelphia has instructions to return all the new standard perforation sheet stamps to Washington and receive the old standard gauge stamps in exchange. This means the experimental perforation 10 stamps are to be supplanted by the old perforated 12 sheets, in other words, the widely spaced perforation has proved to be unsuitable and the old standard 12 perforation is returned to favor. What will be done with the perforated 10 stamps, by the Department, we do not know, but surmise they may be adapted to coils, or destroyed."

Scott's Circular notes that the 7c, 12c, and 20c postage and 2c postage due stamps have been seen perforated 10.

ARGENTINE.—Smith & Sons Monthly Circular says that the following service stamps have appeared on paper with the honeycomb watermark:

M. A.—1c, 5c, 12c.

M. H.—1c, 2c, 5c, 12c.

AUSTRALIA.—The Australian Philatelist states:—Going through a number of sheets of the 6d Kookaburra, it was discovered that two qualities of paper had been used, one a hard wove, the other a soft porous one. The color on the first is of a much lighter shade than the second, which is something like a deep red-brown, and the ink has stained the surface of the unprinted part of the sheet, giving it a pinkish appearance. Another variety noticed was a double perforation along the outer vertical row on the right of the sheet.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The Stamp Collectors' Forthrightly says a rumor is circulating in England to the effect that the Germans have overprinted a great quantity of the Current German stamps "Grossbritannien" and values in English money against possible use at some future time.

HAYTI.—With the aid of Maury's Collectionneur we are now able to give a complete list of the Zamor surcharges. There are three types of the surcharge, all type set, as illustrated in Scott's addenda, which see:

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

PRICE LIST AND FOLLOW-UP-ADVERTISER.

While space advertising in the stamp papers must form the largest part of the publicity of a dealer, in order to secure the maximum results from advertising, it is advisable to supplement it with other advertising.

The advisability of the issuance of a price-list must depend largely on the circumstances of the dealer. If his stock consists of stamps in quantities of twenty-five to a hundred or more of a kind, and attractive prices can be made, the dealer is safe in putting out a price-list. However, many young dealers have the impression that no dealer can be considered a dealer until he has issued a list, accordingly as soon as they get five or ten stamps of a kind, and a few kinds, they issue a list. Result! The sixth customer has to be advised that the stamps are out of stock. This method kills business instead of building it.

For the dealer with little capital, a very good plan is to issue a small list periodically. Same can be mimeographed or run off on a duplicating machine at a low figure and will answer the purpose of a more expensive list, which becomes useless as the stock is exhausted. If the dealer can issue a short list of this sort, including some thirty or forty items, or even fewer, at little expense for printing, he will find that it "gingers" up the trade immensely and will help to turn dead stock. A plan used by some dealers is to enclose a small sheet of this sort with every order or lot sent out. These lists are changed at weekly or bi-monthly intervals, and hence offer new bargains where a larger list could not.

In considering the subject of follow-up and circular advertising, bear in mind that one of the first theories of advertising proves that a number of smaller attacks on the mind of the customer will bring better results than fewer larger campaigns. It is repeated efforts that bring the results, not a few mighty attempts. In carving stone, the hammer must strike many times. So must it in carving the fame of the dealer on the mind of the customer.

The house-organ is a welcome relief from the stereotyped price list. It is a price-list in disguise, or, like the little liver pill, it has a candy coating. The reader, after he has devoured the pages of favorite fiction designed for him by the kindly dealer, is quite willing to give a few moments to the beauties of said dealer's new Animal Packet. A few of the dealers issuing house-organs induce the readers to look over the advertising by another method. They start out to knock their competitors, and soon establish a first-class mud-slinging row which interests no one. The dealer devotes a number of columns to informing Mr. Competitor indirectly and the gentle readers chiefly that he thinks Mr. C. is a long-eared cuss and follows it up with a beautiful assortment of descriptive adjectives, thrilling narrative, and subtle threats. At last, in disgust and for relief, the reader (no longer gentle) turns to the advertising to escape the morbid matter thrust upon him. The result is the same. He reads the advertisements. However, he has long since come to the conclusion that the dealer is of the Genus Simpus for wasting space on mud-slinging and for insulting his intelligence by expecting him to read such slander. Therefore, he decides to abandon forever his patronage with this dealer, and the next time the house-organ is received, its heating properties are quickly tested in place of its message being read. Judge for yourself whether it is best to use your house-organ to build your business or wreck your neighbor's. Consider whose business gets the worst of the deal.

Another mistake, to my mind, that many of the dealers make is in charging a subscription price for these house-organs. Collectors realize that not one in twenty-five has any literary value worth paying money for, and the fact that they are asked to part with their good coin for the sake of receiving a line of bargains entirely surrounded by "bunk," is resented by many of the very best buyers in the country. Instead of limiting your paper to a few who will pay for it, and who may never spend a cent from reading it, send it to good buyers and live prospects, regardless whether they pay the postage or you do. They spend the money, and the added circulation will pay for itself several times over in increased sales. Don't shut out your best customer because he refuses to pay your expenses on your list. If a salesman called on you, what would you do to him if he asked you to pay his carfare?

A good follow-up system will do wonders in building business. Every dealer keeps, or should keep, a list of his customers, together with their wants and requirements. A 3 x 5 card index is the best means of handling such a list. Your stationer will give you the necessary information about filing and cross-indexing, etc.

After a customer favors you with an order, don't let him stop there. When you get his name, mail him your advertising matter, or better yet, write him a "personal" letter telling of the advantages of your service and approvals, or your capacity for filling wants, or any other good selling argument. After you have sent him this first letter, note the date of mailing in his card, together with the number of the form letter sent, or whether the letter is of the style you write first. File his card, or a record of his name and the letter, in a suspense file kept for the purpose, placing the card under the date that will bring it to your attention two weeks from the date of the first letter. If, at the end of that period, you have not received a reply from him, write him a second letter, and repeat the filing operation, noting the date of the second letter. Continue this plan until you have sent him four or five letters or even more, or are convinced that you cannot land him. Then file his card in your general file, and go after him again in a short time, repeating the operation as heretofore.

Just what success you will have in extracting further orders from your prospect depends largely upon your ability as a letter writer. I have found that the farther from a form letter the follow-up is, the better the results will be. If the customer receives a letter written to him personally, and not a mere copy of a letter which he knows every other fellow gets, he will be far more apt to respond. Therefore, it is worth the extra trouble to make the letter a personal one. In writing these follow-ups, if you have any personal knowledge of the likes and dislikes of your client, use it. Show him that the letter is individual because it reaches his particular points. Also, do not think you can fool him by using an imitation type-written letter. The only person such a letter will fool is the merchant who sends it out. Such letters should only be used when it is of no consequence if they do bear the appearance of a form letter.

Circular advertising can be made a very important factor in selling, if it is handled carefully. Unless the circulars and letters are made interesting and are well-worded, they will fall flat. It is a good plan in letter-writing to use double spacing in preference to single spacing (on typewritten letters), for, while this does not permit of as long a letter, if the letter is snappy, and full of interest, it can be made long enough to accomplish this purpose, and too long a letter will not receive the proper attention from the reader. What do you do when you receive a closely spaced long-drawn form letter, telling of the virtues of a new brand of beans? Do you read it, or throw it away unread?

If you intend to write many letters of this kind, the writer would suggest that you secure, from your public library, or elsewhere, the various books on form letters and advertising, and give them a little careful attention. The Shaw publication, including the System magazine, offer several books of worth on this subject, and in order to get good results, it is advisable that the fundamentals be learned.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

G. A. C.—I am no authority on precancels, so cannot tell you what city issued a precancel with five small dots, differing in size. Are you sure this is not a package cancellation of some sort? Perhaps some of our precancel collectors will volunteer this information. The dots increase until the third is the largest and then decrease again.

A. R. K.—The 24c August is distinctly different in shade from any of the other 24c stamps. Your copy is very probably No. 70, the red-lilac. An unused copy of the 24c August brought $91.00 in a Chicago sale recently.

G. H. J.—The five high values of Costa Rica are coming on the market in quantities cancelled with five black bars close together. These stamps with postal cancellation of bars wide apart and initials C R are very desirable, the three highest being almost never seen in this condition. I cannot take the responsibility of advising you on stamp investments.

THE STAMPS OF GERMANY.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

FOREWORD.

In the series of articles which have appeared in the WEEKLY to date I have endeavored to cover the history of the issues of the separate States in a manner which would appeal to the general collector, and in dealing with the postal issues of Germany itself the same plan will be followed. I have thought it convenient to include the stamps of Thurn and Taxis and those of the North German Confederation with Germany. These cannot be allocated to any particular State and as they were the forerunners of the emissions for the German Empire their logical place would appear to be in the sequence of the Empire stamps. This is the method generally adopted in cataloguing these groups and it is the one followed by the late Mr. W. A. S. Westoby in his excellent work on the "Adhesive Postage Stamps of Europe." Mr. Westoby's explanation is so clear and concise that I cannot do better than quote it in full:—

In the seventeenth century the postal service of the whole of Germany was a monopoly in the hands of the Princes of Thurn and Taxis, but the wars of the French Revolution, followed by those of the First Empire, so dislocated the service that Austria, Baden, Bavaria, Brunswick, Hanover, Luxemburg, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Oldenburg, Prussia and Saxony withdrew, or purchased their freedom, and formed their own postal administrations. Wurtemberg purchased its freedom in March, 1851, for something over $500,000, when the postal service of the Thurn and Taxis office became confined to those parts of North Germany comprised in the Electorate of Hesse, the Principalities of Reuss, Schwarzburg-Sondershausen, Waldeck, and Lippe, the Grand Duchy of Saxe-Weimar, the Grand Duchy of Mecklenburg-Strelitz down to 1864, and the Hanseatic towns of Hamburg, Bremen, and Lubeck, in each of which there was an office. In South Germany its monopoly extended to the Grand Duchy of Hesse-Darmstadt, the Principalities of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt, the Duchies of Nassau, Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, Saxe-Altenburg, and Saxe-Meiningen, the Landgraviat of Hesse-Homburg, and the town of Frankfurt-on-the-Main.

The North German Confederation was formed in 1866, its policy being directed by a Parliament composed of members from Prussia and twenty-one other German States, which met from time to time in Berlin. In the early part of 1867 Prussia purchased from the Prince of Thurn and Taxis the remainder of the monopoly of the postal service throughout Germany at and from 1 July, 1867, and carried it on till the end of that year, when the whole service throughout Germany was merged by the Confederation into one general administration, with its centre in Berlin, with the exception of Baden, Bavaria, and Wurtemberg, which continued to preserve their separate administrations though, after the re-establishment of the German Empire on January 1st, 1871, that of Baden ceased to exist and was absorbed in that of the Empire.

It might be considered more logical to place the stamps of Thurn and Taxis under a separate heading, as has been done with those of the German States that were merged into those of the North German Confederation, or the Empire; but as the service extended to several States in North and South Germany they are not localised, and have usually been placed under the head of Germany, and it is perhaps better to conform to custom.

The postage stamp history of Germany will, therefore, be considered under the following heads:

1. The Stamps of the Thurn and Taxis Post Office, from the time of their first issue, on 1 January, 1852, down to the purchase of it by Prussia in 1867, when, on 30 June of that year, the stamps were withdrawn and ceased to be issued.

2. The Stamps of the North German Confederation, issued 1 January, 1868.

3. The Stamps of the German Empire, issued at the end of 1871, and which superseded those of the North German Confederation.

It will be seen that this arrangement leaves a hiatus between 30 June, 1867, and 1 January, 1868, during which time the service was conducted by a special issue of Prussia, for the particulars of which reference must be made to the stamps of that country as described in the previous handbook on the 'Stamps of the German States'."

Thurn and Taxis.

The meaning of Thurn and Taxis has frequently puzzled collectors but, as I have already explained it did not represent a political or geographical division of the German Empire, but is a designation applied to the stamps issued in connection with the postal monopoly held by the princely house of this name. In the Stamp Collector's Magazine for February, 1863, Mr. Mount Brown gives a short history of this house and its post to which I am indebted for much of the following information.

Thurn and Taxis was formerly an independent house in Germany which came originally from Italy. The oldest authentic historic ancestor of the family is considered to be Martin I della Torre, Lord of Valsassina, who accompanied the Emperor Conrad I in his crusade, and died a prisoner of the Saracens in 1147. Since 1259 eight della Torres were, one after the other, lords of Milan, until Guido the Rich perished in a feud with the Visconti family. Martino della Torre was one of the popular leaders, and appointed anziano or elder of the people of Milan. Such was his power that he sequestered the property of the see, and forbade the archbishop-elect to appear in Milan; for which he was excommunicated by the Pope. His successors continued to enjoy the popular favor for some time, until one of them was suspected of aspiring to sovereign power, and Ottino Visconti, the archbishop, seized the opportunity for striking a decisive blow. A combat ensued in which the Torriani were defeated, and Visconti entered Milan a perpetual lord. So much then for the Torre, (or Thurn, to give it its Teutonic equivalent) branch of the family.

One of the sons of Guido the Rich, Lamoral I, settled in the territory of Bergamo, and took from the mountain Tasso (one of his possessions there) the name del Tasso and afterwards del Tassis, from which the German Taxis

UNITED STATES AND COLONIES

I am specializing my stock of stamps, intending to handle in future only the stamps of the United States, Hawaii, Canada, and Newfoundland. Such other stamps as I still have,—many fine British West Indies, and some South Americans,—I am offering at very attractive prices, or will exchange, on catalogue basis, for stamps of like grade that I can use from the above countries. My books A, B, C, of B. W. I. contain superb mint copies (X, Y, Z, used copies), cataloging from 10c to $10.00, and will be sent to responsible collectors on approval, against reference, or want lists will be filled, so far as possible, at the lowest prices.

My BIG BLACK BOOKS of U. S., Hawaii, Canada, and Newfoundland, will interest most advanced collectors, and will be sent to liberal purchasers of fine things on approval. The following offers are samples of my stock and prices, all unused, unless otherwise specified:

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

Percival Parrish, President. P. M. Wolsieffer, Gen'l Manager.

1204 CHESTNUT STREET.

was derived. His great grandson inherited the possessions of his predecessors, united their titles, and was known as Roger I of Thurn and Taxis. He was knighted by the emperor Friederich III, in 1450, and founded the fame of his house by the establishment of a post in the Tyrol. The emperor, Leopold I, granted to Count Engen Franz von Thurn and Taxis the dignity of Prince of the Empire. The grandson of the latter obtained the office of Imperial-General Hereditary Post Master, held in fee from the Empire.

The Tyrol post established by Roger I marks him as one of the earliest postal benefactors. He must have known how to manage the post he established; for instead of it dying out, like so many other knightly ventures, it proved to be the initial step towards the foundation of a service whose functions only ceased with the Prusso-Austrian war of 1866. So successful was the conduct of his enterprise that, in 1516, his son was charged by Maximilian I to form a post from Brussels to Vienna, certainly no mean undertaking in those days. In 1522, on account of the war with the Turks, an imperial post was established from Nuremberg to Vienna, which ceased on the return of peace. On this Charles V ordered Leonhard, Count of Thurn and Taxis, to establish a permanent post, which went from the Netherlands through Treves, Spire, etc., to Wurtemberg, Augsburg, and Tyrol to Italy. In 1543, he created the Count Oberpostmeister of the German Empire. About the end of the sixteenth century the Thurn and Taxis post, shaken by disturbances in the Netherlands, and oppressed by debt, fell into disuse, but rose again under the favor of emperor Rudolf II. But the Palatinate, Wurtemberg, Saxony, Brandenburg, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and other states of the empire formerly included under Thurn and Taxis, had in the meantime established posts in their own states, and refused to recognize the validity of the office. Thereupon Count Lamoral of Thurn and Taxis was raised to the rank of Baron of the Empire, and received the imperial post in fee for himself and male heirs, which was subsequently extended to his female descendants. It was under this somewhat attenuated postal monopoly that stamps were issued in 1852.

The Thurn and Taxis Post Office had its headquarters in Frankfurt, and the extent of its monopoly about the year 1850 has already been detailed. From the latter it will be seen that the field of its operations extended to states in both Northern and Southern Germany. In the Northern States the currency was in silbergroschen while in South Germany it was in kreuzer, thus necessitating two series of stamps. Before, therefore, describing the stamps themselves some explanation of the monetary system obtaining in the states affected by the Thurn and Taxis postal administration seems desirable. In his article in Gibbons' Stamp Weekly for September 19th, 1908, Mr. W. P. Barnsdall gives a very clear exposition of the somewhat mixed currency then in vogue which I cannot do better than quote in extenso.

The Northern group, with a few exceptions, had for its unit the thaler, equal to about 3s (72c) of our money. This was as a rule sub-divided into 30 silbergroschen, groschen, or new-groschen, each of which was equivalent to 12 pfennige. Thus in English money 1 silbergroschen equalled 1/5d (2 2/5c). In Hanover and Brunswick the thaler was divided into 24 gute-groschen of 12 pfennige, whilst in Bremen 72 grote made up that unit. Hanover in 1858 adopted the subdivision of 300 pfennige=30 groschen=1 thaler, thus coming into line except as regards the lowest denomination; whilst in Mecklenburg 48 schilling made up the thaler of 30 groschen. Schleswig, Hamburg, Lubeck, and Bergedorf employed the Hamburg mark (28c) as the unit, it being divided into 16 schilling. Practically, therefore, all the currency of North Germany can be reduced to silbergroschen.

The monetary unit for the Southern States was the gulden or florin, divided into 60 kreuzer. This was at one time worth 2s (48c) or two-thirds of a thaler, so that 3 kreuzer exactly equalled 1 silbergroschen. Eventually the value of the gulden fell to about 1s 8d (40c), but, as will be seen later, the equation mentioned served as the basis of issue of concurrent series of stamps.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

The Thurn and Taxis Post Office, as I have already stated, had its central administration at Frankfurt, and, as it joined the German Austrian Postal Union in 1851, it became necessary to provide postage stamps to conform to one of the regulations of the convention. This Postal Union, as has been pointed out in the history of the stamps of Baden, Bavaria, etc., was of considerable importance since by it the postal arrangements over a large portion of central Europe were regulated and uniform rates established. As the operation of the Thurn and Taxis office included states using two distinct currencies, two sets of stamps were necessary, one with values expressed in silbergroschen and the other with values in kreuzer. By the terms of the Postal Union, stamps of 1 kreuzer were allowed to correspond to those of 1/2 silbergroschen—a distinct advantage to the southern states as will be seen from the currency equivalents quoted above.

The design adopted was somewhat similar to that used by Baden, Bavaria, and Wurtemberg about the same period. They were printed in a similar manner to the emissions of those States and on paper of different colors. A contract was made with a paper manufacturer at Hanau on November 15, 1851, for a supply of suitable paper; and a few days later another contract was made with the firm of C. Naumann, a Frankfurt printer, for the construction of the plates and the printing of the stamps.

COLUMBIAN STAMP CO., Arlington, Mass.

The stamps were issued on January 1, 1852, there being four values for each division, those corresponding of the different currencies being of the same color. The stamps of the Northern States, with values in silbergroschen, show large uncolored numerals of value on an engine-turned ground, the pattern of which differs for each denomination. Enclosing this centerpiece is a square frame measuring about 22 mm. outside and 14 mm. inside. In the upper part of this frame is "Friedmarke," in German lower-case with capital initial; in the lower portion is the value in "Silb. Grosch." in Roman lower case with capital initials; on the left is "Deutsche-Oestr. Postverein," and on the right "Thurn and Taxis," both inscriptions being in two lines of German diamond lower case with capital initials. In each of the angles are small posthorns and immediately below these, encroaching on the background of the centre, are small shields showing the numerals of value on a ground of solid color.

The stamps of the Southern States, with values in kreuzer, show similar inscriptions but on a circular band, the small posthorns separating the inscriptions. The large numerals of value in the centre are on an engine-turned ground of circular shape and, as in the case of the silbergroschen series, the pattern of this differs for each denomination. The rectangular shape of the design as a whole is obtained by the addition of ornamental scrollwork at each angle, there being small numerals of value in the centre of the decoration at each corner. The inscription at the left on all these stamps is simply the German rendering of "German Austrian Postal Union."

Mr. Westoby tells us that "the dies were engraved in the establishment of Naumann, in relief by chemotype, and the electrotypes were also made there." There were 150 electrotypes for each value and these were clamped together in a chase in fifteen horizontal rows of ten each to form the printing plates. They were all printed in black on colored papers and were issued imperforate.

POTASH AND PERLMUTTER.

Both Get the Stamp Craze.

Abe Potash strolled into the office the other morning to find that Mawrus had preceded him by at least an hour and was in no pleasant frame of mind.

"Look'ee here Abe," said Mawrus, "It is a wonder that a pander in this cloak and suit business wouldn't get around a little earlier and do an equal share of the work. Where you bin all the morning, anyway."

"Why, Mawrus, you needn't get excited over such a little thing like that

DOCUMENTARY STAMPS.

1. Documentary revenue stamps is used prior to October 22, 1914, under former revenue laws cannot be used for the payment of taxes required by existing law, and the redemption or exchange of such old stamps is prohibited by statute.

2. Ordinary postage stamps cannot be used for the payment of any internal-revenue taxes.

As adhesive stamps may be sold by any person and readily pass at their face value in the market, provision has not been made for their exchange or redemption by the Government. Where, however, such stamps are rendered useless by gumming or sticking together in transit or otherwise without the fault of the purchaser, they may be exchanged by a collector for other stamps of exactly the same quantity and denomination.

4. Documentary and proprietary stamps cannot be used interchangeably. Documentary stamps only must be used upon papers, documents, and instruments subject to tax as provided in Schedule A.

5. Where a stamp of the proper denomination to pay the tax due on an article or document cannot be procured, two or more stamps may be used. In such case as few stamps as possible should be attached, and each stamp used should be canceled in the manner provided by regulation.

W. H. ORBORN,

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

DEATH OF PRINCE DORIA.

The name of Prince Doria of Italy has been a familiar one to stamp collectors for years and Greibert's Philatelic Notes just at hand informs us of his death at Rome late in November. The prince was born in Rome in 1851, his mother being Lady Mary Talbot.

EDITORIAL.

Closed Issue—From Mr. T. C. E. Hunter, Topeka, Kansas, we learn that while he was in Kansas City, Mo., recently, he discovered that the authorities at Washington "have forwarded instructions to the postmaster at Kansas City, Missouri, not to issue or sell any 'provisionally rouletted' stamps nor anything out of the regular order of supply. From enquiries I gather that there were not so very many of these stamps that got into dealers' hands. Anyhow the chapter is now closed." Sure.

Revenue Rulings—Mr. W. C. Michaels of Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I have not yet noticed in any of the stamp papers any reference to Treasury Decision 2067, of November 23, 1914. I enclose copy of the last two paragraphs of that decision which I think will be interesting to collectors of revenue stamps." We do not remember having referred specifically to the methods of cancellation prescribed by the decision, as follows: "In any and all cases where an adhesive stamp shall be used for denoting any tax imposed by Schedule A of the act of October 22, 1914, the person using or affixing the same shall write or stamp thereon, with ink, the initials of his name and the date (year, month, and day) in which the same shall be attached or used; or shall, by cutting and cancelling said stamp with a machine or punch, which will affix the initials and date as aforesaid, so deface the stamp as to render it unfit for reuse. The cancellation by either method should not so deface the stamp as to prevent its denomination and genuineness from being readily determined. In addition to the foregoing, stamps of the value of ten cents or more shall have three parallel incisions made by some sharp instrument lengthwise through the stamp after the stamp has been attached to the document; Provided, This will not be required where the stamps are canceled by perforation." Elsewhere, under the heading, "Documentary Stamps" various rulings of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will be found.

Russian War Issue—The new Russian war stamps make a brave showing. They are of the values of one, three, seven and ten kopecks, respectively, each of which is sold for one kopeck additional, the extra charge being a levy for the benefit of widows and children of soldiers killed in the campaigns. The designs some of which have been illustrated in the newspapers are striking and the colors are distinctive, being, in effect, three for each stamp, as the design is bi-colored and printed on yellow, pink, cream and bluish papers, respectively. The one kopeck has a fighter in full panoply of war; the three kopeck shows the soldier bidding his mother adieu; the seven kopeck, a patroness saint or fairy god-mother protecting the children who are left behind; and the ten kopeck depicts St. George slaying the dragon. The domestic rates for Russia are seven kopecks, a loth or a unit of weight slightly less than a half ounce; five kopecks, a loth, for letters circulating in the district of St. Petersburg or of Moscow and in the district of any other city, each loth, three kopecks.

Stitch In Time—A note of warning should be sounded against the tendency which is somewhat marked at this time of year of the boy collector to scan or work at his stamps in the declining daylight of the late afternoons. A reader advises us that it is his opinion that not a few young students of stamps bring harm to their eyes by close application to stamps under conditions that are trying to the optic nerves. It is self-evident that collectors should be alive to conserving their eye strength by not straining their eyes unconsciously in the "dimming day" period. Time does slip by stealthily when the enthusiast is engaged with his stamps and he may find that he has been taken unawares by the darkness that grew gradually. A good light, natural or artificial, is demanded for stamp work and it is really imperative that the young collector recognize the need to safe-guard his eyes by not attempting to study stamps in the fading light. We wish to impress upon the young collector that he should have the subject of his eyes in mind when he takes out his stamps these afternoons. We can conceive that stamp work may be made to strengthen the eyes when it is pursued under the light of day or the full glow of the evening lamp. We repeat that it is well to have all the stamp pleasure possible, but if it is gained at the expense of the well-being of the eyes, it is all too costly.

Mended Stamps—Recently, an experienced stamp man in speaking of philatelic conditions in Europe where he had been just before the war started said that the continental dealers as a whole were of very good class and would not try to hoodwink the casual buyer. About the only precaution that one had to take when buying from the dealers who were only on the fringe of philatelic society, so to say, was to be on the lookout for mended stamps which would deceive any one who did not scrutinize them closely. Conditions in this country are not better, if as good, as while recognized dealers would not descend knowingly to palming off a mended stamp for one supposed to be in fine condition, yet the circulation of damaged stamps is not unknown by any means. Any dealer who sells defective stamps for faultless specimens with malice aforethought is not to be tolerated but there is another phase of this question to be considered. Through inadvertence or ignorance on the part of the seller the mended stamp sometimes is made to pose as the perfect one. The distribution of such stamps by the careless or untutored philatelist should be curbed as much as possible and specimens should be subjected to the closest scrutiny. The fact that the seller who unwittingly makes a mistake is willing to rectify it relieves the person from being charged with fraud but it is readily seen how unpleasant controversies could arise in the process of settlement. In the absence of any specific remedy to cure this ill from which philately may be said to be suffering, we can suggest only utmost caution by the seller of any specimens that might be open to suspicion. We can understand how objection might be raised to the word, "Mended" stamped on the back of the manipulated specimen as the tendency is growing not to mark the reverse of the stamp in any permanent way, in view of the fact that so many mended stamps already have been set loose without any distinguishing mark. If some of our readers in the ripeness of their experience can assist us in coping with this problem we should be pleased to hear from them.

* * *

Jackson's Frank—We have just seen two autograph letters of President Andrew Jackson on which the "Free" as well as the frank, "Andrew Jackson" was written with pen by the president. The letters which were dated in 1829 and 1832 respectively were enclosed in hand-made envelopes and the assumption is that Old Hickory made and sealed the "envelopes" as well. One of the covers bears the "City of Washington" postmark and the other, "Washington City."

DEATH OF H. CORMACK.

It will come as a distinct blow to many of our patrons to learn of the death of H. Cormack which took place recently. He was born in Gibraltar and was in his 70th year.

For years he has been an advertiser in the WEEKLY and only recently discontinued his advertising due to ill health. Mr. Cormack had traveled extensively through South America and was quite an authority on the stamps of these countries. He was a fine linguist and leaves a record of sterling business integrity.

AMONG OUR PATRONS.

This number of the WEEKLY proves conclusively that so far as the stamp market is concerned, there is no dearth of business. The fact that we are able to issue so large a paper replete with literary matter and advertising bargains will be very gratifying to all our readers.

We shall send out several thousand sample copies of this particular number and we earnestly hope that the paper will be carefully perused and many new subscribers gained. We have many useful premiums that are given with new subscriptions and we bespeak a careful reading of the list published elsewhere in this issue.

Many quarter page and several half page advertisements will be found in this number and we are pleased to call the attention of our subscribers to some details in connection with the business of the firms represented.

Perrin & Co. is a well established New York firm and an advertiser in the WEEKLY of long standing. The business is under the personal supervision of Mr. Albert Perrin, who is a thorough philatelist and a dealer of strict integrity. The firm uses a half page in this number and the advertisement is well worth perusal.

Another half page exploits the new issues service of Hugo Griebert & Co., whose "Service that Serves" has come to be a popular by-word. Mr. Griebert is "delivering the goods" in new issues, as anyone will readily understand who does business with the firm. At the same time Mr. Griebert wishes it to be remembered that he has a fine general stock, one of the best in Europe. The firm is highly pleased with the success its new issues service is attaining here in America.

Chas. A. Townsend uses a quarter page to announce his 1c approval books. The manner in which he has exploited these books in the WEEKLY is the surest indication of their popularity.

The dealer interested in wholesale offerings will find in the Handshaw and Fulton advertisements some bargains well worth examination. Many small American dealers will be glad to avail themselves of these bargain offers. There is no reason why American enterprise and money should not be able to compete with the European wholesaler. We hope that other dealers will follow their example in wholesale offerings to the American trade.

B. W. H. Poole, whose name has now become a household word with WEEKLY readers, takes a quarter page for the first time, and his announcement of stamps in perfect condition at 50% of catalogue or less will be sure to attract attention. The countries represented are popular and this advertisement will surely be of interest.

Another quarter page is taken by W. S. Aldrich, who has been a regular advertiser in the WEEKLY for some years and has used several of these quarter pages. He no doubt feels that this bargain in advertising space is one which should be taken advantage of and we can compliment Mr. Aldrich by saying that he has a clear record all the way through so far as his dealings with WEEKLY subscribers are concerned.

The auction advertisement of V. Mozian will command special attention occupying the prominent position that it does. Mr. Mozian is remembered as the proprietor of the old stamp firm the Ararat Stamp Co. and our relationship with him has always been of the most satisfactory character.

Just as we are closing the forms of the WEEKLY we receive over a quarter page of advertising from the Garden City Stamp Co. of Chicago, one of the newer Chicago firms and a very enterprising one. Their advertising has been frequently found in the WEEKLY and we are pleased to have the firm represented in this number.

We have also received attractive quarter page advertisements from Frank S. Parmelee and Andrew Sledd, Jr., that come just in time to get into this number. We can vouch for the absolute reliability of both of these patrons of our columns.

NEW REVENUES ON POSTAGE PAPER.

The Economist Stamp Co., through the kindness of its manager, Edward Stern, submits a bit of information supplementary to what was published last week in connection with the new revenue stamps printed on U. S. P. S. paper. In addition to Mr. Kimball's chronicle we have the following values to report:

Documentary:—1/2c.
Wines and Cordials:—40c.

Answering Mr. Kimball's question concerning the "1/2, 1, 2 and 3c proprietaries" the following from G. E. Fletcher, deputy commissioner of internal revenues, will be of value:—

"In reply to your letter of the 19th instant, please note that the 1/2c, 1c, 2c, and 3c stamps are wine stamps, and not proprietary stamps.

At the time the printing of these new stamps began, the Internal Revenue Bureau was unable to get paper soon enough and borrowed something over a million sheets of postage stamp paper, which was used as far as it went until the new paper was received. Practically all kinds of stamps were printed with the postage stamp paper, but it did not last very long, and it is impossible to tell just how many were sent out of this kind."

A ROCHESTER CELEBRATION.

On January 19 the Rochester Numismatic Association united with the Rochester Philatelic Association in a dinner attended by thirty-nine of Rochester's leading coin and stamp collectors. The toastmaster of the occasion was Andrew Ludolph and the following were the after-dinner speakers: Harry E. Montgomery, of the Buffalo bar, on "The Hobby Best Worth While"; H. F. Ottley on "Mints and Mince, Stamped"; and Jeremiah Zimmerman D. D. of Syracuse University on "Excursions in Numismatics."

We are indebted to Paul C. Wild of the Covert Stamp Co. for a menu of the occasion and it is evident that the entire affair was well planned and executed.

A TRIAL of our APPROVAL SELECTIONS will certainly convince you

Judgment from Mr. A. S. J. in Omaha, Nebr.: "I must compliment you on the fine condition of your stamps and have stopped all other approval selections but yours as you are deserving of business and I intend giving it to you."
Mr. F. O. in Buffalo writes us: "Allow me to say that your selections are about the best I have received from any stamp dealer in the last four years. Well centered and clean."
Judgment from Mr. E. B. G. in Beloit, Wis.: "Enclosed find returns on approval. Your book is the best I have yet received."
Mr. R. B. St. in Boston, Mass., says: "I was very much pleased with the approval books you sent me." Etc., etc.

RACING AVIATORS TO CARRY MAIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Aviators in the transcontinental races for the prizes offered by the Panama-Pacific Exposition will also carry mail to be dropped at different cities along the route.

This was decided upon yesterday at a meeting of the governors of the Aero Club of America.

The races will start from New York, Washington and Boston, taking the place of the "round the world" flight, abandoned on account of the war.—Chicago American.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—In our issue of January 16, Bill Bloss made mention of the fact that he was not very well posted in connection with consular fee stamps and did not know where they could be obtained. It would be well for some of our dealer friends to advertise this set, and it would no doubt be profitable. Clarendon Bangs calls our attention to the fact that he has never seen the $10 value and this value is also missing from the managing editor's set.

—Two lists are at hand, a pretentious book of 72 pages from H. F. Colman of Washington, D. C., who prices a large variety of U. S. stamps and colonies; the other list is from the Wray Stamp Co. and is a wholesale list, special attention being given to foreign stamps, which are priced per 10 and 100.

—Will George H. Phillips please send his address to this office?

—The Western Philatelic Association of Oakland, Calif. has elected the following officers for 1915: Henry Loeb, president; William G. Wilson, vice-president; Oliver G. Beardslee, Secretary; Philip Gray, treasurer; Oliver G. Beardslee, librarian and Dr. John F. Killen, sales and exchange manager.

—In the current number of Printers' Ink Frank L. Coes of Worcester attacks in a very caustic manner the "Made in the U. S. A." slogan now so much in favor in various sections of the country. His article bears the title "A Form of Geographical Snobbishness," and we are positive Mr. Coes will find his article much enjoyed by the readers of this popular publication.

—"How can I tell when my subscription expires?" This is very simple. The current whole number is 1257. Compare this with the number on your wrapper and it will tell the whole story.

—D. M. Ward has sent us some lines to the 3c green to which reference was made two weeks ago, the lines being by Mr. Pember and taken from the American Philatelist. What we really desired was a poem written by Eugene Field and if any subscriber can supply it we shall be greatly obliged.

—In the current number of the Postage Stamp J. Murray Bartels registers a protest at the manner in which Cornelius Wrinkle of that publication is dealing with the war situation. The editor of the Postage Stamp replies to the communication at length.

—We are indebted to Joseph W. Beggs for some fourteen clippings, most of which, however, deal with coins and the parcel post system. Mr. Beggs submits a specimen of the label that is being used to advertise the convention of the National Philatelic Society to be held in New York, July 22, 23, 24. It is printed in two colors, brown and green, the central design showing a shield.

—There is a bit of the personal in many of the letters that come to the office of the WEEKLY but the following extract from a letter written by D. T. Eaton will be of more than passing interest:—

"I am acting on your suggestion and sending you an 'ad' for your big edition, as tomorrow is my sixtieth birthday and I thought I should do something to commemorate it. My father and mother, and all brothers and sisters, nine in all, are all living. I have never had a death in the family and that is something to be thankful for. My father and mother will have been married sixty-one years next ground hog day."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Arthur Berg (2).

—"I sent you sometime ago a trial subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS and I tell you I have enjoyed and profited greatly from it. I read it through and through, then put it on file on the magazine racks in the Boys' Department (for I am a Y. M. C. A. Secretary) and let the fellows grab for it. I tell you they enjoy it and "I wish again to express to you my appreciation of the reliability and efficiency of your Service, my only regret being that I did not take advantage of it sooner. UNITED STATES.—Several correspondents have recently asked as to the issue of certain values in the new proprietary stamps, which do not exist, it may be well to reprint the official list of denominations.

Proprietary—1/8c, 1/4c, 3/8c, 5/8c, 1 1/4c, 1 7/8c, 2 1/2c, 3 1/8c, 3 3/4c, 4c, 4 3/8c and 5c.
Documentary—1/2c, 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 10c, 25c, 40c, 50c, 80c, $1, $2, $3, $5, $10, $30, $50, $100, $500 and $1000.

Carl Moll writes that he has found a pair of the current 10c stamps, plate number 5770, with a period before the right "10." He has also found plate number 5882, with the stamps of decided "russet" color.

AUSTRALIA.—The Hugo Griebert & Co. have shown us the 1d postage due stamp, perforated 14 (single lined machine).

BELGIUM.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us a new series of Charity stamps from Belgium, or rather from the Belgium Government located at Havre. The stamps were issued Jan. 4, and were printed by Waterlow Bros. and Layton, London. The design has the same frame as the Monument Charity issue of earlier date, but has the portrait of the King as on the other Charity issue. Therefore it may be said to be a combination of the first two issues. The stamps are printed on white unwatermarked paper. They are crudely executed. The portrait and crosses are carmine on all values, the 10c being all carmine.

Red Cross Adhesives.

5c green and carmine.
20c violet and carmine.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—We have been shown the 3d on paper colored throughout, by Hugo Griebert & Co.

CHILE.—The current 20c envelope, with portrait of Valdivia has appeared in a much darker shade.

DOMINICA.—Hugo Griebert & Co. advise us that the new 6d stamps (view design) are not yet on sale, and will probably not be issued before May.

GERMAN COLONIES.—J. M. Bartels has shown us the 10pf Togo and 20pf Kamerun stamps on watermarked paper. These items appear to be somewhat late, but the stamps were probably prepared some time ago, and were held back until the old stock was exhausted.

Mr. Bartels also reports having seen a booklet containing 20 5pf and 10 10pf stamps of German South West Africa watermarked lozenges. One sheet in the booklet contains two 5pf green and four 10pf carmine stamps, which makes it possible to get the two denominations in unsevered pairs.

GREAT BRITAIN.—An envelope with portrait of King George has appeared.

Envelope.

GREECE.—The 10l card, type of 1900 has appeared in a new color, red orange, instead of pale blue.

Post Card.

JAMAICA.—The new 1s stamps with white back will not reach London before February, according to information received from Hugo Griebert & Co.

LEEWARD ISLANDS.—Hugo Griebert & Co. have shown us the 5sh stamp on paper colored throughout.

NEW ZEALAND.—The 1 penny 1840 Great Britain is finding a close imitation in the new King George design to be used by this colony. It should make a handsome stamp. A. C. Roessler states that this stamp will be put on sale in September.

PHILIPPINES.—The Sterling Stamp Co. has shown us the current 20c stamp in orange instead of yellow as formerly. Recent arrivals have all been in the deeper shade.

J. M. Bartels has shown us the current 30c stamp in a new color, corresponding to the 15c gray of the United States. The 2c perforated 10 has only been seen in booklets.

Adhesives.

OHLMAN AUCTION SALES.

Mr. Ohlman, who is making a specialty of stamp auctions submits to the managing editor the testimonials referred to in his advertisement elsewhere in this number and we can vouch for the genuineness of the same. It is very evident that this firm is making a success of their efforts in the auction line, and we congratulate Mr. Ohlman that his energy and industry is bearing such good fruit.

HOUSEHOLD GODS.

By H. C. BARR.

With apologies to J. H. Macnair in the London Spectator.

The baby takes to his bed at night
A wooly rabbit that once was white;
A key which he found in the street, I think;
And a broken inkstand that never held ink.

You ask him why and he does not know:
Only because he loves them so.

And I must take a look, ere I go,
At that stamp I just bought to fill out the row;
At the lot that I got at the Auction Sale;

And the ones that came, in this morning's mail.

And I cannot say, any more than he Just why such things are a part of me.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

CREDITS.

Unfortunately for all merchants doing business by mail, especially those whose business require the sending of goods on approval, there are a great many parasites who make a practice of appealing to the dealer for an approval selection and then grown "rich" by the petty thievery of these selections. To these criminals, must the blame be laid for the percentage of increase in cost of postage stamps to cover loss. No merchant will do business at a loss. When his goods are not paying a profit, he will investigate his methods, find the source of loss, and if it is beyond his control, will raise the price of the goods to cover this loss. Therefore, it is the consumer who must meet the burden of these losses.

However, it is the merchant who can offer the best goods at the lowest price that wins. In order to do this, it is to his advantage to eliminate loss. Therefore, he must watch his credits. Probably 99% of the stamp dealers in this country are more fortunate than the average corner grocer, inasmuch as they do not carry any charge accounts, and have only short-time credits to follow up. There is absolutely no necessity for running accounts in the stamp business, and the dealer will do well to insist on cash. When an approval selection is returned, the remittance should accompany the lot or another selection should not be sent out. Stamps are a luxury, not a necessity. When a man is faced with a large bill for stamps, he is more apt to neglect it than if it were for gas, or coal, or ice. Probably not one customer in fifty would ask for or care for extended credit, therefore the dealer should not encourage it.

When an application for an approval selection is received from a new customer, the reference should be investigated to find out if it is O. K. We will assume that the dealer makes it plain that he requires a reference before sending out a selection. This fact is generally understood; however, the dealer should emphasize it in his advertising. No matter how nice the application looks, or how neatly the letter paper is engraved, look the applicant up before you take a chance. Some of the biggest known stamp swindles have been worked by the aid of a little expensive paper and flowery language.

Not a great number of years ago a collector named K— decided to get his collection without money. Accordingly he spent a dollar fifty for a printed letter head, to advertise his "real estate business." Shortly after he received the paper, every dealer of importance in the country received a request for a selection of approvals. Mr. K— claimed that he had a number of friends interested in the hobby and that between them, all selections received would be disposed of. He referred the dealers to "any bank in Cleveland." It is estimated that Mr. K— received over $1,000 worth of stamps, which he readily disposed of at sufficient profit to take him to parts unknown. On the face of his letter, he was such a good buyer that the dealers never considered his references. The writer donated a Bosnia collection worth $6.50 and has since taken the pledge.

If an applicant gives as reference a society number, he is usually reliable, but his number should be checked up. If he refers to a bank or business house, write to the bank, stating that Mr. — has referred you to them as to his reliability, and while you do not question

THE STAMPS OF GERMANY.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

THE FIRST ISSUE—Continued.

As these stamps continued in use until 1859-60, when the system of printing them in black on colored papers was abandoned, there were several printings, especially of the two lower values of each series. There are, therefore, several shades of each value. These stamps are scarce in fine unused condition but still comparatively plentiful in used state as a study of catalogue quotations will show.

Reference List.

1852. Typographed. Imperforate.

Northern District.

1. 1/2sgr black on green, Scott's No. 3.
2. 1sgr black on blue, Scott's No. 4 or No. 5.
3. 2sgr black on rose, Scott's No. 6.
4. 3sgr black on yellow, Scott's No. 7.

Southern District.

5. 1kr black on green, Scott's No. 42 or 42a.
6. 3kr black on blue, Scott's No. 43, 43a or 44.
7. 6kr black on rose, Scott's No. 45.
8. 9kr black on yellow, Scott's No. 46 or 46a.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

On January 1st, 1854, the rate on single local letters, prepaid by stamps, posted and delivered within the area comprised in the Northern States, was reduced to 1/4sgr and a stamp of this value was issued. It is similar in design to the others of the series but has the value in the centre on a ground of wavy lines. It was printed in black on red-brown paper the size of the sheets apparently being the same as those of the other denominations—viz. 150 stamps in fifteen rows of ten.

On July 1st, 1858, another new value was issued of 1/3sgr (equal to 4 pfennige), this being intended for the purpose of franking printed matter, posted and delivered within the district where the currency was in silbergroschen. This stamp was also of similar design to the others, the large central numerals being on a background of a pattern resembling a repetition of interlaced 3's. This denomination printed in black on a flesh colored paper was, like the others, issued imperforate.

Reference List.

1854-58. Typographed. Imperf.

Northern District.

9. 1/3sgr black on red brown, Scott's No. 1.
10. 1/3sgr black on flesh, Scott's No. 2.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

In 1859, the Thurn and Taxis office abandoned the use of colored papers and, instead, printed its stamps in color on white paper. As the stocks of those on colored paper became used up those on white paper were substituted. But before any of the stamps of the existing values were issued on white paper, two new denominations were issued in both currencies, viz., 5sgr and 15kr printed in lilac, and 10sgr and 30kr printed in orange. The designs somewhat closely resemble those of the other stamps then current, but the side inscriptions are shown in one line of type instead of two as previously. The central background of the 5sgr and 15kr consists of a network pattern in which the figures "5" and "15" respectively are repeated in Arabic and Roman characters. The background of the higher values shows Arabic numerals only. There appears to have been but one large printing of these four stamps and that they were in but small demand is obvious from the scarcity of used specimens. These values were never officially rouletted, like the lower denominations, and those specimens that occasionally turn up rouletted or perforated are of a private nature and have no philatelic value.

The other denominations printed on white paper are exactly similar to those

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The Philatelic Record is no more. This publication was at one time the strongest philatelic publication in England from a literary standpoint. It catered to the specialist, however, and a stamp paper that does this has a difficult task to win success.
—The British press refers to the heroic death of Bruno Guliemo Garibaldi, a descendent of the Garibaldi so well known upon the pages of history. He was said to have a fine collection of stamps, particularly strong in Italy and Italian States.
—Allen G. Deane, sending in his renewal of subscription forwards two new yearly subscriptions and adds: "It was just easy getting these two new subscriptions and if each subscriber would do as well by the WEEKLY your subscription list would take a hop." Such assistance as this is certainly appreciated.
—C. H. Mekeel, editor of the Philatelic Journal of America, informs us that the Stamp Security Co. has decided to retire from business and the Journal is for the time suspended. Mr. Mekeel expects, however, to revive and publish it later and has arranged for the adjustment of unexpired subscriptions through a circular just at hand.
—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Irwin B. Robinson (3) and Walter S. Wilmot.
—We are in receipt of a circular notice from the office of the Second Assistant Postmaster General that a parcel post convention has been arranged between the United States and Gibraltar. The arrangement goes into effect February 1.

POSTAL SAVINGS STAMPS DESTROYED.

The International Stamp Co. has received a letter from J. E. Ralph of the Treasury Department in which he says that by authority of the Post Office Department all postal savings stamps in the vaults of the Bureau have been destroyed.

NO CHANGE ON PERFORATIONS.

Two weeks ago we quoted the Philadelphia Stamp News to the effect that the 10 perforation was to be abandoned and a return made to the old 12 perforation. S. E. Colman writing us from Washington, states that "the new perforation has not been abandoned and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing are still perforating 10 every day." Mr. Colman adds that there need be no doubt but that stamp collectors will be able to secure all of these stamps they desire.

THE NEWARK STAMP CLUB.

This club announces it will hold a special meeting February 5th, at its club room, No. 33 Court St. Members from the New York Branch of the National Philatelic Society will attend in a body. A special program has been arranged consisting of contests with a nice array of prizes to the successful. A missionary will tell of his experiences collecting stamps in India; a sailor will relate his experiences in the Pacific, and of his visit to small island post offices; the editor of one of New Jersey's greatest newspapers will also make a short talk.

DEATH OF PRINCE ALPHONSE DORIA PAMPHILJ.

By DR. EMILIO DIENA.

Prince Alphonse Doria Pamphilj was born at Rome on the 25th of September, 1851, was a member of one of the most illustrious families in Italy, and much could be written of his numerous qualities as a patron of the artistic world, as an amateur of the fine arts, as a politician (he was a member of the Senate since January, 1894), and above all as a benefactor and a sportsman. I will, however, only now refer to him as a philatelist.

The Prince received a portion of his education at Birmingham, having entered the Oratory School of that city in 1861, and remaining there until 1870. It was during his residence there that the Prince acquired that knowledge of the English language that enabled him to speak absolutely as an Englishman, and that he acquired that love of stamp collecting which, including the late Mr. E. L. Pemberton, has produced in that city so many well-known names in Philately. At the age of eighteen, while he was living at Genoa, where his family originated, he formed a general collection, and we find in the March, 1869, number of Philatelist, published at Brighton (Vol. III, p. 36), in the "Editor's Letter Box," a reply to a philatelic question that he had presented. Another reply under the same heading addressed to him will be found in the May number of the same journal, where, by a curious coincidence, we find the minutes of the preliminary meeting of the Philatelic Society, London, which took place at 93 Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, on the 10th April, 1869. A little later he abandoned his collection, and presented it to one of his friends.

It was not until much later, toward 1894, that he recommenced a general collection that he arranged in an Imperial Album. When I first made his acquaintance in 1896 he was occupied in transferring his stamps on to movable leaves, relying almost exclusively as his guides in this task upon the English books and catalogues.

The exquisite taste with which he was endowed was revealed in the simple and careful way in which he mounted this collection, which work was effected by the Prince entirely unaided. In a short time he had succeeded in acquiring a remarkable collection containing many specimens of great rarity. He was always pleased to show his albums to collectors, and more readily welcomed any suggestion either as to the modification of his arrangement or any little omission than any expressions of admiration for the beauty and rarity of his specimens. Among those who were privileged to see his collection I might mention the late Earl of Crawford, Messrs. E. D. Bacon, C. J. Phillips, A. W. Batchelder, and Baron A. de Rothschild, to cite only the names of foreigners. In emerging from this princely palace, which contained so many marvels of art, it was difficult to say whether the most profound impression had been created by the masterpieces it contained or by the charming courtesy of its owner.

In 1904 Prince Doria decided to part with his general collection, in which the greatest strength lay in the issues of the British Colonies, and electing that it should be sold in England, where he said "one knew how to fully appreciate them," they were purchased by Mr. W. H. Peckitt. The Prince, however, retained and continued his collection of the stamps of the several States of Italy.

Prince Doria, who had been a member of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, since 1897, had received important awards at the philatelic exhibitions of Turin, 1898; Manchester, 1899; Milan, 1906; and Berne, 1910.

On the 29th of June of this year a philatelic society (Società Filatelica Italiana) had been established at Rome, of which it was decided to elect Prince Doria President, but the state of his health with other considerations suggested rather his nomination as Honorary President, to which office he was elected.

My pen trembles in my hand in writing that on the evening of the 2nd of this month, after having alluded to his health, of which he was apprehensive, Prince Doria expressed to me his readiness to hold himself entirely at the disposition of the committee of the new society, that he had so kindly convoked at his palace for a special session, in which he had proposed to exhibit a portion of his stamps, thus continuing the fine traditions of Lord Crawford.

Two days later he was seized with a hæmorrhage of the brain, all possible ministrations failing to restore the Prince to consciousness, and on the 5th November at six o'clock he drew his last breath. I trust that his family, so painfully bereaved, may receive some consolation in the knowledge that all philatelists who had the honour to know such a true man and perfect gentleman will always bear him in the kindest remembrance.

The funeral took place on the 8th November, in great simplicity, according to the instructions left by the deceased, but many philatelists were in attendance. The Prince's remains now lie in the chapel which he himself had caused to be constructed in the villa on Mount Gianicolo—a veritable chef d'oeuvre of art, worthy of a man who had made of art a second religion.—London Philatelist.

CAYMAN ISLANDS DEVELOPMENTS.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

3d violet on yellow (surfaced paper).
1s black on green (surfaced paper).
10s green and carmine on green (surfaced paper).

These three stamps, issued on November 19, 1913, are likely to be but short lived, owing to the fact that the last of the surface colored paper was used for the new Nigerian stamps. In fact, the 3d was exhausted as early as July, 1914.

The stamps are issued in the small sixty stamp sheets, and consist of the lower right and lower left panes from the 240 plate, control 1.

5s green and carmine (yellow paper).

The George series was finally completed on August 26, 1914, by the issue of these two denominations.

The 2½d, like all other Georgian Colonial stamps of this value, is printed in deep blue, instead of the ultramarine affected by the Edwardian series.

For the 5s, the new colored through paper has been used, and though specialists claim a difference between it and the through paper used for the 4d, the ordinary collector need not worry himself.

3d violet (yellow paper).

Again are the Islands a feature of the "New Issues" column—this time it is the 3d, on the new yellow through paper, which was issued in the early days of December, 1914.

The 10s George on the colored through paper is also in order for an early appearance, as the Colonial Journal advises that it has already been printed. Doubtless, it was dispatched to the Islands at the same time as the 3d, and is being held back until the supply on the surface colored paper is used up.

Of the Edwardian series, there still remain the 2½, 3, 6d and 5sh values and these are on sale concurrently with the stamps of the new series.

A WORD WITH THE ADVERTISER.

Retrospective—Our issue last week demonstrated that stamp collecting here in America has a virility that must be very gratifying to all devotees of our hobby. Every page of this special number fairly bristled with bargains and our dealer patrons appreciated the service that the WEEKLY offered. We were able to secure 2000 stamp orders dated Sept. to Dec. and all of these were sample copied.

Prospective—A similar recruiting number for February 27. We shall make every effort to stimulate an active interest in it and shall expect to carry our subscription list over the 8000 mark with that issue. The policy of the WEEKLY toward its advertisers is a liberal one and we shall expect to receive the same co-operation this month as previously. Take goodly space and have some reprints struck off for use in circularizing.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

New U. S.—We learn that the fifty cent of the current issue finally has appeared on single lined watermarked paper perforated 12; and that the two cent Panama-Pacific has been issued with the 10 perforation. We are informed that the new fifty cent is printed in sheets of four hundred, divided into panes as sold at the post office of one hundred stamps to the sheet. The plates thus far of the fifty cent, range between numbers 7040 and 7057.

"Viribus Unitis"—Dr. C. F. Roh, Garrison, Nebraska, writes: "I enclose a card issued in commemoration of the sixty-sixth year of the reign of Emperor Joseph of Austria, which was on sale for one day only. You will notice that it is the sixtieth jubilee card with a new yellow and black surcharge." The imprint has the central design of large crown with "1914" below and surrounded by "Viribus Unitis." Impressed in black and yellow, the design is a striking one.

An Old Tome—In a letter from Mr. J. B. Childs, Champaign, Illinois, he says: "Probably a month ago, I ran across an old bound volume of some English review for the year 1840. It was published at the time the first adhesive stamps were being issued by Great Britain. This journal had several inserts, one showing line engraved work by the printers for the government, Perkins, Petch (?), Bacon and Company; and the others were suggestions for stamps, envelopes, etc. At any rate, there was a lengthy article accompanying these inserts and there was a review of some of Rowland Hill's work. I intend to look this up again." This citation does not refer to the famous "stamp plate" in the Art-Union Monthly Journal, London, for June, 1848, which embodied a page insert of heavy paper, illustrating what to all intents and purposes is an envelope essay and other examples of Mr. Charles Whiting's processes, protective against forgery. We quote from the text: "The embossed head is next in order, and this is produced by machines similar to those in use for the production of the postage envelopes at the Stamp-office. In fact, we learn that it was from specimens furnished to the Treasury, and the machinery suggested, that the public owe the production of the present stamped postage envelopes." Then follows a description of the manner in which the embossed envelopes are printed.

O, Youth—The secretary of a boys' stamp club well says: "The World's Fair was much too early for me, but my Columbian stamps have told me something about it and have made me want to know more." Well, at any rate, we do not remember the Centennial at Philadelphia in 1876.

A Big Deal—Word has been received that the entire stock of stamps as well as the stock book and blank album business of Mr. A. Krassa, New York City, has been purchased by the Scott Stamp & Coin Company; and that the manufacture of the books and albums will be continued under the name of the buyers. The transaction is an important one and its consummation redounds to the credit of the manager of the Scott Stamp and Coin Company who has shown since his affiliation with the company remarkable energy and enterprise. Indeed, the career of Mr. Hugh M. Clark may be described truly as brilliant and when one ponders upon what he has accomplished in so short a time in the field of philately, one must admit that philately has its business romances and opportunities of great promise. We may say that we assisted Mr. Clark's entry into the business world of stamps and we believe that he will agree that his business which he conducted in Chicago as an individual was established by his publicity in the WEEKLY. It is a satisfaction to know that we recognized budding genius in this and we do not hesitate to predict that Mr. Clark's ambitions which will not be discouraged for any lack of material support will achieve splendid heights.

Possible Retirement—We do not know what plans, if any, Mr. Krassa who has disposed of his business has in view, but we take this opportunity to express a word of appreciation of him as a dealer who for many years was a factor in commercial philately. We know that philatelic flesh as exemplified in the stamp dealer sometimes is weak, but Mr. Krassa was cast in sterner mould; and his reputation throughout the many years has been spotless. To our mind, one could say nothing more sturdily commendatory than this simple declaration, that in the many years that Mr. Krassa did business with our readers, we do not recall an instance of a dissatisfied buyer having made complaint to us about him. Mr. Krassa enjoyed a personal following; and leaving aside any human considerations that have their weight in accounting for such a clientele, this circumstance was due to the fact that he had the stamps. Indeed, his stamp stock has been highly lauded and as Mr. Krassa was accomplished in philatelic discrimination, it is natural that he had a superb line of the better things. If Mr. Krassa is to pass on as a dealer, he may know that he will be remembered and that his influence has always been felt as a constructive force in the field in which he worked so well.

A Sister—From Mr. L. C. Hassler, Louisville, Kentucky, we have received several of the old postage due envelopes of the post office department, for inspection, the three cent and six cent, respectively. Mr. Hassler says: "The three cent is similar to the one mentioned by Mr. George L. Toppan, volume twelve, page 116, of the American Journal of Philately, except in the lower left corner there is a large letter 'Z' instead of 'C.' The 'notice to the postmaster,' printed at the left of the enclosed six cent envelope differs from the three cent and has the letter 'A' in the lower left corner. As it is known that the 'alpha' of one and the 'omega' of the other exist, you may discover more of the letter if not all of them, by publishing a note on the subject." Our recollection is that we discovered the three cent envelope listed by Mr. Toppan in the United States envelope section of the Catalogue for Advanced Collectors and placed the cover in Mr. Toppan's hands. sister envelope of six cent denomination at this advanced day is fraught with interest; and the occasion for a cover with this indication of value becomes apparent when the printed text that covers one-third of the surface of the envelope is digested: "Notice to the Postmaster. The enclosed letter is sent to the writer, under an Act of Congress, approved January 21, 1862. If not delivered, and double postage collected, as required by this new law, it must be returned to the 'Third Assistant Postmaster General,' within one month, with the reasons for non-delivery endorsed on it, according to Sec. 199 of P. O. Regulations. If retained a longer period, the Postmaster will be held accountable for the postage, whether delivered or not. The date of the receipt at the Post Office must be marked on the letter, and an entry made in the account of mails received, in the column of unpaid letters. If returned, the letter must be post-marked on the sealed side. It should not be advertised." The last sentence is in large heavy type. In the upper right corner of the six cent envelope is the inscription, printed in three lines: "Post Office Department, Returned Letter Office. Due 6 cents." This six cent envelope is the predecessor, we believe, of the three cent as we understand that in the act of March 3, 1863, the imposition of double postage on "unpaid letters" was discontinued. The type used in the legend in the upper right corner is a variation of that found on the three cent. These envelopes, the fore-runners of the adhesive due stamps, are on a brown manila paper without watermark.

A Fake—The annual dinner of the Chicago Philatelic Society held January 30th, was attended by General Charles A. Coolidge as the guest of honor. The souvenirs were a happy "concoction" and were in the form of an addressed envelope addressed to each of the diners bearing an imperforate and a perforated, red on yellow, as well as the black Allen's Chicago Dispatch, canceled with the spread eagle used for obliterating the stamps originally, accompanied with the date of the dinner.

THE NEW REVENUE STAMPS.

As a matter of record we give herewith the official circular sent out by the Treasury Department in connection with the issue of the new set of revenue stamps. It shows conclusively that no proprietary stamps have ever been issued in the ½, 1, 2 and 3c values to which reference was made in our issue of January 23. The list follows:

Wine, Cordial, etc., ¼c, ½c, 1c, 1½c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 8c, 10c, 20c, 24c, 40c and $2.00.

Documentary, ½c, 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 10c, 25c, 40c, 50c, 80c, $1, $2, $3, $5, $10, $30, $50, $100, $500, $1,000.

Proprietary, ¼c, ½c, ¾c, 5⁄8c, 1¼c, 1½c, 2½c, 3¼c, 3¾c, 4c, 4¾c, 5c, 6c, 8c, 10c and 20c.

Special tax stamps are issued in book form, with 10 stamps to a book, each stamp constituting a page, excepting Dealers in Tobacco, which have 100 stamps to a book. Stamps of high value have only one stamp to a book, as follows:

Manufacturers of Tobacco: $300, $600, $1,200, $2,496.

Manufacturers of Cigars: $600, $1,200, $2,496.

Manufacturers of Cigarettes: $600, $1,200, $2,496.

Wine, Cordials, etc., from ¼c, to 40 cents, 200 stamps to a sheet, the sheet being 10 x 18½ inches, and the stamps 7⁄8 x 1 inch in size. This size of individual stamp includes the border on four sides. The stamps are perforated, like postage stamps.

Documentary stamps from ½c to 80 cents, and all Proprietary stamps are of the same size as the wine, cordial, etc., stamps, with 200 to the sheet. Documentary stamps from $1 to $50, inclusive, are issued in sheets of the same size as the others, but with 100 stamps to a sheet. Documentary stamps of a higher value are issued in book form, with 4 stamps to a page, as follows: $100, 40 stamps to a book; $500, 8 stamps to a book; $1,000, 4 stamps to a book.

It will be noted that this arrangement makes the value of any documentary book of stamps $4,000.

THE KRASSA STOCK SOLD.

We congratulate the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. upon the acquisition of the Krassa stock. We touched briefly upon this matter last week and the announcement elsewhere in this issue will be read with interest. The Krassa album has come to be well known as a standard loose leaf album and it would be more largely used today had its sale been more skilfully handled in recent years. There is no doubt but that the Scott people knowing the merit of their purchase will handle the stock aggressively. With branch offices on Broadway and Nassau St. the Scott Co. should be able to do a larger volume of business than ever before.

NOTES ON NEW ISSUES.

Bosnia.—The 5 and 10 heller stamps of the 1906 issue have been overprinted 7 and 12 heller respectively, the extra 2 heller being for the fund for soldiers' widows and orphans.

Epirus.—The stamps of "Autonomous Epirus" showing a peasant shooting have been withdrawn and replaced by current Greek stamps overprinted with a Greek inscription, signifying "Northern Epirus," we hope to include both these sets, as well as the Chimara issue, in our February distribution.

Russia.—The statement in some journals that the large pictorial Red Cross stamps have no philatelic value is pure nonsense. The stamps have been issued under the authority of the Russian Post Office and are available not only for inland but also for international postage. We have received letters from Russia, the postage on which has been fully prepaid with these stamps and no additional charge made on delivery.

Santi Quaranta.—Several Continental journals have chronicled the Italian stamps overprinted for Janina further surcharged "Santi 40." In reply to our inquiry respecting these stamps, the Director General of Posts and Telegraphs of Italy writes to us as follows:—

"I have the honour to inform you that no Italian Postal Agency has been established at the Port of Santi Quaranta, in Epirus and consequently no postage stamps for the purpose have been issued by the Italian Government."

Trinidad.—A correspondent at Port-of-Spain writes us that in September the Governor of Trinidad, Sir George R. Le Hunte, sanctioned the use of the Red Cross stamps on 900 letters for postal service these letters being applications for donations to the Fund, each envelope bearing the autograph of the lady secretary. As no specimen was sent us, it is not clear what particular Red Cross stamps are referred to.—Whitfield King's List.

AUSTRALIA.—Ewen's Weekly is informed that the 6d Kookaburra stamp is no longer obtainable, except at small offices, as the 6d Kangaroo is being issued again. This is due to the change in party control of the Government. The order for electros of the 2d, 6d and 1sh values has been canceled. It is extremely doubtful if any further supply of the 6d Kookaburra will see the light.

BRITISH COLONIES.—Stamp Collecting says: "Apparently it is possible to distinguish between the ordinary white watermarked paper produced by the mill now holding the Government contract, and that of the old Chafford mills, as well as in the case of the yellow dyed paper. The most recent issues of British Colonial stamps have been printed on thinner and more porous paper, with slightly less surface and of a greyish appearance, which is admirably adapted to typographic impression."

CEYLON.—The Colonial Journal reports that the Georgian 1r stamps have been printed on yellow paper colored through.

COSTA RICA.—In order to use up the old stock of 1 colon stamps of the issue of 1901, which have remained in the treasury for 13 years, the remainders have been surcharged with a new value, says Maury's Collectionneur.

EGYPT.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us a new official stamp, the 4m of 1907 having received an overprint similar to that on the other values. The first pair of dots under the Arabic words is missing and the straight line at the end has no hook, showing that it is an entirely new printing.

GERMAN NEW GUINEA.—When the Australian Expedition landed at this German colony, the full set of stamps of the ship type was overprinted "G. R. I." with new values in English currency. There are thirteen values in the set.

NIGERIA.—It is reported that a new series of stamps is contemplated for this Colony, probably with views of the country.

RUSSIA.—Four large charity stamps have been issued to help the fund of the "Imperial Women's Patriotic Union." The set consists of four values, 1, 3, 7, and 10 kopecks, each of the stamps selling for 1 kopeck more than the face value. The illustration we use does not do credit to the subject selected.

SENEGAL.—This is another Colony on the West coast of Africa to receive the current type of postage due stamps of the design in the Catalogue credited to Dahomey, etc. Our information regarding the three sets is from Maury's Collectionneur.

NOTE THE OFFERS OF TOGO.

It is rarely that an entire half-page of the WEEKLY is used in advertising a single set of stamps but Theodore Champion & Co. of Paris are entitled to the distinction of showing enterprise in the announcement made in this issue. Much interest is being manifested in the present-day war provisionals and this particular set is one much sought after.

Bright & Son also advertise this set of stamps and the prices given indicate that these stamps will be within the reach of the collector of modest means.

THE SALE OF PRECANCELS.

A correspondent at Washington submits a copy of the regulations governing the issuance of precanceled stamps and advises us that there is nothing in the rules that prohibits stamp collectors or dealers selling these stamps. Our correspondent says that it means that "firms which have a permit to buy precanceled stamps from the government for their own use cannot sell them." We have not had any supplementary word from Mr. Hubel, who withdrew his advertisement stating that he had been prohibited from any further selling of them.

PERFORATION "10" NOT DISCONTINUED.

In answer to the claim made by the Philadelphia Stamp News that the perforation 10 was to be discontinued, J. M. Bartels has submitted to us a letter received from J. E. Ralph, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Mr. Bartels asked whether the new perforation known as "10" had been discontinued and to this Mr. Ralph replies: "The perforation known as '10' has not been discontinued at all."

This would seem to put a quietus on the report in question.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

CREDITS—Continued.

Let us now consider the matter of collections. When a selection is overdue ten days, it is a good plan to write a courteous note calling attention to the fact that the lot is past due, and that the customer has no doubt overlooked it in the press of other matters. If the lot is held by a boy, a postal card will suffice. If it is a good selection, it is advisable to write a letter, as many people resent such a card. There are times when even the best of us cannot help keeping an approval lot overtime, and we do not care to have our neglect made public property. Letters of this kind must be worded tactfully, so as not to give the client offense. Many times a picture postal will take the raw edges off a request for an overdue lot, and will bring the customer into closer touch with the dealer, as the card shows a personal interest. It might be worded, "Would like to hear from you at your convenience regarding our letter of the —th."

The writer advocates the use of a personal letter on all "worth-while lots" and customers, in place of a form letter. Better results are usually obtained, and the customer is secretly pleased to find that he is worth a thought on the part of the management, rather than part of a machine, even though the thought is a reminder for him to "get busy."

If the first letter does not bring back the lot, a second letter should be addressed about ten days later, asking the client to advise whether or not he received the lot, in order that a tracer may be started in case of loss, or a claim put in to the insurance company if the letter was insured. Under some circumstances, even a reminder will be overlooked, and it is distasteful to the client to be hinted a thief or threatened with legal action. Many dealers use such threats without just cause, and lose many otherwise good customers, as a result. This second letter will often get a reply where the first fails.

In case both notices are overlooked, the dealer may begin to suspect something is wrong. Therefore, if the lot justifies a further "patient" letter, send the delinquent a registered letter (for the receipt) calling attention to previous letters, and asking for the immediate return of the lot. Emphasize the fact that you have tried to serve him faithfully and cannot understand this un-called-for delay, also that you must turn your goods promptly to be able to give your "splendid service." Such a letter will generally do the work, as the fact that it is registered brings it forcibly to the customer's attention. Also, the customer feels that he has been unjust to the dealer and will often send a healthier remittance.

There are a number of ways of forcing collections. One way of dodging the issue is overcome by printing on the invoice, under terms of sale "These goods remain my property until paid for in full." Unless this phrase is understood, the customer can evade legal action for fraud by stating that "he has purchased the stamps but will pay for them later." Therefore, to force settlement, the account must be treated as a bad debt. If the above phrase is used, in keeping the stamps without payment, the client is holding your goods without your consent and is guilty of a fraud. Therefore, he can be prosecuted for fraud. If the circumstances warrant, the Postal Inspectors will handle a case where the mails are involved. The Department does not run a collection agency, however, and will seldom bother with a case unless a number of charges are filed.

Probably every dealer has seen, or can devise, a set of collection letters. If not, the writer will be glad to help if addressed privately. This article concludes the subject of "Hints to Amateur Dealers" and it is the sincere hope of the writer that a few of you have gained something from the work. There are plenty of points left to cover, and any suggestions from dealers will be thankfully received and will be treated according to merit. From time to time other articles of this nature will appear, and the writer is always glad to give personal service to any one desirous of it.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. H. W., Jr.—The stamps you mention are Moroccan Local stamps, and have little philatelic value. Offhand I cannot give you the exact status of these stamps, but will look the matter up and publish the facts, along with some facts on other stamps of like nature.

was nominated for President and Messrs. G. L. Toppan and W. L. Aldrich for the office of Vice-President. The name of Mr. C. A. Howes was added to the nominees for the Council.

The present Superintendents of Auction Sales and Bourse were renominated and nominations were then closed.

It was moved that for all offices for which there was only one candidate, the Secretary should cast one ballot electing same. This was done and elected to office the following nominees: E. L. Carpenter, President; G. Carleton Russell, Treasurer; Frederic W. Stiles, Secretary; J. L. Lyons, Superintendent of Auctions; A. W. Dunning, Superintendent of Bourse, and H. J. Kidder, Superintendent of Sales.

Mr. E. L. Carpenter having been duly elected he was escorted to the chair from which he thanked the members in a short speech. Mr. Howes then called the new Secretary to his new duties and the latter called for a rising vote of appreciation of Mr. Howes' able and faithful services, which vote was enthusiastically given to Mr. Howes.

Tellers were appointed by the President-elect to sort and count ballots and the voting resulted in the election of the following candidates for office:

For Vice-President—W. L. Aldrich.
For Foreign Secretary—Oscar Hill.
Council—A. P. Brown, C. A. Howes, E. S. Phelps, C. K. B. Nevin, W. G. Bail.

It was voted that the jollification celebrated annually in February should take the form of a dinner with an entertainment at the Club Room later in the evening.

The meeting was then temporarily adjourned and given over to the entertainment committee.

Mr. Albert Harrison Hall gave a talk upon the "Islands of the West Indies and Their Postage Stamps," which was enjoyed by the members if close attention to the speaker, and enthusiastic applause are a criterion. Mr. A. E. Owen, Vice-President of the "Association for Stamp Exhibitions" said a few words in regard to future exhibitions, at the same time thanking the Boston Philatelic Society for its great help in making the 1913 exhibit the success that it was. Mr. Owen was followed by Dr. Carroll P. Chase of Brooklyn who exhibited a most interesting collection of the 1847 issue of the United States and gave an exceedingly interesting talk in regard to these stamps. It was certainly a rare privilege to be able to examine such a collection and the members evidently appreciated it as such. A rising vote of thanks was given to all three of the gentlemen who had entertained them and the very pleasantly passed meeting came to an end at about 11 P. M.

FREDERIC W. STILES, Sec.

THE CAPITULATIONS.

The issue by Turkey of stamps of the current issue, overprinted with an inscription signifying, "Abrogation of the Capitulations," commemorates an event for which the Porte has been striving for a very long time. The Capitulations were an agreement between Turkey and the Great Powers, by which the latter obtained certain commercial privileges which carried with them, among other things, the right of the Powers concerned to establish post offices in the Turkish Empire to deal with their own postal matter. The Capitulations date from very early times, the first treaty being signed in 1507 in favour of France. This was renewed many times, and was only abrogated on October 1st last. It was not until 1861 that similar treaties were signed by Great Britain, Italy, Russia, Austria and Germany. During the past twenty years Turkey has made many endeavours to free herself from the hold which the Powers had obtained on her postal system and successfully resisted the pretensions of Roumania to establish a right to similar privileges. In 1901, after the visit of the German Emperor to Constantinople, the Sultan published an iradé announcing that the foreign offices were to be closed, and even going so far as to confiscate mail bags which were sent to some of the offices. Whatever encouragement which the Porte may have had from the German Emperor was not sustained, and the edict had to be withdrawn and apologies tendered to the Powers.

The present war offered an opportunity to get rid of the yoke, which was not to be missed, and if only for the short period during which Turkey is likely to maintain her independence she is at last able to enjoy complete control over her own postal affairs.—Phil. Jour. Great Britain.

STAMPS OF THURN AND TAXIS.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

In March 1861, the Prussian Postal Administration addressed a circular to the various States forming the German-Austrian Postal Union proposing that uniform colors should be adopted for stamps of the same or corresponding values. The proposal met with general approval and, accordingly, the States comprised in the Union agreed to issue stamps in the regulation colors as the stocks of those in use became exhausted. The colors adopted by the Union were green for the stamps of the 4 pfennige or ½sgr, yellow for those of 6pf or ⅓sgr, rose for those of 1sgr, blue for the 2sgr and brown for the 3sgr. By this time the value of the gulden had deteriorated and was now worth about 40c U.S. currency instead of 48c as before. The 1sgr was, therefore, equal to 3½kr; but in the Union 1kr was deemed equivalent to ⅓sgr and 3kr to 1sgr. The adoption of this "color scheme" by Thurn and Taxis necessitated five changes in the stamps for the Northern District, and but three for the Southern District as the 1kr. was already green.

These changes of color began to take effect in 1862 when, in April, the 1sgr. appeared in rose. This was followed by the ⅓sgr in yellow in February, 1863, and by the ⅓sgr in green three months later. In September of the same year the 3sgr was issued in bistre and in January, 1864, the 2sgr appeared in blue. In July of the same year the ⅓sgr was printed in black, the alteration in this value evidently being made to prevent possible confusion with the yellow or bistre stamps. Corresponding changes were made during 1862 in the colors of the 3, 6, and 9 kreuzer. These stamps were all issued imperforate. As I have already stated there was an ample stock on hand of the 5 and 10sgr and 15 and 30kr so that no fresh printings of those denominations were made.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

In 1865, it was decided to introduce the convenience of perforation, this taking the form of rouletting which was much in favor among the German States at that period. This work was entrusted to Naumann, the printer of the stamps, and the rouletted varieties began to appear in November. The rouletting was colorless and was done rather roughly, evidently it was somewhat of an experiment so far as Naumann was concerned. The electrotypes forming the printing plates were clamped much too closely together, so that there was no space left for the rouletting, which frequently cuts right into the design of the stamps. The colors were the same as before, though for the most part they were in paler shades, showing that new printings were made.

THE SIXTH ISSUE.

The colorless roulette gave considerable dissatisfaction owing to the manner in which it cut into the stamps and in 1866 this defect was remedied by rearranging the electro-casts so that there was a space of about 1½mm. between them. In the spaces between the electros, both vertically and horizontally, brass strips known as "printer's dotted rule" were inserted. This rule has a sharp edge divided into short lines (in this instance 16 in the space of 2 centimetres) and stands a trifle higher than the printing surface of the electro-casts. Consequently when the stamps are printed the rule is inked as well and cuts into the paper forming the variety known as "rouletting in colored lines." This system not only saves time, for the stamps are printed and perforated at one operation, but it has the advantage from a collecting point of view, of making the stamps perfectly centered. The stamps, rouletted in colored lines, began to appear in February, 1867, and as soon afterwards the office was transferred to Prussia, used specimens of some of the values are quite scarce.

The above were the last stamps issued under the Thurn and Taxis administration, for in 1867, Prussia purchased the entire postal rights throughout Germany from the Prince of Thurn and Taxis for a sum of three million thalers, or about $2,250,000. The use of the stamps ceased on June 30th, 1867, and on the following day Prussian stamps were used. The ordinary Prussian stamps served for those States comprised in the Northern District, for they were in the silbergroschen currency, but a special series, with values in kreuzer, had to be issued for use in those parts forming the Southern District. This issue is described on page 75 of the "Stamps of the German States."

REMAINDERS.

That there were large remainders of the 5 and 10sgr, and 15kr and 30kr of 1859, and of many values of the 1862-67 issues is obvious from the low prices at which they are listed unused in current catalogues. Whether the whole stock of remainders was ever sold or not I have been unable to find out. In fact, very little seems to have been published on the subject of these remainders, the only note I can trace on the subject being that by M. Hanciau in an article in the Monthly Journal for July, 1903. I quote the paragraph in extenso:—

The office of Thurn and Taxis, after its suppression, placed its stamps and envelopes on sale at a certain reduction from face value; but it never, so far as I know, made up its mind to dispose of them in bulk, the stock being perhaps too large a one.

REPRINTS.

None of the stamps of Thurn and Taxis were reprinted until they had been obsolete for a period of no less than 43 years. This reprinting took place in 1910 but under whose authority I cannot trace. The list of stamps reprinted is as follows:—

Northern District.

- 1852-58 1/4, 1/2, 1, 2 and 3sgr.
- 1859-60 1/4, 1/2, 1, 2 and 3sgr.
- 1862-64 1/4, 1/2, 1, 2 and 3sgr.
- 1865 1/2 and 1sgr.

Southern District

- 1852-58 1, 3, 6 and 9kr.
- 1859 1, 3, 6 and 9kr.
- 1862 3, 6 and 9kr.
- 1865 1kr.

Of each variety 25 sheets were reprinted and as the sheets contained 150 stamps there were, thus, 3,750 copies of each value. The colors of the reprints are generally brighter than those of the originals and the paper is also thicker. They are, however, easily distinguished for each stamp has the letters "N.D." (neudruck=reprint) printed on the back in purple ink, and they are not gummed.

At the same time 25 sheets of each of the 10sgr, 15kr and 30kr were printed in black on blue paper.

What the value of these reprints is nowadays, I am unable to say, but at the time of their appearance, they were sold in sets at the rate of about 16c per stamp.

PHILLIPS' PHILATELIC PHANTASIES.

If Mr. Phillips of Stanley Gibbons Ltd., London, had his way, collectors would add a number of interesting things to their philatelic possessions. Mr. Percy Bishop in the current S. C. F. treats of the matter in a caustic manner:—

"In the persuasive presence of an interviewer from the 'Pall Mall Gazette,' Mr. Charles J. Phillips, of the firm of Stanley Gibbons, Limited, has been making suggestions to the powers that be—suggestions which I, for one, most cordially hope will never be adopted. His first proposition is that we should issue Red Cross stamps like France, Monaco, and the rest. Well, the Evening News has issued Red Cross stamps, and very beautiful productions they are; the British Government, however, are hardly likely to entertain an issue of this class to which any postal character would attach. Then Mr. Phillips declared to his interviewer that 'if British stamps were surcharged in aid of the Prince of Wales's Fund, the proceeds would amaze most people.' He is right there. Not only would the proceeds amaze people, but the spectacle of the British postal authorities stooping to this method of raising money, for no matter how noble a cause, would amaze the public still more."

BANQUET AT CHICAGO.

The annual dinner of the Chicago Philatelic Society was held at the Palmer House on the evening of January 30th, amid congenial surroundings. While the evening was most inclement, the attendance was about forty and there was no lack of enthusiasm for the speakers who had been assigned topics for their speeches. The presence of General C. A. Coolidge, Detroit, president of the American Philatelic Society was an enjoyable feature of the evening, while the following members and guests of the Chicago society were present: Messrs. Baldwin, Bloss, Boehm, Barton, Clausen, Coombs, Dodd, Douglas, Edmunds, Enlow, Evans, Fowler, Gilber, Gilley, Golding, Hardy, Lincoln, Lindquist, Louer, Lord, Herbert Loth, H. M. Loth, McDonald, Machek, Mann, Merker, Merrill, Edward Michael, Fred Michael, Mudge, Newell, Robinson, Schlieckert, Severn and L. P. Wolsieffer, and several others. The menu was excellent and after regrets at not being able to attend the dinner had been read from Messrs P. M. Wolsieffer, Philadelphia; T. C. E. Hunter, Topeka, Kansas; Wm. L. Stevenson, Flint, Mich.; Ora E. Stark, Omaha, Neb.; A. W. Dunning, Brookline, Mass.; Dr. S. J. Caswell, Rockford, Ill.; J. B. Childs, Champaign, Ill.; Dr. C. F. Roh, Garrison, Neb., and others, the exercises of the evening began. President Mudge was superb in his role of toast-master; and his introduction of General Coolidge was felicitous. The response of the distinguished guest was a fitting one and his glimpse into the working of the American Philatelic Society was instructive. There were addresses by Mr. J. E. Lord, Mr. L. B. Lincoln, Mr. C. E. Severn, Mr. Fred Michael, and Mr. E. C. Dodd. Mr. Lord literally set the table in a roar but between laughs he pelted his hearers with chunks of solid sense. Mr. Lincoln gave a highly interesting address on "Hunting Big Game and Stamps in Newfoundland," which was a revelation in a philatelic sense, especially of conditions of which we are apt to be ignorant. Mr. Michael told the tale of a stamp, the five cent, 1847, U. S.; and made some clever hits; while Mr. Dodd regaled the diners with a bit of comedy that will not be forgotten for many a day. We may add that the "farewell" song was a surprise for which Mr. Mudge was responsible. The year starts out most auspiciously for the society as the banquet generated an enthusiasm for the good old Chicago Philatelic Society that will not soon be spent, we are sure.

"STAMP COLLECTING" SYNDICATED.

The well known English weekly Stamp Collecting has been syndicated by its publishers, although the names of the members of the syndicate have not been made public. The new move is designed to enhance the stability of the publication and we congratulate Mr. Dalwigk and his associates upon the success attending their efforts.

N. Z. EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

According to the Postage Stamp, an entirely different postmark is being used by the New Zealand Expeditionary Force on land from that which was used by the offices on the troopships. The troopship marks were long horizontal ovals, the land postmark in use at Cairo is a horizontal oblong, but is also struck in violet:

BISHOP'S REVIEW OF "GAMBIA."

The eighth of the excellent handbooks issued by the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Company, Boston, Mass., is "The Postage Stamps of Gambia" by Mr. R. E. R. Dalwigk. This is a very thorough and workmanlike study of the fascinating stamps of this colony. The illustrations include some helpful diagrams; and of the handbook as a whole it may be said that not a line is wasted on padding or redundancy. The price is 10 cents post free from the publishers in Boston, U. S. A.—Stamp Collecting.

"NORTH-WEST PACIFIC" STAMPS.

A new stamp issuing colony! This is the report that comes to us from the Postage Stamp:—"Another new page will have to be opened up in our stamp albums under the rather wide title of 'North-West Pacific.' This is one of the most interesting philatelic developments of the war, which has already produced a considerable variety of stamp novelties in the islands of the Pacific. It will be remembered that, having temporarily occupied certain groups formerly in German possession, notably the Marshall and Caroline groups, Japan handed over the administration of them to Australia in November. They are now in the occupation of Australian troops, and Colonel S. A. Pethebridge, C. M. G., late Secretary to the Commonwealth Minister for Defence, has been appointed "Australian Commissioner for the Pacific." I learn that the Commissioner sailed from Sydney on November 28th to take up his duties, and along with him he took a stock of Australian postage stamps overprinted "NORTH-WEST PACIFIC." So far there is no news of the Japanese having resorted to the surcharging of the German colonial stamps during their temporary occupation."

EDITORIAL.

Perf. 10—The current stamps perforated 10 seem to be much in the minds of collectors just now. Perhaps, our notice in the issue of January 23rd, 1915, that the new perforation was to be abandoned had something to do with the wave of interest now seen, but aside from this collectors from the first realized possibilities for the larger perforation as they surmised that it was experimental. The stamps perforated 10 now issued are the one to thirty cent inclusive and the four stamps of the Pacific-Panama set; and with the exception of several of the values we have seen them all.

* * *

Money—The dealer who makes a pretense of stocking United States stamps closely finds financial considerations entering more prominently than before in his calculations. The single line watermarks, the parcel post, the changes in design, the imperforates and coils, etc., topped off with the demand for blocks have required a substantial outlay for unused stamps that dealers find a bit staggering in their consistent efforts to keep their stocks complete to date. When the difficulty of finding the stamps in prime collecting condition is coupled with the small margin of profit in handling these stamps, this stock almost resolves itself into an accommodation line. The dealer has his problem but as the collector is apt to gain the benefit in this case, who should do the worrying?

* * *

Permanent—We do not remember having mentioned here that the Association for Stamp Exhibitions, New York City, which conducted the great exhibition in October, 1913, has been made a permanent body. The original clause applying to members has been amplified by the addition of the word "annually": "Any person may become a member of this association by signing the roll to be kept by the secretary and paying the sum of one dollar annually." Action has been taken tentatively on the establishing of a College of Philately and, quoting from the secretary's statement, "from present indications it looks as though the matter would be brought to a successful issue."

* * *

To Bill—Our Bill Bloss in the most stressful periods of critical emotional episodes remains unshaken and imperturbable. We take it that the fiercest exhalation of Æolus would not ripple the calm of Bill. While Bill's head is not whitened with the frosts of many winters yet his tank of experience brims over. It is true that the juvenescence of Bill may even lead the captious to question the great superiority of his judgment but none who knows Bill in the flesh would accept these findings as absolute. That our conviction that Bill can rise to any emergency and then dispassionately deliver his edict is soundly based is shown easily. In answering an esteemed correspondent, Bill says, knowing of course that his own picture has never appeared on any stamp as he is not dead: "B. F. S.—Can't say who the handsomest man pictured on a stamp is. Some day we will hold a contest on this. Personally, I like King George pretty well."

* * *

Just Like That—Even if the highly original inquiry specified in the foregoing paragraph had been reversed in regard to sex, Bill, with a blush, perhaps, would have answered the same, in effect. While bursting with sentiment, Bill never loses sight of the practical; and he would say again, no doubt, that "some day we will hold a contest" on "who is the handsomest woman pictured on a stamp." At any rate, speed the day when Bill announces his "handsomest man pictured on a stamp" contest, as we know that it will afford much entertainment. "De gustibus," etc., will be proved and curious choices will be made. For instance, we remember that a German paper said (or said that some one said) that the face of the president on the Liberia registration stamps of 1903 reminded him of a poodle dog,—but we must not steal Bill's thunder.

* * *

No Walks, No Letters—Here is an example how the post office department demands modern conveniences for its letter-carriers in town and that it enforces disciplinary measures when called upon to do so. A letter addressed to ——— 13th Avenue, Tampa, Florida, was returned to writer, with the rubber-stamped inscription in two lines on the face of the envelope: "Service discontinued On Account of no Sidewalks."

* * *

A Straw—A few words are taken from a letter at hand to show how our friends are constant in well doing for the WEEKLY. A package bearing an eight cent Buffalo and a three cent Columbian was sent and "the next day a note came to me from the postman asking if he might have the stamps and I sent them to him with a copy of the WEEKLY." Very good. Times change and we remember when it was no unusual thing to find foreign letters, especially, denuded of their stamp by "collectors" in the service, much to the disgust of the philatelic recipient of the mail.

* * *

Two Types—From Mr. J. Saulnier, Fordham, New York City, we have received two types of the ten centimes, Switzerland, 1914, red on buff paper. In type I, there are seven horizontal lines on the stock of the bow; and there are more lines in the face of Tell under the eye and more hairs in the beard. Type II has six lines on the stock that run irregularly and the face has fewer lines; and there are other differences that manifest themselves under close scrutiny. Our informant says that the first type is quoted at about forty cents in Switzerland. Switzerland gives a good number of re-engraved stamps that are worth the attention of the collector.

* * *

Big Batch—We are in receipt from a reader of a large lot of censored envelopes originating in the countries affected by the war and while on the whole, the covers are interesting, none of the markings call for special attention. A number of collectors who are in a position to secure quantities of the censored envelopes have enquired as to the value, present and future, of the covers. To them, we say that the envelopes in question have been advertised at different prices ranging from ten cents each upwards but we balk at predicting future values. When the military postmarks of the United States, for instance, in use in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines during the Spanish-American war were coming in, they were sought after by a few collectors who paid something in the way of prices for the curiosities but nowadays, there is no steady demand for them. In fact, there are so many stamps to engage the attention of the collector that though he is interested in the "asides," he does not seem inclined to pay much money for them. While all is fish that comes to his net, he makes no effort based on dollars to obtain the curiosities of the kind.

NEW REVENUES ON POSTAGE PAPER.

It will take time to settle the question of the paper used for printing the new revenues. If our readers can help us out, please do so. The following from Wm. T. Kimball will be of interest:—

"G. E. Fletcher, deputy commissioner of internal revenue, is wrong when he states that the 2 cent proprietary does not exist. I have a block of four of the 2 cent proprietary on revenue paper."

I think that your list as given in the chronicle of new issues omits several proprietaries beside the 2 cent but as I have not seen but only heard of the others, I cannot say definitely.

Is there no way of getting a complete list on both papers?

For revenues issued on postage paper, we have the following:—

Documentary— $\frac{1}{2}$ c, 1, 2, 4, 5, 10, 25, 40 and 50c.

Proprietary— $\frac{1}{2}$ c, $\frac{1}{4}$, $\frac{3}{8}$, $1\frac{1}{4}$, $1\frac{1}{2}$, $2\frac{1}{2}$, $3\frac{1}{8}$, $3\frac{3}{4}$ c.

Cordials— $\frac{1}{4}$, $\frac{1}{2}$, 1, $1\frac{1}{2}$, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 20, 40c, \$2.00.

AFTER YOU "CROAK"

Then what happens? You don't know and I don't know, but both of us know that at that time it will not make very much difference whether a stamp is single or multiple, whether CA or CC whether "chalky" or "ordinary." The thing that will count—so some of us think—will be whether our hobby has been (like the English language with a big I and a little you) always to our benefit and "let the other fellow take care of himself," or when we have had, (or have made), the opportunity to help another collector, we have done so! How? Oh, in ways almost too numerous to mention! Entirely outside of subscriptions to such an admittedly good paper as this is, outside of membership in one or more of the societies of our country, there are ways of helping that perhaps we do not all of us think of. For instance, when you get a circuit from a society, and have to forward same by mail at a cost of, well, we'll say 16c. Don't you think the next fellow to get that circuit would be pleased if you used a 7c and a 9c, for postage, rather than 8 two cent, 4 four cent or 16 one cent stamps? Of course this is only one, and perhaps a minor way, in which we can help each other along the line of our common interests. Altho' open to question, I can say that my membership in most of the societies with which I am affiliated, is in the hope of helping new collectors!

THE PASSING OF THE GERMAN COLONIALS.

By Fred. J. Melville.

A meeting of a stamp collectors society was called the other day to decide whether or no the society's activities should be entirely suspended during the continuance of the war. Obviously, some of the members felt that to pursue even this quiet, peaceful hobby at these times was comparable to fiddling while Rome was burning. But a tired and haggard warrior back from the front turned the vote against closing down. He explained that the horrors of war had brought him to nervous breakdown, and his doctor had urged him to devote as much of his time as possible to his stamps, and try to forget the nerve-racking scenes of the past months. There are many, even among civilians at home, to whom the distraction of a hobby is to be recommended as occasional relief from business anxieties, from the sorrows of war, and from the obsession of war news.

Most of the philatelic societies have decided to pursue quietly their ordinary course, that the interests of a large number of men and women engaged in the stamp trade may not suffer unnecessarily. None of the societies is rich in funds, but the Royal Philatelic Society has contributed fifty guineas to the Prince of Wales's Fund, and two of its Fellows, Captain Lord Arthur Vincent Hay and Captain Hamilton Hugh Berners, have given their lives in action. The Junior Philatelic Society has decided to make all its members serving at the front honorary life members, and its roll of honour already totals over seventy, a fair proportion of its home membership. A first experimental auction sale of stamps conducted by Messrs. Harmer Rooke and Co. in aid of the War Relief Fund brought in over £200. These are but a few among many tokens that neither the societies nor the individual collectors are failing to seize such opportunities of service as may be theirs.

New Zealand's Stamps for Samoa.—The progress of the war is bringing much new interest into the collecting of stamps. The collector is more familiar than the average man with the extent of Germany's colonial possessions, and the gradual elimination of these is already being recorded in new stamp issues. The German New Guinea stamps have been overprinted with the initials of our Sovereign, "G. R. I.," and the German stamps of Togo have been overprinted and reissued by the Anglo-French administration of the territory.

This week's Australian mail brought the first of the New Zealand stamps overprinted with the name "Samoa" for use in this former German colony. New Zealand has already extended penny postage to Samoa, and the new stamps, of which only the 1/2d and 1d appear to have been on sale in Apia on Sept. 29, respectively bear the portrait of King Edward (the Georgian New Zealand stamps not being issued in the Dominion yet) and the emblematic figure of New Zealand conferring the boon of universal penny postage on the world. The full set of New Zealand stamps overprinted and sent out to Samoa consists of the values of 1/2d, 1d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 6d, and 1s.

British Samoan War Rarities.—Before these stamps reached Apia the authorities in the Samoan capital used the German colonial stamps in stock at the post-office, overprinting them with large initials "G. R. I.," and the value expressed in English money. All the values from 3 pfennig to 5 marks were so surcharged, and most of them are likely to prove rare. The full set of these provisional stamps, with their new values, is as follows:

- 1/2d on 3 pfennig, brown.
- 1/2d on 5 pfennig, green.
- 1d on 10 pfennig, carmine.
- 2 1/2d on 20 pfennig, ultramarine.
- 3d on 25 pfennig, black and red on yellow paper.
- 4d on 30 pfennig, black and orange on buff paper.
- 5d on 40 pfennig, black and carmine.
- 6d on 50 pfennig, black and purple on buff paper.
- 9d on 80 pfennig, black and carmine on rose paper.
- 1s on 1 mark, carmine.
- 2s on 2 marks, blue.
- 3s on 3 marks, violet-black.
- 5s on 5 marks, carmine and black.

There is an error in the "1 shilling" overprint, reading "1 shillings"; of this my correspondent says there were only 100 copies, of which sixty were acquired along with sixty sets of the stamps taken up by the Administrator for the staff and fleet. Thus there were only forty copies of the error for the public, and the prices ruling for this rarity in Apia are high. Twenty pounds is said to have been paid for one, and my correspondent himself paid £14 for three of the stamps of the set, including one copy of the error.

It is interesting to note that all the German Colonial stamps now being converted by the British and Allied administrations bear a picture of the Imperial yacht, the Hohenzollern.

Anglo-French Togo.—The provisional stamps of the Anglo-French occupation of Togo promise to be more accessible to the collector than the "G. R. I." stamps of Samoa. The values overprinted "Togo; Anglo-French Occupation" are the 3, 5, 10, 25, 30, 40, 50, and 80 pfennig, and the 1-mark. It is now reported that the French have issued a separate set overprinted "Togo; Occupation Franco-Anglaise."

So far there is no news of what stamps were used during the temporary occupation by the Japanese of the Marshall Islands, or by the succeeding Australian administration. Nor have we news of stamp changes in Kiautschow, where the yacht Hohenzollern type of stamp has been in use for the past fourteen years. But each change of ownership of any of the German possessions will, no doubt, leave a permanent record in the stamp album, and these are days of splendid opportunities for the collector who keeps track of all the new stamps occasioned by the developments of the war.—London Telegraph.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Scott's Circular notes that the current 2c postage due stamp has been seen with the new 10 perforation.

In giving the full list of the new revenues in No. 1257, we inadvertently omitted the 6c, 8c, 10c and 20c values, which should have been added to the Proprietary list.

Carl O. Swaney reports that the 1c, 2c, 3c, 5c, 6c, 8c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 7c, 9c, 12c and 50c values have been pre-cancelled "Trinidad-Colo." in two lines.

Milton R. Miller reports the 5c Panama-Pacific perforated 10.

AUSTRALIA.—The Australian Stamp Journal says that the 1/2d postage due stamp has been issued on thinner paper and perforated 14.

BELGIUM.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the new Belgian Charity stamps, as noted in No. 1257. By the way, examination in strong daylight shows that the portrait and crosses are printed in red instead of carmine, and that the 10c value is also in two colors. They are printed in sheets of 100, in four panes of 25 stamps, and are sold at double face value, the additional sum being given to the Red Cross fund.

BOSNIA.—Mr. Schachne has shown us two new entires, for military service. Each is surcharged in black, "Feldpost," and across the stamp, "Postofrei."

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—A correspondent in the Dominican Republic informs A. W. Dunning that the official stamps of 1909-12 have been changed into postage stamps by overprinting the five values "Habilitado—1915." The 20c has been surcharged "Medio Centavo," in addition to the above thus converting it into a 1/2c stamp. The overprint is in violet on the 1/2c on 20c and dark red on the 1c, but we are unable to give the others.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Whitfield King & Co. write: "The King George issue, 25c, 30c, 45c white back, 50c, $1 and $2 white back, were chronicled nearly twelve months ago, probably from specimen copies, but they have only just been put on sale, and our supply arrived by last mail. The colours and designs are the same as the King Edward issue, except of course the 45c and $2 which are printed on the surface tinted paper."

SWITZERLAND.—Mr. Schachne has received two new international post cards. They have been divided obverse and bear the new type of stamp.

TOGO.—The Anglo-French conquest of the German Togo Colony has been signalized by the issue of two complete sets of surcharged stamps. The stamps used were of the German ship type, which were seized when the Colony was occupied by the combined French and English forces. All the stamps used were unwatermarked, except the 5pf, which were watermarked in both sets. Two values in each set were surcharged new values, the others receiving simply the overprints noting the change in Government. There were two settings of the Anglo-French overprint, the first having the lines 3 mm. apart and the second 2 mm. apart.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The Postage Stamp in War.—By Fred J. Melville, London, Eng. Price 25c. Profusely illustrated this book by Mr. Melville covers the ground from A to Z. If there be those who feel that the author has allowed too wide a scope of "war" issues to figure in the book, it must be allowed that the subject has dealt with everything within the scope of the work. The most interesting part of the book is that portion dealing with the war stamps and markings of the past year.

—"I wish you would call your readers' attention to the necessity of answering advertisements immediately they receive the WEEKLY. Some weeks ago, we offered sets of Belgium at 13c per set and the first mail after the paper came out, brought orders for the seven hundred sets in stock, and exhausted the supply. Since then, we are still receiving orders which have amounted to several hundred more sets. These we shall send out as soon as the new lot is received."—J. W. SCOTT CO.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THE FABLE OF THE COLLECTOR WHO TRIED TO GET THEM ALL.

Once upon a Time in the town of Wheresit, Missouri, a Young Child was born. At an early age he developed Avaricious Tendencies by stealing Brother Tommy's Nursing Bottle. It was proven that he was a direct descendant of Captain Kidd on his father's side, and that his mother's great grand-father was The Man who Invented Money. With such a Send-off, the Young Child could hardly be expected to grow up Poor. At the age of Three, he could count a Million and could Sight a Dollar-Bill through a Brick Wall. At five he wrote a Treatise on the Financial Troubles of the Solomon Islands, and had Euchred $98.46 from Kind-Hearted Grandma by his Hard-Luck Stories. When he was seven he was Separated from his School for teaching the little girls to Shake Dice at Recess. He organized the Barnyard Cubs into a Junior Federal League and Copped Off Half the Gate Receipts for his Labors. He stole a case of Eggs from a Grocer and Sold them back to him before he missed them. By such Manipulations of Finance, he grew to be Intensely Wealthy. He was so rich that the local merchants Starved to Death cutting the Prices to Gain his Business.

After our friend had All the money in Wheresit in his vaults, he decided to Capture a Metropolis. He Cashied In and Grabbed the Rattler for the Place of Large Buildings. Using his Home-grown Knowledge of the Ways and Habits of the American Hog, he soon invented a process to use every part of the beast from the Hoof to the Smell. After ten years of Money Chasing, he took stock and found that he was worth More Than the U. S. Treasury. He bought a National Bank so that he could sign Bank Notes instead of Checks. He purchased a Yacht larger than the Panama Navy. He built a Shack on the Drive that made King George's House look like a Dog-Kennel. He was so wealthy he could afford to Sleep on a Billiard Table, and had Plumbers to run errands for him. Friend Wife grew Lonesome because no one in society could Afford to Keep Up with Her Styles. About this time, Congress passed a bill forbidding him to make any more money.

Being unable to collect any more Capital, friend Rox decided to collect Things. He started in on paintings and bought a collection big enough to make all the Dead Artists wake up and Look Around. He paid a quarter of a million for a genuine Rembrandt, made on the East Side of New York. After he could find no more paintings of interest, he started in on curios and antiques. He bought a portable bath-tub used by Napoleon, a tooth-pick said to belong to John D. Rockefeller, and the whiskers of a muskox shot by Doc Cook when he discovered the pole. He was overjoyed when a dealer offered him a thigh-bone with absolute evidence that it belonged to Noah. Soon his house looked like a Madison Street Pawn-shop on the night before Christmas. He kept three officers busy all the time Shooing the Dealers and Junk-men away.

One day he received a letter with a Funny Looking Stamp on it, and an Idea startled him. Why not collect these things? Surely, it would be possible to get them All. He got busy and bought a Catalogue and the Necessary Junk to make him a collector. He learned that there were at least 28,463 varieties to keep him busy. Every dealer in N. Y. played him for a Hick and he soon had the nicest lot of Trash outside of an Auction Lot "Aziz." The way they slipped the skin off that fellow's bank-roll would make a stock broker's hand tremble. Pretty soon, he took stock and found that he had them all but a Hundred. He hired four Secretaries and got close to the trail of these missing ones. The more he hunted them, the more he wanted them. By the American Method of Persuasion, he got the seventy-five easiest ones. Then he started to Hike after that other twenty-five in person.

He found an old sailor in Newfoundland who had one he needed on cover. He filled him full of What Made Milwaukee Famous and got the cover. Next he dropped around to the Hawaiian Islands and Slipped the Chief of Kaeiou a can of Boston Baked for two Missionaries. He nearly lost an arm Arguing about a copy of the only French stamp he needed, and the Frenchman would have won only he was Stricken with Paralysis. Finally when he had gotten thrown out of Buckingham Palace three times for trying to coax King George to trade his Post Office Mauritius for a Beer Stamp on Original Cover, all trace of our little friend was lost. Nothing more was heard of him for some time.

One day an Old Gink with Whiskers like a Muskrat was seen rambling along State Street, Chicago, with his eyes cast down. He was poorly clad and shivered in the cold winds from Lake Mich. Suddenly a Post-man passed him, and with a mad dash, he jumped on the P. M. and tore eagerly through his letters. With a shriek of insane glee he jumped ten or fifteen feet in the air and shouted, "I have it." He held up a copy of Sonora No. 1 with the Centavob error, postmarked "Columbus, Ohio." Readers with powers of deduction will readily recognize the old man as our hero.

Three men were required to hold down the poor collector. Once he escaped and Bit a Large Piece out of the sidewalk near Madison Street. (Ed. Note:—The mark may be seen by anyone passing that way.) Finally, they Filed the Poor Nut Away in the Bug Ward. His room was papered with roses and he spent the rest of his life Picking the Roses off the Paper. Occasionally he would rave 23,896, 23,897 and would make Funny Motions like a Stamp Collector Chasing a Hinge around an Album Page. Friend Wife couldn't see the joke to the stamps, so she sold them to a Stamp Fan in a small town West of Chicago. The proceeds went to found a Home for Friendless Alligators.

Immoral:—Don't try to get them all. Leave a few for the other fellow.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

G. A. C.—Mr. Chester Myers, 300 S. 3rd Street, St. Louis, Mo., is desirous of corresponding with you regarding the precancel of five dots which you wrote about a few weeks ago.

O. V. R.—By paid cancellations, I take it you mean permits. Permits have no value, though some collectors might be induced to buy them. It is impossible to get a complete list of these, and very little interest is shown in them by collectors. They are collectible, however, and I should imagine that you could form quite a nice collection without spending any money. "Paid cancellations" refer also to the early issues cancelled with the word "Paid," a cancellation much in demand, by specialists. The 1908 Special Delivery listing 35c unused can be had for 20c.

H. E. B.—Your 50c Honk Kong stamp printed in black on green paper is No. 96. You will notice in the front of the catalogue an explanation stating that "when the color of the stamp is printed in italics, it signifies that the stamp is printed in black on paper of the color stated." Therefore, your 50c stamp is printed on green paper, not in green ink. Chalky paper bears a shiny appearance and is slightly heavier. This stamp does not come on ordinary paper to the best of my knowledge. A little careful comparison will soon enable you to tell chalkies at a glance. I consider my used copies as listing 75c.

D. J. G.—While your pen-cancelled cover is curious, it has no special value. Many of the smaller post offices resort to pen-canceling at times. This probably accounts for the cover, though it should have been cancelled, with a cancelling stamp.

R. M.—"Avisporto" appears on the special series of Newspaper stamps of Denmark, issued in October, 1907. Please address further inquiries as directed at the head of this column.

H. K. B.—The 25c Chile Jubilee and Presidential series is one of the scarcest values of the sets, which accounts for the reason it is omitted from most sets. There are more of some values than of others, hence many collections cannot contain all values. This 25c is so scarce that I think it worth half catalogue wholesale.

J. G. L.—I do not consider that the French Colonials will be as desirable as the Germans, as the reason the German Colonials are in demand is because Germany has lost many of her Colonies. If the tide of war should turn and the French lose their Colonies, their stamps would probably be as much in demand as the German Colonials. Very few sets are offered of these as the catalogue value does not permit of a fair margin of profit, compared with other sets. A large quantity of every set comes into the hands of the dealers, hence they are not as scarce as though they were not disposed of in this way. Yes, the used copies are quite desirable. From a collector's point of view they are far better used than unused, though the value may be less.

H. L. V.—Send a stamped addressed envelope for the A. P. S. blank. We will be mighty glad to have you among us, and it will be the most value you ever got for 15c a month. Why not?

B. F. S.—Can't say who the handsomest man pictured on a stamp is. Some day we will hold a contest on this. Personally, I like King George pretty well.

EPIRUS POSTAL ISSUES.

By F. J. MELVILLE.

In glancing through the fifteenth edition of Whitfield King & Co.'s we noted how up-to-date it was in the matter of such recent items as the French Red Cross stamps, but remarked also the absence of any heading for Epirus. This led us to query the publishers, who are usually very well informed on most Eastern stamp matters, as to whether they had information relating to the stamps which had led them to leave Epirus out.

Our query was worth while for it brought some interesting notes and some new illustrations, some of which have not figured in our new issue chronicle.

"Our only reason," wrote Whitfield King & Co., "for not including Epirus in the new catalogue is because when we went to press with that section of the catalogue we had insufficient reliable information, and rather than include stamps which we might afterwards have to take out we decided to omit the whole of them until we could make up a reliable list."

Even now our correspondents state that they are still uncertain as to which of the stamps are doubtful, but they are proceeding with their enquiries.

In the meantime they assure us that we may take it for granted that the set for Autonomous Epirus showing an evzone or light infantryman, shooting, are quite authentic. Presumably this applies to the stamps of similar design with inscription reading either "Epirus" or "Autonomous Epirus" (Fig. 2). The Death's Head stamps (Fig. 1) they are not so sure of; they have a few sets of these, both with and without the control. A reference to the Stamp Lover chronicle of new issues (Vol. VII, p. 10) will show that a pair exists, one with and one without the control. Neither the Koritza set nor the large flag stamps for Erseka have quite satisfied our correspondents, and they are seeking further information.

Koritza, (Fig. 4) This set, already noted in our chronicle, is now illustrated better from a copy sent by our correspondents. There are only three denominations of these, the 5, 10, and 25 lepta.

Erseka, (Fig. 3.) This, like the preceding set, is as yet not fully authenticated. It comprises seven values, viz., 5, 10, 25, 50 lepta, 1, 2, and 5 drachmae.

has sold down to almost nothing. We have, perhaps, a couple of hundred left of the paper cover edition that usually sells for 75 cents. Some people have been kind enough to say they consider it an invaluable work, and as nearly three thousand copies have gone it certainly must be considered a success as far as publishing goes. We want particularly to get this book into the hands of collectors so as long as these 200 copies last they can go for or one-third the usual price. Please do not delay sending along for this if you want it. One hundred and eighteen pages for a quarter!! The few cloth bound copies still left must remain @ $1.00, the publisher's price.

AUSTRALIAN NEWS AND NOTES.

Australia.—What might be termed a provisional issue appeared at the G. P. O., Sydney, on the 6th instant, on which date we were able to purchase some 4d stamps, King George design, similar to the 1d stamps now current. It seems that in consequence of the war there was a shortage of paper suitable for printing the kangaroos, and as the stock of 4d denomination had run low, recourse was had to the King George paper, and as a consequence the King George design had to be used, the denomination being altered. The provisional character of this stamp may develop into a permanency, but in any case we understand that a large number of sheets have been issued, sufficient to last over several months. (Wmk. Cr. & A perf. 14 comb.)

4d King Geo. orange yellow.

New Zealand.—Mr. P. B. Phipson and another friend have informed us that the plates for the King George stamps are in the printer's hands, and that the work of printing the new stamps is being proceeded with. No date has yet been fixed for their issue, but it was considered probable that by about the 11th of this month some of the denominations would be on the market.

A full description of these stamps appeared in our August number. The values are as follows:— $\frac{1}{2}$ d, 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ d, 2d, 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d, 4d, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ d, 6d, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ d, 9d, 1s. We hope to be able to publish the correct colours next month.

North-West Pacific.—We have been informed on reliable authority that only two denominations of Australian stamps have been overprinted for use in this district, viz., the 1d King George and 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d kangaroo. The overprint consists of "N. W. Pacific Islands" in block type in three horizontal lines.

1d King George, carmine.

2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d kangaroo.

Our correspondent did not give us the colour of the overprint, but we take it to be black on the 1d and red on the 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. The stamps were to be issued as soon as the Commissioner reached his headquarters, but where these are to be we are unable at present to say. Nowadays it is not wise to know too much.—Aust. Stamp Journal.

NOTES FROM THE EAST.

By THEODORE SIDDALL.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 15, 1915.—I suppose you think I have been neglecting the job of late, but if so I could not help it. I have been wondering whether I would be able to stay here, or have to go back to Manila, on account of the cold weather. Yesterday they had the coldest weather in 15 years, (old residents say), when the thermometer ran down to 16 $\frac{1}{2}$. It was cold, all right—colder than I had felt for twelve years, and if it kept up I would be off again to Manila, where they have not such foolishness, whatever other things they are guilty of there.

The Russian 25 kopeck is out with surcharge in black, instead of blue, and appears to be in a larger type. The post office here had only ten sheets, and the postmaster said he thought it must be an error.

Also, I am told, the Rusians will issue another set of Charity stamps, to be sold above face value, in aid of the sufferers from the war.

Kiaochao is now using ordinary Japanese stamps, without any surcharge. It was reported that the Germans transported their small remaining stock of Kiaochao stamps here to Shanghai, before they were shut up in the siege, but if so nobody has seen them. There was only a small stock remaining.

If the Germans don't smoke up, it won't be worth their while to maintain post offices here in China. Their office here in Shanghai is perhaps the largest they have in the East, and they handle some days as many as four or five letters, other days none, and occasionally run up to a couple of dozen.

The Japanese China surcharges are coming along with the new watermarked paper. If they would issue them all at once, or keep them issued when they had started, one could chronicle them, but one day you go to the Jap post office and get the old issue, the next day you get unwatermarked, and the third day the watermarked, and the fourth day one of the previous kinds. The clerk at the stamp window is unusually stupid, even for a Japanese, and one can't find out much from him. I don't want to say the Japanese are a stupid lot, for they are not, but there are specimens among them who would carry off the bonehead prize anywhere.

The 30 cent China, reaper type, first printing, has been seen in the color of the 20 cent. Scarce error?

It is understood that the London plates of the new Chinese stamps have been sent out to China, and are being used instead of the Chinese plates, which are a close imitation of the London, but differ in almost every detail. If so, specialists will have a merry time keeping track of all the issues.

AIR MINE TO FIGHT ZEPPELIN.

Joseph A. Steinmetz Sells His Invention to Britain.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—How London would repel a Zeppelin attack was told today at the Aero Club of America by Joseph A. Steinmetz, inventor of the air mine. Mr. Steinmetz, who is vice-president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania, and a prominent automobile and motor boat builder of Philadelphia, has just returned from England, where he sold the rights to use his device.

One of the Steinmetz devices consists of a small hydrogen balloon which lifts a high explosive and inflammable bomb. Each balloon is attached to a fine wire, two miles long, which is wound on a windlass. Each mile of the wire weighs only four pounds and has a tensile strength of 120 pounds.

These balloons are to be held captive on the roofs of tall buildings and be released when the Zeppelins are sighted. The balloon shoots up above the dirigible and if the dirigible should hit the hair-like wire, the balloon with its bomb is drawn into contact with the Zeppelin and an explosion follows.—Press Clipping.

IS IT THE WORTHINGTON?

There is a well-defined rumor that the big collection of this country which had been designed as a gift to a city by the lakes, may be thrown on the market. It is to be hoped that this is not true. A separate wing was being built to accommodate this wonderful accumulation, and philatelists had hoped that this might be realized. There is in the present instance no need of the owner apparent. It is not necessary for him to realize as might be the case with one suddenly bereft of fortune, but it is simply a misunderstanding between the donor and the trustees of the museum. Let us hope the matter may be amicably adjusted, and that we may witness the original idea become a reality. In this respect it should be borne in mind that stamps are quite different in their adaptability for public inspection to any other property, and unless donors are prepared and able to also furnish the necessary equipment, and an endowment for its upkeep and care, directors and curators do not want them. Even the Tapling collection fails in this respect since the great rarities are carefully locked up in steel safes, and a special permit is necessary to view them.—Everybody's Philatelist.

SPRINGFIELD'S TWENTIETH.

Courtesy of W. C. STONE.

The Springfield Stamp Club celebrated its 20th anniversary with a banquet at Forbes & Wallace's restaurant Friday evening, February 12, the actual anniversary falling on the 8th. The tables were arranged in the form of a diamond and about forty were present. Each club member found at his plate a handsome leather bound pocket stock book ("made in Springfield") inscribed "Twentieth Anniversary Souvenir Springfield Stamp Club 1895 1915", a representation of the club badge and his own name. For the ladies there were boxes of confections.

During the banquet, letters were read by J. W. Prevost of the entertainment committee from absent and non-resident members as well as from President Coolidge of the A. P. S., and from representatives of the Boston, Worcester and Hartford societies as well as numerous other friends.

President B. A. Oppenheimer acted as toastmaster and after a piano solo by Mrs. Thomson called on William C. Stone to respond to the toast, "It was some club when I was president." Mr. Stone (who has been president three times, serving in all seven years, E.), gave sketches of the early days of the club and also told of a former organization which was in existence in 1879-81 and showed copies of its by-laws and of the Philatelic News, the magazine published by the association of which but few copies are now probably in existence. Mrs. Kitson then rendered a solo, after which in response to an encore she sang the following original verses which were much applauded:

'Twas a little while ago,
Only twenty years or so,
When Ed. Curtis, Prevost, Stone,
Struggled hard for stamps to own.
Then came Bartlett, Ward, Champagne,
Still they struggled just the same,—
And little did they dream
Of a stamp club so supreme,—
'Twas a little while ago,
Only twenty years or so.

Springfield Stamp Club, how it's grown!
With a fame so widely known.
Scores of pleasant days it's passed
Holding memories sure to last.
With these recollections bright
Let us hold a gala night,
Celebrating our first year
With a hale and hearty cheer,
And stamp husbands we'll endure
Though they're still without a cure,—
Since that little while ago,
Only twenty years or so.

Dr. N. P. Bugbee was then called upon to give "Some hair raising reminiscences" which were enjoyed even by the member at whose expense they were told. Dr. Hugo Thomson said that "The arduous duties of a club librarian" so bore upon him that he was compelled to have an assistant to aid him in keeping his work up to date. Edmund Oppenheimer then favored us with a song, responding to an encore with "Tipperary," everyone joining in the chorus. Mrs. Prevost then gave some recollections of the early days from the women's standpoint which contained many quiet digs at the men folk. Our Hongkong specialist, Robert C. Munroe, who has just returned from San Francisco, was asked to respond to "I love my wife, but Oh you Hongkong maidens!" In a very witty manner he set forth the many attractions of these beauties, saying that they had four sets of teeth and were generally on the square. Their complexions varied, and while most had white backs, some had dirty faces, and others gum on their backs. To get them one must roam from one end of the earth to the other. Mrs. Munroe, clad in a most appropriate costume, then gave the "daffodil dance," an original exemplification of the terpsichorean art which was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Prevost, who is one of the charter members of the club and who has been for many years a member of the entertainment committee, was the concluding speaker and told "How it seems to be entertained."

EDITORIAL.

At Any Rate—Our remarks on the stamps of the current issue perforated 10 in the preceding number were somewhat bewildering in the light of information that scarcely was confirmatory that appeared in our issue of the 6th instant. However, our observations in last week's issue were not wholly inspired by what temporarily has been proved to be the misinformation of a contemporary, as were told by a Washington correspondent that the large perforation was foredoomed even though no edict had gone forth from the postal fathers. The assumption is based, says our informant, upon the complaints from the post office clerks who are under the strain of selling stamps rapidly to a clamoring line of waiting customers. The stamp sellers aver that it is harder to handle the large perforation without tearing the stamps than it is the smaller perforations. It is fair to say that the public likewise cites the same objection. It may not be that it will be a case of love's labor lost on the part of those who hurried to get their blocks of the perforated 10.

Economic Hitch—We want to establish more cordial relations between the dealers and the collectors. We hope that the point of contact between the two classes will continue to become enlarged until the stamp dealers become most skilful tacticians in the field of human nature. Conditions of today, while improved over those of former years, by no means are ideal. At present there are too many controversies between dealer and collector that advanced and intelligent business conduct would avoid. Of course, the buyer often is unreasonable but he is the one to be catered to in view of the fact that he has the money to spend. Instead of trying to place any "blame" on either side let us seek to discover the causes of any friction between sellers and buyers and aim to remove them. First it will be necessary for dealers to dismiss from mind any antagonism that may exist for collectors by reason of isolated instances of unfairness on their part. Dealers who seem habitually to take occasion on small pretext to resent the methods of the buyer, should replace their feeling with one that is in accord with the spirit of today in a business sense. Admittedly, there are two sides to the argument, but when both sides get together, there will be no argument.

Below Face—Some time ago, we called attention to the fact that in the 60's the complete set of the United States, 1857-60 issue unused could be bought much under face. The advertisement of a dealer that appeared in May, 1868, was quoted in support of the statement. Through the courtesy of Mr. Edwin R. Kershaw of Perry, New York, who sends a copy of the St. Louis Philatelist for June, 1881, which he "found when looking through some of his father's old papers," we offer testimony comparatively recent to the fact that the demand for the unused stamps in question was a halting one for many years. The St. Louis Philatelist was published by E. F. Gambs, St. Louis, Mo., "as often as practicable," and distributed gratuitously to his patrons. It was several years afterwards that Mr. Gambs removed from St. Louis to San Francisco. In his paper, Mr. Gambs listed the ten and twelve cent 1851 (really the 1857-60 issue) unused at ten cents each; the twenty-four and thirty at thirty cents each and the ninety at seventy-five cents, all unused. For that matter, at the same time Mr. Gambs was selling the used five and twelve of the 1861 issue for three cents each; the fifteen and twenty-four for five cents apiece; the thirty for ten cents and the ninety at fifty cents; while the one cent, 1869, was priced at three cents; the two at one; the six, ten, twelve and fifteen at six cents; the twenty-four and thirty at ten and the ninety at one dollar, each.

* * *

Familiar Sound—There is an article in the paper of June, 1881, mentioned in the preceding paragraph which has a prophetic sound: "Scarcity of U. S. Stamps." Speaking of the denominations, twenty-four cents to ninety, inclusive, of the issues through that of 1869, the observation is made: "Every dealer knows that it is seldom the case they are ever offered, and when they are the quantity is too limited to be of any benefit. In our eight years' experience we have never yet received half enough to supply our trade and it is not infrequently the case that we are compelled to offer retail prices for them in order to accommodate many of our patrons." Thirty-five years later, the same parallel exists but it has been extended to include all the United States, with the exception of the three cent, of the issues named.

* * *

Antediluvian—Who launched that most typical of all philatelic "jokes" on the troubled sea of the ages: "Why is the 1r, Mexico, 1864 (or other properly selected stamp) not worthy a place in any collection?" The answer: "Because it is unreal." We have traced the responsibility for the jape down to Mr.

Gambs as we find in a list of questions that were asked on a Saturday afternoon, according to his house-organ of June, 1881: "A fourth desired to ascertain if the word 'Un real' (one real) indicated that it was 'an unreal stamp' (counterfeit)."

Stamp Tax in Canada—We are informed that new Canadian taxes will be enforced by a series of revenue stamps which is in course of preparation. Our correspondent says that the stamps will soon be available for use as he has been assured that the contingency calling for them had been foreshadowed.

* * *

Now You See It—From Mr. Ora E. Stark, Omaha, Nebraska, we have received the following interesting letter: "I notice your article on revenue stamps in your issue of February 6th, showing conclusively that no 1/2, 1, 2 or 3 cent proprietary stamps were issued. Mr. James M. Doyle of this city has shown me a copy of the 2 cent proprietary, of the same general design and color as the other values and with the U. S. I. R. watermark. He states that these stamps were among the first received at the internal revenue office here after the law was passed; and a block of four of the 2 cent value was affixed to a box of chewing gum. As soon as the gum was sold, Mr. Doyle secured the stamps from the merchant who bought them and was not aware that the issue of this value was disputed until after reading your article. Whether these 2 cent stamps were withdrawn from issue before the publication of the circular mentioned or whether they were inadvertently omitted from the list, I cannot say, but having seen the stamp with my own eyes, I am, to put it mildly, strongly tempted to argue that we have not been 'shown conclusively.' Plainly there is some confusion of ideas in relation to the inclusion of certain denominations in the proprietary set as Mr. Stark has had visual proof of the existence of the 2 cent. It may be said that the values under notice were not found in some of the largest and most comprehensive stocks sent out from Washington.

THE "RED CROSS" STAMPS OF FRANCE.

By FRANZ REICHENHEIM.

Shortly after the outbreak of hostilities some of the countries involved issued certain special war charity stamps or postal stationery to be sold for the benefit of their red cross societies. In France a special "Red Cross" stamp was created by a decree of the President of the Republic, dated August 11th, 1914. This is published in Bulletin Mensuel des Postes et des Télégraphes of September, 1914, and reads as follows:—

"Decree of August 11th, 1914, creating a special postage stamp, called 'Stamp of the French Red Cross.'"

The President of the French Republic, In pursuance of the report of the Minister of Commerce, Industry, Post, and Telegraph:

DECREES—
Art. 1.—A special postage stamp, called 'Stamp of the French Red Cross,' has been created. The public will be able to use this stamp, but only for inland correspondence, for franking purposes up to the value of 10c.

Art. 2.—This special stamp will be sold at 15c. The difference between the sale price and the franking value, less the legal deduction of 1 per cent., will be paid to the committee created at the War Office, by Decree of August 8th, 1914, under the authority of the Military Health Department, and in conjunction with the various French Red Cross societies.

Art. 3.—Provisionally, until new stamps are ready, the public will have at their disposal ordinary postage stamps of 10c, overprinted with the sign of the red cross and surcharged 5c.

Art. 4.—The Minister of Commerce, Industry, Post, and Telegraph, and the Minister of Finances, each as far as he is concerned, are charged with the execution of this Decree.

Given at Paris, August 11th, 1914.
The Minister of Finances,
NOULENS.
R. POINCARÉ,
For the President of the Republic;
The Minister of Commerce, Industry,
Post, and Telegraph,
GASTON THOMSON."

The provisional "Red Cross" stamps authorized by the above decree were issued to the post offices on August 17th, and placed on sale on the following day, the following order being sent by the postal administrations of the various districts to their respective post offices:

"Postal Administration of the District of the Seine.
General Service No. 224.
SERVICE ORDER.

SIR,
I beg to inform you that you will receive postage stamps in value of 10c, bearing a surcharge of 5c. The sale of these stamps to the public at 15c each will begin at once. Their value shall not be charged against and their proceeds not be credited to the general account. On the contrary, the proceeds from the sale are to be kept separately. The same applies to the value of the stamps remaining unsold. Supplementary instructions as to the accounts to be kept for this special purpose will be issued without delay.

Paris, August 17th, 1914.
The Director of the Postal Administration of the District of the Seine, FERRIERE."

With this order were issued posters printed at the National Printing Office for exhibition at post offices on and after August 18th.
These posters read:—

"SALE OF SPECIAL POSTAGE STAMP called STAMP OF THE FRENCH RED CROSS
Only to be used for inland correspondence.
SALE PRICE: 0 FR. 15.
FRANKING VALUE: 0 FR. 10.

NATIONAL PRINTING OFFICE.
2688—676—1914."

Although it is expressly stated in the above-mentioned documents that these "Red Cross" stamps are available for inland correspondence only, it is worthy of note that letters to foreign countries bearing them in part-payment of postage have, so far, not been taxed as insufficiently stamped owing to non-compliance with the regulations.

The sale of these stamps seems to have been very small in Paris. This is shown by the following order issued by the postal administration of the District of the Seine, and dated September 9th, 1914:—
"Postal Administration of the District of the Seine.
General Service No. 253.
SERVICE ORDER.

SIR,
The attention of the postal administration has been drawn to the small number of "Red Cross" stamps sold by the post offices in Paris. In accordance with information received this is principally due to the failure of officials not drawing the attention of the public to the sale. Will you please strongly advise the officials under your charge to exercise a greater zeal in offering these stamps to the public. It is essential that the posters advertising the sale, and containing the conditions of franking power of these stamps, are exhibited in conspicuous places in the public rooms of the post offices. It is expected that full attention will be paid to this matter.

Paris, September 9th, 1914.
The Director of the Postal Administration of the District of the Seine, FERRIERE."

This order, which undoubtedly was also issued by the postal administration of other districts, seems to have had a good effect, as L'Echo de la Timbrologie gives the following figures as the result of the sale of the "Red Cross" stamps during the first six weeks: During the last fifteen days of August, 30,000fr; during the month of September, 90,000fr. Our contemporary adds that the sale during September, averaging about 3000fr a day, provides the means of caring for about 750 wounded soldiers a day, the daily costs of which amount to about 4fr each.

As regards the stamps themselves, the "ordinary postage stamps of 10c" as they are called in the decree, are in the redrawn sower type of November, 1906, overprinted with a thick red cross and surcharged 5c, both in a much darker red shade than the stamps.

The measurements are: height of the cross, 4 mm.; width of the cross, 4 mm.; thickness of the bars, 2 mm.; height of the figure, 4 mm.; height of the letter c, 1 1/2 mm.

If the overprint and surcharges are in their proper position—

1. A horizontal line drawn through their centre should meet the centre of the figure 0 of the original value of the stamp.

2. The surcharges and overprints should stand exactly in the centre between the value and the word "POSTES" of the original stamp, leaving an equally small space on either side.

In the horizontal rows of the stamps of some of the sheets, however, the surcharges and overprints are slanting, so that the red cross and the figure 5 touch nearly the feet of the sower either on the extreme left or on the extreme right stamp respectively, instead of the top line of the red cross just touching the knee of the figure. Therefore, there are found some stamps on which the red cross covers entirely the letter c of the original value, whereas this letter ought to be quite visible. On others is found the red cross touching the figure 10 and the letter c of the surcharge or the word "POSTES."

It is interesting to note that the printing office started printing the stamps a few days before the decree authorising their issue was signed. The decree is dated August 11th, whereas the figures 508 at the bottom of a block before you show that this particular sheet was printed on August 8th (about the meaning of the various figures on the margins of the sheets of the French Stamps, vide "Monthly Report of the Herts Philatelic Society," Vol. VII, No. 3, p. 73).

These provisional stamps were replaced by stamps in a new design in the provinces on September 12th, and in Paris about a week later.

The service order issued by the postal administration of the district of the Seine (Paris) on September 20th, contains the following paragraph referring thereto:—

3rd. New type of the French "Red Cross" stamps. The Postage Stamp Department has just issued "Red Cross" stamps in a new design. This new stamp differs from the ordinary 10 centimes stamp by showing the value 10c underneath the word "REPUBLIQUE" in the left upper corner, and the sign of the red cross, and the value 5c underneath it, both in red, in a white rectangle in the left lower corner. The post offices will be supplied with stamps in the new design according to requirements.

The measurements are: height of the white rectangle, 9 mm.; width of the white rectangle, 5 mm.; height of the cross, 3 mm.; width of the cross, 3 mm.; thickness of the bars, 1 mm.; height of the figure 5, 4 mm.; height of the letter c, 1 1/2 mm.

In addition to the description given in the above Service Order the new design differs in other points from the provisional one:—

1. The vertical inscription on the right side of the stamp reads "CROIX ROUGE POSTES" instead of "POSTES" only.

2. The sower, newly and much more carefully engraved, stands out more clearly and does not show any retouches as in former issues.

So far, I have not come across any variety.—London Philatelist.

THE NEW ISSUES OF 1914.

The old year has gone and a new one has begun. There is none of us who does not cherish great hopes of what the new year has in store for us, and is not glad to see the back of 1914. I have deferred my gossiping review of the year to the second 1915 number of our journal only to allow the year to be completed before attempting to concoct a general narrative of the philatelic events of the year, and these notes are started just as the bells are about to ring in the new year of our dearest hopes.

New issues have been as plentiful in 1914 as ever, although there have been comparatively few commemoratives. Portuguese colonials have continued to add page after page to the albums of those collectors (if there be any) who attempt to follow them, and incidentally to give a rare time to the chronicler of new issues. French colonies, and more or less rebellious communities in the Near East and in Mexico have contributed heavily to the year's output of new stamps. And we must not forget the beam in the British imperial eye, our own dominions and colonies have done their share.

Within the Empire, taking Great Britain first there is only a set of four postage dues added to our adhesive stamp series, but a goodly range of shades, watermark varieties, and controls have had to be appended to the specialist lists of our ordinary adhesives which so far as their general issue was concerned was completed in August, 1913. Substantial progress was made in the manufacture of stamps in continuous rolls for coiling purposes, and the control of the distribution of our stamps has passed from the Inland Revenue to the Post Office Department. The control of stamp manufacture is, however, still with the former department until the new P. O. building at St. Martins-le-Grand is completed.

Australia's penny stamp with the portrait of King George, replacing the kangaroo penny, has passed through the stages of several printings in intaglio and has been re-drawn and issued as a surface-printed stamp. All through the year there has been much conflicting gossip of the other denominations to be issued in the series of varied designs intended to supersede the kangaroo design, and some were in an advanced state of preparedness when the elections brought back to power the Labour Government which gave Australia its kangaroo stamps. Certainly 10,000 sheets of the 6d engraved stamp, with the kookaburra design were printed and this denomination was issued. The 1s with the picture of a swan in compliment to the ex-Treasurer, Sir John Forrest, of Western Australia, was also ready and some sheets had been printed of this, but it has not been issued, and late in the year under review all the orders for electros, etc., in connection with the 2d, 6d and 1s and the other values above 1d have been countermanded, and correspondence is now mostly franked with kangaroo stamps except for a proportion of 1d King's heads. It is not improbable that the King's head will be used for the ½d and 1d stamps, but so far as the other values are concerned the present government is rather inclined to economy and has little wish to experiment further in regard to stamps, after its notable failure to please with the kangaroos.

New Zealand has been taking its time over the Georgian issue, but has, we gather, hit upon the happy plan of getting as near as is possible with a "King's head" to the style of design used for the original and still unexcelled "Queen's head"—the Penny Black of Great Britain. The first dies were not quite satisfactory and were returned to England for some alteration, which, although it means time, should result in a distinct advance in the King's head stamps of the Dominion, which in the Edwardian series were anything but pleasing. few new overprinted issues have been recorded during the year from the dependencies of our go-ahead Pacific dominion, Aitutaki, Penrhyn and Niue. The addition of Samoa to these is a matter which we shall deal with a little later on, when we come to review the stamps issued in connection with or as a result of operations in the Great War.

Canada was considering during the past year the issue of a short series of stamps commemorative of the Canadian statesman and poet, Sir George Etienne Cartier, but the scheme did not eventuate. It has also been reported that Newfoundland was preparing a 2 cent stamp to be sold at 25 cents in connection with the colony's Patriotic War Fund, but there is no news that this has been done.

India's Georgian stamps were completed long since but from several of the Convention States we continue to get odd overprinted denominations, of which there have been several from Gwalior, Jhind and Patiala during the year under review. Early in the year some of the Georgian values were overprinted "C. E. F." for use with the China Expeditionary Force still maintained in the Republic of China. A complete set also has been overprinted I. E. F. in August or September for use with Indian troops engaged in the present war in Europe, and possibly Western Asia and Africa.

The chief factor in the year's new issues of stamps sent out under the aegis of the Crown Agents for the Colonies has been the coloured paper difficulty which was first noted in the preceding year. "White backs" have enjoyed a spell of popularity, and provided a fresh impetus to the enthusiasm of the systematic collector of new issues, and to the success of the several new issue services. Now there is no longer any difficulty in obtaining the coloured through papers, and we understand that the mill where they were originally made, and the closing down of which caused the difficulty, is at work again, but whether on its old work or not we are unable to state. A very popular philatelic area has been brought once more into prominence by the amalgamation of Northern and Southern Nigeria into one protectorate under the title of "Nigeria" which name on a new set of Georgian keyplate stamps issued in May provides an unified set of stamps for both the Nigerias and incidentally carries the popular group of British "West Africans" another step, as outlined in the following synopsis from "Chats on Postage Stamps":—

National African Company, Ltd. (no stamps)—Royal Niger Company (Chartered of July 10, 1886) (British Stamps used abroad)—1892-1893. Oil Rivers Protectorate (Africa Order in Council, 1889); Niger Coast Protectorate, 1893: Northern Nigeria 1900, Southern Nigeria 1900, Lagos 1874, Southern Nigeria Feb. 16, 1906—NIGERIA.

To the above table have to be added Sierra Leone, Gambia and Gold Coast, all still separate stamp issuing colonies, and further developments in West Africa have already been commenced as an outcome of military operations in the present war.

Among the colonies which have extended their lists in the stamp catalogues during the year, chiefly with the gradual completion of Georgian sets, and here and there a "white back" are Malta, Ceylon, Leeward Islands, Montserrat, St. Vincent, British Guiana, Hong Kong, Trinidad and Tobago, Grenada, British Solomon Islands, Bechuanaland Protectorate, Dominica, Fiji, East Africa and Uganda, Jamaica, Cayman Islands, Nyasaland Protectorate, Straits Settlements, Gold Coast, Cyprus, Falkland Islands, St. Lucia, etc.

The two interesting groups of English stamps overprinted for use in British post offices in the Levant and in Morocco have received several additional new varieties including the high value intaglio stamps, and one of the series has come to an abrupt end in the abrogation of the Capitulations by Turkey, while the Moroccan set, too, may henceforth be dispensed with as a result of Great Britain's recognition of the French Protectorate in Morocco.

That recognition of French protection in Morocco was a sort of quid pro quo for our Gallic Ally, when Britain proclaimed its protectorate over Egypt. The land of the Pharaohs figures among the notable stamp issues of the year with its fine series issued on January 8, 1914, the anniversary of the accession of the now deposed Khedive Abbas II. In this series Messrs. De La Rue & Co. have demonstrated a skill in pictorial stamp engraving and printing en epargne scarcely less effective than most intaglio stamp work. The series does not appear to call for any alteration in design to bring it into line with the changed conditions of Egypt as a British Protectorate, but as I have hinted elsewhere, it may be considered desirable to print these Egyptian stamps in future on the Sudan "multiple star and crescent" paper instead upon the paper with the single crescent device. The single device is that which figured equally on the Turkish and the Egyptian flags under Turkey's suzerainty but now Egypt has a brand new flag, which has three crescents and stars upon it.

Of the European countries Switzerland has given us six new values in four new and rather ambitious designs. Sweden has gone ahead with its Olle Hjortsberg series, Denmark has printed its stamps on the new paper heralded in The Postage Stamp, Serbia has issued its latest portrait series of King Peter in a range of new colours, Luxemburg has given us a portrait set of Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide's reign stamps which are said to have been largely superseded by German stamps since the violation of Luxemburg's neutrality by Germany in August; Norway has given us three rather staid commemoratives to mark the centenary of the Assembly at Eidsvold which inaugurated its Constitution, Greece has gone on giving us additions to the war list of the Balkans, and Epirus and Albania have come in as practically new pages, with some quaint old-time names for headings, in our stamp albums.

Turkey, which, Allah be praised, may not long remain a European country, was hot on Egypt's track with a new issue of beautiful pictorials in January last. The set rather upset all our old notions of Mohammedan ideas as regards picture stamps, portraying the "sacred" features of Sultan Muhammed himself, and showing us some of Turkey's teeth, such as the forts of the Bosphorus, the "Ministry of War," and the cruiser Hamidieh. On the next set Turkey issues we look for a calm and placid stretch of sea with not a ship to be seen, whereon an inscription "here lieth in deep water the Goeben, the Breslau, the Hamidieh" and any other ships they once were proud of. Some of these pictorial stamps have since been overprinted with a star indicating their sale on a discount basis to encourage merchants, etc., to use the Turkish in preference to the foreign post offices in Turkey, and now that these latter have been closed, new overprints proclaim the abrogation of the Capitulations.

In America the United States Post Office Department has wisely abandoned the projected Peace Celebration stamps commemorative of the 100 years of amity between the two great Anglo-Saxon nations, not through any rupture of that friendship, but because while one of the two nations is engaged in a gigantic struggle with another powerful enemy a peace celebration of any kind would be, to say the least, inappropriate. But the United States figures in the list of stamp issues for 1914 with the five new values added to the current series on May 1. It has also been recorded in The Postage Stamp that the wonderful machine, designed and constructed by Mr. Benjamin Stickney, of the Washington Bureau, has been brought into use for manufacturing stamps in endless rolls, by dry printing from recess-plates. A new perforation has been used for the booklets of stamps, and an extension of a variation in perforation is heralded so far as the ordinary sheet printed stamps are concerned.

Cuba as a Republic has followed its United States tutors in the matter of stamp manufacture and has produced a good set of regular values, and an express delivery stamp with an aeroplane design. In addition a special commemorative stamp issued during 1914 honours the memory of the Spanish poetess, Gertrudes Gomez de Avellaneda. Mexico has been to the fore with revolutionary provisionals and the Sonora stamps promise to provide a fairly wide field for the amateur specialist. Lately the Constitutionalists have become more ambitious in their stamp designs and the latest issue appears to be in a design apparently intended to be definitive, somewhat resembling the Cuban stamps produced in the States, but produced by lithography instead of steel-engraving. Hayti has overprinted its stamps (Gt. O. Z.) as the result of a change of president after a revolution in February, the initials representing the new President's name Oreste Zamor. Nicaragua has issued a new set in its Cordoba currency, and the Dominican Republic, one of the few commemorating countries of the year, gave us a year too late a set marking the centenary of Juan Duarte which should have been ready in 1913.

THE EMPIRE STAMP CO. OF PHILADELPHIA

announces with great sorrow the sudden death of their manager

MR. JULIUS LEVY

In the Far East, Japan has been changing its stamp paper, and its denominations have been appearing on the new waved-line watermarked paper. China, too, having got a set of Republican stamps of special design has started, under American tuition to do its own printing and has set up its own stamp factory at Peking, to be known as the Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The various values will doubtless provide a fresh study in printing variations for the specialist. Siam's currency fluctuations have led to a re-adjustment of the equivalents in satangs of the Postal Union unit rates of 5, 10 and 25 centimes, a re-adjustment which has been effected by surcharging, almost a staple industry—or shall we say fad?—with the Siamese authorities.

There is a philatelic moral to be pointed from 1914 as from a few years preceding it, and that is that in stamp collecting it is the unexpected which happens, and it is the unexpected which counts. The systematic collector of new issues gets a fair proportion of the things which count and which come unexpectedly. The collector subscribing to a new issue service has his net spread for him far wider than he can hope to spread it on his own account by separate purchasing and the changes which mean most are those which come so suddenly that when first one gets wind of them it is already too late to catch and land the fish—very mixed metaphor but metaphor, like refreshment is oftentimes more potent when mixed. In the coming year the wise ones will cast their nets in readiness for many a new provisional, not only interesting souvenirs of the greatest upheaval the world has known, but in many cases potential philatelic rarities. For those who bemoan the "good old times" when rare stamps were to be bought for "a mere song," we have only this to say; your philatelic opportunity is at hand, and another opportunity may never recur. To all this there is to be added that the general support of collectors is essential even at these times to the maintenance of the vitality of our scientific hobby and the stability of the stamp market.—Postage Stamp.

OMAHA STAMP CLUB.

The third regular meeting of the Omaha Stamp Club was held at 210 First National Bank Building on Friday, February 5, 1915, with President Hoyt and the following members present: Messrs. Parmelee, Stark, Irvine, Benson, Whipple, Thorson, Estes, Mehsner, Doyle, Lam, Newman and Mowry; visitor, Webster.

Mr. John Benson showed his collection of King Edward heads and it was a genuine treat, as it is safe to say that his collection can be surpassed by few in the United States.

By a unanimous vote, the club decided to apply to the American Philatelic Society for the reinstatement of Omaha Branch No. 23 in that society.

Two yearly subscriptions to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY donated by Mr. Charles Severn were won by Messrs. James Doyle and M. B. Newman. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Severn for his generosity.

An informal auction was then held which netted the club $2.85 and elicited much interest.

This meeting was by far the most interesting the club has yet held and it is contemplated that semi-monthly meetings will be held. Visitors are cordially invited to attend. Regular meeting nights, first Friday of each month at 8 P. M.

MORE ON THE GRILLS.

By WM. L. STEVENSON.

The prospects seem pretty good that in the near future this WEEKLY will print a compilation of all my present information on this subject. In the meantime, here is a point of considerable interest, which can't wait.

I have recently had the opportunity to examine some fine grill-proofs. These give some unexpected light on the very first cylinder used and on some other points as well. I am somewhat ashamed to confess that the same evidence is present (in a much less prominent degree but present to be seen) in the issued stamps of this period. That it has been overlooked by all others is immaterial. I have been trying to go beyond previous study of this subject, and it should not have escaped me. I apologise.

In Mr. Luff's book, he tells us that the grilling cylinders were made by pressing against them while revolving, a small steel roller having its surface covered with pyramidal bosses. The impossibility of thus producing raised pyramidal units on the cylinder needs little remark, but has been previously discussed and the only apparent solution given. All of this was on the assumption that each cylinder had raised units on its surface to produce the units of embossing.

It seems hardly possible that Mr. Luff invented this statement but more probable that it is the result of information from some workman or other official who knew something about the manufacture of grilling cylinders. Therefore, this statement has been constantly at the back of my mind for better explanation. It needed it. Here it is.

Besides the special Z grill, I have listed in the 1867 period six families of grills corresponding closely to those noted in the catalogue but more definite. The first three, the A, the B, and the C grills, all show biscuit units of embossing and the points of these units are always at the face of the stamp as far as seen in issued specimens. All evidence to date indicates that these grills all come from one grilling cylinder in different stages, and there is considerable evidence that there was but one reduction from the entire (A) grill, the other two existing at one time on the second condition of this cylinder after planing strips each way to form grilling rectangles.

All following grills, whether showing the pointed pyramids or the flat-topped pyramids for units, almost certainly come from directly cutting grooves each way on the cylinder, leaving the pyramidal units and then planing off each way strips to about the depth of the bases of these units, leaving rectangles of grill.

The proofs above mentioned give important light on the biscuit grills. Among them is one horizontal pair which shows on each stamp a clear C grill rectangle. The points of the units are up, and at about the level of the stamp face. Between the two rectangles are remains of a number of other units not fully removed in the planed strip between rows. The two rectangles are combined in a long rectangle across both stamps, and the embossing of this rectangle is opposite to that of the units, impressing a rectangle in the face of the pair, and showing the rectangle in relief on the back of the pair. Further examination of the other proof specimens of this C grill show that the grill rectangle is always thus embossed opposite to the direction of the embossing of the units of grill, the biscuits. The issued stamps always show the same thing in the C grill, but less strongly. The rectangle of grill always shows above the surface at the back while the biscuit points always stop on the level of the face of the stamps. This can mean but one thing. The method of production of this first cylinder was exactly as described for the general case by Mr. Luff. It was produced by pressing pyramidal units into it, producing a female cylinder covered with pyramidal pit, not with pyramidal bosses. In the entire grill from this cylinder the paper was forced into these pits by the pressure of the beds, straining and bursting the paper into the biscuits. The actually embossed part from the cylinder itself was the set of crossed ridges which show on the other side of the stamps. The biscuits never could get greater elevation than was permitted by the depth of the pits and by the malleability of the bed.

has sold down to almost nothing. We have, perhaps, a couple of hundred left of the paper cover edition that usually sells for 75 cents. Some people have been kind enough to say they consider it an invaluable work, and as nearly three thousand copies have gone it certainly must be considered a success as far as publishing goes. H. F. COLMAN,

In the rectangular grills of the C family, produced by removing strips each way on this female cylinder to about the depth of the bottoms of the pits, the cylinder naturally showed a set of rectangular bosses the sizes of the grilling rectangles. These were impressed into the sheet and show the ridges on the backs as well as embossing the whole rectangle into the face side of the sheet. The biscuits still are unable to get above the level fixed by the depths of the pits and stop near the face level of the sheets. Where, as shown in the pair mentioned, the planing was not uniform in depth between rows of rectangles, remains of pits of slight depth were left and these make biscuits, imperfect and of slight relief, to be embossed above the face of the paper as shown.

No other solution can be given to all the facts now reported.

In the issued stamps, there was pressure following the embossing, whether applied intentionally or not as regards the grills, possibly only during printing and during straightening of the sheets for storage. It had no effect on the height of the biscuits. It did affect the height of the opposite embossing of the grid of crossed ridges showing on the backs.

This gives us other clues. Someone may now be able to pick out the experiments mentioned by Mr. Luff as coming from very early use of a bed of pasteboard instead of a malleable bed of lead or similar material. With such a non-malleable bed, the lines of the ridges facing the bed would be strongly pressed into the paper, so much so as almost to cut the paper along those lines. The biscuits could not thus be pressed up into the pits as well as with the softer bed and they must show rather smooth and flat tops, probably not up to the normal level of the paper. This latter difference in level would, naturally, not show in an entire grill but would show if later used for the partial rectangular grills. The difference in effect can hardly be looked for in the issued stamps but may possibly be found in samples or experiments or grill proofs.

It seems that light may also be thrown on such grill samples as are occasionally seen which show biscuits embossed way above the face of the stamp, and with no embossing of the ridges at the backs. It is physically impossible that these can come from this first Female cylinder. This applies especially to some imperforates seen, shown as Scott's No. 83a. They are not imperforates from this cylinder and probably not of this period, certainly not of any issued stamps so far seen.

Some time ago, I noted that I thought it probable that the B grill, catalogue size 18 x 15, with the longer dimension of the rectangle horizontal, came from the same cylinder as the following C grills showing also the same biscuit units. I am more than ever convinced that this is correct.

(Variations from this odd size have been seen in the issued stamps where there was a C rectangle of grill with additional biscuits of slighter embossing at one side extending the rectangle, exactly as shown in the pair mentioned.) I do not think this is where the B grills come from. I think they are identical in primary cause with the so called marginal grills. It is probable that the circumference of the cylinder did not divide evenly into an exact number of rectangles and intervals and that there was, after planing off the cylinder one way, a strip, of pits or of bosses, as the case may be, running the length of the cylinder, not around it. In the earlier cylinders, notably on the first female cylinder, this wider strip was cut through by the planing around the cylinder, leaving exactly the rectangles of the B grill in conjunction with the normal rows of the C grill rectangles of the size they wanted. Occasionally, through error, the sheets were started at a slightly wrong point in its revolution and the B grills fell on stamps. This is a much easier error to make than to start the sheet off to one side to take a marginal strip left running around the cylinder. In the marginal grills from strips of raised units, this strip was not cut through in planing around the cylinder but left as a strip, simply, as above, because the circumference of the cylinder did not divide evenly into an exact number of rectangles and this circumference was greater than that dimension of the sheets used. Planing this useless strip into rectangles was useless work and was not done. This fits in with every bit of previous evidence showing these strips, in every case, not as strips around the ends of the cylinders, but as strips lengthways the cylinder. Furthermore, covering a greater length of cylinder than was needed for the width of the sheets and leaving uncut strips at the ends in hardly an economical procedure and need not be expected from these companies. They were not in business for their healths, as is constantly shown by their work. Sure. There may have been cylinders showing just such end strips without divisions. There is no evidence so far shown to indicate it. Until we get at least a clue to some such end strip we can well forget it.

It may not be amiss to say that it would be much more easy to plane off those strips around the cylinder to an even depth than to get the even depth the other way with a curve at either side the tool.

No. There is absolutely no possibility that biscuit units of grill, whether male or female could by any possibility produce the small square impression that Mr. Luff tells us comes from use of the pasteboard bed. It can't be done.

In all the grill families, there are a sufficient number of clearly marked impressions to show exactly the shapes of the units producing them.

There is not one particle of evidence in the 1870 grills that several sheets were grilled at one time. It is a physical impossibility for any of the units there shown to have gone through a first sheet without leaving a hole (and no one has yet seen such holes) and make the impressions shown from any other units on a second sheet. In any case, the impression in such a second sheet (not to mention five sheets or more) could come only from the embossing on the previous sheets. Match up your 1870 grills and see if any of them can come from the embossed points on the backs of any other stamp. Sure. After having some evidence in the nature of a real clue, speculation is not necessarily idle. In the absence of evidence and especially in the presence of evidence to the contrary which cannot be successfully dodged, any speculation is more than idle. Theories are absolutely worthless which dodge any known fact that is pertinent.

The Z grill is now also beyond doubt placed in this period, where, we can not yet say for certain. Several of the proofs mentioned show my Z grill nicely,—same thing exactly except not in any way pressed out.

After considering the listing questions further and after some comment from others, I believe we had better list in the 1870 period only the two definite and fixed families, those from pointed-pyramidal units and those from the clearly flat-topped units. While the variations in these two families may mean trimming of their respective units by further cutting both ways on their cylinders, it is not necessarily so. It is quite possible that the variations in each family may come from the cylinder at one time on different parts of its surface. No. There is no cause to confuse these two families, however few points show on a stamp. The difference is as clear as the impressions in a piece of blotting paper from the two ends of your pencil, not as pronounced but as clear.

When the time comes for compiling, these things will all come in their proper order and place.

WHAT A SINGLE MAIL BROUGHT US.

We do not make it a practise to publish the many letters of commendation which the WEEKLY receives, but not a mail passes in which we fail to receive tangible evidence of the good-will that stamp collectors hold toward us. We are determined to pass the 8,000 subscription mark this spring and assistance of this kind is greatly appreciated. We quote from three letters received in our mail of Thursday, February 18:

"Enclosed herewith is my check of $1.50. Of this amount $1 is to renew my subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY for two years and 50c is for a new subscriber, Rev. —, Rock Island, Ill. I think my name has been on your list for twenty-two years."

GEO. H. SHELDON.

The second letter contained no fewer than three new annual subscriptions: "Enclosed is my check for $1.50 for which please send the WEEKLY to the following names." Then follow the names of three New Haven, Ct., subscribers. From

ZIEGLER SARGENT.

"I have no clippings, no contributions that I can offer, but I enclose $1 for two new subscriptions from boys I have interested in stamp collecting. I am always anxious to promote stamp collecting and I believe the WEEKLY is it."

R. H. PERRY.

We shall be very glad to show the original correspondence to anyone who may desire to see the same.

AN APPEAL FOR HELP.

The American nation has responded nobly to appeals from war ridden Europe to assist untold numbers of sufferers. The Red Cross Societies of the various nations received from us substantial support. The dire need of Belgium has appealed strongly to our fellow countrymen, and they have rendered substantial aid. In December a Bazaar held in this city forwarded about $400, the proceeds from postage stamps alone donated by collectors and dealers, to the widows and orphans of German, Austrian and Hungarian soldiers.

Comparatively scant information has appeared in our press concerning the terrible devastations, the wholesale destruction of homes and property, wrought in East Prussia, especially during the first six weeks of the war when the larger section of that agricultural district was invaded. The undersigned was recently appointed treasurer of an organization for raising funds to help these unfortunate people of whom hundreds of thousand are destitute and homeless.

The firm J. M. Bartels Co. will shortly hold an auction sale of stamps in which a section will be devoted to the relief of the war sufferers. The entire proceeds, without deducting any expenses, will be given to this noble purpose. Collectors are asked to forward as soon as possible a few good stamps which they will donate for this noble cause.

Should anyone desire to contribute to the Red Cross Society of any specified nation, saleable stamps will be accepted for auction sale on the same terms and full proceeds forwarded as directed.

J. M. BARTELS.

99 Nassau St., N. Y. City.

BELGIUM'S POST OFFICE IN FRANCE.

The little branch post office in the district of Ste. Adresse, Havre, is now the most historic in the world. It falls within the section of the city temporarily made over to Belgium as its capital, and as such is Belgium soil. A letter posted there, even if destined only for another part of Havre, must carry the full foreign postal rate of 25 centimes.

It is not due to the fact of a Belgian stamp being used, but to the postmark of Havre on the stamp that makes it interesting to philatelists.

During the office hours stamp collectors stand in line in Ste. Adresse. The greatest sale is of postcards with the embossed stamp of five centimes, and one of one, and two of 2 centimes. They buy the entire issue which they usually stick on an envelope addressed to themselves and have them canceled immediately at the window. But the most "valuable collection" is one placed on an official envelope, marked and signed by the mail censor. It is thus a triple souvenir. If it were not for the collectors, this Belgian office would do a small business, but in view of the stamps canceled for the sake of the postmark, it is probably the best paying office of its size in any part of the globe.—Stamp Collecting.

EDITORIAL.

War Card—We have received from Dr. C. F. Roh, a German postal card, five pfennig green, Germania type, bearing the inscription at top across the center: "Deutsche Kriegskarte 1914." In the upper left corner is the red cross surrounded by text which explains that the card has been issued by favor of the Emperor for the benefit of the red cross. On the reverse is a speaking likeness, we should say, of King William, with his sentiments in fac-simile hand-writing: "I know no more parties, know only Germans. Wilhelm, I. R., Coblenz, 26/VIII, 1914." (Translated.)

* * *

Censor Marks—We have been shown a variety of censored envelopes from New Zealand and the Australian states and also what is said to be one of Japan's marks of censorship—a rectangle enclosing Japanese characters impressed on the envelope. Suffice it to say that the collector who is interested in obtaining the censored envelopes in all their variations has a task before him, in which patience and opportunity enter in no inconsiderable degree.

Enough—Hold, good friends, we are wholly convinced that the two cent proprietary stamp has been issued and that it is entitled to a place on the list of the treasury department even if the ½, 1 and 3 cent values are not. Mr. Ora E. Stark of Omaha has sent us a copy of the two cent on double-lined U. S. I. R. paper and our own Bill Bloss has had the self same stamp for about two months. A reading of the revenue law inclines one to the belief that the ½, 1, 2 and 3 cent denominations are not indispensable.

Not O. K.—The question of the O. B. surcharges on Philippines is brought to the fore by a competent authority who submits particulars which we pass on to readers even though some collectors are acquainted with the details. Since the catalogue has been defining the status of the surcharges in an explanatory note, there are comparatively few demands from readers for information on the subject of the O. B. overprints. Our correspondent says: "The various colors, inverts and doubles can be made in so many ways that there hardly can be an end to them, as they are put on with rubber stamps, pen and ink and type-writer, except those for the Bureau of Printing which prints theirs in black ink only." Speaking of an American stamp man who had been in the islands some years and who returned to this country some time ago, he says that the enterprising gentleman in question had thousands of envelopes and stamps overprinted in two lots. "They were printed in various colored inks in pairs and blocks made up on paper size of a single sheet. None of them was in whole sheets as in the way the Bureau always handles the stamps, but were printed to show inverts, with upright ones in pairs, or blocks with bits of paper placed over one stamp to show one on the block normal, making a great many varieties. . . . These stamps are not sold at the post office with the letters, O. B. (Official Business), but they are put on the stamps in different ways by the Bureaus which use them as a precaution against their use for anything other than a legitimate purpose."

* * *

Rich Haul—One of our Chicago readers, Mr. E. R. Jacobs, recently made a trip east which proved to be pleasant and profitable as the recital of the following circumstances will prove. On his travels he uncovered an original envelope bearing one ninety cent, one thirty cent, one ten cent and two one cent of the 1857-60 issue United States, which had been sent from Boston to Cape Colony, Africa. It is needless to say that Mr. Jacobs was not backward in appropriating this envelope with its wealth of stamps. We do not remember ever having seen a combination of this kind on the cover, but if we are not mistaken, we saw, on rare occasions in the past, a cover with the ninety cent, 1857-60 (or was it the ninety cent 1861?) on a blue envelope bearing the printed address of a missionary station or headquarters in Africa. Perhaps, others will recall this envelope, of which a number may have been used, in view of the printed address.

On Covers—Speaking of covers, one hears not a few tales of the remarkable rarity of this or that stamp, easily obtainable off the envelope, when on the original cover. For instance, we have heard that there are collectors who would give a king's ransom for the ninety cent indubitably used on the envelope; and we have been told that Mr. John F. Seybold of Syracuse, New York, the pioneer collector of stamps on the original cover, whose collection, in great part, was disposed of by auction after his death some years ago, expressed the opinion that the seventeen cents New Brunswick undeniably used on the cover was worth one hundred dollars. Of course, exceptional pieces of the kind described are not on the market and in consequence there is no way in which to speak of values with finality. It is only the experienced cover collector who could appraise the stamp which is not particularly scarce used when said stamp happens to be on the cover.

A SECOND CANADA PROVISIONAL.

Following closely upon the heels of the "War Tax" stamps chronicled last week Mrs. E. W. Oughtred sends us a sample of a second printing in a different type. The two words, "War Tax," are supplemented by the words, "Inland Revenue," printed in the same diagonal fashion in two lines across the face of the stamp. Several values of the current set have received the first surcharge and at the present writing we do not know the denominations that have received the second. We are greatly obliged to Mrs. Oughtred for favoring us with this early information.

TURN ABOUT.

To the Editor:—
You have published from time to time editorials concerning the collector (?) who solicits approvals from a dealer and defrauds him by making no returns. I cannot remember where you have ever said a word in behalf of the plain old collector who is bitten by the dealer.

As a plain collector myself, who has no market and no duplicates worth marketing, I am at the plain end of the approval and want list string.

One of my want lists went to a very prominent New York firm, with whom I had long and satisfactory dealings. This list covered some of the rarer U. S. pieces that I had been chasing for several months. I did not receive same and naturally concluded this firm also was out of the items. In due time I got a bill and a curt note and my reply to same received another note which overlooked all my excuses.

I was up the tree. To pay was to acknowledge to the firm that I got the stamps. To refuse was to get in bad with the four societies to which I belong, and also my philatelic friends in New York, Washington and Philadelphia.

I paid. The truth of the matter is that I did not get the stamps—not a single one of these spaces are filled as yet. The local post office moved and arbitrarily changed my box number, the firm overlooked my change of box and sent to my former box number and the letter was lost, evidenced by fact that one of the duns came to correct box number, the second to former box number.

That was the end of approval and want list with me and several firms with whom I had most pleasant relations. I deal now only over the counter.

What would you do

DEALING IN PRECANCELS.

"If dealers should lawfully come into possession of used precancelled postage stamps the question of their disposing of them is one of their own determination, over which the Department has no control."

We have received a communication from W. J. Barrows, Acting Third Assistant Postmaster General, in regard to the selling of precancelled stamps which disposes effectively of the statement that stamp dealers are prohibited from buying and selling them. We are very glad to give publication to the following communication from Mr. Barrows:—

"Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the ninth instant, inquiring whether there are any restrictions on dealers in buying and selling precanceled postage stamps, and in reply I have to say that, as you were informed on the sixth instant, postmasters are prohibited from selling such stamps to any person not authorized by the Department to use them, while the persons so authorized are prohibited from selling the stamps either before or after they have been used. These restrictions against postmasters and persons authorized to use precanceled stamps necessarily operate as a prohibition against dealers buying them from such persons. Dealers cannot in any way lawfully obtain pre-canceled stamps which have not been used. If dealers should lawfully come into possession of used precanceled postage stamps, the question of their disposing of them is one for their own determination over which the Department has no control."

RHODE ISLAND CELEBRATES.

By ROY S. BARKER.

The thirtieth annual meeting of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society was held at the Hotel Narragansett, Providence, Feb. 16, and thirty of the members and guests present.

Frank L. Coes of Worcester gave a talk on the Russian locals and showed his fine collection of same, mounted in eight large albums, and also exhibited a nice lot of U. S. proofs and a few fine old covers of early U. S. A pair of the 5c Providence, on cover, was also shown, together with a used Mulready one penny black.

The election resulted as follows:—
president, Robt. F. Chambers; vice-pres., Edgar McCrillis; sec., A. R. Perry; treas., W. Irving Cox; auction committee, W. H. Congdon, Roy S. Barker and J. B. McIntyre and exchange manager, Jerome Fleischer.

Eight new applications for membership were received.

There were present: Frank L. Coes,
Roy S. Barker, B. C. Bussey, Robt. F.
Chambers, A. W. Chaffin, De Lancy
Cocroft, M. Freeman Cocroft, W. H.
Congdon, W. Irving Cox
(charter member), W. De Wolf,
Martin S. Fanning (charter member),
Jerome Fleischer, H. S. Gibbs, E. Tudor
Gross, A. H. Kiusalas, Walter Lasalle, tyre, Wyman Pendleton, A. R. Perry, C.

S. Reynolds, L. Earle Rowe, E. L. Watson, Gen. Howard W. Walker, Howard
L. Wheeler, B. A. Webber and W. C.
Winsor.

The following telegram was received from charter member, C. F. Rothfuchs, now an honorary member, living in Longbeach, Cal.:—

"No member of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society regrets his inability to be at its thirtieth annual banquet more than I do. Kindest regards to all members present and best wishes for the society's future prosperity from one who was present thirty years ago."

SONORA SURCHARGED "E. S."

This overprint has received considerable attention at the hands of stamp collectors and the philatelic press, but at this writing nothing definite is known as to how or where it originated. There is no question but that it is being freely used in the mails and the postmasters of certain Mexican towns are allowing it to pass through the mails.

We have covers addressed to us by stamp collecting friends showing that these stamps are being used in the international mails. W. J. Stanton sends us excerpts from correspondence to show the legality of the issue, but they only state that these overprints "are circulated in the state of Sonora" and from the American Consul at Nogales, Sonora is submitted the statement, "As regards the kind of stamps referred to, I can say that they were at one time in use here and so far as I know they are still good stamps."

We must submit to Mr. Stanton that the evidence laid before us is not at all authoritative as showing any real need of the stamp or the legality of its issue.
In fact, Mr. Stanton in his letter to the editor writes regarding this issue:—
"They are being used in Sonora but none are on sale at the postoffices." If they are not on sale at the postoffices of Sonora it is very evident that their standing as legitimate postal issues may well be questioned. No evidence has yet been sent in showing that they were ever on sale at any postoffice.

CANADA TAX FAR-REACHING.

Very few Canadians will escape some share of the war taxation that was outlined by Hon. W. T. White, Finance Minister, in the House of Commons, Ottawa, Feb. 11. The tariff changes and the special taxes reach almost everybody.

The tariff changes went into effect at the time of the announcement. The special tax on wine and champagne goes into effect at once. The other special taxes take effect at a date to be yet fixed.

The stamp tax on letters means that the old 3 cent postage rate is restored, and a city letter costs 2 cents.

There is to be no income tax.

The following are some of the items of taxation:—

One cent on telegraph and cable messages.

Ten cents for every five dollars on railroad and steamboat tickets.

Ten cents on sleeping car and five cents on parlor car tickets.

One to three dollars per passenger from steamboat companies carrying to ports other than in Canada, Newfoundland, the United States of America and British West Indies.

Two cents on all bank cheques, receipts, and bills of exchange, express and post office orders.

One cent on postal notes.

One cent (war stamp) on each letter and postcard.

Two cents on bills of lading.

Five cents per pint on non-sparkling wines sold in Canada, and twenty-five cents per pint on champagne and sparkling wines. One cent on each ten cents cost of proprietary medicines.

SEEN AND HEARD.

Bright & Son advise us that they have seen a Togo 1/2d on 3pf Anglo-French occupation, with the error "Tog."

English papers state that unused Belgium stamps, parcel post type, are being sold by German dealers at a small fraction of face value. Stamp Collecting reprints the advertisement of a Biebrich dealer who advertises the entire set of seven values, 1fr to 10fr, for $1.08. It is claimed that these stamps were obtained when the Belgian government was compelled to make a hurried evacuation of Antwerp for Havre.

W. F. Gregory submits a cover for our inspection which bears a pair of the German 10pf carmine with a fine Antwerp cancellation.

The 1915 issue of Ohlman's Philatelic Advertiser has been sent us for editorial review. It is a large list, its twenty pages being full of bargains. If you want a copy, write for it.

The Year Book of the United States Revenue Society for 1914 is the eighth annual publication and reflects credit upon the Society and secretary, Otto F. Moses, who prepared it. It is well printed by the Stowell Printing Co. and in addition to the journal of the session there is found a digest of the Massachusetts Stock Transfer Act with check list, also a check list of the stamps issued under the new Federal Stamp Act.

We have a couple of Jimmy O' stories by Edwin B. Hill that will be published in early numbers of the WEEKLY. We have every reason to believe that these stories have proven very interesting.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Paul Polm, Frank L. Applegate and others have called our attention to omissions in the list of the new proprietaries recently printed; several correspondents have seen the 2c on jars of chewing gum.—There must also be listed other values. Apparently the only value missing for which dies were prepared is the 1/2c. The corrected list to date is:

Proprietary—1/8c, 1/4c, 3/8c, 5/8c, 1c, 1 1/4c, 1 1/2c, 1 3/4c, 2, 2 1/2c, 3c, 3 1/2c, 4c, 4 1/2c, 5c, 6c, 8c, 10c and 20c.

DENMARK.—Arthur Russell reports having received a letter from Copenhagen, with two 10 ore Danish stamps, but cancelled—"N. Y. P. O. Hud: Term: Sta.—Feb. 9, 1915—Paquebot." in a wavy lined oval. This was evidently a ship letter. The combination of English and French on a Danish letter is unusual.

EPHROS.—Whitfield King & Co. has this to say regarding the stamp illustrated last week:

"We are including in our February new issue distribution, the stamps of 'Autonomous Ephros,' of oblong design, showing an eagle on a blue flag with white cross. Some journals have described this issue as bogus, which is entirely wrong. Our supplies were received from the Postmaster General of Greece, who informs us that they have been withdrawn from circulation, and the stock returned to Athens, and that they have been replaced by Macedonian (not Greek) stamps overprinted 'Northern Ephros' (in Greek); we are expecting daily a supply of these surcharged stamps, also those of Chimara, if they arrive in time they will be included in our February distribution. The 'eagle and flag' stamps referred to above have been printed and engraved by Messrs. Aspiotis Freres of Corfu, the printers of the Greek stamps, and are with the same zigzag rouletting."

HAYTI.—A. W. Dunning reports having seen Scott's Nos. 26, 38, 53, 57, 64, 65, 66, 109, 137, 140, 145, 147, and 149, with overprint like Scott's type I. Whitfield King & Co. have shown us Scott's No. 160 and 161 with the same overprint. The list as given in No. 1256 must be supplemented as follows:—

Stamps for Foreign Use.

Type I.
1c purple; Scott's No. 26.
1c light blue; No. 38.
2c orange; No. 53.
7c gray; No. 57.
1c yellow green; No. 64.
2c carmine lake; No. 65.
5c pale blue; No. 66.
2c on 50c claret; No. 109.
2c on 10c orange brown; No. 145.
1c on 5c dark blue; No. 147.
2c on 20c orange; No. 149.

Stamps for Interior Use.

Type I.
1c blue; No. 157.
7c green; No. 140.
2c lemon; No. 160.
1c carmine lake; No. 161.

HUNGARY.—C. G. Dietrich informs us that the Hungarian postal authorities are using the ordinary postage stamps for overprinting for Red Cross purposes. The 6f, Scott's No. 88, has been seen with the same overprint as the Flood stamps, previously noted. The overprint on the coupons of the Flood stamps is now printed on the stamp itself beginning at the left, reading up, across the top, and down on the right. The additional charge is 2 fillers, as in the case of the overprinted Flood stamps.

MALTA.—Hugo Griegert & Co. have shown us the 2d King George stamp for Malta.

Adhesive.

2d gray.

ROUMANIA.—C. G. Dietrich reports a series of Red Cross stamps from Roumania, Scott's Nos. 219, 220, and 214 having been overprinted "Timbre—Deajutor" in two lines.

SAMOA.—Hugo Griegert & Co. have shown us the 1/2d, 1d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 6d and 1sh New Zealand stamps, overprinted "Samoa," as noted in No. 1252.

SWITZERLAND.—February 6 we made reference to the fact that a Paris paper had printed an illustration of a Swiss stamp overprinted "Schweiz." A correspondent, K. Baumann, feels that the insertion of this item is poor news and we take the liberty of quoting the following from Mr. Baumann's letter:—

"The two stamps will be exceedingly rare. In fact they will be the only ones in existence. According to authentic German reports they were manufactured by that unscrupulous Paris newspaper to make the Swiss and other nations believe that Germany is ready to occupy Switzerland. What reasons you had to take notice of this fake news I do not understand."

In justice to ourselves we must say that our only concern is to publish stamp news and we have no desire to print other than what is perfectly reliable.

Whitfield King & Co. have also shown us the new provisionals listed last week. Champion's Bulletin also adds another provisional to the list.

We illustrate herewith the Swiss provisional that we chronicled last week.

ZANZIBAR.—Hugo Griegert & Co. have shown us the 1c, 3c and 6c values on multiple CA paper, as announced in No. 1245.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 7.30 P.M.

BOSTON, Feb. 16, 1915.

In observance of the "Annual Jollification" of the Society, 30 members and friends sat down together at an informal dinner in the new home of the Boston City Club this evening. They then adjourned to the Society's room in the Tremont Bldg., where the 330th (regular) meeting was called to order with the President, Mr. E. M. Carpenter, presiding. The attendance of the meeting had increased to forty-five members and friends. The annual reports of the officers for the year 1914 were read and the following candidates were admitted to membership: Mr. Clark W. Tuttle, No. 601 and Dr. Richard F. O'Neil, No. 602. Five new applications were read and posted. Mr. M. H. Lombard, one of the early presidents of the Society, spoke briefly in regard to the Society, past and present. The meeting having been given over to the Entertainment Committee, the members had the pleasure of seeing a fine collection of U. S. stamps exhibited by Mr. Ralph N. Hall, of a splendid lot of St. Vincent and Cape of Good Hope stamps shown by Mr. A. C. Needham and also of listening to a short talk upon, and examining a wonderful "plated" collection of "Penny Blacks," Great Britain, which Mr. Edward H. Williams brought to the meeting.

The Society was very fortunate in having such a wealth of material to feast themselves with and a rising vote of thanks in response to a call for such from the President was heartily given. The regular meeting adjourned at 10 P. M. with a large number of those attending still examining the exhibitions.

OUR EDITORIAL POLICY.

We are engaged in building a great philatelic newspaper and feel quite sure that we are succeeding. At the same time, we are making distinct additions to philatelic literature as witness Goodwin's "United States," Poole's "German States," Dalwigk's "Gambia," Poole's "Stamp Collector's Guide," etc. Some of our contemporaries are a bit slow in recognizing our efforts along the literary line and though we sent out review copies of Poole's "German States," we have seen only one mention of the book. The following is taken from Stamp Collecting:

This is No. 6 of the excellent handbooks published by the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Co. of Boston. The volume under notice is deserving of all praise, and it is unfortunate that so good a work should appear just at the present time—a time when the sales in this country will undoubtedly be restricted.

Mr. Poole has produced an admirable work, which contains everything one wants to know without becoming too dry or specialist.

The thorough manner in which the work has been done can be best illustrated by stating that the work runs to 106 pages, two columns to the page.

Referring to the rare 3pf Saxony, the author tells us that "Mr. Castle secured, for a sum of about $1500.00 an unsevered and unused sheet of 20 Saxony 3pf red. This is believed to be the only sheet known, and is the one formerly in the Friedl Museum of Vienna. Mr. Friedl got it from a castle in Saxony, where it was found pasted on a fire-screen and vanished over!"

All collectors interested in the stamps of the German States cannot afford to be without this valuable work.

We shall not trouble to send any further publications to those stamp papers that could not find time and space to review such an excellent book as the one under consideration.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

NOTICE.

Owing to poor health, I shall be obliged to delay replying to my correspondence from time to time, and while all matters will receive attention as soon as possible, I must ask the readers to be patient in case I fail to reply for a possible week or ten days. I am ordered by my physician to spend every available moment in the open air, and therefore, am liable to be a little slow in attending to some of the details connected with your various inquiries. However, I shall be glad to answer your questions to the best of my ability, and will be as prompt as I can.

BILL BLOSS.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

C. P.—The fact that the center of your 2c Internal Revenue is imperfectly "registered" does not affect its value, nor is this variety uncommon. In bi-colored stamps of this nature it is very hard to get each impression exact, and when it is considered that these stamps are printed very speedily, it is quite wonderful that errors are found as seldom as they are. It is only the inverted centers that command a premium. I believe the Treasury notice that appeared a week or two ago will correct your point about the new revenues. I have seen the values you mention, so know they have been issued. In fact, I have had a copy of the 2c proprietary for at least six weeks.

J. McK.—The 2c 1890 with cap on right two sells from $1.50 to $5.00 generally at auction. $2.50 is a fair price. No, I don't know of any way to clean off a cancellation, and besides, if you cleaned a stamp, the government might ask you some embarrassing questions. You know, cancellations aren't put on to bother stamp collectors, but to prevent the re-use of the stamp. I am afraid your cancellation is on to stay. However, the cap on right two is a very scarce stamp, and the cap on both twos is worth a nickel and runs about one in every two hundred, so you can see that your stamp is probably a cap on both twos. Also, while the cap on left and cap on both twos are quite distinct and appear to be as square blocks added to the top of the numeral, all the right caps I have ever seen are merely little chips, and are not as large as the caps on the other varieties.

DYSART AND TRAER, IOWA, READERS ATTENTION!

Mr. A. J. Seebach, of Dysart, Iowa, is desirous of becoming acquainted with collectors at these points, with a view of increasing philatelic activity thereabouts. Collectors may find it to their advantage to communicate with Mr. Seebach.

OUR "HANDSOME MAN" CONTEST.

The Hon. Editor has expressed his approval of this contest, and in fact, has agreed to donate a prize or two, for the lucky ones. For the benefit of those who think such a contest a "walk-over," let me state that, to the present time, our Hon. Editor, Mr. Severn, has never been honored by having his portrait appear on a stamp, either. Therefore, do not spend much time hunting for it. Of course, such a stamp would easily win first honors in the contest.

Anyway, we want to receive your ideas on the stamp bearing the handsomest man's portrait. Limit your composition to one hundred and fifty words, and keep as much below that limit as possible. Be explicit in your descriptions, but use Scott's 1915 catalogue number if you want to. Don't merely state that you think King Edward the handsomest man. Tell us on what stamp you think he appears best, and why you think so.

For prizes, we offer the following:

First.—$5.00 catalogue in desirable stamps.

Second.—$2.50 catalogue in desirable stamps.

Third.—$1.50 catalogue in desirable stamps.

All entries must be received before Tuesday evening, March 16th, and should be addressed to Bill Bloss, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill., with the word "Contest" in the lower left corner of the envelope.

Please write on one side only of the paper, and use ink. We have not the powers of the Delphic oracle, so if you don't write legibly, don't expect us to read your words.

Results will be published in the WEEKLY for March 27th, and we reserve the right to publish any entries received. This contest is open to everybody, young or old, man, woman or child, subscriber or not, and I wish I'd hear from so many of you that I'd have to hire a secretary to help me out.

Any stamp listed in the Scott catalogue may be used, whether pictured therein or not, and may be postage, due, official, revenue, special delivery, or any class whatever.

Now then, get busy, all you amateur writers and see which of you can give the best reasons for your choice.

Speaking of contests, reminds me of some of the various contests held at the meetings of the local societies here in Chicago. This form of amusement has proven very popular and quite instructive, and often there is keen rivalry. Other societies, especially those of the younger collectors, would do well to consider holding contests at intervals, to further the interest in the hobby, as well as to instruct the members.

How many of you know which was the first European stamp to be issued? The first watermarked stamp? What American country issued the first stamp bearing a picture of an animal? Or who is pictured on the official stamps of Brazil—without referring to your catalogues? Many of you don't even know what country issued the first adhesive stamp.

For the benefit of the readers who would care for a little contest, I offer the following ten questions. No prizes will be given, nor is it necessary to send me your answers. The correct solution will appear next week. Don't answer these by looking them up in the catalogue. Write your answers on a slip of paper, then keep it until next week and see if you are correct. Here they are:

1. What South American country issued a stamp bearing a portrait of Washington, and when was it issued?
2. What country uses a watermark of turtles on its stamps?
3. What is the first stamp picturing a bear?
4. What stamp pictures the battle of Shipka Pass?
5. What set of stamps is watermarked Pineapple?
6. What series of stamps bears a Latin prayer on the reverse?
7. What stamp pictures a winged horse?
8. What year was the first U. S. 1c stamp with picture of Washington issued?
9. What series of stamps bears the inscription "Avisporto"?
10. What country was the first to issue Special Delivery stamps? The above refer to postage, official, revenue, or any class of stamp listed in the Scott catalogue. All are listed. Answers will be published next week, so make a guess and see if you know your stamps.

Readers having questions suitable for contests of this nature are invited to submit them, and all considered suitable will be published.

Unless You Want To Sell Stamps To Boys and Girls.

A subscriber to the St. Nicholas Magazine writes:

I have bought all my stamps by mail. I have made several purchases from dealers who advertise in St. Nicholas. I enjoy collecting stamps very much and have interested many of my friends in it. I derive great pleasure from these stamps, and I am still working over them. I think it a delightful pastime.

This youngster is not "1 in a 1000" subscribers, but 1 in 75,000, because the St. Nicholas goes into 75,000 well-to-do homes every month.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Speculators are asking whether the Anglo-French Togo set is to be a profitable one to buy. The financial editor of Stamp Collecting expresses the belief that the prices at which these stamps are now being quoted represent low-water mark.

—A very handsome price list has just been issued by "Aldrich," St. Joseph, Mo. It is very comprehensive, covering a very fine stock of stamps, the book running to no fewer than sixty pages. The firm is to be congratulated upon this bit of advertising.

—Frank L. Applegate, a specialist in state revenues and United States revenues, informs us that he has never seen the $10 consular fee stamp. Has any subscriber a copy and what is the market value of this stamp?

—According to a Swiss paper, the new overprints for that country have been issued in the millions. Of the 1 on 2c, two and a half millions were overprinted and of the 13 on 12c there were issued 1,300,000.

—C. V. Webb, Perry, Ohio, states that the S. P. A., counting applications pending, has nine hundred members in good standing and that one thousand is in sight for the climax to the convention to be held in Reading, Pa., in August. Already many have promised to attend this convention and it is an assured success. A fine new Year Book, good Sales and Exchange Departments and a live set of officers make the S. P. A. an attractive society for membership.

—I am a "small" dealer, and I find that advertising in "Adlets" just hits the spot. To me advertising in any other paper but MEKEEL'S is charity advertising. If results continue to be as good as they have been, I will stay with you. —HERBERT KLEIN.

—"The Galveston Philatelic Society had their monthly meeting at a popular resort outside of City limits last night with a good attendance of members joined for the circumstance by several ladies only indirectly interested to the hobby. Our little local Society, first started as a branch of one of the National Societies, has become a Society by itself, and from a modest beginning with half a dozen members has grown to a membership of over twenty, we have regular meetings each month where we discuss philatelic matters and, of course, trade some stamps between members, examine collections and circuits and generally have a good time."—G. C. CUENOD.

—M. R. Houdlette, Melrose Highlands, Mass., would like the address of George A. Tyler, formerly of Hartford, Conn.

CONSTITUTIONALIST STAMPS OF MEXICO.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

By S. B. HOPKINS.

There have been two regular issues of revenue stamps and two of postage stamps by the Constitutionalist Government of Mexico, in addition to the provisional issues made by surcharging the old Federal stamps.

The first issue of revenue stamps was the "Ejercito" set, so called from the inscription "Ejercito Constitucionalista," which means "Constitutionalist Army." The second issue of revenue stamps is the current set, resembling the current "Denver" postage stamps, except that it has the word "Mexico" at top instead of "Correos," the latter meaning "postage."

Both issues of revenue stamps were manufactured with "talon," or separable coupon, at the bottom, and when used for fiscal purposes, were always overprinted with the name of the fiscal district; but the lower values of both sets have been used provisionally as postage stamps, being sold for this purpose without the district overprint and usually without the talon.

The first or "Ejercito" set was used for postage before the first postage stamps made their appearance, the denominations so used being 1, 2, 5, 10 and 20 centavos. They were sold at the postoffices and used for postage in all the territory controlled at that time by the Constitutionalist forces, including the state of Tamaulipas in the east and the state of Sonora in the west.

Then came the first regular issue of postage stamps, known as the "Transitorio" set from the use of that word in the inscription on the stamps. The use of the word "transitorio" would indicate that this was not intended as a permanent issue, but even so, there would probably have been additional printings made, as the Constitutionalist rapidly extended their territory, had it not been for the appearance of the perforated 5c in a similar design, which the authorities regarded as a counterfeit.

Thus it came about that the supply of "Transitorio" stamps began to run short, and none were available for the newly acquired territory in the state of Coahuila and elsewhere, before the new issue was ready. The second issue revenues had been distributed, however, and were made use of as postage stamps in this new territory, just as the "Ejer-cito" stamps had been before in the other states.

Just the extent of the territory in which these second issue revenues were thus sold as postage stamps, we do not know, but we have covers with them on that were mailed from various parts of Coahuila, and the postmaster at Saltillo (Coahuila) told us that he had them on sale at his office during May, June and part of July, 1914, in all denominations from 1 to 50 centavos. They still come through the mails occasionally and are generally recognized as available for postage.

Their sale was terminated in July by the appearance of the second or so-called "Denver" issue of postage stamps, which since that time has been in general use throughout Constitutionalist Mexico, now comprising the whole republic.

The regular Federal (1910) issue, found in the captured post offices, was made use of by the Constitutionalist, principally for foreign correspondence, both surcharged and unsurcharged. The Constitutionalist stamps were not recognized by the Universal Postal Union until November, 1914, so prior to that time it was practically necessary to use the Federal stamps on foreign mail and the postal rates were fixed accordingly, the regular rate being charged in Constitutionalist stamps and an additional franking of the same amount in Federal stamps to satisfy the Postal Union. For example, the rate to the U. S. was 5 centavos, but this was raised by the Constitutionalist to 10 centavos, half of which could be paid in Constitutionalist stamps, but half must be paid in Federal stamps (after they began to surcharge the Federal stamps, the entire 10 centavos could be paid in the surcharged stamps if preferred).

There were two excellent reasons, one sentimental and the other financial, why they did not like to use the old Federal stamps unsurcharged. In the first place, there is nothing so bitter as the feeling between factions in a civil war and there was a marked dislike for using the same stamps as the hated Huertistas were using in other parts of Mexico. To such an extent did this feeling move them, that in Matamoros has sold down to almost nothing. We have, perhaps, a couple of hundred left of the paper cover edition that usually sells for 75 cents. Some people have been kind enough to say they consider it an invaluable work, and as nearly three thousand copies have gone it certainly must be considered a success as far as publishing goes. We want particularly to get this book into the hands of collectors so as long as these 200 copies last they can go for or one-third the usual price. Please do not delay sending along for this if you want it. One hundred and eighteen pages for a quarter!! The few cloth bound copies still left must remain @ $1.00, the publisher's price.

H. F. COLMAN,

(Tamaulipas), a town on the U. S. border, they bought 2-cent U. S. stamps and sold these in the Matamoros post office for the U. P. U. portion of the postage, although they had on hand at the time a plentiful supply of the 1910 stamps; and this was kept up until the appearance of the surcharged stamps.

Another reason was that there were supposed to have been some of these stamps carried to the U. S. by fleeing Federal postmasters and the introduction of these, or stamps from Federal territory, into the Constitutionalist mails would result in financial loss to the Constitutionalist.

Hence the surcharges. At first these were made by the officials of the different districts, and consequently there were several different kinds. The best known is the "GCM" (monogram) surcharge, issued in Sonora, the letters standing for "Gobierno Constitucionalista—Mexico" or Constitutionalist Government of Mexico. This appeared in April, 1914, and included the values of the 1910 issue from 1 centavo to 1 peso, also the 5c stamped envelope.

In May, 1914, after the taking of Monterey by the Constitutionalist and the reorganization of the Monterey postal district, the Monterey district officials put in use the surcharge "Gobierno Constitucionalista" in two lines of small capitals, and this was distributed and sold in most of the offices in the states of Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas. The 1 peso of the 1899 issue and all values of the 1910 issue, from 1 centavo to 5 pesos, were so surcharged, as well as the stamped envelopes, postcards, letter cards and wrappers.

The 1908 "postage due" stamps were also overprinted and used as postage stamps, none of the officials apparently having any knowledge of their use in any other manner.

At the same time, the few remaining "Transitorio" stamps were surcharged with this same overprint, apparently as a protection against "irregularities" (this is the word used in the official order), although as nearly as we can determine, the only "irregularity" known by the officials in connection with this issue is the perforated 5c.

There were two different stamps used for this surcharge. In one of them the first "T" in "Constitucionalista" was omitted, the other was spelled correctly. They seem to be both of the same style and size of letters. In specimens where the surcharge is indistinct, they can be distinguished by the position of the second "T," which is under the "B" of "Gobierno" in the correct spelling and under the "O" of "Gobierno" in the error.

As the stamps were not all surcharged at one time, the color of the surcharge varies considerably, through the different shades of purple rubber stamp ink, ranging from some that is almost blue to a magenta that is almost red. Sometimes it would seem as if black canceling ink were put on the pads, making the overprint blue-black or a dirty black.

It is to be sincerely hoped that in this and all other similar surcharges, the cataloguers will ignore all color varieties, also inverted surcharges and other varieties of position, double surcharges, etc., as the very nature of the work makes such a vast number of varieties possible that the consideration of them all may easily become not only tiresome but ridiculous.

The stock of this "Monterrey" surcharge was small, the only stamps available being those left behind by the fleeing Federals, so that by September, 1914, there were very few to be found in any of the offices and by October they were being replaced by the "printed surcharges" from Mexico City.

After the Constitutionalist entered Mexico City, thus assuming the government of the entire Republic, they surcharged the Federal stamps thereby made available, by printing the words "Gobierno Constitucionalista" in two vertical lines with a dollar sign ($) between them, all in black.

The 5c of this set was first received and placed on sale in Monterey about the first of October. As the need for these stamps was for foreign mail, and that is nearly all letters, there was little use for anything but the 5c, and they seem to have been issued accordingly; for, while there was a good stock of the 5c, there were much fewer of the 1c and very few indeed of the other values.

There were at least two settings of this surcharge; in one, the word "Constitucionalista" begins with a "G" on stamps 32, 50, 82 and 100 in the sheet, and in the other, the same error occurs on every stamp in the right hand vertical row (stamps 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90 and 100).

The surcharge on the envelopes and postcards was not placed on the stamp, but off to the left, consisting of the words "Gobierno Constitucionalista" in one line nearly 3 inches long, printed in red, with an italic figure 8 (recumbent) between the words.

The order of the U. P. U. of Nov. 7, 1914 (on file with all U. S. postmasters), recognizing all stamps bearing the words "Gobierno Constitucionalista," terminated the need for the use of the old Federal stamps, but it is probable that all stocks on hand (now consisting principally of "printed surcharges") will be used up.

On October 7, 1914, the Constitutionalist post office department in Mexico City issued an order to all post offices

WHO SAID SO?

Some people think it is impossible to sell good stamps at 60% discount. This new customer of mine has been convinced to the contrary: "I am returning the approvals sent me. They are the best I ever saw at the prices you ask. How can you sell at such a great discount, stamps in fine condition as these are?" The Reason? Because I buy only such stamps as I can sell quickly, rather than carry a large stock to pay interest on, and because I only expect to make a reasonable profit. I also offer an additional 10% discount for promptness. It pays me to have the stamps returned within ten days, and it pays you 10%. "We both gain." Why not do it now? A good reference please. [tf]

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

Percival Parrish, President. P. M. Wolsieffer, Gen'l Manager.
1204 CHESTNUT STREET. PHILADELPHIA, PA.

in the Republic, to send in to the general headquarters any Federal stamps that might remain on hand, as they wanted to overprint them with the new printed surcharge; at the same time providing that after November 15th, no stamps would be good for postage in Mexico that did not bear the words "Gobierno Constitucionalista," either as a part of the design (like the second issue revenues and the "Denver" postage stamps) or overprinted (like the "Monterrey" issue and the new printed surcharges). This order not only made impossible any new district surcharges on the Federal stamps, but also any further "printings" of the surcharges already issued.

These notes are intended to cover but a small part of recent Mexican stamp history, that with which we are particularly familiar. There are many items of interest that are necessarily left to the future and many things that are of interest only to the specialist.

One thing that should be borne in mind in connection with the issues referred to in these notes, is that, while some of them were prepared by district officials and sold only in the post offices attached to those districts, all were good for postage in all territory controlled by the Constitutional Government and hence are legitimately referred to as issues of that government. Moreover, any of the stamps referred to in these notes, with the exception of the "Ejército" revenues and the unsurcharged "Transitorio" issue, will now pay postage to any country in the Universal Postal Union.

CANADA WAR TAX STAMPS.

G. Hemond in renewing his subscription for the coming year gives us the following particulars in regard to the war tax stamps. These varieties have been issued:

"War Tax" type,—5c blue and 20c olive surcharged in black and 50c brown in red.

"Inland Revenue War Tax" type,—5c blue surcharged in black and 50c brown in red.

There is no doubt but that the 20c will also be found in the second type.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Egypt.—By Fred J. Melville, published by Stanley Gibbons, London, England. Price 12c. The closing paragraph in the description of Egypt's adhesive stamps strengthens the interest that has been taken in the stamps of this country. It states the fact that Dec. 17, 1914, Egypt was "proclaimed a British Protectorate." The then Khedive was deposed when Egypt formed an alliance with Turkey and Hussein I was made England's representative in the government of Egypt. Mr. Melville suggests that while there may be no change in the stamp designs, there may be a modification of the watermark. The book is a very timely one and is uniform with the rest of the series.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The P. O. Department has decided to again imprint on money order forms the familiar shield design which appeared on all forms furnished prior to July, 1914. Postmasters are advised that the design while capable of being readily distinguished will be faint enough not to interfere in any way with the legibility of their signatures.

—The Boston Philatelic Society has some very pleasant evenings in prospect. At the next meeting held at their rooms (322 Tremont Building), Tuesday evening, March 16, A. E. Owen, vice president of the recent International Exhibition, will exhibit his superb collection of United States plate numbers and will give a short talk on this subject.

Philip Talbott, a specialist in United States and precancellations, died suddenly last week at his home in Oklahoma City. He leaves a wife and one child.

—F. J. Rider submits a specimen of the 2c proprietary for "anyone who doubts its being issued." As several score of subscribers may send for this stamp we suggest that each request be accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope.

—A 2c postal rate has been established between the United States and British Honduras.

—The postmaster at Guam receives $125 per year for his services. E. P. Smith has just left Washington on a 25,000 mile journey to this faraway possession to comply with the requirements of the P. O. Dept.

—S. E. Colman sends us a strong testimonial as to the good qualities of the WEEKLY from an advertising standpoint. He has been using six lines weekly for the past six months and feels well pleased with the business he has developed.

—Paul W. Riedell would like to know the address of George A. Tyler, formerly of 33 Ward St., Hartford, Conn.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. M. Breder, Hugo Kuenstler (7), Henry B. Phillips, I. B. Robinson.

—To accommodate auction buyers who could not get word to England in time we shall mail upon post card request a Harmer-Rooke, March 26, catalog as per advertisement elsewhere in this issue. Ordinarily we could not attempt to do this for if we do it for one dealer we should be expected to do it for others.

—A. O. Durland, who has taken occasional space in the WEEKLY and has an advertisement this week, writes us that he has been an invalid for twelve years as the result of an injury. We bespeak for Mr. Durland a full measure of our subscribers' patronage.

—There was an obvious error in the advt. of H. F. Colman last week and the week before. The heading "Panama-Pacific" should have read "Pan-American", and we now make the correction.

OUR MARCH SPECIAL.

Our plan is to issue a number of the WEEKLY on March 27, that will prove of special value. We already have 1700 names of active collectors to which this issue will be sent and we expect to increase this number. It is an easy thing for a stamp paper to talk big circulation, but an entirely different thing to deliver the goods. We think we have solved the problem and we ask you to test our plan with an advertisement of goodly proportions March 27. A quarter page for only $15.00.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Rate Reduction—A reduction of the rate of letter postage between the United States and British Honduras, and reciprocally, has been announced by the second assistant postmaster general, effective March 1st, 1915. British Honduras now takes its stand with the Bahamas and Newfoundland, as enjoying the boon, as we shall, of our domestic rate for letters, interchangeably. Practical progress of this kind not alone is a present benefit but is significant of future possibilities of rate reductions mutually between the United States and other British colonies.

Censors' Marks—Censored letters are being shown us by readers and as we have said before, there is a great variety of impressions of the kind. In answer to a number of inquiries for an opinion as to the value of these markings, present and future, we can do no more than to refer those who are interested to the statement editorially on the subject in the issue of February 13th. We notice that Vienna is using the inscription: "Ueberprueft (Examined), Wien 1," with design of imperial eagle, all enclosed in a rectangle.

press of the country, No. 29, is given the sub-head: "May 6, 1840; Postage Stamps First Used." The article starts out very breezily: "All England on May 6, 1840, set to work writing letters." There are the expected references to Rowland Hill's "new-fangled notion of pasting stamped labels on letters" but no mention is made of the appearance of the Mulready envelopes and covers on the same date as the penny black, May 6th, 1840. A factor of importance in the issue of the Mulready "form envelopes" is that the envelope practically was "invented" with the Mulready, as the envelopes, one and two pence, were to be obtained from licensed stamp vendors, cut and folded at a small advance over cost.

At Sea—In one particular, the writer of the article discussed in the preceding paragraph shows a bit of acumen that we commend; it is that postage stamps seem to have been in use for one or more centuries in the minds of the layman. We can attest to the truth of this observation and we know that others who have had stamps continuously in mind for years can tell of experiences to illustrate the ignorance of the public on the date of the origination of postage stamps. At a dinner given by a club of Chicago business men, an eloquent speaker graphically portrayed the merchant of one hundred years ago, as one who was "not above sticking the stamps on his letters." Of course, the sole philatelist who was present should have arisen in his majesty and interrupted the speaker at this point with: "Hold, in the name of philately. Stamps first came into use," etc.—but he did not. In a colonial story of ante-revolutionary period, the observation was made to the effect that postage stamps were not so easily available then. Certainly, an ultra-conservative statement.

* * *

Societies—We understand that preparations are being made to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland in a fitting way. The meeting that commemorated the twentieth anniversary of the Garfield-Perry Club is remembered as one of the greatest philatelic festivals on the calendar of the past. Speaking of societies, we notice that the program of the recently organized Los Angeles and Southern California Branch, No. 35, American Philatelic Society, is very attractive in its features and elsewhere, we publish it as a model working plan for progressive philatelic societies.

Perf. 10—A contemporary reports the issue of the one dollar current type, perforated 10, on single line water-marked paper; and we have seen a block of four of the dollar stamp, perforated 10 on the old double line paper. A number of inquiries have come from readers asking for confirmation of the appearance of the ten cent Pacific-Panama, perf. 10, a stamp that we listed tentatively, on the statement of a collector that he had all the values of the set with the large perforation. We have not seen the stamp in question and have been informed from Washington that it has not been distributed.

Canada's Stamp Taxes—We have been in receipt of clippings telling of the revenue stamp issues of our northern neighbor; and we should not be surprised if the latest stamps were to attract attention to the fine old revenue issues of Canada with the result that a decided momentum would be given to fiscal stamp collecting in the confines of our next door nation.

* * *

In the Movies—In "Uncle Sam at Work," Henry W. Savage's cinematograph of nine reels, the functions of the government are shown so that the people may actually see how the vast business of each day is transacted. The pictures are based on Frederic J. Haskin's book, "America's Government," describing the operation of the manifold bureaus and branches that represent the essential machinery of government; and in the course of the unfolding of the reels, the process of stamp making is shown in an interesting way.

* * *

Casting Pearls—In his column in the Chicago Tribune, B. L. T. said recently: "Our contributors are careless of postage expense. Four-cent stamps are common when a two would carry the letter, and one light wheeze that arrived yesterday bore a 7-cent stamp." How unresponsive some folks are. In such thankless words are the good intentions dismissed of some good soul who thought to favor B. L. T. as a possible stamp collector. Too, we wager that the seven was well-centered.

Mutual Favor—The advocacy of the use of unusual values in the correspondence between collectors by Mr. A. W. Dunning in a recent issue has evoked commendatory comment by readers. Of course, the idea is not a new one and no merit of originality is claimed for it as it suggested itself many years ago to collectors who have assiduously followed it. One of the first collectors to vary the usual order of stamp arrangement in his letters to brother collectors was Mr. J. N. T. Levick who died some years ago in New York City; and he began to favor his friends in the late '60's. With imperforates, commemoratives and odd denominations, the collector who wishes to please the philatelic recipient has a somewhat easy task. It must be admitted that one cannot always find it convenient to help a correspondent with stamps worth having but taking another view, the pleasure that a "philatelic" cover does give is in much greater ratio than its actual value and it is in itself a reward for taking some pains to make the collector who receives your letter glad. Mr. Wm. F. Mayer, Newark, New Jersey, berates many collectors here as too indifferent to promote the pleasure of a fellow collector while, he says, foreign members practice "mutual interest" to perfection.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

THE BELGIAN P. O. AT NICE-HAVRAIS.

The most important post office in the world in the eyes of stamp collectors is the one described in this article. It is a syndicated article from the metropolitan press.

HAVRE, FRANCE, Feb. 22.—Squeezed into a little suburb, known as Nice-Havrais, is the Belgian government. In the house once occupied by a rich German shipper, the Belgian war department carries on its busy affairs. In another mansion, deserted by a German, the foreign office holds sway, and on the second floor of a long line of store buildings most of the other departments have their temporary offices.

France has turned over this little spot to Belgium. Nice-Havrais is not French soil, but Belgian, and it will remain so, by the promise of France, until the king of Belgium rides again into Brussels.

It is the Belgian postoffice that is the most interesting spot in this little Belgium. The French postmaster moved out, bag and baggage, when the Belgians came, and the Belgian department of posts and telegraphs took it over. The telegraph business amounts to a little, but in the matter of posts this little office probably holds all world's records, for its size. It is a paradise for postage stamp collectors. They besiege the place, from the opening to the closing hour. They come from all parts of the countries of the allies. Some of them live at a nearby hotel, and day after day they repair to the little postoffice and buy stamps of all denominations, which they affix to postal cards and thrust into letter slots.

It strikes an onlooker—especially one who is not a victim of the postage stamp craze—as a gruesome business, this matter of making the Belgian ill wind blow well for themselves, but this is a thought that appears to have struck neither the postage stamp collectors themselves nor the pretty Belgian girl and the good-looking young Belgian fellow, with the brown mustache, who presides at the stamp window. They have batches of stamps, including one of every denomination—ready for any person who comes up and says, "Give me all of them."

Madame Romaine, who keeps the cafe at the corner nearby, is making a small fortune in picture postal cards. It is to her that the stamp collectors go for cards to stick their stamps on. The collectors say that stamps which are placed on letters are never so clearly and thoroughly canceled as are those which are filed to the hard surface of cards, and the canceling marks make all the difference in the value of a postage stamp, from the collector's viewpoint.

Three men work at canceling in the Belgian post office at Havre, and they seem to have caught the spirit of the stamp collectors, for they work painstakingly and seem to be careful, in spite of the mass of work they have, to be careful to put the canceling mark right over the center of the stamp.

"Twenty-five years from now," explained an English stamp collector, "these Belgian stamps, with the Havre postmark, will be worth a great deal. It's one of the few stamps that will tell the history of the great war. There's only one stamp that the war has made as valuable as this Havre stamp, and that is the Belgian, with a German cancellation on it. For a while after they entered Belgium, the Germans permitted the use of Belgian stamps, but now, I understand, only German stamps are used in that territory."

John Ball Osborne, the American consul at Havre, receives scores of requests weekly from mysterious persons in the United States who want him to write them a letter on a postal card, and it doesn't matter what he writes, they explain, so long as the missive carries a Belgian stamp. Mr. Osborne suspects such persons of being stamp collectors, and he is particularly suspicious of letters addressed to him in schoolboy handwriting.

A round trip to the Belgian post office from Havre means a journey of five miles in an automobile, which, in Mr.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, BOSTON, MASS.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

AUSTRALIA.—According to a contemporary the official stamps of Australia are now perforated "A" instead of "OS."

BAVARIA.—Postzegelnieuws reports the issue of Red Cross cards, with portrait and signature of King Ludwig III.

EPHROS.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a new overprint for Northern Ephros the allegorical series of 1913, Scott's Nos. 720 et seq., being used. The overprint is in one line, and presumably means "Northern Ephros." Our informants have seen the 1 lepton, 2 lepta rose, 2 lepta red, 3, 5, 10 and 25 lepta with this overprint, but believe all the other values in the set have been thus overprinted. Only 25,000 of the 1 lepton were overprinted, and the whole lot was almost immediately bought up.

ERITREA.—The 5c and 10c announced some time since, have at last been shown us by Whitfield King & Co. The frame is like the 15c of 1910, the type of the ornaments being the only difference. The centre on both values shows a native ploughing in the fields, or as the inscription reads, "ARATURA A SENAFE." Possibly the Director General of Italian Posts was strictly correct when he stated that no 5c and 10c values of the 1910 type had been issued, but here they are.

Adhesives.

10c red.

FRANCE.—According to Le Collectionneur de Timbres-Poste, a provisional stamp was issued by the Chamber of Commerce of Valenciennes for use during the German occupation. In appearance it recalls the Amiens stamp, being type set and printed in red on white and perforated 11. As the supply of regular stamps was exhausted, the issue of the provisionals became necessary in order to facilitate business. Full particulars regarding this issue and its use are not yet available, but for a time they were used in the city of Valenciennes and its Arrondissement. The inscriptions read "Chamber de Commerce de Valenciennes—Service—Postal—Intermaire—10ct.—1914."

Provisional Adhesive.

10c red.

GERMANY.—The International Briefmarken Journal states that the 5pf single and reply post cards are now appearing on thinner and rougher card, without watermark.

MEXICO.—The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. has also shown us the new overprinted monogram printed in black. This has been seen on the values from 1c to 20c, which is still coming with larger monogram of the first type, printed in violet.

NICARAGUA.—H. Chitraro has shown us Scott's No. 385, Province of Zelaya, with both the "B—Dpto. Zelaya" and "5 cent." inverted.

PENRHYN ISLAND.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 6d King Edward stamp of New Zealand surcharged for use in the Island, as previously announced.

Adhesive.

6d carmine rose and black.

ROUMANIA.—As noted last week several of the current stamps of Roumania have been overprinted "Timbru—de Ajutor" in two lines for use as charity stamps. Four values have been thus overprinted, 5b, 10b, 20b and 50b. These stamps are to be placed as an additional tax on letters, telegrams, hotel, restaurant and cafe bills, theatre tickets, and railroad and sleeping car tickets. Their interest to philatelists comes from the fact that hereafter all letters must bear one of these stamps in addition to the regular postage. Continental Journals report that letters are already coming through from Roumania, with the overprinted 5b thus added. The funds thus secured are to be used for the relief of the families of the Roumanian soldiers. Does this mean that Roumania is all ready to take part in the war?

RUSSIA.—Leo M. Moulson notes that of the large Charity stamps chronicled in No. 1253, the 2k and 8k values are perforated 13 1/2 and the 4k and 11k, 11 1/2. Mr. Moulson is informed that the Romanoff set is gradually being retired, and stamps of the former types issued.

Stamp Collecting says: The current 5k stamp in the small Arms type of 1909 has appeared in a distinct new shade more closely resembling lake than the dull lilac in which it was previously printed. The designs of the new permanent postage stamps appear to have again undergone a change. The Russian Stamp Printing Works are busily engaged in preparing the long promised new series of regular postage stamps. These will present pictures of various ways of transporting mail throughout the Russian Empire, including Dog Transports of the Caucasus, Reindeer and Sledges of the North, Oxen Teams of the Steppes, and Steamship, Railroad and Aeroplane Mails.

On account of the war all stamps of old issues are still available for postage until further notice, regardless of the date set for the discontinuance of certain stamps (Dec. 18th, 1914).

SWITZERLAND.—Whitfield King & Co. have now shown us the other provisional mentioned last week. The stamp used for the overprinting in this case is the 12c brown on buff Tell stamp of 1914. In this case the old value is obliterated by three short lines, with the new value below.

Provisional Adhesive.

13c on 12c brown on buff.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.—The first of the new series of postage due stamps announced in No. 1255 has been shown us by Whitfield King & Co. The design recalls the Transvaal postage due stamps of 1907, though an entirely new engraving has been made for the frame. The inscriptions read "Union of South Africa" at the top, "Unie van Zuid Afrika" at the bottom, "Postage Due" at the left, and "Te Betalen" at the right. Conventional foliated ornaments fill in above and below the figures of value, which are in black and of the same type as those used in the 1907 set. The 2d is the only value thus far issued, but the others are to follow shortly. The stamps are perforated 14.

Postage Due Adhesive.

2d violet and black.

WAR STAMP EXHIBITION IN MARCH.

Fred. J. Melville is organising an exhibition of war stamps which promises to prove of exceptional interest. The exhibits will include some important collections of the war stamps, field post-cards, war cancellations, etc., connected with the present war. The exhibits are based upon Mr. Melville's own collection, but several important collections of special interest have been promised on loan.

The Exhibition will be open daily (except Sundays) from 3.30 to 6.30 p. m. throughout March. An ideally central site has been selected in the Florence Galleries, 56 Rupert St., Piccadilly Circus, London.

An orchestra will play daily from 4 o'clock, and teas will be served in the Quirinal Room adjoining the main exhibition room.

Collectors having suitable items for exhibition are invited to offer them on loan, but as the space available is now nearly all taken up early notice is desirable; no charge is made for these exhibits. Address, F. J. Melville, 14 Sudbourne Rd., Brixton, London, Eng.

for your consideration any suggestions I may have to make upon society matters.

As we turn back the page of 1914, we find no large event of purely philatelic importance such as the International Exposition of 1913, but rather note a quiet and wholesome growth of interest in our chosen hobby. Of greatest significance perhaps is the fact that even under the stress of the unusual circumstances that have affected all activities, the world of stamps seems no more affected than the larger and more material businesses of the country, arguing, quite logically it seems to me, that our philatelic building rests upon an equally secure and lasting a foundation, and that the collecting of stamps is really something more than a passing fad.

At this time when almost our every thought centers upon the terrible cataclysm of blood that is drenching Europe—an unprecedented war which shakes the very foundation of our civilization,—now, when we recognize that its final settlement by reason of the world-wide interests involved, will, directly or indirectly, take some toll from each and every one of us or even seriously affect our material well being,—it is idle indeed and even childish to give undue weight to the effect the war will have upon us as philatelists, for our activities as collectors are confined to the realm of our enjoyments and, not essentially necessary to our real work of life, are comparatively unimportant. But for all that it is quite natural to consider these less important effects and to dream of the many changes in the postal issues of Europe that will so enhance the interest of philately. We shall have much in this line to demand our attention and fortunate indeed will be he who can keep pace with the new and provisional issues that are bound to ensue and are even now beginning to make their appearance.

But perhaps it is not these broader interests that we should discuss, but rather the more intimate questions touching our organization; and so we will turn to society matters.

There can be no question, it seems to me, but that our society is in a healthy condition, for while there are a few matters that should receive our attention, they are in nature conservative and creative rather than curative.

I refer particularly to the general recommendations that have been made in the past regarding economy and recruiting. While our financial condition demands no immediate radical enactment, still it is to be hoped that a conservative policy regarding expenditures will be continued, for though we are solvent, we have not sufficient revenue for unusual expense or for frills of any kind.

While our membership is of good proportion, there is no reason why a considerable increase cannot be accommodated. You all know the advantages a collector has in membership in the B. P. S., and you need not hesitate to urge your philatelic friends to join us. A committee can do much but only in a general way, while individual efforts in recruiting are personal and so more effective. Therefore I urge each of you personally to endeavor to obtain at least one new member during the coming year, for in so doing you would not only favor your friends but increase the scope of the society.

During the last year we have laid the foundation for a society collection. Many generous contributions have been made by members and the sale for the benefit of the collection was so well received and patronized that we already have a good nucleus around which to build. I ask each of you to look over our collection as now mounted—to note the spaces that you could fill from your accumulation of duplicates and to donate what you can.

At this time, not only for myself, but in behalf of the society, I would thank those members who as officers have given so unstintingly of their time and effort to further the interests of the society. Especially do I wish to acknowledge what the society owes to Mr.

Howes who has served us with such eminent efficiency in the many offices he has held almost continuously for the last fourteen years, but who now is laying down his office of secretary for a richly deserved period of rest. Mr. Howes has been indefatigable in his work for the society and much that you now enjoy is due to his efforts. Personally, my debt to him is very considerable and beyond my ability to repay, for in truth during the past year he has been the prop without which I would have fallen.

I shall look back upon my term as president of this society with feelings of deepest appreciation of the honor you have accorded me. Living as I do at a considerable distance from Boston and so not having had as responsive touch upon the society's pulse as I would have liked, I have not been able to do all that I would for its development and I realize that there is much that I have left unaccomplished. You all know this and so the more do I appreciate the kind consideration you have always shown me, both officially and personally.

Thanking you again for the distinction you have given me, I assure you that I shall be very ready to work with you in any capacity to further the interests of the B. P. S.

(Signed) THEODORE W. BARRY, Pres.
January 19, 1915.

NEBRASKA PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

The first fiscal year of this society started January 1, 1915, at which time seventeen members were enrolled and practically no recruiting had been done. The charter, recently closed, numbers twenty members.

At the first annual election, the following officers were elected: Pres., W. C. Ahlmann, Norfolk; Vice-Pres., W. F. Herron, Pender; Sec.-Treas., Reuben W. Ahlmann, Norfolk; Directors, F. S. Parmelee, R. C. Hoyt, Ora E. Stark, Omaha; Sales Manager, Reuben W. Ahlmann; Librarian, W. R. King, Hastings; Information Department, R. E. Jessup, Clay Center, and Auction Manager, Albert F. Haydar, Fairfield. The Exchange Department is in the hands of C. B. Palmer, Jr., Bradshaw, and a good department is assured. At the same election the Philatelic West, Superior, Neb., was chosen official organ.

All stamp collectors residing in the state of Nebraska are desired as members. Dues have been decided upon at 50c per year. At present no initiation fee is required. Application blanks and further information will be gladly furnished by the secretary, Reuben W. Ahlmann, Norfolk, Nebraska.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THAT "HANDSOME MAN" CONTEST.

There are still several thousand of you who have not as yet sent me your idea on the "handsomest man" pictured on a stamp, and your reasons for your choice. Why not get in on the prizes offered? This is a better way to get stamps than any other. If you haven't sent in your entry yet, get busy right away and tell me in as concise a manner as possible, your ideas on the subject of the contest. Remember, the winner will receive a nice prize for his efforts, the second and third best will be suitably rewarded, and all prize winners will be awarded a seat in the Gallery of the Immortals.

THAT OTHER CONTEST.

Did you guess them all? Get out your answer slips on the ten questions published last week, and check up on the answers. See if there are a few things you didn't know about stamps. If you haven't answered the questions, look them up in last week's paper, and answer them before you read the answers below.

All ready?

- 1.—The Brazil, 1909, Pan-American Jubilee stamp is the South American stamp bearing a portrait of Washington.
 - 2.—The Tonga 1897 series is watermarked with turtles.
 - 3.—The Saint Louis post-master provisional series of 1845 are the first stamps to picture a bear.
 - 4.—The Bulgaria 1902 series pictures the battle of Shipka Pass.
 - 5.—The first series of Jamaica (1860-63) is watermarked a Pineapple.
 - 6.—The 1895 St. Anthony of Padua series of Portugal bears a prayer in Latin on the reverse. Look for it.
 - 7.—The Special Delivery stamp of Spain, 1905, pictures a winged horse.
 - 8.—The First Issue (1862-71) revenue stamps are the first 1c U. S. stamps picturing Washington. The 1c 1912 is the first postage stamp picturing Washington. Guess that one fooled you, yes?
 - 9.—The Denmark Newspaper stamps of 1907 are inscribed "Avisporto."
 - 10.—The first Special Delivery stamp was issued by the United States in 1885.
- How do you like these contests? Let me hear from you.

Don't sit up longer than two nights working on these questions. One or two of these will keep you busy for a while, though.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A. J.—Your cut-square envelope with the inscription "Official Business—Penalty for Private Use $300" is an official envelope for government business, and the stamp signifies that it is such. There are many kinds of these envelopes, and very little attention is paid to them by collectors. I know of no list of these envelopes and doubt if one could be compiled as there seems to be no attempt made to keep these envelopes uniform. They are usually known as "Penalty" envelopes, the inscription being designed to warn of the penalty for private use to avoid payment of postage.

Post cards are a little out of my line. The one you describe is quite common and should not be worth over 10c at the most, if that.

Your stamp with the five large perforations is genuine. It is perforated for use on the Schermack machine known as the Mail-o-meter. It is slightly better than the stamp with the large hyphen perf. There are several kinds of perforations used on these mailing machines.

D. M. C.—First issues imperforate of almost any country bring a higher rate than most later issues as the imperforates are particularly in demand. I do not consider that the dealer who offered you a block of four Norway No. 1 at full catalogue was asking too much for it. A pair of this stamp recently sold for $2.00 in Chicago and I have seen dealers offer as high as $7.50 for a block of four. This particular stamp is especially desirable in blocks, as few were used. Most of the imperforates in blocks and strips command prices way over the catalogue price, which is for single copies only. To my mind, a fine pair or block is the best way to represent these stamps in one's collection.

R. R. F.—The first stamps of Prince Edward Islands, and in fact, all but the 4-1/2d issued in 1870, were printed from electrotypes, and the entire process was done by Charles Whiting, of Beaufort House, Strand, London. The 4-1/2d issued June 1st, 1870, was engraved and printed by the British-American Bank Note Company, with plants at Montreal and Ottawa. I do not know of any way you could find the official documents announcing the different series, though I presume these are still in existence, nor do I know where there are any copies of these papers.

THE STRAW THAT BROKE THE CAMEL'S BACK.

Once upon a time, in the year 1915, a certain stamp dealer owned a nice copy of the 24c U. S. grilled, listing a small fortune, and worth a large roll of real money. He had a chance to sell this stamp for a price, but wanted two dollars more than it was worth, just to see if he could get it. He held off on the sale for two weeks to try to extract this extra two dollars from his customer. One day a small boy happened in to his store, and happened out again with the 24c grill, without the dealer's knowledge. The next day, having heard of the loss, the customer accepted the dealer's price—after the stamp was gone.

Moral:—When you get a chance to make a good trade, make it. Don't wait for the last cent in the deal. Let the other man make something.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN AMERICA?

Mexico is certainly doing her part to make 1915 one of many new issues. During the last week, we have secured the series with the G. C. M. in small black monogram, also a copy of a 2c Federal with a G. C. M. surcharge in small black monogram identical to the first rubber stamp surcharge issued some time ago. The writer was fortunate enough to inspect a very large collection of these issues, practically complete, and the new issue man certainly has a few to get before he gets them all. I am told that some of these will be very good property, and that all will be more or less scarce. Just sit tight, and grab any you can get.

Keep your eye on the Costa Rica surcharge, the 1 Colon surcharged 1c, just out. It ought to be worth keeping. Get it on the cover, if you can.

How Many Are Your Customers?

You know that thousands of young readers like these go carefully over every word in the St. Nicholas Stamp Pages.

You have something worth telling them.

Unless you place your announcement in St. Nicholas you will not come into their minds. If you do, they will be reminded of you; and that is the first step toward making sales and establishing business dealings with a class of people that buy for a long time.

What have you to offer all these bright young collectors, just after they have been interested in your business by the Editor of the Stamp Department?

St. Nicholas boys and girls are good customers—keen, bright, reliable, and able to buy what they want.

ST. NICHOLAS STAMP DIRECTORY

NEW YORK CITY

Our own little U. S. is keeping us busy with the perf. 10 issue, and the coils. More than one collector here has gotten a couple of gray hairs trying to buy the new ones in perfect blocks.

Anybody hear of the stamp business being bad? No? Business is GOOD.

Rumors in the wholesale market indicate that the high values of Chile will not be as plentiful as heretofore. Quite a number of 5 and 10 Pesos were coming to light, but latest reports indicate that the supply abroad is exhausted.

South America is very quiet this year. Nothing doing, not even from Paraguay. Is it the calm before the storm?

We have heard of a new Bolivia issue to appear shortly, but have not seen it. Also, there are doings in Dominican Republic. Hayti is liable to come out with some new surcharges soon. There is still internal trouble there, so a few philatelic souvenirs may be expected.

Did you get the Newfoundland Coronation set? They are all obsolete but the 1, 2 and 5c, and selling fast—at high prices. The 4c is slightly better than some of the others. Used copies come heavily cancelled and are harder by far to get than the unused, in any condition.

The 3c Cuba is mighty scarce. Out of a large quantity, only two were found. The 8c is being used more frequently than in the previous issues. Quite a number of the aeroplane special deliveries are to be had.

Revenue fans are busy in the country. Have you a block of four of the $500 revenue yet? Everybody should have this stamp. The country needs the money.

NASSAU STAMP CO.

118 Nassau Street, NEW YORK CITY

U. S. EXHIBIT AT SAN FRANCISCO.

By "DON B."

The most important thing in this article is the statement by its author that there have been recent printings of U. S. stamps which will be known as "special printings of 1914." It will prove of great interest to the specialist in U. S. stamps and we shall try and secure definite information in relation to this matter.

The great day has arrived and the Panama-Pacific International Exhibition is an accomplished fact, opening on time, and very complete in all its exterior details, a prospect of wonderful beauty. As to exhibits, many are complete, but many more are on the way. Writing after a strenuous day and a hasty glance it can be said of the stamp exhibits that the U. S. Government has entirely failed to carry out its early plans.

Congress appropriated the sum of half a million dollars for the purpose of erecting a building worthy of the government and in which were to be housed a superlative display of all the Departments. As it stands today there is no building, nor will there be any; the reason assigned is that the supervising architect at Washington declared he did not have the time to produce plans for the building and have it ready for the Exhibition, the result being the $500,000.00 appropriated by Congress has reverted to the general fund and the building is lost.

The large displays which were proposed by the various departments have also in great measure been lost, as there was no place for them; those that are here have been reduced to their lowest terms and are scattered throughout the various buildings, fragmentary here and there. Stamps will not be printed, neither will coins be minted as were proposed.

The exhibit of the Treasury Department is limited to one press for striking medals, and one small hand press for steel plate work. It includes a few frames of paper money, bonds, revenue stamps and sets of Columbian, Omaha and perhaps special stamps of the other exhibitions, that seem to be special printings, each specimen being imperforate with fair to wide margins all around. They are evidently single imperforates.

In the Post Office Department exhibit is found a complete working post office, being the Fair Station of the S. F. P. O. In this is located all there is of the much heralded to be postage stamp exhibit of the government, consisting of eight swinging frames about 20"x30", giving sixteen pages, on which is a set of stamps beginning with the re-engraved issue of 1847, down to the present time, omitting all grilles or die varieties, single specimens only and like those in the Treasury exhibit, all imperforate well centered with fair to generous margins. It includes the newspaper, departments, special delivery, postal savings and parcels post, and from a hasty glance appear to be all, or nearly all, special printings prepared no doubt for this occasion, the 3c parcel post being the exact shade of all the other values. In the postage dues, shadings of the first type have been printed, that is—the set is shown in three shades, but every stamp in each set is of the same tone, having the appearance of all having been struck from the same mixing of ink, in other words show all the ear marks of special printings. A hasty whirl around the 600 or more acres of space precludes any critical description at this time of this or any other exhibit, but it is evident we must place another title in our catalogues to be known as the special printings of 1914, time being the deciding factor as to how many and what they may be.

The failure of the government to provide a building for its exhibit, and in which it was hoped would be found space for private exhibits of stamp collections, has rendered it improbable there will be any general stamp exhibit during the period of the Exhibition.

Special exhibits covering individual subjects will be installed wherever a place may be found, details of which are not at the moment available, there will however be a special exhibit of Western Franks; also a special exhibit of paper money (bank notes and fractional) of all varieties, a most complete display that has taken the owner fifty years to get together.

H. F. COLMAN,

STAMP COLLECTION MARRIAGES.

"You unmarried men could interest many a young damsel and explain the wonderful mysteries of stamp collecting to them. And then there could be marriages of stamp collections."

The Philadelphia Stamp News has printed a little effusion that will be of interest to our lady subscribers. It is written by a man whose name is Mann and he should therefore be acquainted with his subject, especially since he is a married man. We will let Mr. Mann have the right of way:—

"It is a grand thing for a stamp society to celebrate an anniversary by holding a banquet, but it is a grander thing to have the ladies present to join in the festivities of the occasion. Men stamp collectors must not always be the selfish creatures they are supposed to be. There are many women who collect stamps. If the gentlemen would endeavour to interest the ladies in the hobby, let them know that they are most welcome to take the pleasures of playing with stamps, stamp collecting would, indeed, be more cheerful and far brighter. Our list of stamp collectors of the tender sex is quite a consequential one, and there must be thousands more. Fellow collectors, open your stamp club meetings to the ladies, make them heartily welcome, aid them to enjoy what you would want to be your own selfish hobby, being as you are, afraid the ladies will accumulate the cherished bits of paper you want for your own albums. You married fellows are selfish bits of humanity when you go home of an evening, close yourselves up in your libraries, and studies, and let your better three-quarters spend the evening the best she may, you not caring as long as you have your albums and stamps before you. It would be far better to call your wife into your cosy library, point out to her the interesting things to be found on your album pages, get her interested, and then she would be able to help you with the difficulties of arrangements and compilation. Oh, yes, many a woman has better taste than a man, she can arrange an album better than you can, try her out the next time you get at that stamp collection. But it is not only the married women who can be interested in stamps the same as you. You unmarried men could interest many a young damsel and explain the wonderful mysteries of stamp collecting to them. And then there could be marriages of stamp collections! Perhaps a more expensive way of increasing your collection than by your present methods, but far more enjoyable. However, if the ladies of your family are interested and learn all about it, they will be in a far better position to handle your estate of stamp accumulations, in the event of your demise, and to their greater benefit, than if you had failed to acquaint them with a stamp collection's value."

THE KANSAS CITY ROULETTE.

Early in December, 1914, the Postmaster at Kansas City found that he had on hand a number of imperforate sheets of the current 1c and 2c stamps.

These imperforate sheets had been ordered by him for the use of The National Bank of Commerce in that city, and when the bank suddenly stopped using them, the postmaster had no other outlet for them.

There were not sufficient, in the opinion of the postmaster, to return to the Post Office Department at Washington and, imperforate, they could not be sold at the stamp window. The size of the sheet (400 stamps) also made it difficult to keep them properly in the safe.

Therefore, in order to put these stamps in such condition that they could be readily sold, the postmaster had the remaining sheets rouletted in his office, making them an official issue, though not authorized by the Department at Washington.

The Department, however, took cognizance of the issue and the postmaster was strictly forbidden to issue any more of the 1c and 2c rouletted stamps, or to manufacture any so-called provisional issue. Orders were also given to report the number of 1c and 2c rouletted stamps still on hand.

As, however, all of the 2c stamps had been sold, and but 4 1/2 sheets of the 1c stamps remained, permission was granted to sell these stamps in panes of 100 or less, over the counter locally only.—Philatelic Gazette.

SAN DIEGO ORGANIZES.

The San Diego Stamp Club was organized February 4th, 1915, with thirteen staunch collectors, and today has twenty odd members and have only thus far had three meetings. Quite a number of local collectors have signified their intentions of joining our ranks and we expect a large increase in numbers as well as interest in a very short time.

Our organization has on its roll of honor many names of collectors who have been members of former stamp societies in various parts of the country and who have established homes in San Diego, where all the time is summer. The youngest collector and yet the oldest in our club is L. N. Skinner, who has been an ardent collector since before the Civil War, and who today has a collection of some 16,000 that is a treat to look upon.

The club is at present holding its meetings in the Y. M. C. A. building which has generously tendered the use of their "Red Room" every Friday eve.

Officers of the San Diego Stamp Club are: Allen H. Wright, president; L. N. Skinner, vice-president; Alfred E. Newman, secretary; C. H. Marvin, treasurer.

A Circulation That Circulates

It is not an easy thing to get an extra circulation for a stamp paper. It is easy to talk about it and write about it—but difficult to deliver the goods.

Our Plan

On Saturday, March 27 we shall issue a number of the WEEKLY that will be a good missionary effort. We want you to use it. Edition 10,000.

Our Purpose

To make business for our advertisers and to win future subscribers. We are determined to go well over the 8000 subscription mark early in May.

Our Prediction

This particular number will surely please you in the make-up and if an advertiser it will measure up to your expectations. It will be some paper.

THE NEW U. S. REVENUES.

From various sources we have compiled a list of the new revenues. The Year Book of the United States Revenue Society has been particularly helpful and we are also indebted to the Economist Stamp Co., the Philadelphia Stamp News and Wm. T. Kimball.

Mr. Kimball writes us that the $2 cordials and wines is 50 mm. by 43 mm. imperforate and this stamp comes both with and without gum. This large stamp is the size of a block of four of the other stamps of the set. The list follows:—

Watermarked Single Line U. S. P. S. (Postage).

Documentary: ½, 1, 2, 4, 5, 10 25. 40, 50, 80c.
Proprietary: ⅓, ¼, ⅓, 1¼, 1½, 2½, 3½, 3¾, 5c.

Wines and Cordials: ⅓, ¼, ½, 1, 1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 20, 24, 40c, $2 with gum, $2 without gum.

Watermarked Double Line U. S. I. R. (Revenue).

RETURN OF AN OLD ADVERTISER.

A familiar name will be noticed this week in the return of the New England Stamp Co. to our advertising columns. This firm will take regular space on page 5, column 4, and the firm's varied stock will without doubt provide a fine range of attractive offers. We trust our subscribers will convince this company that the WEEKLY has lost none of its old-time vigor.

CLEVELAND'S 25th ANNIVERSARY.

The Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland, Ohio, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary on March 19-20, and a notable occasion is promised.

The club was organized March 17, 1890, and its regular meetings have been held during all this time without a single interruption. Its membership is large and it is today one of the most influential clubs in the country.

There will be features of special interest. Portions of the Worthington and Pack collections will be exhibited, while Dr. Chase of N. Y. City will exhibit his early issues of U. S. and accompany the same with a talk on these stamps. Gen. Coolidge will represent the A. P. S.

The members of the Garfield-Perry will have on exhibition in the windows of The Burrows Brothers Co., on Euclid Ave., 40 large cards containing stamps from their collections augmented with photographs of some of the great rarities and several foreign diplomas of award in possession of two of its members.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Information was asked for in our last two numbers concerning Geo. A. Tyler of Hartford, Conn. We have received particulars from two advertisers announcing the fact that Tyler was arrested in Detroit, March 1, with stolen jewelry in his possession. It is alleged that it was obtained by burglarizing a house in Hartford.

—Roger H. Hutchinson, Sta. D, Buffalo, N. Y., gave as reference, M. L. Wilbur, principal Buffalo Law School, Buffalo, N. Y., when applying to Emily King for approvals. Letter returned marked: "No such person at Buffalo Law School." Dealers, take notice.

—When the managing editor was connected with the Boston Stamp Book some fifteen years ago, he became first acquainted with C. E. Hussman of St. Louis, whose advertisement will be found elsewhere in this issue. His advertising copy was always welcome, especially in view of the fact that his dealings were always of the most satisfactory nature. It is apparently a case of "once a lover of stamps, always a lover." An old timer has indeed come back.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from J. V. Doyle, John Fischer, C. O. Swaney, D. E. Lantz, Wray Stamp Co., J. M. Stonier, Paul Matthias (2) and W. L. McAtee.

—A. J. R.—We cannot describe the experimental paper so that you could be absolutely sure that your stamp is printed on this paper. Should advise you to submit it to a dealer who would have a stock sufficiently large to give you the desired information.

—Wm. Lycett submits the Year Book of the Brooklyn Stamp Society. It contains the regulation matter of constitution and by-laws with a generous amount of advertising.

—"I have noticed advertisements in the different stamp papers from time to time by different dealers of the Sirmoor Official stamp in mint condition for about 20c to 25c and wondered if they knew what they were selling. By referring to Gibbons' catalogue they will find that the surcharge on this stamp measures about 25mm. from the top of the O to the period after the bottom S. I have seen quite a number of the ones furnished by different dealers and find they all measure about 21 mm. which is Gibbons' number 92 of the 1900 issue priced at eighteen cents."—F. J. RIER.

WHO SAID SO?

Some people think it is impossible to sell good stamps at 60% discount. This new customer of mine has been convinced to the contrary: "I am returning the approvals sent me. They are the best I ever saw at the prices you ask. How can you sell at such a great discount, stamps in fine condition as these are?" The Reason? Because I buy only such stamps as I can sell quickly, rather than carry a large stock to pay interest on, and because I only expect to make a reasonable profit. I also offer an additional 10% discount for promptness. It pays me to have the stamps returned within ten days, and it pays you 10%. "We both gain." Why not do it now? A good reference please. [tf

EDITORIAL.

Hits Home—Now and then a story is launched forth that strikes public fancy so squarely that the impression made is a lasting one. In the parlance of the day, a hit is registered; and the people are appealed to so surely that they recognize with unanimity, the novel or human touch of the story or incident. These hits are not always a logical sequence of events or situations; and when the scenes are set for the staging of a desired effect the results are apt to be disappointing as hits are spontaneous rather than works of art or craft. However, there is no need to pursue the psychology of hits; for our purpose, it is enough to know that one of the recent hits has a stamp flavor. We refer to the "hunger cry" written under the stamp to escape the censor's notice on letters sent out from districts within the war zone.

As It Developed—Several months ago, we told of the appearance in a newspaper of a cablegram (as it was labeled) from a point in one of the neutral countries to the effect that a postal card which bore a common-place message had been received from the war district and had as a sort of post-script or after-thought on the card, the message: "Save our stamps. They will be rare." When the stamp was removed the words were revealed: "We are starving." A short time afterwards we saw another item of similar kind featured in a newspaper; and somewhat later, the Chicago Post contained an editorial in which the dread import and suggestions of the "hunger cry" were sapiently discussed. It was said by the observing editor that the story had gained wide currency and was one that provided that touch of humanity that makes the whole world kin. Other indications to show that the story has made a "palpable hit" are not lacking. For instance, a traveling man has just finished telling us that when he was in Texas recently, one of his customers told him that he had received a letter from a relative in the theatre of war in which glowing terms were used to describe the security of mind and material welfare of the sender and his family; and the recipient was told in the course of the letter, incidentally, that it would be a good plan to begin to collect foreign stamps as they would be valuable in time to come. The stamp was removed and the words stood forth: "The truth is,—we are starving." We have heard several other variations of what in its essentials is the same story.

Official—Mr. Ora E. Stark, Omaha, Nebraska, who was one of the first to dispel any doubt as to the existence of the two-cent proprietary stamp of the present issue has sent us a letter that he has received from G. E. Fletcher, Deputy Commissioner, office of commissioner of internal revenue, treasury department, Washington, in which official information of interest to collectors is given: "In reply to your letter of the 15th instant, you are advised that there were 7,800,000 two cent proprietary stamps issued. Many of these stamps were used on packages of gum, which required a four cent stamp, and the two cent stamps were doubled up to meet a shortage in the supply of four cent stamps early in December last. The two cent stamps have not been withdrawn from issue, but as they were originally prepared to meet an emergency for the payment of tax on wine, at a time when distinctive wine stamps could not be furnished, just after the law went into effect, and they were not used for that purpose, it is to be presumed that there is no very large need of this particular stamp."

We Recall—In connection with the foregoing paragraph, there are a few angles that may be reviewed now before they are forgotten. We were fortunate in having a correspondent who gave us early and exclusive information about the revenue bill and its consequences, revenue stamps. We may repeat that just before December 1st, 1914, it was debatable, we reported, whether the proposed distinctive issue of wine and cordial stamps would be issued; and the fact that the series was prepared is testimony to the fact that the bureau of engraving and printing established a wonderful record for celerity just before the time the tax was to become effective. In line with the explanation given by the commissioner the appearance of the two cent in the proprietary set will be readily understood although from a reading of the proprietary tax sections of the law it is not seen how there would be a demand for a two cent proprietary stamp.

Full Pages—We obtained recently a sheet or pane of one hundred stamps each of the one cent, type III, and three cent, type II, of the 1857-60 issue, United States. The sheets had lain away undisturbed for many years in the possession of a collector who secured the stamps at a time when collectors were satisfied with the single stamps. The margins of each sheet are intact and the plate number of the one cent is "No. 10. P." and of the three cent, "No. 28. P." Number 28 is the last plate of the three cent perforated and No. 10 of the one cent is third from the last number or 12. The imprint is "Toppan, Carpenter & Co.," etc., as it was in 1855 that the name "Casilear" was discontinued. On both sheets, the name Carpenter appears as "Carpenter" as a result of a revamping of the imprint plate and the removal of "Casilear" from the legend. The explanation of Dr. Carroll Chase, in his handbook on the three cent of the issue of 1851 is needed here: "About the middle of the year 1855, the firm name of the engravers was changed by dropping the name 'Casilear,' but the same small transfer roll continued in use as is proved by a careful study of the imprint found on the perforated sheets, which were all made after this date, the die being rocked so as to cut 'Toppan, Carpenter' and then taken up and put so that '& Co. Bank' etc. appeared next. But the '&' always shows some trace of the 'C' of 'Casilear' or following 'Carpenter' will be found the final 'ar' or 'r' of Carpenter," and so on.

An Old One—Mr. H. J. Steigerwalt writes: "I send a sketch of a marking placed by some former owner in an envelope on which was written: 'Very rare P. O. Mailing Stamp.' My sketch shows the size of the paper evidently cut from an old cover and the impression is in red and looks as though it had been applied with a hand-stamp. In one corner is 1827 in black ink,—can this be the year of the postmark?" While we do not happen to have any postmarks of the period indicated at hand, we know that before 1827, postmarks sometimes varied from the regulation circular form. The postmark which resembles, let us say, a cornucopia, has the words on its sides: "Augusta, Maine, July 19," and the 1827 is undoubtedly the year in which the cover was mailed. We are not convinced that the somewhat unusual impression has any significance greater than that of the plain postmark, even though it is something of a curiosity.

"WHITE BACKS" GOOD PROPERTY.

"White Backs" are still eagerly sought after. It requires but little reflection to consider why these items will eventually become good. Whatever happens, the German and Austrian collector will require these stamps to complete his collection after the war. Today none but British or neutral dealers can import these stamps. The British dealers with the present money stringency can import only what they require for their new issue services and a small surplus; the neutrals, too, are financially handicapped, and from what I hear are afraid of their letters, with remittances, being lost, so they are not importing at all. Many of these issues are already exhausted and others may follow suit at any moment.

Obviously, therefore, when peace rules once more and German and Austrian collectors start buying they will find that there have not been enough "White Backs" imported to go round. Thus it is not improbable that we may later witness another "single C A period." Let the collector take heed, therefore, and not neglect these issues.—Stamp Collecting.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORK

A REFORM INAUGURATED.

The WEEKLY realizes that it is the strongest exponent of stamp collecting in the world and its attitude on matters affecting our hobby means much for its growth and prosperity. Quite recently, we took the position that pound mixtures could not be advertised in the WEEKLY. It was warmly appreciated. Next week we shall inaugurate another reform that will affect a few of our advertisers, but we feel sure they will see its strength.

Hereafter 50 per cent. discount advertising will be allowed in the WEEKLY, but the 60, 75 and 90 per cent. offers will be tabooed. When these percentages appear they must take the form of definite offerings of stamps. Catalogue and sale price may both be stated. We shall also decline all general references to stamps at one-third, one-fourth, or one-fifth of catalog.

Why this step?

For several years it has been pointed out that this advertising is misleading and that it tends to injure the dealer who handles the medium and better grades of stamps. Their contention is that the price should sell the stamp and not the discount. Moreover, it injures the collector who imagines that his stamp collecting must have a very superficial foundation. The time is ripe for this reform! It will prevent a misconception of stamp values and increase the stability of our hobby. It recognizes that a good line of 50 per cent. discount stamps is possible but the common stamps sold at 75 to 90 per cent. discount should not be offered in the WEEKLY to the detriment of our hobby. The number of really good stamps that can be sold at these discounts is too small to allow the advertiser to profit by the advertising of such large discounts.

Where stamps are sold at one-fourth, one-fifth or one-tenth of catalogue there is danger of faked or mended stamps, remainders of stocks, reprintings or big wholesale lots materializing. Our plan will tend to put a quietus on this kind of stuff and will at least reduce its sale to a minimum.

We shall no doubt lose some advertising by this new rule but we shall gain in our respect for our own U. S. postage, revenues and tax paid, single CA's and "white backs," original covers and the mass of things stampic that are all about us and in which we take such keen delight.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

INES TO THE THREE CENT GREEN.

By EUGENE FIELD.

Written Sept. 24, 1883.

Good-bye, old stamp, it's nasty luck
That ends our friendship so.
When others failed you gamely stuck,
But now you've got to go.
So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh.
Good-bye, old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

Your life has been a varied one,
With curious phases fraught—
Sometimes a check, sometimes a dun,
Your daily coming brought;
Smiles to a waiting lover's face,
Tears to a mother's eyes,
Or joy or pain to every place—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

You bravely toiled, and better men
Will vouch for what I say;
Although you have been licked, 'twas when Your face turned to other way,
'Twas often in a box you got
(As you will not deny)—
For going through the mails, I wot—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

Ah, in your last expiring breath
The tale of years is heard—
The sound of voices hushed in death,
A mother's dying word;
A maiden's answer soft and sweet,
A wife's regretful sigh,
The patter of a baby's feet—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

What wonder, then, that at this time
When you and I must part,
I should aspire to speak in rhyme
The promptings of my heart.
Go, bide with all those memories dear
That live when others die—
You've nobly served your purpose here—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Nic. A. Johnson reports having seen the new 1c carmine Documentary used on a box of gum. Apparently some one made a double mistake, using documentary where proprietary, and paying one cent tax on a 5c article.

H. W. Lindaman adds the 24c Wines stamp to the list of the new revenues which have been seen on post office paper.

Russell H. Cooley reports having seen current United States postage stamps precanceled "Agana—Guam."

Although we have not yet seen the stamp, Scott's Circular lists the $1 value on the single-lined watermarked paper.

CANADA.—As noted last week, the current postage stamps have been overprinted for use as special war tax stamps. The overprint of the second type is printed diagonally reading down. Mr. Hemond says the first type overprinted simply "War Tax" will be particularly scarce, as it was only in use for a week.

DENMARK.—Several foreign contemporaries note that the 5, 10 and 20 ore avisporto stamps have been seen on paper watermarked crosses.

EGYPT.—Stamp Collecting notes that the current pictorial set is being issued with the official overprint "O. H. H. S." in both Roman and Arabic characters. The period after "S" on the 90th stamp is missing.

Official Adhesives.

1m brown and black.

5m lilac and black.

Ewen's Weekly reports having seen the current 5m stamp overprinted "O. H. H. S." without the Arabic inscription. It is suggested that since Great Britain has proclaimed the Protectorate of Egypt, the Arabic inscription will hereafter be omitted.

GRENADA.—Russell H. Cooley reports having received a letter from Grenada franked with two of the 1d King George stamps, and half of another cut diagonally, to serve as a 1/2d stamp. Probably due to a shortage in the supply of 1/2d stamps.

NEW BRITAIN.—The 1d King George and 2 1/2d Kangaroo stamps of Australia have been overprinted "N. W.—Pacific—Islands" for use in the German Colonies in the North Pacific taken over by Great Britain.

NEW ZEALAND.—The King George set is being held up on account of the 1/2d value. A. C. Roessler states that no more of the Edwardian type will be overprinted Samoa.

Quotations noted wholesale for G. R. I. on German Samoa, in unused blocks of 4, 1/2d on 3pf, 1/2d on 5pf, 2 1/2d on 20pf, 30sh each.

SIAM.—Maury's Collectionneur notes the issue of a new series of stamps with portrait of the King.

Adhesives.

3s green.

5s violet.

6s light red.

TURKEY.—Stamp Collecting adds the following to the list of stamps which have been issued with the overprint "Capitulations Abrogated 1330." 2pa, 4pa, 6pa, 1 1/2pi, 1 1/2pi, 2 1/2pi.

This country has also issued a charity provisional, the 1 1/2pi having been surcharged in blue "1 piastre for the benefit of the Fleet."

Those members who are in town will find congenial company for dinner at the "Dreyfus" at 6 P. M. These informal dinners are very pleasant preludes to the meeting. Come and join us.

Mr. President and Gentlemen:—

We are tonight at the 24th milestone in the path that the Boston Philatelic Society is pursuing, and the reports of your officers will show the trend of its course. The Secretary cannot say that it is upward, nor yet downward, for we have come out even in our membership for the year. The admissions have been an even dozen; but we have lost by resignation six, by dropping for non-payment of dues four, and have to record two deaths, that of Philip Wolff, our former Foreign Secretary, and Jesse W. Sargent. As to date, Mr. Wolff's loss should have appeared in last year's report, but the Society did not learn of it for some six weeks, so that it was brought into our 1914 records. The total loss of membership is therefore 12, which just balances the gain.

The total membership is 181 divided into 5 Honorary, 117 Resident and 59 Non-resident members.

The work of the year has consisted of ten regular meetings, twelve informal meetings and ten meetings of the Council, one of which was informal. The average attendance at the regular meetings was 32.8, which is six below the record of last year. The Secretary believes that this is partly due to the lack of a definite and well-worked-out program, that our membership can be early and properly apprised of.

The informal meetings have had an average of perhaps a dozen in attendance, according to one of those regularly there. No formal records of these meetings are kept, of course.

At the Council meetings the average attendance has been just below seven, and on only one occasion were all nine members present. Of the members at large the most regular attendants have been Messrs. Brown, Nevin, Phelps and Bail.

The sudden death of our Foreign Secretary, Philip Wolff, even before his re-election last January, did not become known to us until February, when his position was filled by the Council in appointing Chas. S. Hill.

The Council approved former President Nevin's recommendation that we have a Society collection, and appointed Mr. A. Parker Brown as Curator. The collection has been well started during the year and it is hoped the members will not forget it when they find anything they can turn its way.

The Council also appointed Mr. A. Parker Brown as an Auction Purchasing Agent for Boston, for the convenience of such members as wish to avail themselves of his services.

The matter of the "proofs of essays" which had caused considerable discussion the previous year was finally settled in a satisfactory manner to all concerned.

The statistics for the Secretary's department for the past year show 155 letters and 56 post cards written, 3 copies Statutes and Library Catalog mailed, and 1216 notices of meetings sent out—a total of 1430 pieces of mail matter.

In closing this report your Secretary really regretfully lays down his official duties. For two years as your President, for one year Vice-President, for four years your Secretary as a first term and now for six years your Secretary as a second term, I have given you thirteen years of my service as an official; and while I have been glad to do this you can perhaps realize that I feel I have given generously of my time to the interests of the Society and have earned a retirement. I shall always stand ready, however, to lend a helping hand whenever I can do so. In closing I must express my sincerest thanks and appreciation to you all for the confidence you have reposed in me and the kindness and fraternity you have one and all shown me.

Respectively submitted,

C. A. HOWES, F. R. P. S.,
Secretary.

Change of Addresses.—J. H. Fountain to 2308 1/2 W. 10th street, same city. Rev. M. Klosowski to St. Michael's Hospital, Steven's Point, same state.

Resignation.—Edwin F. Sawyer, Maitland Milliken has tendered his resignation as purchasing agent, and it has been accepted by the secretary. The secretary will be glad to receive the name of a candidate for position. The office should not remain vacant. This office and the sales department are the life of our society if members will patronize them.

Contrary to the usual custom there will be no election this year for the reason that there appears no opposing candidate nominated for the respective offices. The present elective officers will therefore hold their offices for the current year.

The above stamps are real bargains. They will not be sent on approval, but money will be refunded any dissatisfied purchaser providing stamps are returned to me immediately.

I am breaking up a very fine collection of 19th century stamps containing about 11,000 varieties, including U. S. postage, envelope, revenues, match, medicine, proprietary, locals, proofs and essays. Sixty books are now ready to be sent out and will be sent on approval to active general collectors who are sufficiently interested to furnish satisfactory commercial references. The stamps are priced at from 25% to 40% of catalogue prices. They contain hundreds of stamps never seen on approval sheets.

LOCK BOX 1273, WASHINGTON, D. C.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

"DIFFERENT" COLLECTIONS.

FORENOTE.

In securing data for this series of articles, the writer has inspected a large number of collections. Unfortunately, the vast majority of collectors pursue their hobby along certain "cut-and-dried" lines, without the slightest variation from the conventional. This is especially true of the collector who uses the printed album, which while practically essential for the general collector, does not permit readily of originality in collecting. In fact, so great is this beaten path that anyone diverging from it is often looked upon as a "crank" by his fellow collectors. The specialist usually prepares a more original collection than the general collector, for the reasons that he generally uses a blank album, permitting him to collect or discard at will without marring the beauty of the collection, and also because his limited field of research permits him to cover every point fully, whereas the general collector must be content with such stamps as he can afford to buy in order to form a good representative collection. It is the consensus of opinion that individuality in collecting, as in everything else, should be the aim of all collectors truly interested in the work.

From the above, do not get the impression that I am condemning general collecting in favor of specialism. As noted in a previous series, I am still of the opinion that for the average collector and especially the beginner, the general collection offers the best field of work. Every collector has a pet country or group which interests him more than others, and I believe he will do well to devote more attention to the country of his choice than to some of the less popular ones. Bear in mind that every country can be specialized, and that all are highly interesting when gone into beneath the surface, whether it be the Ionian Islands with its three stamps or the Colombian Republic with its multitude of varieties.

For the collector who uses a printed album, but does not know what to do with strips, or blocks, or covers, or little pieces of similar nature, let me suggest that he invest in a small loose-leaf quadrille ruled album. A book designed for students' notes can be procured for a small sum, (a size 7x10 or thereabouts should cost approximately 50c) and every collector will find this book of use to them in handling new issues or stamps not placed in the regular album. Also, a book of this nature permits the collector to use his ingenuity in designing the pages. The writer uses blank albums entirely (and for many years depended on the small book noted above) and finds that a great deal of the sport of collecting lies in the designing of the pages. To mount a series in a book, arranged by someone else, and in the same way some hundred thousand or more other collections are designed, may be all right, but for a collection that will attract attention wherever exhibited, use a blank album and design your collection in the way you think it would look the best. Then YOU are satisfied, anyway, whether anyone else is or not, and that is the most important feature of collecting.

If you had a house for sale and a man offered you $7,000 for it, would you be satisfied with $5,000? If you were building a business, would you turn away orders that you could fill? Wouldn't you get every particle of benefit out of the business you could? Don't you get every particle of benefit out of life you can? (Probably not, because very few of us know how, but you would if you could, and you think you do, and the thought makes you happy, so well and good.) Then, why not get every particle of fun out of collecting? If you want to leave out a set of stamps in a country, do you do it, or do you buy them because the book calls for them? If you feel like putting in an unused and a used copy, and maybe a strip or a block or a cover, do you do it? If you feel like specializing in Nicaragua, do you do it, or let the man who thinks U. S. the only country to collect tell you that Nicaragua isn't worth two whoops in Hungary, and thus dissuade you from your fun? Are you brave enough to come out in the sun-light and collect what you want to and not let anyone force you to collect what you do not want to? If you are, you will have a "different" collection, and whether it be worth $10.00 or $1,000, it will be worth looking at. The fun is there. If you want it, take it, and take it all.

This series of articles will deal with only a very few of the ways collectors have found for making their collections unique. I shall be pleased to hear from any of the readers who can furnish me with any information on this subject, and assure you that all matter of use will be published. If your collection has any out of the ordinary features tell me all about it, so that I can give the other collectors the benefit of your work. Due credit will be given in all cases, of course.

The first of these articles will appear at an early date.

THOSE CONTESTS.

If you haven't written your entry for the "Handsome Man" contest, get busy right away and send it in. I must have all entries by Tuesday evening, March 16th, so don't lose any time. Just write legibly your idea of the stamp bearing the picture of the most handsome man, telling what stamp it is, and why you think it is the stamp. You'll never be able to get $5.00 worth of stamps easier, and who knows but what you might win the first prize, or even the second or third prizes, which are equally acceptable. The answers are coming in pretty fast, but there are still a great many of you who aren't among the contestants. You all have an opinion on this subject. Let me know what it is.

THE OTHER CONTEST.

The ten questions dealing with the picture stamps were easy, weren't they? Just to be sure you're right, get out your answer slips and compare them with these:

- 1.—The 1d Jamaica stamp of 1900 pictures the Llandoverly Falls. This stamp was issued bi-colored in 1901.
- 2.—The Tasmania 1/2d, 1900, pictures Lake Marion. Same is issued with other watermarks in later years.
- 3.—The 1906 Brazil Official series bears a portrait of Affonso Penna.
- 4.—The Argentine Republic 5c stamp of 1902, issued to commemorate the opening of the Port of Rosario, bears a picture of that port.
- 5.—The Jubilee stamp of 1910 of Uruguay bears the picture of a Centaur. This stamp is issued in two values, 2c and 5c.
- 6.—The Roumania series of 1906 bears the picture of a Chariot Race.
- 7.—Lake Amatitlan is pictured on the 10c Guatemala 1902 series.
- 8.—The 5c and 10c Tellico Plains, Tennessee, Confederate local stamps are inscribed with the name of M. F. Johnson, Postmaster of that place. Probably very few of the readers can find these two stamps in their collections. They are worth the price of a trip to the Expo.
- 9.—Stanton is pictured on the 7c U. S., 1873. Did that one fool you? It caught 40% of the members at a meeting of the local society here one time, and they ought to know better.
- 10.—The 8c Newfoundland (1912) Guy series shows a View of Mosquito? How many hours did you spend looking for a stamp picturing the "bird" of that name?

One man wrote me that it was to be found on a local stamp hailing from a city in New Jersey. He loses.

Do you feel as though you knew all about stamps yet? Maybe the next ten questions will contain a couple you can't answer.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

F. P. S.—Your stamp inscribed "Koninkrijk der Nederlanden" is the 1 Gulden Netherlands, issued in 1898.

The one inscribed "Segnatasse" is an Italian Postage Due stamp issue of 1869-74.

The New Zealand surcharged Samoa is too recent to set a price on. I believe it will be pretty good, however, especially on the cover.

Watermarks may be detected by holding to the light, usually. If not this way, lay face down on a black surface and pour a drop of benzine on the stamp. Why not invest in a watermark cup?

Nearly all values of the Kangaroo set are still being used.

The five stamps you mention are from Austria, excepting the one inscribed "10 Sld" which is from Austrian Levant.

From your illustration of the Japanese stamps, I am unable to tell which of the several issues they belong to. In the Austrian Jubilee set besides the values you mention, there are 25h, 35h and 2, 5 and 10 Kronen. Also a 72 heller stamp was issued later, but conforms in design to the rest of the set.

I would suggest that you invest in a Scott catalogue. This little book will answer most of your questions, and will give you almost all the information you need to collect stamps. It will be worth many times the price to you, as by consulting it before buying, you will often save yourself from many exorbitant prices asked by some dealers. Also, why don't you renew your subscription for two years and get another premium? MEKEEL'S will be better every week, and you can't afford to miss it for 1c a copy, not to mention the gorgeous North Borneo or other premium you will receive.

PERU—HER STAMPS AND HER HISTORY.

By AL. DE LA TORRE BUENO.

The discovery of America by Columbus (2 centavos 1909), an event commemorated by the beautiful Colon Monument (2 soles 1907), which stands in the Plaza Colon, the Spanish name for Columbus, at Lima, was the magic wand which opened to the whole world the Western Hemisphere. Following this came the discovery of the Pacific Ocean by Balboa which, like a key opening an inner sanctuary, laid bare to Spain the vast treasure-house of the west coast of South America and which magnet-like drew a vast horde of greedy adventurers and men in all walks of life. In the van of these we find the valorous and intrepid Francisco Pizarro (5, 10 and 20 centavos 1896, 5 centavos 1897 and 1899, 4 centavos 1909), who was destined to set the brightest gem in the crown of Spain.

Sailing down the west coast of South America in 1526, Francisco Pizarro and his fellow-adventurers reached a wondrous country, rich in agriculture and the product of its mines, inhabited by a people who had achieved a state of civilization almost equal to that which the adventurers had left behind, a people with a properly constituted form of government—communistic in character—and with an established religion, the basis of which was the adoration of the sun (emblem seen on the coat-of-arms of Peru and on the 1 and 50 centavos and 1 sol 1874-9 and 1 centavo 1880, 1885 and 1895-96).

The Inca Empire, as the nation which Pizarro discovered was called, was founded about the IX century by Manco Capac (1 and 2 centavos 1896 and 1899 and 1 centavo 1909) who became the casique, or head of the Inca race. Manco Capac's origin is lost in the dim obscurity of the past, though the Inca traditions claim him to have been a son of the sun. Manco Capac united the savage Indian tribes on the shores of the Cuzco River, civilized them and taught them the worship of the sun.

Pizarro, after suffering untold hardships on the Isla de Gallos, where he had been deserted by all but thirteen of his companions, gathered about him a band of 187 fearless spirits and with them invaded the Inca Empire in 1532, gave battle to a force of 40,000 Incas, which he routed, and, aided by internal dissensions—the brothers Huascar and Atahualpa were fighting at the time for the throne—he conquered the Empire, betrayed the then reigning Casique, Atahualpa, and gave to Spain her richest possession.

The conquerors now found themselves in a land of never ceasing wonders, a land where gold shone everywhere, where even the cooking utensils were made of silver, where cunningly contrived rope suspension bridges (1 centavo 1897) spanned the deep and wide mountain chasms and great stone building loomed imposing, the ruins of the Temple of the Sun at Cuzco still being one of the wonders of the country. For beasts of burden, the natives used the llama (issue of 1866-67, 2 centavos 1871-73, and 5, 10 and 20 centavos 1895-96) the formation of its feet enabling it to tread over the rocky slopes of the Andes, slopes too steep and rough for any other beast of burden.

In 1535, Francisco Pizarro laid the first stone of the City of the Kings, as Lima, the capital of Peru, was called at the time, and in 1551, the royal charter was granted to the University of San Marcos, the oldest university in the Western Hemisphere, the School of Medicine (20 centavos 1907) founded in 1792, being famous throughout South America.

Almagro, who had been Pizarro's lieutenant, became embittered at the latter's success and organized a revolution which Pizarro suppressed, Almagro being executed by Pizarro's brothers. This further embittered Almagro's family against Pizarro and one day he was stabbed to death by Almagro's son and some of his followers as he knelt before the altar in prayer. As Pizarro fell, mortally wounded, he drew a cross with his life's blood upon the floor and kissed it with his dying breath. Pizarro's brothers caused the execution of young Almagro on the very spot on which his father had been executed.

The mummified body of the discoverer and conqueror of Peru, Francisco Pizarro, reposes in a glass casket in the cathedral at Lima where those who will may gaze upon all that is left of this great figure in the history of Peru.

Peru continued under the Spanish domain for nearly three centuries, and as this was a hard and bitter period for the colonists there is nothing in her postal issues to remind one of the dreary years endured by the settlers.

In 1820, General San Martin (5 centavos 1909), one of the liberators of Chile, reached Peru and became the leading spirit in Peru's war for independence. Prior to this Chile, Bolivia and Venezuela had obtained their independence from Spain through the efforts of Simon Bolivar, "El Libertador" as the people lovingly called him, a figure which stands pre-eminent in the history and making of South America.

In 1821, nearly half a century after the Declaration of Independence of the United States, Peru declared her independence, and the following year Simon Bolivar (10 centavos 1909) came at the call of her oppressed people, joined the army of independence, was declared dictator and drove the Spaniards from her shores, the Spaniards evacuating Callao, their last foothold in South America, in 1826.

Jose La Mar (50 centavos and 1 and 2 soles 1896 and 12 centavos 1909) was born at Guayaquil in 1778 and died in Costa Rica in 1830 after having distinguished himself in the War of Independence of Peru, during which he served as a general and commanded some of the forces at the decisive battles of Junin and Ayacucho. He was elected as the second President of Peru on August 24th, 1827, but was deposed on June 7th, 1829, after a disastrous war with Colombia.

After the war of independence, followed a period of reconstruction and adjustment to a new state of affairs which ran along smoothly and normally till 1866. During this period General Ramon Castilla (20 centavos 1909), born in 1797, who had distinguished himself in the war of independence, was elected president and served from 1845 to 1850; he was later re-elected and served from 1855 to 1859. During his second period of administration, he suppressed slavery and the personal tribute levied upon the Indians. He died in 1867 at the head of a revolutionary movement.

In 1866, Spain, which had never recognized the independence of Peru, tried to enforce her sovereignty over the country to meet an ignominious defeat at the hands of the Peruvian forces.

In 1868, Peru opened the doors of her first Exposition, which lasted till 1872. The beautiful Palacio de la Exposicion (10 centavos 1907) as well as the other buildings were of a permanent character and are still standing as are also the beautiful marble gates leading to the grounds.

In 1878, Bolivia became embroiled in a war with Chile, and Peru, coming to the assistance of the former, was left to bear the brunt of the conflict and to suffer defeat at the hands of the Chileans in a war which was stigmatized by the able writer and historian, Captain Markham, in his history of the war of the West Coast, as a blot on the civilization of the XIX century. Here we have the pitiful sight of Peru's misfortune being made more pitiful by the surcharging of her stamps with the superimposition of the Chilean coat-of-arms (issue of 1881-1882).

The war with Chile was signalized by the bravery and patriotism displayed by the sons of Peru in a war for which the country was utterly unprepared. Peru's navy consisted of but one serviceable vessel, the "Huascar," named after the great Inca casique, commanded by Rear Admiral Miguel Grau (1 centavo 1901, 2 centavos 1907, and 50 centavos 1909) born in 1838. Admiral Grau with his vessel kept the Chileans at bay and was practically the mainstay of the Peruvian arms, till he was overwhelmed by the concentrated force of the Chilean navy, consisting of two ironclads and four other vessels, his vessel being sunk and he losing his life at Angamos in 1879.

General Bolognesi (1 sol 1909 and 2 centavos 1901) immortalized by the Bolognesi Monument (1 centavo 1907-08) was another of the heroes of the war of the west coast, whose deeds of valor will always shine in the pages of Peru's history.

Chile's war of devastation robbed Peru not alone of territory, but of progress, setting her back years and years, undoing what had been done in the years of peace and tranquility, stirred up a sentiment of unrest which caused internal strife and gave birth to many revolutions and changes of government during one of which General Nicolas Pierola (5 centavos 1897) again took the reins of government in his hands. Later, General Andres Avelino Caceres, one of Peru's most valiant sons and one who never lowered the Peruvian flag to the Chilean arms, became President and was followed by his friend, Morales Bermudez (surcharge on the stamps of 1894) who died in office, when General Caceres again took the reins of Government in his hands.

After General Caceres became President, the country began a new era of peace which has been marred only by the revolution made in 1895 by General Pierola and the late ousting of President Billinghurst. During this period, Romana (5 centavos 1901) was President for a term but did nothing special to distinguish himself.

During this new era of progress, the Medical School (20 centavos 1907) which had been despoiled by the Chileans was rehabilitated, the new race course and club house of Santa Beatriz (1 sol 1907) was built, as also was the postal and telegraph office (50 centavos 1907) both branches being under government control, and the Municipal Institute of Hygiene (12 centavos 1907).

Thus we read the history of Peru in her stamps.

SOME MORE MEXICANS.

We have been shown by A. Goldsmith of Cleveland, Ohio, some more Mexican "provisionals" that are possibly the creations of speculators. These stamps are on "original covers" and have every appearance of being made to order.

One cover has a set of revenue stamps consisting of the 1, 2, 5, and 10c values with the overprinting "Correos." The surcharge on the 1c is in carmine and blue on the three other values.

A second cover has the regular Mexican issue, 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5c with a vertical overprint on each, reading "Gobierno Const." The surcharge reads upwards and is printed in two lines in carmine on the 1 and 3c values and in blue on the others.

The third cover consists of the 3c Denver issue, overprinted in black in three lines "Vale—20 Centavos—1914." Further information concerning these stamps will be very welcome.

EDITORIAL.

San Francisco Calls—San Francisco has invited philatelic America to its festival and the Pacific Coast members of the national stamp organizations are anxious that a large number of philatelists enjoy their hospitality at convention time. Ordinarily, it would be too early to plan for attendance at a convention to be held in August, but this year is an exceptional one and not subject to routine ruling; and members in the east must begin to make plans for convention travel, else they may find that time may slip by so quickly that they will be unprepared at the last moment.

* * *

Cleveland Celebrates—This has been Cleveland's week and there has been a memorable gathering of philatelists in the city made famous by the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club. We know whereof we speak and we shall have an account of the festivities in an early issue. Meantime, we say without any reservations, that the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club has been fittingly celebrated.

* * *

Matter Of Taste—In the course of his learned disquisition, a writer says that one can tell usually when a stamp has had its color changed chemically by its "taste." Eheu, another rite will have to be performed by the collector as he beholds the stamp. In addition to squinting at the specimen through a glass and testing the snap of the paper and using benzine on the stamp, the expert will have to taste it. The tongue will tell.

Curbs Enthusiasm—Nothing can disturb the poise of our Bill Bloss. He is conservative in his expressions, even though his love for Philatelia is fiercely ardent; and we should wonder at Bill's power of repression if we did not suspect that Bill well knows that if he gave loose to his passion, his fervid eloquence would startle us ordinary chaps. So, wisely, he burns within and turns a calm, if not cold exterior to the philatetelic mob. For instance, Bill has admitted in his column that a pair of No. 1 Norway is a rather select piece; and he plunged verbally by saying that this stamp in block was not to be found in every day's journey. Leaving Bill in proud possession of his opinions, we wish to call attention to the fact that a pair of No. 1 Norway sold recently in a sale of the Philadelphia Stamp Company for $10.50. Even a pair of Norway's first stamp is not common; and as for blocks, they are almost extinct.

* * *

In Brief—Our newer readers in particular may find the following explanation which Mr. Al. de la Torre Bueno has been kind enough to send us of instructive interest. The word "Ultramar" on Cuban and Puerto Rican stamps has been known to puzzle collectors for a time. "The Spanish word, ultramar, is composed of the Latin prefix ultra, meaning over or beyond; and the main root, or Spanish word mar, sea. Consequently, we see that the word ultramar means over or beyond the sea and is the word employed by Spain to designate her colonies over or 'beyond the sea.' In her postal issues, however, she employed the word only in connection with the earlier issues of the stamps used for Cuba (1868 to 1879) and Puerto Rico (1868 to 1876). As far as the Philippines are concerned, she used between the years 1854 and 1872, stamps similar to those for the mother country with the inscription 'Correos' or 'Correos Interior'; after the above dates all the stamps for the Philippine Islands bore the word, Filipinas."

* * *

On The Back—The Third Assistant Postmaster General has issued a warning that the customs-duty stamps furnished by the Canadian and Australian governments to persons in this country for the purpose of paying the duty for the senders on "certain printed advertising matter" addressed to these British colonies may be affixed only to the reverse side of such advertising matter. "If such customs-duty stamps should be affixed to the address side of the matter, it shall not be accepted for mailing." The regular postage stamps must prepay the matter under this classification.

Mentioned Before—We have the pleasure of hearing again from Mr. Childs: "Some time ago, I wrote you about an article on the first British postage stamps, which occupied pages 491 to 505, in the Westminster Review, London, V. 33, October 1839 to March 1840. The several plates were a feature of the account, which at the outset gives much space to bibliography and the political aspects with reference to the postal department. The different schemes for prepaying postage are touched upon and reference is made in several instances to the accompanying plates. The possibility of counterfeiting is discussed and shown to be without foundation. The first two plates merely represent line engraving in surface prints so it is stated. The third plate is in two parts, the upper of which has two cuts in red and black, providing designs for a stamp which could be cheaply produced; the lower part has several examples of colored embossing and dry stamping without color as practiced at the Stamp Office; the colors seem to be blue. The next is Mr. Sievier's design for stamp covers with detailed information as to the cost of production. The last plate represents engraving by Perkins, Bacon, Petch and Company. There are two large ovals with allegorical figures surrounded by six smaller ones, perhaps a half-inch in diameter, containing the ten commandments, or at least that is what they seemed to be. (I had no glass with me and so could not examine the small type closely.) These specimens of line engraving are remarkably clear and distinct." We do not remember having seen the typographical examples cited by Mr. Childs but we have examined similar productions in English art and other journals of that period and marvel at their excellence.

* * *

Just Out—A reader has shown us the Nicaragua locomotive type, No. 328, in the catalogue with the surcharge, "Vale cinco centavos de cordoba 1913," with a double surcharge. This uncatalogued variety was recently received in the mail of a large firm. The stamps surcharged "Oficial" in black on the A24 catalogue type, Nicaragua, are coming in the mails. The stamps which are in blue seen thus far are the one and the twenty-five centavos.

* * *

That Canal Zone Error—We notice that the Stamp Journal speaks of the error on the two cent Canal Zone of the third series in which the "L" of Canal is placed on its side in relation to the other letters. As is said, this error is very rare and our contemporary says: "Only about twenty-five of these stamps are known, though there must have been originally 950 or 1,000 of them." We happen to have before us a letter from the Disbursing Officer of the Isthmian Canal Commission on the subject of this error, which is dated February 10, 1906, in which he says that such was the vigilance of the authorities in withdrawing the stamp in question, that he believes that not more than twenty got into circulation and that he knew of the existence of but eight of the error.

THOSE U. S. SPECIAL PRINTINGS.

Our San Francisco correspondent was mistaken in his opinion that among the exhibit at San Francisco were stamps which would ultimately be known as belonging to a special printing. We took the matter up with the authorities in Washington and the following communication from W. J. Barrows, acting third assistant postmaster general, would seem to take care of the matter.

"The Department stamp exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition is composed of a set of die proofs of all adhesive issues beginning with 1847 and including the Philippines distinctive issue, special delivery, registry and postal savings stamps."

So the "special printing" consists of die proofs.

CATALOG "DISCOUNT" ADVERTISING.

We inaugurated last week a far-reaching reform in the matter of the use of the word "discount" in connection with advertising in the WEEKLY. Henceforth, it will be allowable to run 50 per cent. discount advertising, but larger discounts than this will be prohibited.

We stated the grounds last week for taking this step and feel that the trade will recognize the value of our rule. We ask our advertisers to comply with the new rule and feel positive that in the end the stand we have taken will be amply justified.

Already we are beginning to receive hearty endorsements of the stand taken. The International Stamp Co. sent us a telegram and followed up with a letter expressing hearty approval and declaring that the reform was very much needed.

A. W. Batchelder of the New England Stamp Co. believes that this step taken by the WEEKLY will be of great value to philately, dealer and collector alike being benefited.

D. M. Ward, Gary, Ind., who has been using 60 and 70 per cent. discount lines accepts the situation gracefully and inserts a quarter page this week which will be read with interest. He writes:—"Your paper certainly has the pulling power as at least 85 per cent. of my customers mention your publication."

From a letter just at hand from J. M. Bartels in expressing his approval of the new move we quote:—"For a number of years the two principal German advertising papers have declined any advertisement which quoted a catalog price in conjunction with an offer. They will not accept an adv. which states that approval selections are sent out at 40 per cent. or any other percentage off of Senf."

It is a very opportune time for the WEEKLY to take this advance step, and we believe that it will mean a great deal for the welfare of stamp collecting.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

MEXICAN REVOLUTIONARY ISSUES.

Business houses, banks and railroad officials who have served us in buying supplies at various postoffices have repeatedly reported that the postoffice officials have refused to sell them stamps when it was known that they were to be sent away to a stamp dealer in a foreign country, insisting that their supplies were needed at home for postal purposes. Indeed, some offices have refused to sell stamps at all, when their supplies were low, requiring that letters be brought to the postoffice and stamps attached to them in the presence of the officials.

Postage Due Stamps continue to be used for the prepayment of postage wherever supplies of these stamps exist, and the current issue Mexican revenue stamps which, without the talon, are very similar in appearance to the Denver issue, are frequently used for postage in emergency in various places. In Monterey the overprint was applied.

Among all the Mexican provisionals there has been no taint of fraud or irregularity, as near as we can judge, except that which has appeared in connection with a man who is alleged to be a fugitive postmaster from Mexico, who is now located in Arizona, across the border. This party is sending out batches of fraudulently cancelled Mexican stamps, using postoffice utensils, which, it is alleged, have been stolen from Mexican postoffices. Newspaper accounts of the difficulties which arose between officials that were put in power by the Villa government and which were not recognized by Carranza, gave the information that when the Carranza postmasters decamped, they took all the postoffice supplies with them.

Letters written on official postal stationery, which originated either in Hermosillo or Nogales, accompanied by consignments of fraudulent provisionals, have been sent out freely to stamp collectors and dealers from Nogales, Arizona. In reply to two of these letters, which were sent to us, we wrote the following letter, which is explanatory in itself:—

SR FRANCISCO O. Y. ROCHA, Nogales, Arizona.

Dear Sir:

Referring to the two attached memos, I have to advise you that the envelopes bearing postage stamps with fraudulent cancellations are absolutely worthless, and I have returned to you both parcels, which were sent unsolicited.

Stamps that have not been regularly passed through the mail do not interest me, and I am advised that you are a refugee from your native country and hold the postoffice cancellation stamps without authority. Therefore, these stamps are frauds and your acts would be considered criminal. I am charitable enough, however, to believe that you do not understand the grave nature of the offense in which you are participating, and advise you to discontinue the circulation of these fraudulent envelopes. You will certainly come to grief if you continue to use the United States mails for fraudulent purposes, as this is what the circulation of this rubbish on approval amounts to.

I am open to buy genuine copies of the Mexican Revolutionary surcharges, Sonora issues, present as well as the re-issues, or bona-fide old issues, but they must be unused and above suspicion, or have had bona-fide postal use. The rubbish which you are sending out is disgraceful.

Yours truly,
C. H. MEKEEL.

The Eastern dealers who are handling these things have probably been deceived as to the character of the rubbish.

The above is a Rocha fraud. The Sonora revenue stamps were not authorized for use for postal purposes at any time and the postmarked copies now being offered to the trade are rank frauds.

Rocha is sending out stamps of Mexico, early issues absolutely void for postage purposes, as well as 1910 issue, overprinted "E. S." in monogram. We advise caution, as other correspondents in the State of Sonora tell us that this overprint is not in use there.—Stamp Exchange Bulletin.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

BRITISH GUIANA.—From J. A. Galbraith we have received a specimen copy of the 96c with white back. Mr. Galbraith writes us that he has been on the hunt for this stamp for fourteen months.

CANAL ZONE.—We are indebted to Emil J. Rall for a set of the new stamps issued to commemorate the opening of the Canal. There are four values in the set, four stamps of the Panama set being taken for a Canal Zone overprinting. The 1c shows a relief map of the Canal; the 2c, Balboa "taking possession"; the 5c, the Gatun Locks, and the 10c, the Culebra Cut. The overprinting is in blue in two lines reading upwards. The set is a very attractive one.

Gerald D. Bliss also sends us a set of these commemoratives on cover, which was mailed at Cristobal March 1, the day that the stamps were first placed on sale.

H. F. Christiansen sends us a copy of the 2c.

MEXICO.—By courtesy of S. B. Hopkins, we are able to give a list of the entire of the Monterrey issues. The overprinting consists of the words "Gobierno Constitucionalista" rubber stamped in two lines.

- 5+5c orange on cream (reply).

In the 2c envelope and 1c and 2c regular postcards, there is a variety, the first "T" of the overprinting being omitted.

NORTHWEST PACIFIC.—The Australian Stamp Journal states:

"Japan having intimated her desire to transfer the Marshall and Caroline Islands, etc., to the Imperial Authorities, Colonel S. A. Pethebridge, C. M. G., recently Secretary to the Minister for Defence for Australia, has been appointed 'Australian Commissioner for the Pacific,' with jurisdiction over the islands above referred to, and has sailed for the north, taking with him, we understand, a supply of Australian stamps (mostly kangaroos) overprinted 'North West Pacific.' We have not yet seen the stamps, nor can we say what denominations will be issued; but we understand that sufficient stock has been taken up to meet all likely requirements, even comprising those of collectors and dealers."

PANAMA.—Gerald D. Bliss has sent us the new commemoratives just issued. There are eight values, all large, a horizontal oblong in shape, 22 mm. wide and 33 mm. long for the 1/2c, 2 1/2c and 20c

ANNOUNCEMENT!

In pursuance of the policy of this publication in eliminating "big discount" advertisements, I have decided to withdraw my offer of 60-10% and substitute a PROFIT SHARING plan.

My experience as a stamp dealer has taught me at least two things:—

FIRST: Stamps can hardly be sold profitably at ANY discount to the man who keeps them for two or three months and then buys 50c worth or less.

SECOND: Stamps CAN be sold with considerable profit at a discount of 50% to the man who returns them in 10 days or less, and that the amount of profit increases in proportion to the amount of the sale.

I am willing to SHARE the increased profit with the buyer who is prompt, and "WE WILL BOTH GAIN."

LOGIC

Major Premise: Procrastination is the thief of time.

Minor Premise: Time is money.

Conclusion: Procrastination costs money.

I can interest the general collector—the one who likes to see his collection grow, and who likes good stamps nicely arranged on clean sheets.

THE PRICE DEPENDS UPON YOU

The inscriptions read the same on all values, "Republica de Panama—Correos" at the top and the value at the bottom. "Exposicion de Panama 1915" appears on the 1/2c, 2c, 2 1/2c, 3c and 20c values. This last inscription does not appear on the 1c, 5c and 10c values, but "Canal de Panama 1915" is printed instead. The stamps are printed on white unwatermarked paper, perforated 12. Frank M. Mason, the New England Stamp Co. and the Sterling Stamp Co. have also shown us these stamps and H. F. Colman has sent us a set. It was provided in the official order that only 100 stamps of each variety should be sold to a single purchaser. This order applies to non-residents of Panama and the Canal Zone. An effort is made to give all buyers an equal chance to buy them.

PANAMA ISSUE STATISTICS.

We are indebted to Emil J. Rall and Gerald D. Bliss for the Canal Record of March 3, from which we quote:

"Postage stamps of a special issue, commemorative of the opening of the Panama Canal, were placed on sale at the Canal Zone post-offices on Monday, March 1. These stamps are part of the special 1915 issue of the Republic of Panama. In accordance with the Executive Order of December 3, 1904, the government of Panama furnishes the stamps for the Canal Zone postal service and receives for them 40 per cent. of the face value. The government of Panama ordered and placed on sale, eight kinds of stamps, aggregating 7,500,000 pieces, of which the Canal Zone postal service requested an issue of 350,000 surcharged "Canal Zone." These 350,000 stamps, consisting of 100,000 each of one, two, and five-cent stamps, and 50,000 10-cent stamps, have been distributed among the Canal Zone post-offices in proportion to their stamp sales for the month of January, 1915."

Mr. Bliss sends an additional word:—"It might be of interest to note the spelling of title on the five-cent, 'Exclusas de Gatun,' there being no such word in the Spanish dictionary. The proper spelling for the equivalent of 'Locks' being 'Esclusas.' As far as known to the writer, the entire issue appears with the incorrect spelling."

HYBRIDS.

To THE EDITOR:—

Many people collect a certain class of stamps which are, at best, but hybrids. These stamps serve a double purpose—that of either revenue or postage stamps, depending entirely upon the use to which they have been put. While they have not been put to either of the uses for which they were intended they are neither fish nor fowl, as they assume the character of either postage or revenue stamps only after they are cancelled—the cancellation giving them their true status.

How many collectors of the above class of stamps would include in their collections unsurcharged revenue stamps of other countries which had not actually done postal service. None, I warrant. Then why should an uncanceled British or British colonial stamp receive any greater consideration than any other revenue stamp.

The ways of collectors are really wonderful and this stand on their part can be attributed only to the idiosyncrasies of the cult.

I have seen many collections with a good showing of uncanceled British and British colonies, but in none have I seen under the provisional issues of Peru. No. 11 of Ancachs uncanceled (catalogued by Scott at $10.00) as they consider it but a revenue stamp. In this contention, they are quite right, yet they do not discriminate against the stamps under consideration.

RUBIAT PHILATELIQUE.

By KARL A. PEMBER.

With apologies to the Tent-maker.

A garret lined with chests in many a row
Well filled with letters of 'be long ago,
No one to bother you the whole day through;
Ah, garret then were paradise enow.

Before the lot's looked over one by one Methought a Brattleboro! "Millbury"! or some

Such rarity might come to light!—
Alas!
Just three-cent-greens I find when all is done.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

A "DIFFERENT" U. S. COLLECTION.

United States is by far the most popular country among collectors on this side of the world, therefore, it is proper that we consider a "different" United States collection as the first subject in this series. This particular collection is not as highly specialized as many, and in many respects is like an ordinary U. S. collection. There are probably many collectors who gather their stamps in the same way. It is not the intention to go into detail on the various hair-splitting minor varieties that can be found on careful search. These little differences go to make the hobby attractive to some collectors, and therefore they may be commended, but the average collector is uninterested in guide dots and hair lines. Therefore, while reference will often be made to these differences, let the collector feel free to gather or discard them as he chooses.

The collection in question is the result of several years' work and represents a considerable out-lay of money. It is the property of a prominent Southern collector who wishes his name withheld. The collection, which is of U. S. and colonies only, is contained in five loose leaf volumes, and the pages are hand-lettered and designed with great care. While the average collector will find it unnecessary to use as expensive albums as this collector uses, let me urge every collector using a blank album to use, all the possible care in designing and lettering the book. A poorly lettered page is far worse than a page without any lettering whatever. For a small sum a hand-book on lettering can be obtained which will give alphabets and rules for this work. For the collector without any artistic ability, let me suggest the use of a typewriter on his pages.

Commencing with the 1847 issue of U. S., the collection contains used copies in very fine condition. Of the five cent, there are red, blue and green cancellations. There are also two covers bearing the stamps. The lettering gives full information concerning the stamps, such as date of issue, manufacturer's name, information concerning the government reprints. This information can be obtained from nearly any of the hand-books on U. S. stamps or from certain of the catalogues.

The 1851-7 issue contains canceled copies of the various types of these stamps, including a few pairs and strips, a block of four of the 1c and 3c imperforate, and some single copies showing the different cancellations. The latter are chiefly 3c stamps and can be obtained at the expense of more labor in hunting for them than money. The varieties of type are illustrated, being drawn from the enlarged illustrations in the hand-book. There are several covers of this issue. Throughout the entire collection, the dates and other data are lettered.

The grilled issues are distinguished, and a reproduction of a grill has been copied from the hand-book. Various odd cancellations, pairs, shades and covers go to represent these issues. The reasons for the use of the grill are explained, also full information concerning same.

The 1869 issue is well represented with beautiful used singles, including a few shades and cancellations, also a block of four of the 3c and several pairs and strips. The full particulars of the series are outlined, giving the non-collector an insight into the reasons for the issue.

The 1870-9 issues contain a beautiful assortment of shades, also the double paper and cog wheel varieties, as well as pairs, strips and blocks, and one or two covers. Full details are written up. The secret marks are plainly illustrated by enlarged drawings, and arrows point to the section of the stamp containing the mark. Also the differences in hard and soft paper are described as accurately as possible.

Commencing with the 1880 issues, the collection includes a superb block of four unused of nearly all of the stamps, as well as the used copies and shades, strips and cancellation varieties. These blocks of four certainly add materially to the beauty of the collection, as well as to the value. There are so many collectors interested in this form of collecting that a block of four of many of the old issues is worth many times the price of four single copies. However, back of 1880 blocks are very scarce and it is practically impossible to complete even the more common values in blocks, certainly without the expenditure of a vast amount of money.

The 1890 issue is represented by a splendid assortment of shades, both in blocks and used singles and strips. The 1894 issue is collected along the same lines. Enlarged sketches illustrate the various triangle differences, and add greatly to the attractiveness of the collection from a non-collector's point of view. The 1895 issue is illustrated with tracing of the watermark found on this series, and contains the usual array of stamps.

The Exposition series of 1893 and 1898 are fully explained, and the stamps themselves are tastefully arranged to please the eye. The 1898 series in the new colors are represented by one of the finest assortment of shades of used copies I have ever seen. This particular set makes a fine example of what can be done with cheap stamps, for none of these are rare used and all can be obtained for a very few cents. Whereas, the set ordinarily would create no sensation as it is common, when it is viewed in all its various shades, ranging from light to dark, it is an exhibit out of the ordinary, even though the entire lot would scarcely cost a half dollar. The use of pairs and strips help to increase the beauty of the pages.

The Buffalo set of 1901 is also strong in beautiful shades, especially among the blocks. These cost considerably more money than the other set, but a wonderful display can be made of used copies with a little search, and less money.

The 1902 and 1908 issues contain a choice assortment of unused blocks, including shades, also used blocks and shades lightly canceled, as well as pairs, strips, and combinations on pieces of cover, such as a 2c and 13c, a 4c and 8c, a 50c and 5c, and other odd values. There are nearly three hundred stamps in the two sets, mostly used, and the entire display cost but very little. All are fine copies and are found only after considerable search.

The Exposition series of 1904, 1907 and 1909, are featured along the same lines as the other issues. These stamps are still more or less common and a vast number of shades and oddities in the form of pairs, strips, etc., can be obtained without much effort or expense.

The current issues are even more extensively featured, and include several pages of precanceled stamps, a nice collection of the different style cancellations in use at the present time, odd combinations, especially of the 7c, 9c and the other new values. With a little patient effort, every collector could probably duplicate this assortment without the expenditure of a dollar, or at least make a collection as good.

The imperforates are featured by unused blocks of four, showing the intersection of the guide lines, the arrow varieties, ordinary unlined varieties, also used blocks and pairs. Full information concerning the issue of these

JOSEPH B. LEAVY

THE GOVERNMENT PHILATELIST WHO HAS ACHIEVED A GREAT SUCCESS.

A year ago last fall Joseph B. Leavy was selected by the U. S. government from a field of applicants to rearrange the government stamp collection at Washington. He has applied himself faithfully to the task and for the first time we now have a stamp exhibit that may be considered a credit to us all. Philatelists visiting Washington will find in the National Museum the collection concerning which further particulars may be found elsewhere in this issue. We are indebted to the Washington Star for the loan of the above cut.

DREAMING!

A collector of U. S. supposed the Coil stamps were manufactured by some private companies. One day he woke up and found they were regular issues printed by the Bureau at Washington.

Then He Woke Up

and when awake he found that there were thirty-four varieties that he didn't have, and that some of them which he could have bought for 30c are now $10.00 each.

Costly Dreams??

Now then, whilst they last:—
Six Varieties U. S. Gov't Coils..... $.30
Ten Varieties U. S. Gov't Coils..... 1.00
Twenty-nine Varieties U. S. Gov't Coils..... 5.00

And the 1902-12 Imperfs. in Pairs

Eleven Varieties, unused..... 1.50
We have a hundred dollar bill tucked away in the safe to exchange for a 90c 1869 on the original cover.

THE GOVERNMENT COLLECTION.

We find in the Washington Star the following story that will be of interest to every philatelist. While a rather belated recognition of philately and the merit and value of our government collection, the work done is a movement in the right direction and there will be general satisfaction that Mr. Leavy has done so well the work assigned him. We thank the "Star" for the courtesy extended in the loan of plates.

One of the finest museum collections of postage stamps in the world is owned by the United States government. The public is now, for the first time, given the privilege of viewing these stamps in tabulated and orderly form. Their arrangement in brand-new mahogany cases of most modern construction has about been completed by Joseph B. Leavy, the government philatelist, and they now form a permanent exhibit of the division of history of the National Museum.

The work of tabulation and arrangement has occupied over a year of Mr. Leavy's time. The stamps had long been stored away in the archives of the post office, neglected and without attention, and to him fell the stupendous task of sorting and identifying them, and to him must go the credit for having suggested the novel cases in which they are exhibited and the original method which was followed in their arrangement.

This $200,000 collection is installed in the northwest court of the old building of the museum in the finest equipment of its kind in the world. Even the famous collection of the British Museum cannot boast of so modern and up-to-date an abode, and Mr. Leavy declares that the Berlin post office collection and the French government collection are poorly housed and miserably displayed when compared to the lavish and magnificent arrangement of the collection belonging to this country.

One of the advantages of this new installation is due to its position in an interior court, which is lighted entirely from overhead. No direct light ever falls upon the exhibits. Even in the late afternoon hours of dark winter days the artificial light is supplied from arc lights directly above the cabinets.

But the chief charm of the collection lies in the fact that the cabinets are so perfectly adapted to the use for which they were made that one can view the stamps easily and carefully without the fatigue of bending over to look into cases or through heavy folios.

The specimens are mounted on heavy white paper displayed on dark gray mats, and these are arranged in glass-covered frames which slide in and out of the cabinets. When the frames are pulled out the stamps are brought on a level with the eye, which admirably facilitates their inspection.

The four cabinets are each about six feet high, eight feet long and three feet deep. Each section contains seventy-four frames in a single row—a compact arrangement which insures simplicity to the locking system. Each frame is secured separately, however, so that even when the entire cabinet is unlocked it is not possible to remove a frame.

The foreign countries are arranged in alphabetical order, irrespective of geographical location, and where there are colonies or possessions, they are displayed in alphabetical order directly after the mother country in geographical sequence.

The headings are typewritten over the stamps on the mounting sheets and throughout the collection these give the date of issue, method of printing, where and by whom printed, watermark, perforation and if the issue is commemorative a note is made of the event commemorated.

In addition to the labels shown above the stamps a large chart will be attached to the end of each section of the cabinet giving the countries in alphabetical order and opposite the numbers of the frames which contain the countries' stamps. No time need be lost in locating any particular stamp in the entire cabinet.

Each country is divided into two sections, nineteenth and twentieth century issues and each section is separately installed, a feature which also serves to simplify examination of the collection.

This collection is by no means complete; even from the United States issues a few of the stamps are missing. But even so, the history of the growth of the United States post office is practically reviewed as one examines the collection. The oldest specimens are those of the city issues of 1845—the first postmasters' provisionals in this country. These were issued five years after the birth of stamps in Great Britain. The dates bring the fact startlingly to mind that postage stamps have only been in use a little more than fifty years.

One of the gems of the collection is the display of 30-cent stamps of 1869 with inverted medallions. The 30-cent stamp is the rarest square of paper in the entire collection.

Among the twentieth century rarities are the stamps of 1909, printed on bluish paper; and the two-cent stamps of the Pan-American Commemorative issue of 1901 with inverted medallion.

The envelope section of the United States is nearly complete, and is probably the finest cut square collection in existence, all of the die varieties of the early Nesbitt issues being shown.

The commemorative series are intact. These include stamps of 1893, the Columbus celebration; 1898, the Trans-Mississippi exposition at Omaha; 1901, the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo; 1904, the Louisiana purchase; 1907, the Jamestown exposition; 1909, centenary of Lincoln's birth; 1909, the Hudson-Fulton celebration; 1909, the Alaska-Yukon exposition; 1915, Panama exposition.

"The value of stamps," said Mr. Leavy, who has been government philatelist since October, 1913, "is often determined queerly. A misprint or a recalled issue often brings up the value to an amazing figure. The intrinsic value of stamps, like anything else, is based upon supply and demand, and if collecting fell into disfavor many paper fortunes would vanish as quickly as when some stock market bubble bursts.

"We philatelists have come to believe that stamp collecting has grown out of the mania stage and arrived at the dignified point where it may be alluded to as a science. For the advantages of stamp collecting are many. It carries with it an educative value that exceeds the value of a collection by itself."

THE ALBUM QUESTION.

By H. F. LAMB.

They say one can decide which of two roads is the better after trying both. During the past ten years I have made one or two fairly good collections. My first was in a Scott album, was a little discouraged at first in the no end of spaces to be filled, but went at it. Not long before a new edition came out with more work ahead, soon I gave up the idea of filling them all, and cut out many countries. Occasionally, getting a few blocks and pairs, I had no place to put them, so number two book was a good first class blank album. No longer was confronted with little squares calling for "Inverted centers" or larger ones for $500. Revenues. Complaint frequently is made that one collection of stamps is like another. Quite true if one cares only for one specimen of a kind. To my mind the beauty of a collection consists first in perfect specimens either used or unused, and also its individuality.

In my U. S. book, I have in some cases twenty or more shaded stamps of a kind also pairs, blocks, various perforations and the like, adding quite considerably to its attractiveness.

Have now limited my collection to fifty countries, my idea being to bring them to as near completeness as possible.

ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS ACTIVE.

The Twin City Philatelic Society wants to call the attention of dealers and collectors to this young philatelic giant, now two years old with sixty members and a regular monthly attendance of thirty or more. The meetings this year under Jules Frelin, the president, are becoming of more and more interest. Papers on live subjects, short discussions, auction sales, and reviews keep the membership wideawake. Some two weeks ago one of the members, a specialist in U. S. proofs gave an illustrated talk on the die proofs of the Trans-Mississippi issue. At the next meeting there will be a talk on "Encased Postage Stamps."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—L. F. Barry—All the stamps of the current set will undoubtedly appear with the 10 perforation. The 9c stamp was issued subsequent to the printing of your album spaces.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Arthur Berg and Herman Varas.

—M. Ohlman advises us that he can get no reply to letters sent one Clape, whose address is given as Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

—The Mount Royal (Montreal) Philatelic Society has been formed and meets twice each month at 522 Laval Ave. We wish the new society every success.

—"It may be of interest to you to learn that the Villa Government, throughout its territory, and lower California as well, has doubled the postal rate on all classes of mail. The local and foreign letter rate is now 10 centavos."—W. J. STANTON.

—"In regard to Documentary Rev. being used on Proprietary articles, as noted in Mar. 13 issue, will say nearly all chewing gum (stock on hand) last December, in Auburn, N. Y., had documentary revenues affixed, some 4c, but many had blocks of four one cent. Presumably no proprietary were to be had during the first days. Today, fresh stocks of gum show the 4c black pre-cancelled."—FRANK H. KOON.

—"Here's a good joke. I was showing a friend a beautiful block of the Italian two lire stamp of 1879. He looked at it a moment and then said, 'But I thought you didn't collect dues?' 'I don't,' I replied, 'that's not a due stamp.' 'It is,' said he, 'it says, 'Lire due'!"—H. L. CLARK.

A correspondent severely criticises a dealer with whom he has had an unsatisfactory experience. We cannot believe that the charge made applies to all dealers. Our friend writes:—"A collector can buy stamps of a dealer but he cannot buy, beg, or steal any information from him."

SALE OF THE "STAMP JOURNAL"

The Stamp Journal of Florida, N. Y., has been purchased by the Collectors' Blue Book, which publication will fill out all subscription and advertising contracts. The name of the combined publication will be that of the older magazine, The Stamp Journal. It has been known for some time that Editor DeKay desired to retire from the field of philatelic journalism. The publication of a stamp paper at its best means a large amount of labor with financial returns not at all in keeping with the amount of time, energy and effort expended. We wish the new management every success.

DISCOUNT ADVERTISING.

While the general run of our correspondence has been favorable to the radical reform in connection with the advertising of big discounts, we have received two communications from collectors who feel that they are to be deprived of the opportunity of purchasing stamps cheaply, and it is represented that this new order of things is in the interest more especially of the dealer.

The Managing Editor of the WEEKLY is now a collector. He has, however, had a dozen years as a dealer and is able to consider this matter from both standpoints. He believes that the new policy of the WEEKLY comes at a very opportune time. It is at the height of its prosperity as a newspaper and has an obligation resting upon it to uphold the dignity and maintain the prosperity of our hobby to the best of its ability.

No dealer can furnish any large number of desirable stamps at from 75 to 90% off catalog. He can furnish some good stamps no doubt at from 60 to 75% and there is rubbish including faked stuff that can easily be sold at 90%. It is not, however, a good business policy for the WEEKLY to allow one or more dealers to poison the minds of the rank and file of the collecting public by intimating that good stamps can be purchased at such big discounts as we have named.

Replying to these two subscribers who have expressed a desire to protect the collector, we urged upon them the fact that we welcomed the advertising of any dealer who can name the stamps that he wishes to offer at the discounts under consideration, and it will not take the bargain hunter very long to connect with the stamps offered. Moreover, such stamps can be used as a medium for the opening of profitable business relations.

Briefly stated, our position is simply this:—

Dealers can advertise stamps at any discount they please from the catalog, so long as the stamps are named, but we decline henceforth to allow high grade stamps to suffer from the flaring headlines that have been used in the past to indicate excessively low prices at which stamps can be purchased. This we maintain is a good business policy not only for the dealer but the collector as well.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

STAMP NEWS FROM THE FRONT.

Whitfield King & Co. have received from a correspondent in Bucharest the current 5 and 10 bani stamps overprinted "Timbru de Ajutor," an inscription which indicates the use of the stamps in collecting funds in aid, presumably, of one of the war philanthropies.

News is to hand that the long set of seventeen Hungarian War Relief stamps issued in October and November last is sold out, and in place of them the current ordinary postage stamps of Hungary have received a similar overprint. So far, only the 1, 2, and 3 filler values have been reported here, but I have reckoned on the full set as being issued or in readiness for issue at an early date.

It has been reported several times that German stamps had superseded the separate issue for the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg. This, however, is not the case, and the Luxemburg stamps bearing a portrait of the young Grand Duchess continue in use. Six new denominations from 35c to 5f have been added to the series.—London Telegraph.

ADVANCED GROUND TAKEN.

Some few months ago the WEEKLY indicated to the trade that it must discontinue the acceptance of the advertising of stamps by the pound, and we are satisfied that this move was very welcome not only to our subscribers but to the trade generally.

Two weeks ago we followed up this step with another, our attention this time being directed toward the use of big catalog discounts as features in advertising. We became satisfied that a radical reform in this direction was necessary and we feel that we have done wisely in prohibiting the use of these discounts. A 50% discount is possible on a wide range of stamps, but the 75 to 90% discounts are very misleading. The new order of things has met with approval and our course is being generally commended.

We have one other matter in mind and this deals with the advertising of mixtures of a definite number of stamps for a certain price. This advertising is so closely related to pound mixtures that it is difficult to distinguish between them. If mixtures are to be advertised it must be definitely stated just how many stamps there are in the mixture and a description given that will enable one to judge the exact contents of the mixture. "1000 U. S. stamps for 10c" or "1000 foreign stamps mixed 12c" are offerings that hereafter will be tabooed. Variety packets are O. K., but mixtures should not be advertised in a paper of our standing.

MARCH 29TH AUCTION SALE includes among other fine things, the following rarities: St. Louis 5c; 1851, 1c type III in used pair; 1869, 15c mint without grill; mint 1c and 2c Pan American inverts; mint State $5, $10, $20 all dark green, evenly matched; wonderful mint Barbados blocks; Orange rarities, and superb used German Colonies. Catalogues now ready and sent free on request.

Dealers will please comply with the above. We desire to raise the standard of activities in stamp dealing to the highest level possible.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Cleveland has been the hub of the philatelic universe during the past week and those who were fortunate enough to participate in the festivities on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club feel that they have been favored almost beyond the telling. There is so much to relate about Cleveland's triumph that we shall await the more generous allotment of next week's news columns, so that the story may not be cramped for space. Here, it is enough to say that the celebration was comparable to the annual convention of the American Philatelic Society and was enjoyable in all its aspects.

* * *

There was a large attendance of visitors to Cleveland; the local members were out in full numerical strength; there was an exhibition; a meeting of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, at which an auction sale was held and Dr. Carroll Chase's wonderful collection of 1847, 1851 and 1857-60 issues of United States was shown; and there was a banquet as a grand finale. One could not easily conceive of a more admirable admixture of philatelic elements into a harmonious whole. Stamps were displayed in great number and variety. Besides Dr. Chase's collection, there were Mr. Wm. L. Stevenson's albums with his studies in the earlier issues of United States while sections of Mr. Worthington's collection were to be seen. In fact, stamps were out in force and many fine examples were shown and it is to be said that the issues of our own country monopolized the attention. The social side of the convocation was a pleasant feature and old intimacies were renewed and new ones established. All in all, the program was ideal.

The benefits that the philatelist derives from attending a clearing-house for philatelic ideas are almost incalculable. One's knowledge of philately becomes the more embracing as there is no mistaking the evidence of the eye and as cuts of U. S. stamps are not available, the stamps themselves at occasions of the kind give first-hand information. It is doubtful, for instance, if anyone who was at Cleveland will ever forget the differences in the one cent 1851 type U. S. The stamps themselves are the best object lessons and when the obscure suggestions of the specimens are pointed out by a past master in the art of philately, the results are happy indeed.

For Peace Stamps—A member of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Mr. Harry A. Wheeler, in the course of an address before the congregation of a church, urged the issue of peace stamps in black and white so that thoughts of peace might be diffused throughout the land. A tranquility of spirit would be encouraged by the constant reminder of the stamps and the present peace sentiment would become a moving force. The design suggested for the stamps is a black background with the black and white inscription: "Peace with Honor; Forgiveness, not Indemnity," and Mr. Wheeler advocates with a zeal that tramples down tradition that the peace stamps replace the regular issue. We trust that peace will not delay an appearance until our government issues peace stamps after the manner described.

Use For Everything—A reader has shown an envelope that gives us a start of interest. Evidently following the injunction that Economy is Wealth, our postal fathers have made provisionals of the Postal Savings stamped envelopes by converting them into ordinary penalty envelopes. Mr. P. J. Wagner, who has forwarded the two cent red postal savings stamped envelope, says that the specimen is new to him; and we may add that it is to us. In the upper left corner, the return card indicating postal savings business emanating from a little town in Ohio is entirely blotted out in the most approved "censor" style; and below is the inscription in four lines: "Post Office Department, Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Postal Savings, Washington," and under a rule is "Official Business." Six black lines made by six horizontal printers' rules cross out the stamped impression in the upper right corner of the envelope and above is the usual warning of penalty for mis-use of the envelope: "Penalty for private use to avoid payment of postage, $300."

* * *

Latest—We notice on recent sealed letters from Germany, a variation of the censor's accustomed marking. After the usual "Oberwachtungstelle," etc., and "Armeekorps" number, etc., in postmark form are the lines: "Absender vertrauenswürdig, bedürfnis anerkannt," followed by a fac-simile signature of the censor, "Benntsch" (evidently). The wording, we take to be to the effect that confidence may be reposed in the sender and that his discretion may be trusted.

Hear Ye—One of our friends has sent us the following information of revolutionary cast; and while we have not verified it, we hasten to present it with our explanation to readers: "I certify this to be a perfect copy. 'Subject, Proprietary Stamps.' When Congress late in 1914 decided to levy a stamp tax, it became the duty of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to furnish stamps 'to denote the provisions of this act.' Accordingly, Proprietary (as well as other) stamps were prepared. In haste, it was found necessary to borrow one million sheets of postage stamp paper from the P. O. Department. The ink first used was inferior stuff which gave the stamps a curious blurred appearance. When the revenue watermarked paper arrived, better ink was gotten and the dies re-cut to make a difference between P.S. and I.R. watermarked stamps. The difference is shown by the blank cuts below." Our correspondent drew very good pen and ink illustrations of the differences between the revenue paper and the postage paper impressions but we cannot handle them in a way to obtain cuts of the variations. We do not need to emphasize the importance of the testimony of our informant.

Speaking Of Sonoras—Mr. George W. Linn rises to remark again that it is not fitting to say that the five centavos Transitorio Sonora, perforated, was regarded as a counterfeit,—vide Mr. S. B. Hopkins' article in the issue of March 6th, by the Constitutionalist authorities. "These stamps were legitimately issued by the proper authorities and used extensively throughout Sonora. Some time ago, I sent you some original correspondence from the postmaster of the State, showing that the stamps were made on his order and that he acknowledged receipt of the supply sent him," repeats Mr. Linn.

It Looks Good—We believe that no words of praise are too fulsome for Henry J. Savage's "Uncle Sam at Work." The scenes of this pretentious moving-picture showing the making of the die, transfer-roll and plates for stamps in sheets and in coils are graphic indeed; and an understanding of the process of stamp production is gained through the pictures. The new stamp presses are to save the government a half million of dollars a year, it is said.

EDMOND STAMP CO., McLOUD, OKLA.

GREAT BRITAIN.—GEO. V BOOKLETS.

By A. H. THOMPSON.

The first of the new series of booklets that contained stamps to the face value of 2sh instead of 1sh 11 1/2d, as in the Edwardian series were expected to be put on sale on Coronation day, but it was not until August, 1911, that they appeared.

A special issue of the old booklets was printed, interleaved with advertisements, announcing the new series and the appointment of Messrs. Sells' as advertising agents. The following is a copy of one of the notices:—

"BOOKS OF STAMPS.—NEW ISSUE.

The new issue containing stamps of the present reign will be made probably towards the end of June, 1911. As the extra charge of 1/2d per book will then be abolished, the sale will doubtless be very largely increased. Sells' Advertising Agency Limited, have been appointed sole contractors for insertion of advertisements."

The issue containing these announcements must have been very limited, as I have only seen one copy. Strictly speaking, the issue belongs neither to the Edwardian or Georgian series.

The booklets were not numbered until No. 8 appeared, but it is quite easy to distinguish numbers 1 to 7. It is not generally known that voucher copies are issued to the advertisers, also a guarantee that a million copies of each issue are put on sale. These voucher copies are cancelled with a London, E. C., dated postmark, so that I am enabled to put the first seven issues in their proper order.

The first 3,000,000 were however, put on sale simultaneously in August, 1911, but the reader can take it that the following are in correct order.

Number. Advertisement on first inside page of cover.

- (1) Aitchison & Co.
- (2) The Gresham Fire and Accident Insurance Society, Ltd.
- (3) Empire Hotels.
- (4) Marsuma Cigarette.
- (5) Palethorpes' Sausages.
- (6) Royal Typewriters.
- (7) Times Book Club.

Numbers 1 to 3 bear on front cover "eighteen 1d stamps and twelve 1/2d stamps price 2s," and the G. v. R. monogram. Numbers 4, 5 and 6 bear the addition of the Inland rates of postage, and to number 7 and later issues was added Foreign and Colonial rates.

The first coloured advertisement (The Millennium Flour) appeared in No. 13, and was repeated in Nos. 21, 23 and 25. It is interesting to note that W. H. Peckitt was the first Philatelic advertiser to appear (No. 6), followed by Messrs. F. B. Smith, P. L. Pemberton and D. Field in No. 7, W. H. Regan in No. 9, but the palm goes to Messrs. Harmer, Rooke & Co., whose advertisements appear in Nos. 18, 19, 23, 24 and 26.

A curious error occurred in No. 16, a few copies of this issue being bound in the cover of the preceding issue.

The usual rate for a one page advertisement is $250, but in case of the coloured advertisements, the amount is nearer $500.

The shades in the stamps vary considerably. There are two very scarce shades of the first type 1/2d, a deep yellow green and a blue green, whilst the 1d varies from pale to a very intense scarlet.

It will be seen above that the date is not given to No. 6. The stamps in the voucher were in this case overprinted "Specimen," and are rare.

As is well known, owing to the way the sheets of stamps are made up for the booklets, there are as many stamps with inverted watermarks as with normal.

I see that in the last four issues the G. P. O. are again using some of the interleaves for official announcements and also that two advertisements emanate from the War Office.—Stamp Collecting.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, 608 Kast, Boston, Mass.

THE KANSAS CITY SOCIETY.

This society continues to grow right along and now has a local organ through which its campaign for a larger membership is to be carried on. The Central Philatelist 50c per year published by Ralph L. Ward, 2028 North Tremont Street, Kansas City, Kas., has appeared in No. 1, Vol. 1, and is a neat appearing, well edited entrant to the field of philatelic journalism. Mr. Ward is a teacher in the Kansas City, Kas., high school, and owns his own printing plant and does practically all of the work on his publication himself and feels reasonably well satisfied that his publication will continue.

Members of the society are endeavoring to build up one of the largest local societies in the country. New members are being taken in at every meeting and attendance at the meetings runs all the way from 20 to 40. Auction sales are held at every meeting and this does much to attract attendance.

The club probably has one of the finest meeting places of any club in the country, having use of the rooms of the Midway Club on the fourteenth floor of the Commerce Building in the heart of the city.

The next meetings of the club will be held April 2, April 16, April 30, May 14, May 28. The last meeting for the season probably will be held in June. Regular auction sales will be held April 2, April 30, May 28, and at the last meeting for the season in June.—HARRY F. KOHR.

E. T. PARKER, BETHLEHEM, PA.

RUBIAT OF A PHILATELIST.

Myself, when young, did eagerly frequent
The places where a thousand cost a cent,
And blew in my spare cash for specimens
Which later to the rummage sale were sent.

Some seek the issues of today, and some Sigh for the surcharge errors yet to come.
Ah, take the double transfers and pass by
The reprints and the unused, minus gum.

I well remember walking out one day
And stopping to examine a display
Of stamps. The dealer spotted me and yanked
Me inside before I could get away.

Within were stamps I'd never seen before—
Imperforates, pairs, strips and blocks of four.
And when the dealer quoted me their price
I quickly sank insensate on the floor.

Each year new issues usher forth, you say,
Yes, but where are the stamps of yesterday?
And that inverted center I once saw—
I wonder who possesses it today?

Just lately there appeared before my door
The postman, with approval sheets galore.
And as I eagerly examined them
I wished there were about a million more.

And has not such a story from of old
At every club philatelic been told—
Of the rare stamp that's purchased for a song?
(But no one tells how often he's been sold!)

You all recall I put, in days gone by,
A second mortgage on my house to buy
A rare part-perforate O. G., and found
I was about a hundred thousand shy.

A catalog of Scott's beneath the bough,
Approval sheets, an album—also Thou,
O Watermark Detector, at my side—
Methinks that this is paradise enow.

And if, when on your travels, you should pass
Among the fiends with magnifying glass
And find that I am not among the bunch,
You'll know a bankrupt I've become, alas!

A LOCAL CHINESE PRINTING.

By Rev. J. C. HARLOW.

Chinese stamps at present seem to be shrouded in mystery. The current issue were brought out towards the end of 1913, being printed by Waterlow and Sons. For the last month or two the local offices have been supplied, in certain values, with stamps printed by the Chinese Bureau of Printing and Engraving. On the one hand I hear that all stamps in future are to be thus printed, on the other I am told that some millions have been ordered from Waterlow and Sons, and that the Pekin prints are merely temporary. The Postmaster in Pekin declines to give any information on the point, so we must "wait and see."

Comparing the two issues:—
(1.) The paper used by the Chinese Bureau is much thinner than that used by Waterlow's.

(2.) The ink used by the C. B. is of a different kind, having a "glossy" or almost greasy appearance, while the former is "matt" or "dry."

(3.) There are differences of die. The lines of the C. B. stamps are generally coarser. The sea and background is heavier, and the shadow of the junk under the bow is less pronounced. C. B. prints have a harsher appearance.

On the whole the Chinese printers have made a very good match, but it is not an exact reproduction of Waterlow's stamps.

As to the lower values, Waterlow's were in sheets of 200, divided into panes of 25. The C. B. stamps are also in sheets of 200 without being divided into panes. On the top and bottom margins there is the inscription "Chinese Bureau of Engraving and Printing" with a plate or control figure following. There is also a guiding hair line across the sheet to guide for perforation. You will see signs of this on the left hand side of the 5ch on the enclosed sheet. Neither of these appeared on the Waterlow sheets.—

Publishers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS

THE NEW 4d AUSTRALIAN.

The Australian Commonwealth has sprung a surprise on collectors in the form of a new 4d stamp with a portrait of King George. Since the present Government returned to power the arrangements which were well advanced for a new series of stamps of varied designs have been suspended, and the kangaroo design which originally saw the light under a Labour Government was retained, save for the 1d of the new series, which bears the Royal effigy. The 6d of the new series (kookaburra design) was already on sale, but the new 2d and 1s, which were ready for issue, were withheld. Now force of circumstance has driven the authorities to issue the new 4d stamp. It seems that the Commonwealth printer ran short of paper of the size and style suitable for printing the kangaroo stamps, and, although a large stock of the other denominations has been printed, the supply of the 4d ran out. There was some difficulty, probably due to delays in transmission on account of the war, in getting more of the right paper from England, so it was decided to use up some of the paper obtained for printing the 1d King George stamp of the Commonwealth. To make use of this paper the King George die, which had been abandoned by the present authorities, had to be used. Thus, we get by the mail this week a 4d stamp of the Commonwealth, bearing King George's profile, the printing being done in orange.—London Telegraph.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—J. W. Bradbury has shown us the 1c of 1890 and the current 2c, perforated 8 1/2 horizontally, showing unmistakably the effect of a double transfer or a shifted die.

ARGENTINE.—Whitfield King report the 4c and 30c values on paper watermarked honeycomb, completing the full set.

AUSTRALIA.—Hugo Griebert & Co. and Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the new surface-printed 4d stamp. The design is the same as the surface printed 1d stamps, the only change being the value. The "4" is smaller so that "D" is inserted in the tablets. The stamps are printed on white paper, watermarked Crown A, either normal or reversed. According to the specimens submitted by Whitfield King & Co., there are two distinct shades.

Adhesives.

4d orange.

4d orange yellow.

BECHUANALAND PROTECTORATE.—The 2sh 6d of Great Britain, surcharged for use in this Protectorate, has been shown us by Hugo Griebert & Co.

CANADA.—According to A. C. Roessler, there is a possibility of 3c letter rate for domestic letters, but the P. M. General says, "There is no present intention of issuing a 3c stamp."

Mrs. E. W. Oughtred submits a block of four of the 5c War Tax stamps bearing a red overprinting of the wholesaler's cancellation. When the retailer buys a case unopened, he purchases from the wholesaler stamps canceled in this manner to the value of the tax required on the bottles that the case contains. The stamps are affixed to the bottles as they are sold at retail. It is expected that a 3c provisional will soon be issued.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Hermann Focke has shown used copies of the provisional surcharged and overprinted on the official stamps of 1909. We are now able to state that the overprinting was done in purple on the 1/2c on 20c, and in red on all the other values. Mr. Focke writes:

"Regarding the 1911 set of postage stamps, I am informed that they have been withdrawn and demonetized, because large quantities were stolen by officers of the previous administration. The present government has offered to accept such stamps with a certified statement as to the value at which they were purchased, in order to reimburse such value on a lottery plan, as money comes into the Treasury with which to pay for them. As lately large blocks of the stamps have been offered for sale in this country, it may be advisable to warn prospective buyers regarding the "standing" of that particular issue. We have received letters franked with these stamps, on which we had to pay double amount for postage due."

EGYPT.—Rumors are current that the stamps of this country will be overprinted "British Protectorate," but Felix Cohen, who informs us of this fact, states that nothing has yet been given out from official sources.

Three new Service stamps have been issued, 1, 3 and 5 millimes, with "O. H. H. S." in overprint in the 1914 type.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—Hugo Griebert & Co. have shown us the 5sh King George brown red which is just being distributed.

FRENCH OCEANICA.—A 15c value has been added to the 1913 set, type Scott's A 2, and has been shown us by Whitfield King & Co.

Adhesive.

15c brown orange and black.

INDIA.—Whitfield King & Co. report that the restrictions on the sale to the public of the "I. E. F." stamps have now been removed.

Bundi.—The Philatelic Journal of India states:—

"After a state of lethargy extending to over thirteen years, we are greeted by the arrival of a new postage stamp from this State, namely, 1/2 anna, black. On a square piece of white paper, four stamps are lithographed. To facilitate separation, they are rouletted in colour. The central design depicts a fierce warrior in a seated posture, holding aloft in his right hand a sword, and in his left, a shield. On either side of him there is a bull standing erect on his hind legs. It is difficult to conjecture what episode in mythology, or in local history, this design represents.

"We are given to understand that the State has its own post offices under its administrative control, and that the stamps of Bundi have never been obsolete."

Adhesive.

1/2 anna black.

JAMAICA.—We have received from J. A. Galbraith a specimen copy of the 1 shilling surface tinted paper. It is printed in black on green, with white back.

Adhesive.

1sh black on green.

Benjamin Cadbury reports having seen the 1sh King George stamp on white-back paper.

MADAGASCAR.—Madagascar has also issued a Red Cross stamp, the 10c of 1908 being surcharged in the usual way with a red cross and "5c." C. G. Dietrich has shown us these stamps.

Provisional Adhesive.

10c and 5c rose & brown violet and carmine.

NICARAGUA.—We have been shown by Lionel T. Scott a revenue stamp which evidently has done duty for postage, though only a portion of the cover was submitted. It is a 10c blue customs stamp.

PANAMA.—We chronicled last week the new set and illustrate herewith one of the designs.

PERSIA.—Whitfield King & Co. are informed that in consequence of the War, fresh supplies of stamps could not be obtained from the printers, and as the stocks of the values most in use, 1c, 2c, 3c and 6c, became exhausted, recourse had to be made to surcharging, and several provisionals have been overprinted on the current issue. As far as seen, there are two forms of surcharge, one dated "1914" and the other "1915." In other ways the form of the overprint differs greatly. Owing to the necessity of conserving the stock on hand the sale is restricted. All overprints are in black.

Provisional Adhesives.

1c on 5c brown and carmine; 1915.

1c on 13c maroon and blue.

2c on 5c brown and carmine.

3c on 28c green and ultramarine; 1914.

6c on 28c green and ultramarine; 1915.

ROUMANIA.—Jos. A. Steinmetz, C. G. Dietrich, and the New England Stamp Co. have shown us the new "Timbru de Ajutor" stamps, both used and unused. Mr. Steinmetz notes that they are good for full postage, and not necessarily limited to an additional tax on letters, etc.

SAMOA.—A. C. Roessler states that no more King Edward will be surcharged. The authorities will wait for the new King George issue.

A SHORT HISTORY OF R. I. SOCIETY.

The oldest association of stamp collectors in America in point of continuous activities is the Rhode Island Philatelic Society, which was organized in 1885. There were other local societies formed in this country prior to 1885, but for one reason or another, all ceased to exist. The Rhode Island Philatelic Society has maintained an unflagging interest in its work, some of its members having accumulated very large and highly valuable collections. Among the more notable of these was that made by the late Col. Frank C. Olney, who disposed of his collection for $30,000 to a Boston house specializing in the stamp business.

The George H. Wood collection was another fine one. This disappeared one night, by theft, it was alleged, while that made by A. B. Slater, Jr., which was disposed of by auction after his death, was one which attracted no little attention.

New local interest is being taken in philately through the formation, in January, of a boys' stamp club at the Y. M. C. A., which already has a membership of 15 zealous collectors. This class is being instructed by Roy S. Barker, an enthusiastic collector, who is assisting the boys to specialize in the stamps of different countries. The club meets every Wednesday evening, and, in addition to listening to practical talks on the subject matter, holds auction sales, the members using their superfluous and lesser valued stamps in purchasing those of greater value from a collector's viewpoint. The enthusiasm the boys show augurs well for the maintenance of their collections beyond the scope of mere amateur work and the upbuilding of some that may eventually rank high.

From the ranks of boy stamp collectors came some of the leading philatelists of the country. Also from their number came those collectors, who, in 1885, founded the Rhode Island Phila-19th Century collection, 900 varieties, cat. over $80, in album, $30.00. 20th Century collection, 700 varieties, cat. over $15, in album, $7.50. Both $35.00. BENJ. L. DAVIS, Randolph Center, Conn.

WASHINGTON STATE SOCIETY.

Headquarters, 4095 Arcade Building, Seattle, Washington. Meetings, 8 p. m., every Tuesday, 206 Walker Building, Seattle, Wash. Officers and Board of Directors for 1915:—President, Carl H. Reeves, Seattle; Treasurer, Carl Hoffman, Seattle; Secretary, C. R. Callahan, Seattle; Vice President, V. D. Tomlinson, Tacoma; Vice President, D. C. Bartley, Spokane.

The Washington State Philatelic Society was organized and incorporated under the laws of the State of Washington during the summer of 1912, and has experienced a phenomenal growth and is now one of the strongest societies in the United States. The increase of the Society during the past year has been exceptional; on Jan. 1, 1914, 73 members, while on Jan. 1, 1915, 138 members in good standing. Members of the W. S. P. S. may be found in most any part of the world; Italy, England, Chile, Argentine Republic, Malta and Spain, and a number of members belong to Uncle Sam's navy, "seeing the world."

Under the constitution and by-laws of the society a branch of the society may be formed in any city where there are five or more members, who hold regular meetings, and to those branches 50% of the annual dues are remitted by the society, this money to be used for the expenses of the local branch as the members of that branch may desire. At this time branches are located at Tacoma, Olympia, and Spokane.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THE HANDSOMEST MAN ON A POSTAGE STAMP.

Since the readers are no doubt mad with the anxiety of waiting for the results of the big contest to discover the "Handsome Man on a Postage Stamp" we will end the suspense. There were forty-five entries in the contest, and George Washington was selected as the handsomest man by fourteen of the contestants, while King George of England was chosen by twelve. The others favored various other men, among them Garfield, McKinley, Lincoln, Francis Joseph of Austria, Czar Nicholas of Russia, King Albert of Belgium, King Oscar of Sweden, King Edward VII of England, Thomas Jefferson, Commodore Perry, and King Charles of Roumania. The Garfield enthusiasts were the most numerous of the above, but none explained their reasons for thinking him a handsome man, except that he had a noble character. As this contest was to decide who is the handsomest man, the question of character could hardly be allowed to enter the question. Abraham Lincoln had as noble a character as any of the other rulers, yet Lincoln, in a physical sense, could not be called a handsome man. Therefore, character could not be allowed to influence this contest.

After considerable discussion, the judges of this contest, Mr. Severn and myself, have decided to award the first prize of $5.00 in catalogue value of desirable stamps to Reginald Harding, of Syracuse, New York, for his selection of the 10c green U. S. 1861 issue, featuring George Washington,—and his reasons for the selection. Mr. Harding gave more details than any of the other contestants for Washington, though several selected more suitable stamps, such as the $2 Conveyance of the Revenue series.

The second prize of $2.50 in catalogue value is awarded to John W. Eastham, Vernon, B. C., for his selection of the current 2d Rhodesia stamp picturing King George, and his reasons therefor. The current Canadian series proved popular with many collectors and practically all contestants for King George chose these two series.

The third prize of $1.50 in catalogue value is awarded to John Bradley, Xenia, Ohio, for his choice of William McKinley on the 5c St. Louis Exposition series.

Mr. E. H. Swain, of St. Paul, Minn., who claims to be the "Handsome Stamp Collector" entered the most unique essay, but featured the point that "Handsome is as handsome does" and therefore could not receive the prize for his splendid article on Washington. He will, however, receive an award for his labors, as will all of the others whose work is published in this issue.

On the whole, the contest was a great success, and the readers responded beyond our expectations. Keep your eyes open for our next contest.

First Prize Winner.
REGINALD HARDING.

For my part, I think George Washington, our famous revolutionary hero, the handsomest man whose portrait ever appeared on a postage stamp. I believe that his likeness shows to the best advantage in the 10c yellow green, 1861 issue, No. 68. His eyes, set below his imposing forehead, are mild, yet are wonderfully expressive of his character; his nose is in right proportion to the rest of his features; his lips are closed, though not tight-pressed; his chin adds a finishing touch to his features; and his neck is set firm upon his level and well-bearing shoulders. His hair, though not dressed to suit modern ideas, sets off his features to very good advantage.

His features, as a whole, show modesty and straightforwardness, and are what I consider real handsome.

Second Prize Winner,
JOHN W. EASTHAM.

Why I consider the Portrait of King George on the 2d Rhodesia (1913) the Handsomest Man's portrait on a stamp:—

King George holds a decided asset in being portrayed in the prime of life. A bald head does not show to advantage even on a postage stamp. The full-face view shown here does not accentuate trifling weaknesses of feature so much as the profile. The expression is unaffected and life-like, much more so than in the "sculptured" head and neck commonly used on "King's Head" stamps. The naval uniform gives a better effect than plain civilian dress would and is a change from the frequency of military uniforms. The details of the portrait are clear and sufficient to prevent any impression of caricature. The frame is neat and the stamp well-printed in black and white, an excellent medium for a portrait.

Third Prize Winner,
JOHN BRADLEY.

Please enter me in the "Handsome Man" contest as being of the opinion that the five cent blue stamp of the U. S. Commemorative issue of 1904, bears the handsomest man's portrait, that of William McKinley. My chief reason for so thinking is that my ideal of a "handsome" man is one whose smooth shaven face must be pleasant to look upon and at the same time be remarkable for its indication of personal force and thought; one whom we would single out for special attention in a large crowd. Another good reason for the choice I have made is that the photographer's and engraver's arts have combined to make it a remarkable portrait; one that shows at a glance a strong man, a clean man and a gentleman even in plain citizen's clothes without royal or military gold braid or decorations.

From RALPH E. HARBOLD.

I enter the following description of the handsomest man I have ever seen on any stamp.

The presumably eminent chieftain pictured upon the lower values of the 1910 issue of Gabon undoubtedly represents the highest achievement of Nature, so far as genuine beauty goes. The graceful contours of his features, the eloquent and benign expression in his eyes, and the sweet smile bestowed upon a passing sweetheart, all attest to the superior quality of his beauty. This "Beau Brummel" has successfully augmented his graces by a plume, tactfully placed above his high forehead, by long, delicate ornaments hung from his ears, and by a thin but effective application of paint. Beauty such as this is indeed remarkable.

From MARTIN W. HOOSE.

In my opinion, King George V, as pictured on the 1913 issue of Rhodesia, furnishes the most striking example of manly beauty furnished by any of the world's postage stamps.

In this picture, he exemplifies both styles of beauty; regularity of feature, and the higher beauty brought forth by nobility of character. His physical beauty is shown here by a regularity and symmetry of feature, no particular one predominating over the others, and by the abundant well-kept beard and moustache which accentuate the whole.

Finest of all, however, is the noble spirit shining forth from the eyes. Features are blank without character to back them, but no one can fail to see in this portrait one of the finest products of God and civilization; a thoroughbred gentleman in every sense of the word, and one in every way worthy of his exalted position.

A PRIZE PACKET EXPERIENCE.

By JOSEPH R. LONG.

Were we to seek a justification for the course we have outlined in rejecting further mixture advertising, the following testimonial would be of value. We thank Mr. Long for writing us. Many collectors would just consign this trash to the waste basket and charge the cost up to experience. We shall not accept any further advertising of stamps in mixture or bulk form.

Having just secured from one of our advertisers a prize packet I wish to submit some account of it to your readers. In your current issue appears the offer of a regular advertiser of "1000 Mixed U. S. 10c." As a matter of curiosity I ordered the mixture. Before throwing the stamps away, I decided to count the main item. I counted 250 of the current two cent, and missed some. There were numerous current one cent, an abundance of the current two-cent envelope, postal cards, earlier one and two-cent recent issues, etc. The gems of the collection, a current nine cent, a Columbian two cent, parcel post four cent, current four cent, etc., were too badly damaged for use. Many of the current two cent were damaged. The envelopes were sometimes cut square all right, but occasionally within the body of the stamp. I am not kicking; I do not want my money back, but the point is, why does a dealer degrade his trade by indulging in such trashy business? As an advertisement and invitation to do real business an offer of real value, say ten good cheap stamps for a dime might have merit. A packet like the one I drew simply disgusts.

THE PACK EXHIBIT AT CLEVELAND.

A SUMMARY OF CHARLES LATHROP PACK'S NOTES EXPLAINING THE STAMPS SHOWN BY HIM AT THE GARFIELD-PERRY ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION.

In attempting to provide some philatelic items worthy of this celebration, I have not tried to get together a lot of rare stamps just because they are rare, but I have rather tried to show some things that may indicate different kinds of philatelic work, as well as some of the recent investigations with which I have busied myself.

Argentine 1888.—In Volume I, you will find a study of the 1888 series worked out according to my ideas. You will note that all these stamps can be plated, and there are a good many interesting things about some of the plates. I am sure they will interest any true philatelist and probably tax his ingenuity if he will undertake further research along the lines which I have undertaken. My work has developed a number of what I believe to be original ideas and makes possible still further work, now that a firm foundation has been established. A number of the items shown in this series of stamps I believe to be unique.

Victoria 1850 Three-Pence.—Volume II. In this volume, I show a number of items; in the first place my plating of the Victoria three-pence of 1850 as lithographed by Mr. Thomas Ham. I show three reconstructed groups of twelve of these stamps with the proof of the plating.

The sheet of this three-pence, Ham printing, was made up of two separate panes. There were five groups of twelve stamps each in the lefthand pane, and a like number in the righthand pane, making sixty stamps in each pane, or one hundred and twenty stamps in the sheet.

On the 3rd page of my exhibit of this printing of the Victoria three-pence, I show a unique original cover on which there is a block of twelve which happens to include all of the twelve types composing the intermediate stone for this setting. This is the most remarkable cover with the stamps of Victoria that I have ever seen. Before discovering this cover I had worked out the plating by comparisons of pairs and strips. It was indeed a joy to find that the plating made up by this process proved to be exactly the same as the complete block of the twelve subjects on the cover.

In my collection at home in Lakewood I have many pages of pairs, strips and blocks that in various ways prove the plating. In addition to this there is an exhibit showing the study of the several retouches of this stamp.

Victoria, Queen on Throne.—On page 5 of this volume is a reconstructed plate of the Victoria two-pence, Queen on Throne of 1854, late impressions in the dull mauve shades. The interesting thing about this plate is that it is completely reconstructed of imperforate pairs.

Later on are two pages explaining the errors of transfer of this stamp. It is the first time so far as I know that this problem has been completely mathematically worked out.

Victoria Two-Shillings 1864.—On another page is a reconstructed plate of the printing of the two-shillings value of Victoria 1864, and I am indebted to our friend, L. L. R. Hausberg, Esquire, for help and suggestions.

Victoria 4 Pence Error of Color.—On another page in this volume is a pair of the Victoria 1885 error of color, four-pence, in dull mauve, like one of the shades of the printing of the two-pence. This pair came from the David Hill collection. It is this small lot, which Mr. Hill had, which caused this variety to be listed by Stanley Gibbons as No. 208A in their catalog. This stamp is excessively rare.

Victoria 1912 Duty Paper.—In 1912 a so-called duty or revenue paper was used for a short time during the period when they ran short of the regular paper used for postage stamps. Four values, namely; the one-half penny, one-penny, two-pence and nine-pence were printed. The watermark is a double lined V over crown, similar to that on paper of the earlier series of 1867-1903. Marginal strips show the watermark words: "Victoria Duty" thus making identification positive, but this paper can be positively identified otherwise. That is why I am showing it here. Please note that the mesh on the duty paper is always at right angles to the device, whereas in the older regular paper it is parallel to the longer axis of the same. This rule serves to identify single specimens. A comprehensive exhibit of strips and blocks of these stamps is shown on six album pages.

Uruguay 240c of 1858.—Some years ago Dr. Achillisto Chiesa, a distinguished philatelist of Milan, Italy, owned a complete sheet of the 240 centavos, Uruguay, issued in March, 1858. This was the only sheet known. I am sorry to say that after Dr. Chiesa's collection was sold two or three years ago, the sheet was cut up and sold by Messrs. Bridger and Kay in sections so that no complete sheet is now extant. Dr. Chiesa was kind enough to send me a photograph in sepia of the entire sheet of this 240 centavos. You will notice in my exhibit a section of the picture of the sheet showing that by means of this photograph I have been able to plate the stamps, and on another page you will notice the reconstructed section of a sheet. No. 23 in each of the first sections and No. 11 in the last row of the sheet are blank, the error 180c red having been removed from these positions.

Uruguay One Peso, Arms Inverted.—I also show the Uruguay one peso stamp of 1867 which was prepared in New York under contract with the Government of Uruguay, but the stamp was rejected on account of the arms being reversed. Some South American Philatelists claim that used copies are known but I have never seen one. In any condition the stamp is a rarity.

Uruguay 7c Lithographed 1881.—I also think you will be interested on another page in the reconstruction of the varieties of the lithographed 7c Uruguay, issued August 25, 1881.

Uruguay, Inverted Center.—The 25c Uruguay with inverted center is a stamp of considerable interest to collectors. This was issued during May, 1896. It is an interesting fact that notwithstanding this stamp was used at so recent a date only a very few have been found. The variety was not discovered until after all the copies had been used, and unused are unknown. No more than thirty copies of this stamp are known of which you will notice three on one page of my exhibit.

Uruguay 1859.—I have recently been re-studying the Uruguay issue of June, 1859; the issue with thin lettering. Not very much has heretofore been known about these interesting stamps. We have been helped by the able writings of Dr. Jose Marco del Pont and Mr. Hugo Griebert, but the latter gives very little information in regard to the make-up of these varieties in his book on the stamps of Uruguay. The stamps of this series were printed from three stones; the 60c and 100c from one stone; the 80c, 120c and 180c from a second stone, and the 240c from a third stone. The same types in the transfers will be found in the same relative positions in the groups composing the sections of the 100c as on the 60c; and likewise the same groups composing the sheets of the 80c and 120c as on the 180c. The stamps of the different denominations mounted in my collection, in comparison each showing a white dot in the southeast spandrel, proved this in the case of the last mentioned three values, each being No. 7 in their respective groups, and occurring twelve times on a sheet.

The two covers shown, one with a strip and pair of the 100c thin figures of 1859 and the other with a strip of five of the 120c thin figures of 1859 are both interesting philatelic exhibits. The strip of 120c bears additional evidence of substituted transfers in this series. Both of these covers came from the collection of

Dr. Jose Marco del Pont of Buenos Aires, but curiously enough he never seems to have written anything in his valuable contributions to philately about their unusual philatelic nature and the information which they give us.

2d, First Type, New Zealand and Retouches.—When the New Zealand Philatelic Society was preparing its recently published work on the Stamps of New Zealand one of the officers of the Association secured from the Government of New Zealand some reprints from the old plate of the two-pence of 1863-66. The retouched portions of these reprints were inserted in each copy of the book on the Stamps of New Zealand. I was fortunate enough to receive from a friend in New Zealand a complete sheet of the reprints which, for the sake of convenience, has been divided. Diagrams on some of the pages of my collection show in a graphic way exactly the portions of the damaged areas on the plate. Some of these damaged areas were retouched but not all. What portions were retouched and what portions were not retouched are shown by the diagrams in connection with my reconstruction of the retouched values. These are shown in the two-pence blue printed when the plate was first retouched in 1867 and the vermilion two-pence printed from the same retouched plate in 1871. This exhibit will give some information in regard to these interesting retouches that may not have heretofore come to your attention. My ideas in regard to these stamps are not original, but I have tried to put together in an appealing and graphic form the information that is known by some students of the stamps of New Zealand.

Queensland.—Volume III of my exhibit shows a study of certain stamps of Queensland. You will notice the high values of 1881 in unused condition in reconstructed groups as they were repeated to make up a sheet of 120 subjects. Some of the groups contain ten varieties, and other groups but five. I could talk for an hour about a study of the 1879-1880 electrotyped stamps of Queensland; the work of William Knight, the Government Engraver. I consider this series of great interest and you are all aware that it contains a number of rarities which are difficult to obtain and are seldom seen. You will notice that the collection is embellished by drawings and diagrams, showing the make-up of the sheets, the distribution of varieties, the difference in the dies, plates, etc.

This study of the stamps of Queensland 1879-1880, filling an oriel album, was exhibited at the Philatelic Exhibition in London and was awarded a gold medal.

Realizing that there are times when exceptional opportunities are presented to the trade to "buy" which they can share with their customers, if they are so inclined, I have inaugurated a special series of "Bargain Sheets" which will be placed on sale the first of the month and to which I shall add from time to time as opportunity presents. These sheets will be well worth your perusal, for as their name implies, many bargains will be found upon them. If the proper appreciation is shown I shall make this a permanent feature of my business.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

It is safe to say that few persons, with the exception of stamp collectors, could describe the designs upon any three United States postage stamps, and that still fewer have any appreciation of their artistic value. Yet the designs upon our postage stamps, and also those upon all our national paper currency, are the work of some of the most skilled practitioners in the world of the art of engraving upon steel. Formerly of the greatest importance because it was the only way of reproducing pictures in the press, engraving has now been largely superseded by cheap mechanical processes, and the best engravers find almost their only employment in such work as that required by our government.

The place where these designs originate is a spacious and brilliantly lighted room in the new building of the bureau of engraving and printing, under the shadow of the Washington monument. The offices of the superintendent of the department and of the official designer, who makes the drawings open upon this main room. Down one side of it is a long row of massive desks, each having a slanting roof of its own, set with a ground-glass pane, so that the light which falls upon the top of the desk is soft and uniform. At each of these desks sits an engraver, bent over his task, wholly absorbed. They remind one of nothing so much as of pictures of medieval monks at work upon illuminated manuscripts.

In the midst of a humming factory with a tremendous output, this one room has an atmosphere of serene and time defying patience, which seems to belong to another day, as indeed does the art which is practiced there. The modern world of hurry and quick results might well take a lesson from those precise and patient toilers, who work from four to eight months upon the space of a single postage stamp, carving with the free hand designs as fine and intricate as the tracery of veins in the wing of a beetle.

The engraving is done on plates of annealed steel with a finely tempered tool. No one man completes a design. The workers are classified as portrait, script, square letter and ornamental engravers, and each is confined to his specialty, in which he has the highest imaginable skill.

The completed plate for a stamp or bill is hardened and a disk of soft steel is run over it under high mechanical pressure, producing a bas-relief of the design. This in turn is also hardened, and by the same mechanical pressure, an exact replica of the original design is impressed upon another plate of soft steel, which, after being properly tempered is used for the actual printing. Thus the design may be reproduced a great many times without having recourse to the original which was engraved by hand. The design of the common 2 cent stamp has been made by hand but once, although a great many of the plates have been worn out by the millions and millions of printings which have been necessary. Both these processes and those used in printing are practically identical for stamps and bills.

The paper upon which they are printed is made by private firms under government supervision. It reaches the bureau sealed, and all of it is carefully receipted and accounted for. A certain amount of paper is issued for each printing, and if any of this is lost the employees of the department where it disappears are compelled to pay for it at its face value. This is a necessary part of the elaborate system by which the stamps and money are safeguarded.

There is a machine to perform the operations of inking the plates, wiping off the superfluous ink, polishing the plates with chalk and making the actual impression. The machine requires only the services of a man who polishes the plates with his hands as they pass him, a girl who lays the sheets of paper upon the plates and another who takes them off.

When 200 sheets have been printed they are counted and dried and put through a hydraulic press to give them a smooth surface. They are then gummed by being passed under a glass roller bathed in dextrine, and they then pass through a machine which breaks the gum into numerous little cracked particles, so that the stamps will not curl. The gummed stamps are placed in a drying chamber, which does its work in thirty seconds; they are then perforated upon a rotary perforator and after being counted and packed are ready for shipment.—Chicago Daily News.

A NEW "PENALTY" ENVELOPE.

The Post Office Department, having recalled all the supplies of Postal Savings postage stamps, including stamped envelopes, has utilized the latter by converting them into "penalty envelopes" by overprinting the stamp with six horizontal bars over which are the words, "Penalty for private use to avoid payment of postage, $300." The return address at the left has been blacked out, and in place of same there has been printed, "Post Office Department, Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Postal Savings, Washington, Official Business." So here we have a unique item in philately, i. e., a stamp which is not a stamp, but which will undoubtedly

EDITORIAL.

Rapturous—It will be difficult to speak of Cleveland's celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club in the casual terms that usually are employed descriptively for similar occasions; and indeed it would not be just to treat this anniversary with perfunctory phrases as it was a distinctive and triumphal occasion, perfect in all its details and those little touches that may not be reduced to words but which bespeak the mind, let us say, that is conversant with all the niceties of philatelic life. So, a truce to formal speech; it must make way for proper enthusiasm, as Cleveland, city philatelic hospitality, has registered its greatest achievement; and its love feast has given philatelic memory its happiest theme.

to say that the essential of stamps is lacking in American philatelic gatherings; and that the moving spirit of the stamp is ignored on such occasions. At Cleveland, stamps were the paramount issue, but they were presented in a social setting that warmed the heart of the stickler for philatelic tradition. Stamps were everywhere; they were first, last and all the time and in such number that the eyes of Argus could not have seen them all. The Worthington collection; the Charles Lathrop Pack display; the Dr. Carroll Chase collection of the U. S. issues of 1847, 1851 and 1857; William L. Stevenson's studies of the earlier U. S. stamps; the collections of Alvin Good, John F. Rust and other Cleveland men were all to the fore accompanied by a stamp host that included in the aggregate a wealth of interesting and valuable material. The panorama of stamps was an unceasing one and it was to be seen under the most favorable conditions. In this connection, the admirable display made by members of the society in the window of Burrows Brothers, one of the leading down-town stores, should be mentioned as it was just of the right calibre to attract and engage the public eye.

* * *

A Few Particulars—The Worthington collection was shown by Mr. Good according to the promise of the program and on Saturday afternoon, the hotel assembly room was crowded with collectors who were intent upon seeing the great collection with its Post Office Mauritius stamps, two of the one penny on the original envelope and a copy of the two pence on part of the cover, in particular; and it is needless to say that the worshipful multitude was mightily regaled. As may be imagined, the Worthington collection could not be examined in detail, but an idea of its opulence and magnitude could be gained in the several hours. The following day, a private view was given to a number of the visitors who held uninterrupted communion with the stamps for a good part of the day. The wonderful array of United States stamps was gloated over by gentlemen who realized their opportunity and made the most of it. The exhibit that was forwarded by Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack was superb and the vast amount of study and research that had been bestowed upon it was evident. We were fortunate to obtain a list of the stamps comprising Mr. Pack's contribution to the enjoyment of the keen philatelists and we shall present it for the edification of our readers in due course. It is to be said that Mr. Pack was unable at the last moment to join in the celebration personally, although he had planned to do so.

Beyond Words—We recognize the futility of attempting to describe with any thoroughness the collection of Mr. Worthington, which is beyond comparison with any other collection in America, and which has an international reputation. The fame of the Worthington collection has penetrated to the outposts of philately the world over and there are few school-boys who are ignorant of the vast wealth of the collection. Too, the marvelous collection of Dr. Carroll Chase may be said to "beggar description." No hurried compilation could do justice to the amazing aggregation of the stamps of the first three general issues of the United States, which Dr. Chase has collected with loving care; and when one learns that the albums that were shown by this prince of students were really not the collection in its completeness, but a representative portion of it, one can scarcely conceive how there could be a last word when all seemed to have been said, and so eloquently. The Chase collection had the stamps in all possible variety. There were reconstructed sheets, blocks, singles and variations without end. There were used and unused, covers and cancellations; variants in paper, and what not. The stamps at once were a revelation and an inspiration.

Stevenson's Strides—The United States stamps of Wm. L. Stevenson in a half dozen albums were a striking exemplification of the results of extraordinary application and an instinctive knowledge of philately. The stamps were rich in themselves alone, but when systematized by Mr. Stevenson, they told a story that would not be suspected by the collector who walks on the surface. The opinions of Mr. Stevenson have shown an independent course of thought and the fundamental principles that he proclaims are based on logical study of the stamps which he has collected in all forms. Mr. Stevenson's books were in constant demand and habitually were a center of attraction, while the explanations of the owner allowed of a fuller understanding on the part of those engrossed in the stamps. The examination of Mr. Stevenson's albums leads one to say that decidedly there is something in stamps; and Mr. Stevenson has dedicated his efforts to digging it out for the delectation of all philatelists.

* * *

George Heber Worthington—The appearance of Mr. Worthington at the banquet of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club was a source of gratification to all. In responding to his introduction by Mr. Rust, the toast-master, Mr. Worthington, said that at five o'clock that day, his doctor granted permission that he attend the banquet "if he went home early." Mr. Worthington said that he was anxious to meet the members and visitors on the happy occasion, even though his presence had hinged on the acquiescence of the doctor. He told of his earlier stamp days which remained bright in memory and assured those present that his interest in philately was unquenchable. Other felicitous remarks were made by Mr. Worthington and an outburst of enthusiasm on the part of the banqueters showed the esteem in which the master philatelist is held. Mr. Worthington, whose collection of stamps is one

GARFIELD-PERRY STAMP CLUB'S 25th ANNIVERSARY.CLEVELAND'S GREAT CELEBRATION.

The greater part of the philatelic population of Cleveland, "the sixth city," forgot home, business and friends and the daily routine of life, March 19th and 20th, and indulged in a stamp fiesta with a host of visitors from afar. Those who were guests: Dr. Chase, Brooklyn; Gen. Coolidge, Detroit; Mr. Deas, Syracuse; Mr. Fischer, Cincinnati; Mr. Fowler, Chicago; Mr. Fernald, Detroit; Mr. Hoffstetter, Erie, Pa.; Mr. Jacobs, Chicago; Mr. Heyerman, Detroit; Mr. Linn, Columbus; Mr. Severn, Chicago; Mr. Stewart, Toledo; Mr. Stevenson, Flint, Mich., and Mr. Webb, Perry, Ohio. Our list of Cleveland hosts is not complete: Messrs. Barnum, Beatty, Bryant, Brodie, Bruce, Chamberlin, Copland, Corner, Crowell, French, Geuder, Goldsmith, Good, Hart, Hanford, Hammond, Howe, Jenkins, Larsen, Lehmann, McLaren, Moses, Oettinger, Rhodes, Roby, Runge, Rust, Schneider, Weigel, Whittaker, Worthington and Wunderly.

Friday was devoted to making and renewing acquaintances and the display of interesting lots of stamps, preparatory to the regular meeting of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club on evening of March 19th. An auction was an attraction of the meeting and the auctioneer for this occasion only, Henry Ades Fowler of Chicago, kept everybody in good humor with his rillery as he wheedled good prices out of the bidders. The exhibition of the Dr. Chase collection of the first three general issues of the United States was the feature of the evening and for three hours the members gazed in wonderment on the stamps and listened to Dr. Chase's illuminating explanations. As a philatelic lecturer with these stamps as his subject, Dr. Chase established himself in highest favor. The open house at the philatelic headquarters, Saturday, was signalized in the afternoon by the exhibition of sections from the superb collections of the honorary members, Mr. Worthington and Mr. Pack. The crowd was large, "a veritable crush," as the society editor would have it, but everyone managed to see his fill of stamps. The crowning event of the celebration was the banquet on Saturday night, March 20th, 1915.

THE BANQUET.

The banquet was a success in every particular and the spacious hall in which it had its setting was beautifully decorated; it was indeed a fitting finale to the two perfect days. All the visitors were present and Cleveland was there in all its glory. Expectation ran high and as seats were taken, a tingle of happiness pervaded all. The souvenirs, presented with the compliments of the toast-master, Mr. John F. Rust, were a miniature mail-bag and a pair of tongs in sheath (or a magnifying glass) and the menu was a typographical delight; and in its culinary aspect read as follows:—

Menu.

Martini Cocktails	Wine
Cotuit Cocktails
Ripe Olives	Salted Nuts
Strained Chicken Gumbo	Celery
Sea Bass, Sauce Meunierre
Cucumber Sandwiches
Punch Imperiale
Breast of Guinea Hen, Currant Jelly
Au Gratin Potatoes
Asparagus Hollandaise
Hearts of Lettuce
Russian Dressing, Cheese Wafers
Garfield-Perry Ice Cream
Fancy Cakes
Roquefort Cheese	Toasted Crackers
Demi-Tasse
Cigars	Cigarettes

At the speakers' table, Mr. Rust with his usual savoir faire, banded a bit of philatelic philosophy with Commodore Worthington on his right or blew a bubble of airy persiflage to General Chas. A. Coolidge, president of the American Philatelic Society, on his left. Others at the speakers' table were Dr. Chase, Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Good, Mr. Fowler, Mr. Schneider, Mr. Fernald, Mr. Deas, Dr. Tubman and Mr. Severn. In good time, Mr. Rust, who, we may interpolate here, had his evening of triumph and made a most pleasant impression by the clever and cheerful guidance of the destinies of the evening, called upon Mr. Schneider as the first speaker. Mr. Schneider, as one of the founders of the club, told an interesting history of the early days of the organization and read a number of clippings from his scrap-book that gave an insight into the inner workings of the Garfield-Perry.

Mr. Worthington was listened to intently and the cordial sentiments that he expressed struck a responsive chord; and his delightful reminiscences were keenly enjoyed. He will not forget soon, we wager, the ovation that was tendered him. Though Mr. Worthington is under the care of a physician and was enjoined not "to stay out late," it was noticed that he was in no hurry to tear himself away.

Dr. Carroll Chase forgot his beloved stamps for the time being and gave a number of stories in dialect that evoked a demonstration that would have caused a professional entertainer to demand a raise in salary; surely, he was a surprise party.

Mr. Severn had something to say and then General Coolidge gave a talk that captivated his audience. After advising members of the American Philatelic Society to make a strong numerical showing at the San Francisco convention, he essayed the lighter side and his stories were wittily pointed and happily delivered. General Coolidge mentioned that while attending college in Cleveland in the early seventies, he scoured the city in the hope of finding a stamp dealer, but his quest was unrewarded, although he did discover a "stamp company" that made stencils.

Mr. Fowler made himself heard and his good humor was contagious; he pledged himself to attend future banquets of the club, thereby proving that under excitements of no ordinary kind, he held to the main chance. Mr. Fernald gave a remarkably engaging response; he followed the career of Garfield-Perry from birth to its present proud estate and into his discourse he wove a wealth of sentiment that appealed strongly to those who for so many years have followed actively or in fancy the career of Garfield-Perry.

The formal exercises of the evening were finished by the presentation by Mr. Hanford, in behalf of his good mother, of a beautiful loving cup to the club and Mr. Hanford's remarks, surcharged with sentiment, made a profound impression. The cup was accepted by Mr. Rust and a box of flowers was sent to Mrs. Hanford. To the strains of the excellent orchestra, the curtain was rung down to the most successful philatelic banquet that the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club ever gave.

NOTES.

Many of the visitors were given cards for two weeks to the Cleveland Athletic Club; and the dining room was the usual rendezvous of the philatelic townsmen and guests alike.

The Cleveland newspapers had accounts of the celebration and one of the dailies published a group photograph of a half-dozen or more collectors under the head that we "Defy Time and Space in the Search for Rare Stamps."

The statistician was around estimating the probable value of the stamps in possession of all those present but he was hopelessly entangled in a mass of figures when last seen.

While the entertainment which was continuous was being enjoyed by the visitors, they did not forget that it was the result of the expenditure of much time and money by the Cleveland men.

If there are collectors who can regard the one cent, 1851, U. S., for instance, after having seen the possibilities of the stamp as displayed in the collections on view, with a calm eye, they are the rare exceptions.

We are certain that philately in Cleveland will be stimulated as a result of the celebration and the consequent publicity that it received in the press and otherwise; and the influence of the excellent display in the window of Burrows Brothers doubtlessly will be felt.

COLUMBIAN STAMP CO., Arlington, Mass.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The Bridgeport, Conn., Philatelic Club is holding regular meetings. The club intends to secure rooms in a business building that will meet the needs of this growing organization.

—We learn that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing is getting out some 5 peso revenue stamps for the Philippines. The stamp is printed in blue and is a trifle smaller than the special delivery stamp.

—We have received from Mrs. E. W. Oughtred further information in connection with the operation of the new revenue tax law in Canada. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in connection with the 1c tax on theatre tickets, and the method of working it. Mrs. Oughtred says that the inland revenue office is impatiently awaiting 3c and 13c stamps, which are now greatly needed.

—John T. Thompson, R. 1., Marietta, Ga., is very anxious to secure the address of Stephen Golder, formerly of 1761 Scarth St., Regina, Canada. Mr. Thompson advises us that Golder went on a visit to Vancouver, B. C., and was to return to Regina, but letters to both cities are returned unclaimed. Can any of our Winnipeg subscribers furnish the desired information?

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Irvin B. Robinson, Hugo Kuenstler (7), Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, H. W. L. MacMeans and Mrs. W. E. Underwood.

—A new advertising postmark is reported from Canada, which is using very few this year because of the war. This one is from Calgary and is the ordinary rectangular type reading: SPRING STOCK SHOWS (slightly curved)—CALGARY, ALBERTA—APRIL 21-23—1915, in four lines.—G. A. CHANDLER.

—A philatelic society has been organized in Montclair, N. J., and will be known as Branch No. 4 of the N. P. S.

—Collectors generally may well beware of faked stuff originating from Francisco Rocha of Nogales, Arizona. We have before us a cover with one-half of a 10c Transitorio with Rocha's card in the corner. The peculiar part of this "provisional" is that a used stamp was taken to make this cover. Moreover, it bears a Hermosillo postmark dated as far back as last July. Rocha must be a very ignorant dealer in these things if he expects to fool the average collector with his wares.

—C. A. Spaythe writes us that the following are the plate numbers on the Kansas City roulettes:—1c, 6013, 6018, 6020, 6041; 2c, 6436, 6464, 6490, 6491. These were the only plate numbers of imperforate stamps in the Kansas City office at the time these stamps were rouletted.

—R. S.—Canal Zone stamps at their "regular" price can only be obtained from one of the Postoffices in the Canal Zone. If remittances be made by money order any postmaster will be willing to accommodate.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Scott's Circular has the following: "Last month, we chronicled the $1.00 stamp of the current series on paper watermarked single-lined U. S. P. S. The report that this stamp had been issued came to us just as we were sending copy to the printer and we hastily added the stamp to our chronicle. We are now informed by a reliable correspondent in Washington that not only has the stamp not been issued, but the plate for printing it on the paper with single-lined watermark has not even been made. We think it is generally known to collectors of United States stamps that the remainder of the paper with double-lined watermark is cut to fit plates of 200 subjects, while the paper with single-lined watermark is cut to fit plates of 400 subjects. Plates of the larger size have now been made for all denominations of the current series, except the one dollar. We may, therefore, expect the latter stamp to be printed on the paper with double-lined watermark until the supply of it is exhausted. We have no information as to how long it will probably last.

"New values with the perforation 10 continue to appear. Only the 50c is now lacking in the regular issue and the 10c in the Panama Pacific series. We hear that the 3 and 5c postage due stamps have been perforated with this gauge, but they have not yet been noted as in issue.

"The list of revenue stamps on the two papers continues to grow. MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS lists, 1, 1½ and 3c Proprietary stamps. We would like to know if our contemporary has personal knowledge that these denominations exist or has accepted the statement of some correspondent who may have copied the list originally announced by the Government."

Will the correspondents who originally reported these stamps kindly supply the confirmation asked for above.

AITUTAKI.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 1sh King Edward stamp of New Zealand surcharged for use in this Colony.

COSTA RICA.—Stamp Collecting reports another provisional, the 2c pale blue fiscal stamp overprinted "Guanacaste" diagonally; additionally overprinted "Correos" for postal use.

CURACAO.—Ewen's Weekly chronicles the issue for this Colony in the new Colonial types already chronicled for Dutch Indies and Surinam. The values 1c to 7½c are in the figure type, with white ground, 10c to 30c, small Wilhelmina and 50c to 2½g, large Wilhelmina. The small values are perforated 12½, and the three high values 11 x 11½.

DENMARK.—Recently, Ewen's Weekly chronicled post cards and letter cards surcharged "S. B." for the use of mobilized troops. It appears that these have been superseded by a regular issue. There is a post card with heading—Soldater—Brevkørt—and 5 øre stamp, with portrait of King Christian, surcharged "S B" in green, and a letter card is headed—Soldater—Korrespondancekørt—and the 10 øre stamp, with portrait of King Christian, is surcharged "S B" in black.

NEW GUINEA.—The Australian Philatelist states:

"The same fate that befell German Samoa overtook German New Guinea; it passed into the hands of Great Britain through the instrumentality of Australia's navy, and a portion of her Expeditionary Force. And what has happened to the local stamps of Samoa was enacted again in the new territory, but not quite as rapidly, for at first no stamps could be found, and when some time after they were discovered, at Rabaul, the capital, the stock was a small one indeed. Hence the luck of possessing a complete set will fall only to the few.

"The stamps were overprinted 'G. R. I., and the value in English currency. The reason for the limited supply, there being only 17 complete sets, from '1d up to 5sh in the issue, is that the postmasters of the various towns had received orders from the German Government at the outbreak of war, to burn all stamps in the event of there being any likelihood of a foreign nation occupying the territory.

"Of these 17 sets, not one was available for sale at the post offices, owing to their having been sent to his Majesty the King, high officials, and various museums for record. The highest value

"FILLS A GAP."

The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain thus reviews Poole's "German States":—

Coming at the present time, the subject of this handy work will not appeal very strongly to British philatelists, for it cannot be denied that, if collectors over here have not definitely eschewed the stamps of Germany, they are certainly not running after them.

Be this as it may, the articles contained in this book, which are reprinted from MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, present the most concise account of the stamps of the German States which has yet been published.

The author, Mr. B. W. H. Poole, is a philatelist who is equally at home in what we may term (without giving offence, we hope) compilation articles, as in original research. Our readers know him well in both styles. The work under notice belongs to the former category. Although it contains very little that was not known before, it does not appear to have omitted any important fact which has been published on the subject in all the vast library of philatelic literature, and it is an extraordinary fact that until now no book in the English language deals with the stamps of Germany, with the exception of Westoby's Stamps of Europe, which was published very many years ago. This book, therefore, fills a gap in the philatelic library of which, we do not doubt, many will take advantage.

The plan of the book is simple and makes reference easy. The States are taken alphabetically. A short geographical and historical account introduces each subject. Then follows a description of the stamps with a reference list at the end of each issue. Particulars by which the inexperienced may recognize reprints are lucidly given wherever possible.

Perhaps the most interesting chapter of all is that on Bergeford, to which is appended a letter from Mr. John Paalzow, the son of the Director of Posts of Bergeford, whose school-boy collection was examined in search of some design which might serve as a guide for the projected issue. But it is difficult to single out any chapter from a work which is distinctly above what we have come to expect in modern "Hand-books."

EXPOSITION POSTMARKS.

The Post Office Department has established upon the grounds of the Panama-Pacific Exposition a Model Post Office; this office is a station of the main San Francisco office. We have knowledge from official sources that the following dies are being used to stamp mail at the Model Post Office; machine—rectangular type as used by the San Francisco office for advertising the Exposition—reading: MODEL POST OFFICE—PANAMA—PACIFIC—INTERNATIONAL—EXPOSITION in five lines, the second two of which overlap each other. Machine—familiar flag type as used by San Jose for above purpose—reading: MODEL—POST OFFICE—PANAMA—PACIFIC—INTERNATIONAL—EXPOSITION, in five lines. Machine—waved line type as used by Berkeley—reading: MODEL POST OFFICE—PANAMA—PACIFIC—INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, in three lines. Handstamp—ordinary duplex type with number 1 in oval—reading: MODEL P. O. STA.; handstamp—received, without obliterator—reading same as previous one; package stamp—ordinary oval line type, reading M. P. O. in center of small oval. These interesting special postmarks will no doubt be eagerly sought for by not only regular postmark enthusiasts, but by collectors in general. Quantities of these items promise to be difficult to obtain.

Owen then entertained the members with an interesting talk on U. S. Plate Numbers, and exhibited his fine collection of same.

The following new members were elected: Messrs A. M. Wright, No. 603; Roger Batchelder, No. 604; Walter D. Swan, No. 605; James S. Bell, Jr., No. 606, and S. G. Bixby, No. 607.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

UNSOLICITED APPROVAL SELECTIONS.

In answer to a number of queries, I think that it is advisable to take up this question in detail. Mr. D—, of New York State, writes that since his name was published once as a collector, he has "received sheets from all four ends of the earth, and some parts of New Jersey." He states further that he has paid $1.40 in return postage during the last two months, as very few of the "varmints" enclosed their own postage. He has at present six fine lots worth about 15c each awaiting return, and wishes to know what action he should take to rid himself of these pests. While his case is a little more flagrant than some, yet all are annoying and should be remedied. Any dealer that is so hard up for trade that he has to resort to this method of thrusting his goods where they are not wanted, should quit the business and sell shoe laces on the corner. Suppose you received a large lot of merchandise from a store, without ordering it. What would you do? Undoubtedly, you would summon the merchant to remove it before you threw it out. Why, then, when you receive an unsolicited approval selection should you encourage this practice by buying stamps from it?

There are several methods which will eradicate this evil. One collector wires the dealer collect to send return postage and registration for his lot, else same will be disposed of. The lengthier he makes the message, the more apt the dealer is to discover that his practice does not pay. Another man returns the lot by express, collect, and carefully puts a brick or two in the package for ballast. A third man deducts stamps listing at 60c, assuming them to be worth a fifth of catalogue, for his trouble. This is not so good, as what collector wants to load up with this trash? These methods appear small to most of the big-hearted collectors, and they are, but the evil in question is such that only a few treatments as above will exterminate it. Kind words and harsh language alike has no effect on these dealers, who can only feel a contraction of the pocket-book.

THE SCARCEST STAMPS CATALOGING UNDER $1.

This subject has been treated several times in these columns and elsewhere. However, all articles and lists were compiled by advanced collectors and dealers who, while they are in touch with the demands of philately, may not be as familiar with the hard-to-get common stamps as the collector who is faced with the problem of getting these stamps. As all collectors are interested more or less with the financial side of collecting, and since the value of a stamp is regulated by the law of supply and demand, it is important that collectors keep posted on the "scarce" though low-priced stamps. Experience has shown that it is the "scarce" stamp that increases in value first.

In order to get inside information on this subject from the collectors themselves, I will appreciate it very much if every one of you will send me a list of some of the stamps you have tried to get and have had unusual difficulty in obtaining. Not the ones that you have made no effort to get, but the ones that you feel are really very scarce. In studying this subject, I believe it best to consider nineteenth and twentieth century separately, so will thank you to distinguish these two classes on your list, and mark each separately. The results of this study will appear in these columns, and will enable everyone to benefit by the experience of his fellow-collectors. Limit your lists to stamps cataloging $1.00 or less by Scott 1915, and if used is common and the unused scarce, or vice-versa, so state.

This is a subject of importance to all collectors. If you would profit by your study, learn the scarce stamps. Let's hear from every one of you, and at least fifty, with lists of "goat-getters" and get close to the market on these elusive ones. I will secure the services of a prominent dealer to pass on these lists and give his idea of the scarcity of the stamps in question.

SONORA AND MEXICAN REBEL STAMPS.

I have been repeatedly asked to judge of the merits of these stamps and heretofore have said little about these items. As a collector of them myself, I am firmly convinced that they are in the most part legitimate issues, though there are a few undesirables. I would advise all collectors to secure anything in this line that they can obtain, but do not advise paying very high prices excepting where the stamps are known to be O. K.

THE "QUESTIONS" CONTEST.

Below is a further list of ten questions, the answers to which will appear next week. See how many of these you can answer correctly, and check them up next week. Do not send them to me, as no prizes are offered for these answers. You may and should use your catalogues. It is the purpose of these questions to increase your knowledge of stamps in general, both of the cheaper varieties and the rarities. As collections differ, it would be impossible to limit these questions to stamps that every collector has, therefore, since the use of the catalogue is essential, why not study the rarities as well as the cheaper varieties? This is in explanation to queries concerning the stamp inscribed with Postmaster Johnson's name, which so few collectors could place. However, these questions will be confined chiefly to the stamps within reach of the average collector and only occasional reference to the rarities will be made. It would be a good plan for collectors to try to answer these questions without their catalogues, and to resort to the book only when necessary.

1. What stamp pictures Jose M. Canas?
2. What stamp pictures O'Higgins?
3. What stamp bears the inscription "Inland" and value "3 cents"?
4. What series bears the word "continent"?
5. What stamp is surcharged "Ava Pene" and name of country?
6. What stamp pictures the "Escuella de Medicina" (School of Medicine)?
7. What series is surcharged "Kemah-kotaan"?
8. What series are inscribed with the dates "1607-1907"?
9. What stamp pictures the Steamer "Clairmont"?
10. What stamp pictures Cape Bonavista?

Stamps to answer the above questions catalogue 45 cents for the ten.

pick up much in Newfoundland, as I learned recently that practically everything is sold out, but a large lot of reissues is rumored.

M. O.—The value of your 90c August and 3c imperforate National issue depends largely on condition. The 90c August is a very rare stamp, so rare in fact, that I wonder if you have one or whether you are mistaking another stamp for this rarity. These Augusts are confusing and sometimes even the experts are in error. A recent quotation on this stamp is $300.

Your 3c National imperforate can hardly be priced in this condition as these imperforates are so easily made from proofs or by trimming perforated copies, that they are not in demand excepting in pairs or blocks. I have seen single copies of these things sell from 50c to $2.50 though pairs often bring many times these prices, depending upon condition and scarcity.

G. T.—While there is not very much demand for the broken "I" surcharge on the 1902 Philippines, I have seen them sell for around 50c. The broken "H" is considerably better, and is offered for $2.00.

I cannot find a France 5c type A14. I think you will find this to be type A8, being No. 40 cataloging 35c used, and issued imperforate.

Your Tasmania stamp with double perforation at the bottom is only interesting as a freak and has little added value for this reason. It might be worth a trifle more to a specialist.

H. D. W.—Your 10 shilling King Edward inscribed "Consular Service" is not a postage stamp, hence would not be included in Scott's catalogue. I do not know its value.

Stamps surcharged "Specimen" usually sell for twenty-five to fifty cents, except in cases of special rarities or high values, and these do not command nearly as good prices as the unsurcharged or ordinary stamps. "Specimen" stamps are not available for postage, but are used as samples and are distributed to the Postal Union or through favor to individuals. I have, however, seen low values bring more as "Specimen" copies than the ordinary, where the latter are very low in price. Specimen copies are scarce, but there is little demand for them.

The stamp you illustrate is a local used in Helsingfors, Finland. I have never followed these locals, as they are a study in themselves, so can't give you the value. Some are quite good, and command fair prices when the proper buyers are reached.

H. H.—I don't believe it will pay you to gather the current 4c and 5c stamps. These only bring five or ten cents a hundred soaked and bundled, and I would hate to count and soak them for that. The 10c Honduras blue recently replaced by the brown 10c will be quite good and I suggest that you hold them. The Jamaica and Trinidad 2½c are worth about 60c per 100; the Canal Zone 1c and 2c about 40c; the Panama 2c is slightly better. Soak the stamps, putting a little salt in the water, to remove them from cover. I suggest you trade them to some dealer doing a wholesale business for stamps of other varieties. These are not at all rare and I doubt if you could get much for them, though you might get a good exchange. The new Canal Zone and Panama commemoratives should be desirable.

THE GOAL IN SIGHT.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR EVERY LOYAL FRIEND TO LEND A HELPING HAND.

By WILLARD O. WYLIE, Managing Editor.

For the past two years we have made every effort to carry our subscription list over the 8,000 mark. We came very near succeeding last March when we reached 7,800, but there was not sufficient momentum to carry the WEEKLY over the goal line. This spring, we shall succeed in our endeavors and shall obtain the much coveted subscription figures.

Do you not want a share in the good work? Would you not like to feel that your energy, interest and enthusiasm had a part in the final result? Then go out and get a ten weeks', six months' or one year subscription and send it in as your boost "over the line."

Someone may ask why it is that, with hundreds of new subscriptions coming in, the desired goal has not been attained before. It can be explained in one phrase, "expirations and discontinuances." We comply strictly with the U. S. postal laws and make no effort to pad our mailing list.

A paper such as the WEEKLY can not make an appeal to the general public. Its appeal must be made to a class and in our case, stamp collectors. Every person who subscribes to this paper must first be a stamp collector, but this can be said of any successful trade paper:—its subscription list is a loyal one. It is so with MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, evidence of this coming to us in every mail that reaches our office.

We do offer certain useful premiums in connection with absolutely new subscriptions. They are premiums that a stamp collector appreciates and we are careful to comply with the P. O. department regulations. We do not want a subscription that comes to us because of the premium offered and when one writes in for a six months' subscription with premium and adds "discontinue paper at expiration of subscription," we refund the remittance with the reply that we are selling, not stamps, but subscriptions to a stamp paper.

Our mailing list is a live, up-to-date list that has cost us thousands of dollars. Several attempts to establish weekly stamp papers have resulted in failures, notwithstanding the fact that money and energy have been lavishly spent and these failures only emphasize the virility of the WEEKLY.

Probably Redfield's Weekly came into being with the best prospects that a new stamp paper ever had. Mr. Redfield had ample means and could command the very best talent the market afforded, but the paper flourished for a short time only and then showed signs of decadence, only to suspend publication after a few years of life. It had fought a great fight.

The Philadelphia Stamp News, under Mr. Mann's management, is another example of a paper starting under auspicious circumstances and flourishing for a period. Now the suspension of that publication is announced. Mr. Mann, in his valedictory, states that he is physically unable to carry along the exacting duties of editor and business manager of the Stamp News. The entire work has fallen upon him and he has carried it as long as his health will permit. We know full well what Mr. Mann refers to and understand the situation he finds himself in.

The WEEKLY has suffered the difficulties and vicissitudes that are common to every newspaper before it becomes established upon a secure basis. It has risen above them and is seeking to further increase its usefulness as an advocate of stamp collecting. To do this, it desires your assistance.

In the dual capacity of service to collector and dealer, we maintain that there is a common tie between them and we propose to know not the interests of the one as against the other, but a common interest in the stability of stamp collecting as a fascinating, intellectual and financially profitable hobby.

Be a booster for the 8,000!

Beginners and collectors of moderate means desiring selections of the commoner stamps of any country or countries can have same made up to meet their individual requirements. Let me know the limit you care to spend on one stamp, whether you wish for unused, used, or both, and I shall be glad to send a selection of just such stamps as will interest you. No trouble is considered too great to meet the wishes of collectors who really mean business, and the small buyer is assured of the same careful attention as is accorded to those clients in a position to make more extensive purchases.

On his retirement from active business due to ill health, Mr. Bloss, of Chicago, has kindly given me a list of his customers. I shall be glad to send selections to any reader on the plan inaugurated by Mr. Bloss and can guarantee the same personal care will be given to every client.

THE 10 PERFORATION.

By J. M. BARTELS.

Wide awake collectors knew six weeks ago that the following postage stamps had been issued with the new perforation:

Ordinary, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 15, 20, 30c and $1.00, the latter only double lined watermark; Panama Pacific, 1, 2, 5c; Special Delivery, 10c; Postage Due, 1, 2, 3, 5, 10c; Philippines, 2 cvs. in booklets.

None of the following had been even printed, perf. 10 up to the first of this month: Ordinary 50c, Panama Pacific 10c, Postage Due 30c and 50c. It is not probable that the $1.00 stamp will appear with the single line watermark. There is still a good supply of the old paper on hand and the $1.00 stamp will continue to be printed from the small plates with only 200 subjects instead of 400.

It has not been finally decided whether perforation 10 is to become a permanent thing with U. S. stamps. It is, however, quite certain that we will not go back to "12." In case the present scale fails to give the satisfaction desired after the sufficiently long test has been made, the wheels may be changed to perforate "11." This would be unfortunate from a philatelic standpoint, but perhaps more desirable for the public. The change from 12 to 10 was made because the sheets did not hold together very well and particularly were poorly adapted for coiling purposes with such weak perforations. Block collectors are much pleased with the stronger perforation. Unfortunately, the centering is frequently very poor and it is quite difficult to find any perfect copies in many of the sheets. We have never seen a sheet in which even 80% of the stamps were perfectly centered.

It is of course, erroneous to believe that the sheets with new perforation were printed on the rotary presses. The only one so far at work has been used exclusively for 1c and 2c stamps coiled horizontally.

The first machines installed to perforate 10 began work on September 4, 1914. Gradually all were changed to this scale and on November 4th the last stamps were perforated old style 12. No records were kept in the interval as to which perforation was used in any individual case. The wheels now in use have 160 pegs perforating 10 (10 holes in two centimeters, an internationally adopted scale) while the old ones had 192. To perforate 11, 16 pegs would be added to the amount necessary to perf. 10. A change to perforate 11 would not be a serious technical matter.—Philatelic Gazette.

BELGIAN IDYL IN HOLLAND.

By OTTO WEISMANN.

Even in our own country, the Netherlands, and certainly also in Belgium, the majority of the population did not notice until shortly, that besides the little part of the province of West-Flanders between the little river Yser and the French frontier, where the waves of war are going highest, there is still other Belgian territory, not only free from invaders, but also happy and safe.

Baarle-Hertog (French: Baarle-Duc) is the name of a little community with about 800 inhabitants, inaccessible to the Germans, as it is totally surrounded by Netherlands territory, about two miles from the Belgian main country, and forming one village together with the Dutch community Baarle-Nassau.

Why this tiny bit of soil still belongs to Belgium, nobody can tell. The only reason may be that it has always been so, these five hundred years and reverence for historical facts is strong in the Low-Lands.

Special interest for the stamp collector is found in the circumstance, that the little village Baarle-Hertog, is gifted by a post office where Belgian stamps are still obtainable and still being used. Same as the Belgian stamps with Havre special, obliteration, the postmark "Baarle-Hertog-Baarle-Duc" with date of war time will always remain of philatelic and historical value.

NO PHILIPPINES PERF. 10 AS YET.

We are indebted to H. F. Colman for the following information gleaned from a letter received from the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing: "In reply to your letter of the 30th instant, will say that the last order shipped by this Bureau, of Philippine stamps, was on August 28, 1914, or prior to the time when we commenced the coarser perforations, therefore none of the Philippine stamps shipped in fulfillment of the above order was of the 10 perforations."

THE 3c GREEN BOOKLET.

A handsome production! Printed on heavy paper and fully illustrated all the way through. Cover printed in green of the color of the stamp, of which an enlarged illustration in half-tone is shown. It's within the postal regulations. Some ten blank pages, "Stamps and Notes," added to make the book right up to the minute. A chart, folded in, with data. Poems by Field and Pember. And the price only 12c!

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

Percival Parrish, President. P. M. Wolsieffer, Gen'l Manager.
1204 CHESTNUT STREET. PHILADELPHIA, PA.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Chester J. Moore sent an approval selection to one Carl W. Nolan of Cicero, Ind., in reply to a request. References were given which Mr. Moore failed to investigate until later, when the local postmaster advised him that the letters sent were being held as the parties were unknown. Nolan made one call at the Cicero office for an accumulation of mail and this was his first and only appearance in the town. The name is evidently an assumed one and other dealers have no doubt been stung. Moral: Investigate references and be sure they are good ones.

—Wm. J. Walker, Bath, N. Y., is among the missing. Letters addressed to him are returned marked "Moved—Left no address." J. V. Doyle submits correspondence with Mr. Walker requesting approval selections, one letterhead showing Mr. Walker as a dealer in stamps while the other represents him as one engaged in violin instruction. Other dealers may be interested in Mr. Doyle's experiences.

—Melville's Catalog of War Stamps for 1914-15 has been received. It was issued in connection with the exhibition of war stamps held under the management of Mr. Melville in London during the past month. The catalogue is finely illustrated and the stamps are fully described, with vertical columns at the right of each page for the pricing of the various issues, used and unused. Price 7c, postfree.

—We are advised by Dr. S. J. Gittelson of the Empire Stamp Co. that the stock and good will of this company has been sold to Eugene Klein.

An error occurred in the adlet of Benj. L. Davis, March 27. His address was given as Randolph Center, Ct., when it should have been Vermont. This statement will explain any irregularities in correspondence.

—Just now there is a bad road leading from Kalamazoo, Mich. One, Eastman, claiming a residence at 316 E. Main St., gives the WEEKLY as reference and we not only have not given him permission to do this, but have information that leads us to believe that he requires investigation. His name may not be Eastman, it may be Holt, or any other name to get an approval selection.

—D. T. Eaton reports that mail sent to Wm. J. Walker, Bath, N. Y., is returned marked "Moved and left no address." This has already been recorded in the WEEKLY. A similar experience is noted in connection with Chas. A. Clifton of Sugar Creek, Mo.

—G. A. Burgers calls our attention to a mean trick played upon him while a letter was in transit from Rotterdam. Carriage had been paid by two blocks of four of the Jubilee issue of Netherlands, and some postal employee helped himself to a pair from each of the blocks. It was Mr. Burgers' intention to have the whole set in blocks of four on the original cover, but he thinks it best to abandon the plan.

—The McGraw Stamp Co., Detroit, Mich., has shut up shop and its manager decamped to parts unknown. Fred R. Schmalzriedt of that city is trying to ascertain whether there are any assets available to secure the various creditors.

—"I beg to inform you that I have received the following values of Hungary 5 filler, 12, 20, 25, 30, 35, 50, 60 Scott No. 87, 90, 92 to 96, 98, surcharged in the same way as the 6 filler Scott No. 88 already chronicled in the WEEKLY."
—C. G. DIETRICH.

—Geo. W. Linn sends us an auction bid sheet entered by a California collector that is in a class by itself. 195 lots are bid upon at 10c each. Mr. Linn has in press a book on "The White and Green Seal Issues of Sonora."

—"Tiajuana, lower California, is now and has been for several weeks. Villa territory. When Villa took over the Northern district there were several hundred sheets of "Gobierno" printed surcharges, issued by Carranza, in both the Ensenada and Tiajuana offices. The stamps were sold as usual under the new Villa government and the only difference was in the accounting, the remittances being sent to Torreón, the Villa Capital, instead of Vera Cruz or Mexico City as formerly. The Carranza postmaster continued in his position, and the surrender was bloodless, the soldiers at Tiajuana and Ensenada declaring that they were thereafter for Villa and against Carranza. The military headquarters and some of the offices of the Capital have been removed to Mexicali, where Col. Estaban Cantu is in command."—W. J. STANTON.

NEW PANAMA DUES.

Clipping from Emil J. Rall.

The new issue of "postage due" stamps to be used between the Panama Canal Zone and the Republic of Panama for letters which carry no postage and consequently are subject to fine, was put into use March 25.

The series of these stamps comprises four values, one, two, four, and ten cents gold. The one-cent stamp bears a picture of the historic fort of San Lorenzo, engraved on it. The two-cent stamp depicts Christopher Columbus, that of four-cents, showing a view of the National Palace, and the one of ten cents a bust of the famous Panamanian engineer, Pedro de Sossa. All of these stamps carry the inscription: "National Posts. Republic of Panama. Due Postage Stamp," and their color is brown.

ANNOUNCEMENT

In justice to correspondents whose letters have been received but unanswered during the past few weeks, I wish to announce that shortly after the first of the year I suffered a severe nervous breakdown, which by advice of physicians attending, necessitated a complete relaxation from all business affairs.

As this illness was thought temporary, a short but complete rest being the only cure prescribed, I directed that all mail should be received and filed as usual; but as I have always given my personal attention to stamp affairs without assistance, it was impossible for any other to attend to the mail which has accumulated.

I regret that I have been ill months instead of the weeks thought likely at first and had I considered this at the time, some proper disposition of correspondence could possibly have been arranged for.

All mail is now being opened and answered in order of receipt and it is to be hoped that by the end of the present month everything will be cleared.

In this connection I would desire to express my appreciation of the practically unanimous confidence shown by stamp men all over the world, for among the 500 to 1000 letters before me I have met with but two (or rather two "series") of an unfriendly nature, and these from the very smallest of "small dealers" both of whom had submitted selections of the most trivial character without any solicitation whatever.

To the many friends, who knowing conditions, have expressed sympathy to Mrs. Legg and to myself, I wish to extend my very sincere thanks.

EDITORIAL.

The Last Word—We have just published our handbook, Number Nine, and it is really one of the most sightly products of the press imaginable. The subject of the pamphlet is: "The U. S. 3c Green 1870-1887"; the writer, H. L. Wiley; and the price, twelve cents. We forbear to describe the little work lest we be suspected of blind partiality but we confidently recommend the book to our readers who may see for themselves what value it is possible to give for this modest price. Make a good beginning on your philatelic library with this indispensable work of reference.

* * *

Right Idea—We are pleased to say a good word for a prospective philatelic publication, the Stamp Trade, a paper intended for stamp dealers only which is advertised to appear April 20th, 1915, from Omaha. The necessity for a publication of this character has long been realized by many of us who have felt that the wholesale side of philately, so to say, constituted a special field that required treatment of distinctive kind. A paper intended for dealers only will provide a means for the circulation of intimate news concerning the stamp market while the advertising pages should embody offers that dealers rather than collectors can understand as the same rules do not apply to retail offers as to wholesale. In Europe there have been advertising papers on this order and we shall welcome our contemporary who will be the pioneer here in this important division of commercial philately.

* * *

Mexico Too—Mexico does not wish to be overlooked by those who give attention to the censor's markings on mail emanating from the different countries that have adopted these precautionary measures. We have seen the printed label on letters from Vera Cruz district: "Revisada Por El Censor,"—words which tell their own tale.

* * *

New To Us—From Mr. P. J. Wagner we have received a copy of the 20c

LIQUIDATION SALE

In order to close out the assets of the Empire Stamp Co. of Penna. I have prepared a list of single stamps, collections, supplies and office furniture, which I will send to dealers and collectors on request.

blue, Bolivia of the "Transacciones" set, with the surcharge in red: "Correos 1912." This stamp seems to be an additional variety of the 1912 surcharged set; and Mr. Wagner says that there were two of these stamps found by him in a lot of three hundred stamps from Bolivia.

* * *

Discontinued—The editor and publisher of the Philadelphia Stamp News announces in the issue of his paper dated March 27th, 1915, the suspension of that weekly which for five years has made its visits with commendable regularity. Percy McGraw Mann, the owner of the paper, has found that the duties entailed in guiding the destinies of a weekly publication devoted to stamps exclusively, too arduous and irksome for one person to discharge; and after persisting to the extent of issuing 261 numbers, he retires from the field. We understand that the immediate cause of the decision was the spectre of ill-health as a result of too steady confinement. Mr. Mann says that the steady grind that devolved wholly upon himself was "too much for his health and peace of mind." We are not without sympathy for our co-worker in the philatelic vineyard as we know that the attention to detail in running a weekly stamp paper becomes somewhat of a strain at times. It is axiomatic that if the little things are slighted, any progress that is made is faltering; and time, money and pride all will vanish in the disaster that is likely to overtake the paper.

* * *

Just A Moment—The announcement of the finale of our doughty weekly contemporary affords an opportunity to release a few throbbing thoughts. We are not pessimistic about the trend of philatelic journalism in this country, notwithstanding the discouraging aspects that obtrude themselves at times. There will always be a fair representation of stamp papers. They will come and go but at any given time, a number will be with us; and in that assurance is the chief inspiration of the ambitious publisher as why should not his production be among the elected papers. Any publication launched on "the sea of philatelic journalism" will have a tempestuous voyage before it reaches the port of safety. As a general proposition, the life of a stamp paper is in direct ratio to the power of resistance to adversity of the publisher. If one is in a position to give time and money freely without insisting upon an adequate return and has a pronounced liking for the publishing business and then is content to hold on grimly, the chances for ultimate success at least are even. The test of the publisher of the stamp paper comes when the novelty of production has worn off and the inexorable grind begins. If said publisher cannot extract pleasure enough through his publishing connections to balance the rather doleful entries on the other side of the ledger, he will grow very tired of the work.

They Ask—On different occasions our views are asked by younger readers about the possibilities of philatelic publishing; and we shall use the present opening through which to introduce a few words on the subject. Our own belief in our paper and the great structure upon which it is based will not allow us to rail at the support that is given the new stamp paper. It is futile to attempt an indictment of philately because it does not support worthy publishing efforts; nor do we need to attempt here to discover reasons for the apathy of philatelists. We say that if the person is able to make a stamp publication pay, he is not apt to be satisfied with the returns from his restricted field, after he becomes familiar with the ground. Mr. A. Wilkinson Shaw once ran a stamp paper and he may have been making a success of it, but if he had kept at the work he would not be editing System now. So we tell the young man that if he is willing to devote a good part of the next ten years, the best of his life, to a stamp paper and possesses a stock of determination and some cash, he may develop a successful stamp paper.

* * *

Getting Together—We have been informed by the publishers of the Collectors' Blue Book, of Camden, New Jersey, that they have "bought out the Stamp Journal, the Philadelphia Stamp News and the New England Philatelist." These publications will be combined with the Collectors' Blue Book, which will be styled the Stamp Journal, combined with Collectors' Blue Book. Messrs. Robert J. Wythe, Jr., and Thomas Burnett are the publishers; and Mr. Russell L. Stultz, editor. The Collectors' Blue Book has been in existence for over two years and has made something of a name for itself by its readable and well-printed contents. We wish our confreres who have been so suddenly promoted to prominence all success; and we hope that the enterprise that they have just shown will be to the fore in different ways in the future. Definite information as to the manner in which the details of the merger will be forthcoming soon.

THE NEW REVENUES.

By J. M. BARTELS.

The Internal Revenue Bureau furnishes the paper for all revenue stamps. They have not changed from the old double lined letters U. S. I. R. as their watermark.

The first work had to be done in an enormous rush to have the stamps ready by Dec. 1st and this is unfortunate as the low denominations were not up to the usual standard of Bureau workmanship. There was not enough revenue paper on hand and for this reason the Int. Rev. Bureau borrowed from the P. O. D. one and a half million sheets with the single line U. S. P. S. watermark and as is well known this was used for printing the recent revenue stamps. Nearly all lower values have been found on the postage paper.

The \$1.00 stamp is printed 300 in a sheet, the \$2.00, \$3.00, \$5.00, \$10.00, \$30.00 and \$50.00 only 200 in a sheet, all later divided into panes of 100. The \$1.00 is therefore $\frac{2}{3}$ the size of the higher values named.

END OF THE "PHILATELIC RECORD."

By WILLIAM R. RICKETTS, F. R. P. S. L.

The deplorable European war is really the reason for the suspension of this fine paper, one of the foundation rocks of philately and one of the oldest papers published in the English language, having published thirty-six volumes and 432 numbers; this is certainly quite unusual in English philatelic journalism, and is a record that has only been surpassed by one or two papers in other languages.

This paper was founded in February,
 1879, in memoriam of the late Edward Loines Pemberton, by the firm at which he had been the head, viz. Pemberton, Wilson & Co., formerly of Southampton, now (1879) of London, England.

Publishers:—Pemberton, Wilson &
 Co. were the publishers of volumes I through XII, No. 143, Nov., 1890.
 (Messrs. Stanley Gibbons & Co., of London, and Stafford Smith & Co., of Brighton, also published the numbers for September, 1882, (III, 32) through December, 1890, (XII, 144), and these numbers exist with the imprint of each at the end of these monthly parts and their advertisements on the cover pages).
 Theodore Buhl & Co., of London, published numbers 144 (XII, Dec., 1890), to 204 (XVII, December, 1895) without change, but with the January number, 1896 (XVIII, 1) they combined The Stamp News (published by them since January, 1882, IX, volumes in all) with it under the title of Philatelic Record
And Stamp News, which title was continued through number 12 (XXI, Dec., 1899) although they ceased to be publishers with the October, 1899, number.
 Sir Isaac Pittman & Son published number 10 (XXI, Nov., 1899) to 12
 (XXIII, Dec., 1901). With the January number (XXII, 1, 1900) the old title was resumed and so continued to the end. Philatelic Record Co. of Manchester, published numbers 1 (XXIV, 1902) to 12 (XXX, Dec., 1908). William Lewis & Son of London, published the remaining numbers, (XXXI, 1 Jan., 1909) to XXXVI, 12 Dec., 1914).

Editors.—Maitland Burnett, edited the first seven volumes with the exception of a few odd numbers. W. A. S.

This journal published a number for every month, excepting X, (119-120, Dec., 1888) which two numbers were combined, and also August and September, 1898 (XX, 8) there being only 11 numbers in this volume. Beginning with number 25 (III, February, 1881) a cover was issued with each number which continued to the end. Each volume has a title-page and index, and the first XVI volumes have a photograph of some distinguished English philatelist as a frontispiece. A supplement entitled "A Catalogue of Telegraph Stamps, Stamp Forms, etc., By the Editor of the Philatelic Record
 (Westoby)," was issued with volumes X and XI and a supplement "A Catalogue of the postage stamps, envelopes, etc., of the United Kingdom during the fifty years that have elapsed since their introduction," pages 5-12 only to number 135 (XII, March, 1890). This was also compiled by Mr. Westoby and was completed and published as a separate work in 1891.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor:

I would like a small space in the WEEKLY to ask a few questions, and also to make a protest on behalf of, not a general collector, but one who confines his time to a few countries. If these questions are worthy of an answer I hope to see some comments from you or some of the WEEKLY readers.

In U. S. postage I have been very careful to collect watermarks, perforations, and private perforations as far as possible. Now do you not think it will discourage beginners if Scott should catalogue U. S. revenues, according to watermark? I notice many collectors are very much interested in this part of philately, but suspect that it is mainly the advanced collector. Why not make this distinction in books for specialists written by Melville and Powers, but let the Scott people make no distinction in the 1916 Standard Catalogue. If they do catalogue the watermarks, or if not, it seems to me that "errors" which are not prohibitive in price to the average collector should be recognized. For example I have a block of four of the "Guy Issue" of Newfoundland with four errors "NFW FOUNDLAND": "KING JAMRS" and on the lower stamps of the blocks the misplacing of commas. Now to me these errors constitute a new stamp more than a watermark for not only the specialist, but the advanced collector, and beginner. This block is ignored in the 1915 Catalogue and a number of dealers who price separately each stamp of this country.

Respectfully,

CLINTON L. CHALFANT.

E. A. HOLTON COLLECTION SOLD.

During the past week there have been rumors in Boston of a rather large stamp deal pending. We are now able to make a definite statement, that Frank P. Brown has purchased the personal stamp collection of Eugene A. Holton. Most old-time readers will remember him as an advertiser previous to his selling out his business in 1898. His circulars always stated, "Collector since 1859 and dealer since 1861."

We congratulate Mr. Brown on his acquirement of such a magnificent collection. Details will be found in his advertisement to appear next week.

PARCEL POST REMAINDERS.

By J. MURRAY BARTELS.

On February 26th, the following parcel post and parcel post due stamps were still in the vaults of the Bureau:—

Parcel Post 50c	283,029
" 75c	4,217,949
" 1c	527,219
P. P. Postage Due 1c	1,482,304
" 5c	791,644
" 25c	1,223,364

Regular Postage Due 30c stamps have not been printed since 1901 and there are still enough to last a quarter of a century at least. At the present rate of consumption, the 75c Parcel Post and the 25c Due stamps will be enough to last into the 21st century (note this first reference to the latter in the philatelic press). However, it is quite probable that the stock may be destroyed prior to 1950.—Philatelic Gazette.

UNITED STATES.—Charles P. Chasmar, D. D. S., was the first to call our attention to the fact that some of the current 2c stamps had been found perforated 10x12. Those thus far found have been postmarked Philadelphia. The following from a letter from Director J. E. Ralph of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, to Dr. Chasmar, is self-explanatory.

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 28th instant, in which you request to be advised whether the canceled 2 cent ordinary postage stamps enclosed by you is genuinely perforated ten by twelve.

"In reply I beg to state that the stamp which you enclose has two kinds of perforations, the top perforations being small while the side perforations are coarse. For your information, I would state that the top and bottom perforations were made on one machine, while the sidewise perforations were made on another. As it was not possible when the change was made to coarse perforations, to change all the perforating wheels on all the machines, simultaneously, some of the stamps were perforated in the manner in which you found the canceled stamp that you forwarded to this Bureau. All stamps, however, now being perforated by this Bureau are of the coarse perforations."

AUSTRALIA.—New chapters are being unexpectedly opened in the philatelic history of the Dominion. Late mails from Australia have brought not only the 4d King George, chronicled in No. 1265, but new 1/2d and 5d stamps of the same design as the 1d surface printed King George stamps. The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the following:

Adhesives.

1/2d emerald green.

5d yellow brown.

Even's Weekly chronicles a new wrapper with the 1d King George stamp on toned manila paper.

Wrapper.

1d red on manila.

Frank P. Brown & Co. have shown us unused copies of the new 1/2d and 5d stamps, of the King George design, as noted above.

CANAL ZONE.—The Sterling Stamp Co. has shown us a pair of the 10c U. S. Postage Dues, overprinted "Canal Zone," on which the final "E" has fallen out of place and tipped forward.

GERMANY.—Offices in China.—Arthur Russell calls attention to the fact: "that all mail from the German settlement in Shanghai which formerly bore German stamps with the usual surcharge now comes from even German houses generally with American stamps, though from other houses which sometimes have Hong Kong stamps. I suppose this really is because the overland German mail is not running any more and not that the German surcharged stamps are any scarcer."

GERMANY (Offices in Belgium).—Otto Weismann informs us that some stationery has also received the "Belgien" overprint. We chronicle the following:

Cards.

5+5c on 5+5pf (reply).

10+10c on 10+10pf (reply).

10c on 10pf (letter card).

GREAT BRITAIN.—Morocco Agencies.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us current 2d stamp of Great Britain, surcharged "Morocco Agencies" and new value for use in the British offices in Morocco.

A DIFFERENT AMERICAN COLLECTION.

In describing the following Western Hemisphere collection, while considerable mention must be made of the completeness of the lot, and also occasional reference made to the rarities, it is the intent of the writer to lay stress on their arrangement, rather than on the stamps themselves. While the stamps present a beautiful appearance, the arrangement will interest the collector who is contemplating improving his album.

For the most part the collection in question is twentieth century. Practically all countries in America are included, and U. S., Canada, Newfoundland, Jamaica, Brazil, Argentine, Uruguay, and Mexico are represented by the nineteenth century, as well.

Instead of using an album, the collector has had prepared some cards of heavy white stock, size 7x10 inches, each with a printed border of plain rule about 3/4 inch from the margin, making a neat frame. These cards are kept in cases made to fit them.

The case itself is quite an innovation. In size it is large enough to hold the cards, yet does not permit them to shuffle and hence rub the stamps. Each case holds one hundred cards without crowding, and allows space for cards to be removed or added without unpacking the box. For purposes of exhibition, the case is arranged in such a shape that when it is unfasted by the hooks on the side, and the top is raised, the body of the case opens in two sections, joined at the bottom by a hinge in the center. In this way, the cards may be taken from one section, examined, and laid face down in the other section, thus keeping them always in order. When the collection in the case has been examined, the sections are folded together and fastened,—thus the cards are kept clean and cannot be mixed. The top is also hinged and is lapped over the two sections to prevent dust from entering, and also to strengthen the box. While the case is a handy article to use, and is especially adapted to transporting the collection, an ordinary filing cabinet of the required size would answer quite as well.

In filing the cards, index markers of metal are fastened to the cards and the necessary information is written thereon. With the aid of this index, any card desired can be located almost immediately.

While personally I prefer an album, this card system has some advantages over the bound book. It is different, decidedly, from the usual method of housing a stamp collection, hence, there is a novelty in looking over a collection arranged thus. Also, the cards may be held in any position to secure the best light, and the true beauty of the stamps is brought to play better. The album is usually too bulky to hold in proper position for the light. Also, the fact that the cards are stiff and flat prevents any damage to the stamps by reason of the page curling, and the appearance of the stamps is greatly benefited by the flat surface. This flat surface is the aim of every album manufacturer, and very few albums, blank or printed, have overcome this evil of pages curving when the book is open.

The stamps are neatly mounted and spaced by aid of drawing instruments. The usual quadrille ruling is omitted from these cards, giving them a neat appearance, yet making it much more difficult to secure accurate spacing. The lettering has been done by hand, and all data of importance is included, such as date of issue, watermark, perforation size, paper variety, name of engraver and manufacturer where known, and if a commemorative, the reason for the issue. All minor varieties are described clearly enough to interest the non-collector.

The collection is very complete in the cheaper values, and many of the rarities are included. Of the most common stamps, shades, strips and blocks are abundant, and make an interesting display. The majority of these latter are to be had for the labor of searching for them.

As an example of the make-up of the collection, let us consider the Sonora issues of Mexico, which are very complete. The first issue is practically complete, including the "centavob" error. The green seal issue is well represented, not only by single stamps, but by covers and an attempt has been made to reconstruct the sheets of ten varieties. Description of the minor differences which make this possible are included.

In mounting the covers, slits have been cut in the card in such a manner that the four corners of the cover are inserted in them to hold the cover to the card. This is the same principle as applied to the average post card album. Where it is advisable to show the reverse of a cover, for postmark or stamp, the card has been neatly cut away to allow this inspection without removing the cover. In the case of a rarity or where the cover is liable to be damaged, transparent paper has been pasted over the cut portion, making a window and protecting the cover. For appearance's sake, this paper is pasted on the under side of the card, next to the cover.

The Ejercito issue shows beside the postage stamps, the revenue stamp with talon attached; also covers both genuine and made-to-order with revenues used postally, for comparison.

The various surcharges are well displayed, with the several varieties and counterfeits for comparison, and throughout the collection the strange facts pertaining to these stamps are featured. Clippings of interest have been taken from the philatelic press and neatly pasted on the cards. Covers bearing combinations, strips, blocks, odd postmarks, all go to make the collection very unique, aside from the philatelic standpoint. Of course, as these stamps were gathered by a collector in the Mexican vicinity, probably a better display was obtained for a little money than could be gathered now for a great deal more.

And so it goes, throughout the whole collection. Each country is written up in such a manner that it holds the attention of all who view it, and the non-philatelist can understand and appreciate the collection. This is not generally the case, as most collectors who have tried to interest their friends can testify. The charm of the collection lies not so much in the stamps, though they are wonderful, but in the way the issues are explained, and in the odd covers, postmarks, and other bits of postal matter.

These little things that go so far toward taking the edge off a stereotyped collection are not as a rule very expensive, though they sometimes run into money, and more often require a stock of patience to find them. Why shouldn't every collector include them as he runs across them?

THOSE QUESTIONS.

Below are the answers to the questions offered last week. Probably no one had much trouble with these, but let's check up to see if we missed any.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A. J. R.—United States stamps are at present used in Hawaii, as in Porto Rico, Guam and Shanghai. As these latter places have recently issued precancels, I cannot see why Honolulu should not also. This precancel is probably quite scarce, but I am no expert on precancels.

The bluish experimental paper was used in 1908 by the Government in an effort to secure a paper that would not shrink and would permit of better perforating. Only a very few of the values above 2c were issued. It is possible to imitate this paper, so used copies are not as desirable as unused specimens with original gum. I have never seen any prices on used copies above 2c and for the above reason, I should hesitate to buy these. I have seen fakes of this issue so cleverly made as to be almost impossible to detect, unless compared under a glass with an unused original.

R. G.—The 3c green with arrow-line has no especial value for that reason though a specialist might be induced to pay a slight premium for it if he wanted it very badly. I don't know where you could dispose of it at any more than "high" market price for the ordinary specimen.

I know nothing about the current 1c with unusually wide margins at top and bottom. This is probably due to poor registering of the perforating machine. Possibly it is something new in connection with the rotary printing now used.

C. C.—According to recent advices, only the 1c, 2c, and 5c Coronation stamps are now on sale in Newfoundland. Until recently, certain of the Cabot set high values also the 1898-9 were used, and possibly some of these are still on sale at small offices. There is little use for these odd values, except for sale to collectors. It is rumored that further supplies of the Coronation and Guy sets have been ordered, though I do not know the truth of this.

While your 3c 1857 stamp imperforate at top and bottom is interesting, it is hard to place a value on stamps of this nature unless in pairs to prove the authenticity beyond a doubt, and still harder to dispose of the stamps in this way, as they are so easily made by trimming perforated copies. At auction, a copy undoubtedly genuine would probably bring from two to five dollars, depending upon how badly the buyer wanted it. The fact that your copy is on cover with postmark covering the cuts is good proof that it is O. K. However, these stamps are known trimmed even at time of issue,—not necessarily trimmed with intent to defraud collectors, but trimmed, nevertheless.

These remarks apply not only to this issue, but to practically all cases where single copies are offered imperforate where they are rarer that way than perforated. Single copies may be all right, but collectors do not want them that way and pay little for them, while pairs are generally in great demand and bring high prices.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT STAMPS.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

By FRANK E. GOODWIN.

Department of Justice.

The stamps of the Department of Justice are, unfortunately, too scarce to enable the average collector to make an exhaustive study of them. He must be content with picking up such specimens as come to his hand, rather than by buying them in wholesale quantities for his researches. Notwithstanding this, the collector can, by watching his exchange opportunities, and the sales books which he has the opportunity of inspecting, pick up the "Specimens," town cancellations, and gather a fair number of striking shades at small outlay.

The Department of Justice stamps were issued some time between May 24, 1873, when manufacture of Departments was begun, and July 1, when their use became general in the Department. There were delivered to the Department of Justice before July 1, 1873, 65,400 stamps of all denominations between 1 cent and 90 cents, to the value of $3,900.

These stamps, in common with those of the other departments, strongly resemble the designs of the current issue. The same profile or portrait are seen in each denomination. The abbreviation "Dept" is placed in the left corner at top; "Of" in the right upper corner, and "Justice" in colorless capital letters curving over the top of the oval. The inscription of value is the same as in the regular issue, with "U" and "S" in shaded six pointed stars in either lower corners.

Mr. Luff gives the following shades: 1c, purple, red purple; 2c, purple, light purple; 3c, purple, red purple, bluish purple; 6c, purple, red purple, bluish purple; 10c, purple, bluish purple; 12c, purple; 15c, purple; 24c purple; 30c, purple; 90c, purple.

To these shades I add—12c, red purple; 30c, bluish purple.

Only one plate was made for each denomination; 100 stamps to the plate. The plate numbers follow:

1c,	No. 85	12c,	No. 91
2c,	No. 90	15c,	No. 99
3c,	No. 28	24c,	No. 115
6c,	No. 77	30c,	No. 110
10c,	No. 97	90c,	No. 113

During the month of February, 1879, the American Bank Note Company printed the 3 cents and 6 cents, Department of Justice on soft, porous paper. These were printed from plates made by the Continental Bank Note Company. They are rather scarce, and make an interesting addition to the collection. It is probable that the combination of soft paper and the ink caused changes in shades, because one finds quite a range of shade, from a decided bluish purple to a marked reddish purple, with several shades between.

The only varieties in the stamps which have been noted are: the 3 and 6 cents on both vertical and horizontal ribbed paper. I am certain that they exist on double paper, and have looked through hundreds of them to find one.

In 1875 the stamps were overprinted with the word "Specimen" in small gothic letters. All denominations were so treated. Ten thousand stamps of each denomination were printed of all, and of the 1 cent an additional 10,000 were printed, making 20,000 in this denomination. These were for use at the Government exhibit during the Centennial. They were sold to the public at face. The following amounts were so disposed of:

1c, 19,729; 2c, 3,395; 3c, 178; 6c, 163; 10c, 163; 12c, 154; 15c, 157; 24c, 150; 30c, 150; 90c, 152.

Two varieties of the "Specimen" stamps exist, although only the first named is generally known—reading, "Specimen" and with small "i." The error in spelling is found in the 1c and 2c, while the one with small "i" I have seen only in the 1c.

In 1884, 1,000 each of the 2c and 3c were reprinted, for what reason the writer does not know.

All of the stocks remaining on hand were burned in February, 1885, including the regularly issued stamps and the Specimens.

Town cancellations, and colored cancellations form an interesting although not necessarily necessary line of study. The proofs both on India paper and on cardboard should be obtained now, while the prices are very low as compared with their scarcity and worth.

DREAMING!

A collector of U. S. supposed the Coil stamps were manufactured by some private companies. One day he woke up and found they were regular issues printed by the Bureau at Washington.

Then He Woke Up

and when awake he found that there were thirty-four varieties that he didn't have, and that some of them which he could have bought for 30c are now $10.00 each.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE MAIN VARIETIES OF THE 2c COLUMBIAN ENVELOPE STAMP.

By A. G. JOHNSON,

1893 No. 54 St., Cleveland, Ohio.

The managing editor of this paper has, on a number of occasions, advised collectors to study their stamps, this being the age of specialism. I heartily agree with him, for there is more pleasure in studying stamps than in acquiring them. You will be astonished at your discoveries if you pursue the study long enough, I assure you. And aside from the pleasure you derive you may make some important and valuable finds. For instance, I have a four ore Denmark stamp on oblong quadrille paper, the only one, so far as I have been able to ascertain, in existence. This stamp cost me a small fraction of a cent. It does not pay the dealers to sort out the cheaper grades of stamps, and in that fact lies your opportunity. Buy a good glass and begin early.

Just to illustrate its possibilities, I subjoin the result of a study of mine of the two cent Columbian envelope stamp, cut-square and canceled, now on the market. They are beauties, and an ornament to any album, as there is a wide range of colors.

By referring to the table below you will see that there are thirty-two main varieties. As for the minor varieties, they run into the hundreds. Study the number and arrangement of the short vertical lines under the neck of Columbus, the shape of the hollows in the tops of the eagle's wings, etc. There is a variety showing Columbus's head flat at the back, another with the fourth—counting from the right—descending, or latitudinal, line of the globe, showing back of the head of Columbus.

These stamps may be purchased from the dealers for about twenty cents a hundred. In a lot of five hundred you will probably find all the varieties. They are, as a rule, lightly canceled, so that there is not much waste. Numbers 2, 5, 8 and 12 are the commonest, and numbers 3 and 29 the scarcest, in the lot I purchased.

Lay off two pages into sixteen squares each, and number them according to the table below. If the third descending line of the globe—counting from the right—shows at the back of the head of Columbus, that is a "Line" variety. If the line does not show, it is a "No Line" variety. "Both Dots" means there are small dots of color in the center balls of the sun and rays ornaments at each side of the stamp, opposite the ends of the eagle's wings. (In some you will find the impression of the die, it having apparently failed to take the ink. These count the same as ink dots.) "Both Periods" means there are periods after both "America" and "Cents." Lay the table before you, and as you find the varieties place them in their proper squares. Your task will be much easier than mine was. I do not claim to be the first to discover the changes and varieties of these stamps, but I do claim to be the first to classify them:—

- 1—Line, both periods, no dots.
- 2—Line, both periods, dot at right.
- 3—Line, both periods, dot at left.
- 4—Line, both periods, both dots.
- 5—Line, no periods, no dots.
- 6—Line, no periods, dot at right.
- 7—Line, no periods, dot at left.
- 8—Line, no periods, both dots.
- 9—No line, both periods, no dots.
- 10—No line, both periods, dot at right.
- 11—No line, both periods, dot at left.
- 12—No line, both periods, both dots.
- 13—No line, no periods, no dots.
- 14—No line, no periods, dot at right.
- 15—No line, no periods, dot at left.

- 16—No line, no periods, both dots.
- 17—Line, period after America only, no dots.
- 18—Line, period after America only, dot at right.
- 19—Line, period after America only, dot at left.
- 20—Line, period after America only, both dots.
- 21—Line, period after cents only, no dots.
- 22—Line, period after cents only, dot at right.
- 23—Line, period after cents only, dot at left.
- 24—Line, period after cents only, both dots.
- 25—No line, period after America only, no dots.
- 26—No line, period after America only, dot at right.

JOHN MYRON HUBBARD.

The Manchester, N. H., Mirror gives us a picture and brief biographical sketch of one who is a member of the New Hampshire legislature and well known to the older readers of the WEEKLY as a one-time active dealer from Rochester, which city he is representing at the State House. We reprint the sketch in full:—

For an all around man no representative in the house has anything on John Miron Hubbard of ward six, Rochester. John Miron is the man who put the "vers" in versatility. He did it to music too, for he is a pianist of renown, a composer, a printer, a merchant, a curio collector, a publisher, a philatelist, a statesman and last but not least, a mighty good fellow. He was born in Watertown, Mass., in 1862, but when he was three months old he moved up to New Hampton, this state. Later he removed to Bristol, and then over to Lakeport. It was here that he learned the printer's trade in Belknap Tocsin office. In 1883 he left the case and bought out a candy store and added boots and shoes for a side line. Since that time he has stuck to the show business, which he is now engaged in over at Rochester, but he still has a large and numerous side line of hobbies, among them being a press and printing outfit in the back part of his store. His hobbies are stamps; coins, autographs, Indian relics and music. He has a collection of 21,000 postage stamps, which is one of the largest and finest in the state, and which embraces varieties from every country on the face of the earth who ever used them. When a youngster he played a cornet in the band, and now likes nothing better than getting his lower limbs under a piano and his fingers on the keys. He has written and published several selections which were popular, among them being, "Gov. Quinby's March," "Canney's March" and "Small's March," all of which were for the piano. He has also written a number of songs and waltzes. He has published in the past the Granite State Philatelist, and the Curiosity World. Socially he had been through all of the chairs in the Odd Fellows, also in both the Encampment and Canton, and has taken all of the degrees of this order in both the grand lodge and grand encampment. He also belongs to numerous other orders. In

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Alfred Nemethy, 60 E. 80 St., N. Y. City, applying to the New England Stamp Co. for an approval selection gives the WEEKLY as reference. We are again compelled to state that no collector is authorized to use the name of the WEEKLY in this manner and dealers will be governed accordingly.

—"There was a mistake in the Prov. Journal's story of the R. I. Society, from which you evidently took the article in your March 27 number—A. B. Slater, Jr., isn't dead, far from it, he is living a retired life at Slocum, R. I., and when I saw him a week ago looked just as well as ever and he still has a deep interest in stamps and has some good ones, too. Will you please make this correction in your 'News Gleanings' for the sake of his many friends?"—Roy S. BARKER.

—"We are informed by a correspondent that the 10pf Marshall Island stamp has been overprinted 2d and the 20pf German New Guinea has also been overprinted 2d and the German New Guinea registration label has been surcharged 'G. R. I.' 3d, apparently converting an ordinary label into a registration stamp value 3d."—BRIGHT & SON.

MR. BURLESON AN "IRRITANT".

The postage stamps that are being issued from Mr. Burleson's department these days are an ever-present abomination. They are printed on paper which tears at half a provocation, and fitting the parts together is a task conducive to strong language and a waste of mucilage. It is the little irritants that most disturb folks. But very many communities disappointed in the postmasters allotted to them are coming to regard the politician from Texas, who has full swing in postal matters, as an irritant who bulks large.—Springfield Republican.

THE TACOMA EXHIBITION.

With more than one thousand visitors, the majority of whom were non-collectors, the first annual exhibit of the Tacoma branch of the Washington Philatelic society was held in Tacoma, Wash., Mar. 19-20. Featured in the show were a number of rarities seldom seen, while the large collections proved to be of interest to all. Among the single rarities was a block of four of the Pan-American one cent inverts owned by LeRoy Pratt. A Mulready envelope in perfect condition was displayed by Thos. B. Hall. Among the collections which attracted more than usual attention were Norway complete by P. N. M. Carlsen, the postage due stamps of the U. S. complete by V. D. Tomlinson, a rare collection of old German states and German colonies by August von Boecklen and the Hawaiian islands of Louis Johnson. A. A. Johnson of the local society displayed a collection of more than 4,500 varieties of precancels, while the stamps of the Philippine insurrection were shown in complete sheets by Charles Kirkwood.

Carl H. Reeves of Seattle, president of the state society, exhibited six frames of rare original covers. Card board proofs of the United States complete were shown by Mrs. Gilbert Holt, while Mrs. T. H. M. V. Appleby displayed a fine collection of George heads. Among the local dealers, a complete Scott line of albums and accessories was shown by the Sloan Stamp Company, while the Far West Stamp Company specialized in current war issues in sheets.

EDITORIAL.

Extra—We have seen a denomination hitherto unannounced of the current documentary set of revenue stamps. It is the sixty dollars, medallion of Lincoln, in a bistre brown color. The stamp is of the large size of (we suppose) the $100, $500 and $1000 values. One side of the stamp is imperforate and we have been told that each stamp originally has a stub at the side for data as to purchaser, date, etc.

* * *

Stampless—From Mr. R. J. Wagner we have received a cover on which a "Paid 3" impression in the upper right corner is under the postmark, Nunda, N. Y., Aug. 14, 1861. One finds sometimes both on envelopes sent in the north and south about this period, similar provisional markings which show that the postage was paid in cash because stamps were unavailable. Following the bombardment of Fort Sumter, President Lincoln's proclamation calling for 75,000 volunteers was issued April 15, 1861. It was expected that the new set of 1861 would be ready August 1, 1861, but the August issue of the catalogues did not appear until the middle of the month. The smaller offices anticipating the arrival of the new stamps in many instances had sent in the stock of the old stamps to Washington or exchange offices in the larger cities and as a consequence were stampless; and various makeshift expedients were resorted to in order to tide over the barren period. Old hand-stamps were used showing that the postage had been paid and in several instances, envelopes were endorsed as having had the postage on them, "paid in money." Envelopes used during this interregnum are postal curiosities such as appeal to many of our collectors; and they have a historical phase that is readily recognized.

Consult the P. M.—To the reader who has written about mail packages "exceeding $100 in value" coming from abroad, we can say that "such packages addressed for delivery at places where customs officers are located may be despatched by postmasters to the place of delivery for entry there." We suggest that those who are affected by the regulation consult their postmasters and refer to the order of the Second Assistant Postmaster General, dated at Washington, February 13, 1915.

* * *

It Is So—The great interest that is being shown in the stamps of the United States is having its effect in advancing prices and tempting as it is to enlarge upon the upward strides that they are taking in value and the conditions that are responsible for the concentration of attention upon our own issues, we shall confine our discussion to the philatelic aspects of this "stimulation." The wave of interest is resulting in the closest scrutiny of United States stamps, which are being viewed from all angles. The slightest variations in impression and paper differences are regarded carefully; and cancellations have been promoted to a place of prominence. In other words the stamps are analyzed and following the lead of exceptional students who record their investigations for the benefit of all, a growing body of collectors takes delight in work that does not follow the accepted lines. For instance, the number of collectors who find a fascination in cancellations is not to be ignored and it is somewhat astounding to find how quickly a knowledge of what are the desirable cancellations and similar information have penetrated almost all classes of collectors. It was not long ago when a year dated postmark of 1855 did not mean anything to the great majority and a green cancellation was not esteemed the more because of its color. Now, it seems as if every other collector has his eye peeled for such things.

* * *

Live and Learn—The consequence of the focusing of interest on United States stamps is one that adds to the sum of philatelic knowledge; and additions have been made to the resources of philately by an unfolding of new material. The field of philatelic exercise becomes the larger. Now there is a wealth of lore; and real specialism in U. S. stamps has become a factor; and we do not feel that in comparison with the most advanced countries in this regard we suffer. In fact, it would surprise one to know how many unsuspicious characters can tell the position of this or that stamp on the plate when scanning the one-cent 1851, U. S. It makes our head whirl to think what plastic minds some of our more or less dearly beloved brethren have.

* * *

The Start—Our old friend, Mr. E. B. Sterling of Trenton, New Jersey, began to give heed to the smaller things in United States issues in the '80's and it was in 1889 that Mr. Alvah Davison began to make excursions into the little appreciated land of the unusual and told in the philatelic press what satisfaction, even exhilaration, oddities in U. S. issues afforded; and it is worthy of remark that what in some cases were considered oddities in those days would be accounted only as accidents to-day or in the light of advanced study of U. S. stamps. We have been assured by the philatelic professors that while no little data has been brought to the fore, there yet remains enough to be learned about our own stamps to fill a set of encyclopedias. More to the point, they have shown us not a few facts that until recently were under the surface and it is fair to say that the deeper they follow the vein, the richer the ore will become.

* * *

Current Revenues—What of the present revenues? and why is not greater interest being taken in them at present? The earlier United States revenues are somewhat in eclipse for the time being but their cycle of popularity soon will come again. It is probable that the current revenues are affected by the recession that has been noticed. There is much to say about the revenues now in use and when belated attention will warm them into activity, there will be a demand for all the information about them. The comparatively short career that is allotted to them will cause some of the values to be desirable, it would seem. Those who are giving time to the stamps and draw conclusions from their observations and a study of the laws as to what stamps are destined for collecting favor will find the reward for their enterprise a tangible one. At first the stamps were used indiscriminately in the sense that the tax was paid by a number of the stamps but now that the law is in working order and all the stamps supposedly obtainable, a regularity in their use is noticed and the odd denominations are not seen usually. In this connection we have been asked under what circumstances the two dollar wines and cordials is used. A reading of the revenue law does not enlighten us particularly and those who have been consulted are not clear on the subject. We ask readers how they have secured this stamp in used condition as we are about to write to Washington for information.

NEARING THE GOAL LINE.

We feel highly pleased!

The mail of Monday, April 12, is entitled to the credit of carrying us very near the line. It was a great subscription mail and we are very grateful to our friends for the evidences of hearty cooperation manifested during the past weeks.

We received a total of 45 new subscriptions—the banner day in absolutely new subscriptions. We may be pardoned a more detailed reference:—

Gabriel Cannon—Our erstwhile dealer patron and always enthusiastic friend and support, sends in no fewer than ten trial subscriptions.

J. D. Norton, Jr.—Mr. Norton, himself a new subscriber, sends us from Topeka, Kansas, two new yearly and one new six-month subscriptions.

Chandler Sloan—The mgr. of the Sloan Stamp Co., Tacoma, contributes six new yearly subscriptions, one of the finest contributions ever made to our mail list.

G. L. Ringland, Norwood, O., sends in a new one with "here's a boost toward the 8000." The following subscribers all send in new single names:—Fred C.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

THE BIG LITTLE MAN.

Chief among the many pleasant remembrances of the Garfield-Perry Silver Anniversary, is the expression of Mr. Lewis Hanford's lifelong devotion to the Club in the form of a handsome silver loving cup. Mr. Hanford was the last speaker called on after a most delightful banquet programme; he gave a very clever talk using names of eminent philatelists in brilliant repartee. Then turning to the serious, he told those present what the Garfield-Perry Club had meant to him. He particularly brought out that the silver celebration was the most important event to him and in commemoration of the same, presented to the Club a handsome silver loving cup. Mr. John Rust, the president, made an appropriate speech of thanks and stated that the cup would be known as the Hanford Cup and each year would be awarded to the member most valuable to the Club.

Garfield-Perry is surely to be congratulated on its big little man, Mr. Lewis Hanford.—E. R. JACOBS.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 West 42nd St., New York

CANADA WAR TAX STAMPS.

The expected type has appeared and we are indebted to G. Hemond for the block of four which we illustrate herewith showing the type of the same.

Mr. Hemond advises us that war tax stamps must be used on letters commencing April 15, each letter being taxed 1c in addition to regular postage. The 2c carmine King George will be treated similarly and this stamp will be used on postoffice money orders. All in all, the two stamps will make an interesting addition to collections of Canada.

We are also indebted to O. Kendall for information in regard to the above, Mr. Kendall asserting that a new 3c stamp will doubtless be issued. The tax can be paid with a 1c regular issue if the special 1c war tax stamp be not available. It no doubt means that a 3c stamp will be produced in the near future.

Later.—We have received from Mrs. E. W. Oughtred two blocks of four of war tax stamps 1c and 2c in what is to be a permanent design. We illustrate the 2c value herewith.

The color of the 2c value is brown and the 1c is orange. We select the 2c for illustration as likely to show more clearly the lines of the stamp.

We are also indebted to R. J. Denison and Arthur Barger for courtesies extended in connection with these new stamps. It seems singular that the WAR TAX engraved on the plate should be followed so quickly by the permanent design and one might well ask why the former was ever put into use. The two designs reached us within twenty-four hours of each other.

THE 3c GREEN BOOKLET.

A handsome production! Printed on heavy paper and fully illustrated all the way through. Cover printed in green of the color of the stamp, of which an enlarged illustration in half-tone is shown. It's within the postal regulations. Some ten blank pages, "Stamps and Notes," added to make the book right up to the minute.

A chart, folded in, with data. Poems by Field and Pember. And the price only 12c!

THE OLD ISSUES OF EGYPT.

By M. P. CASTLE.

Are all the stamps of Egypt to go into Part I of the Catalogue? We are assuming the permanency of our holding of Egypt; but there can be but one issue of the struggle in this part of the world—despite the temporary invasion by the four Turks who swam the Canal! In the case of the Egyptian stamps there is a clear line of cleavage, commencing with the present pictorial issue issued on January 8th, 1914, which for the first time has the inscription in English, and will apparently not require any change consequent on our permanent occupation of the country. From now it appears certain that Egypt will be a British possession; but there may be very many collectors who will be satisfied to take only the stamps in use during the war—and after.

The inclusion of all these numerous Egyptian issues in the British section of the Catalogue may only tend to increase the difficulties and damp the enthusiasm of that numerous class of collectors in the future who will attempt to make some sort of representative collection of the British Empire issues. This question is, of course, not confined to the stamps of Egypt—there are others! For example, take the case of Transvaal as affecting the classes of collectors we have just referred to. Can it be conceived that whether they follow the lines of an Imperial Sectional Album or their own sweet fancy on blank pages, anything more disconcerting and discouraging could possibly be dangled before the eyes of such collectors than the prolix and intricate lists of the pre-V.R. (and subsequent) varieties and the meaningless and most dubious vagaries of the Pietersburg "stamps"? To encourage the general collector of British Imperial issues—or even the limited specialist—we are absolutely convinced that a vigorous excision is here required of unhealthy varieties. In the case of the Orange River Colony there are also a number of pre-Colonial issues which might well meet with similar treatment. The question will also have to be met as regards the late German Colonies—if we think them worth keeping! Is the all-British philatelist to take all the past rubbish of these trumpery Colonies, largely issued and manipulated in order that the Berlin National Philatelic Collection could be "fed up"?

It is palpable that the time has come when a decision must be arrived at as to the status of all stamps issued previous to a British occupancy. In standard books of reference, as in British Africa, it may be necessary to include everything relating to a country—though clearly marking the dividing line—but the position is altogether different when these issues are paraded with a view to sale. In the interest of those who have to sell, it is gravely to be considered how far it is wise to overload the British section of stamp collecting—which is increasing of itself at an alarming rate. It might, perhaps, be advisable to publish all pre-British colonial issues in an appendix thereto, which would at least give collectors an option as to how far their researches should extend. This would involve in such publications as the Sectional Album additional and not necessarily inclusive sheets for these "pre-Colonial" issues. The whole question is important; it is one also bristling with difficulties, hence we can confidently commend it to the notice of philatelic societies who may be desirous of mental pabulum during the ensuing months.—London Philatelist.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.
MEXICAN NOTES.

By S. B. HOPKINS.

It would be interesting to know why certain dealers advertise all recent issues of Mexican stamps as "Sonora." In a recent number of the WEEKLY, an advertiser used the word "Sonora" in big black letters and then proceeded to list the "printed surcharges" on 1910 issue! As a matter of fact, these "printed surcharges" were made in Mexico City, by and for the Constitutionalist Government of Mexico, and issued to all post offices in the Republic that were in need of stamps for foreign correspondence.

Cons. Govt. Issue.

Denver Issue.

This was after Carranza's triumphal entry into the capital and before his final rupture with Villa, and these were the only stamps issued by the Carrancistas before their capital was moved to Vera Cruz on account of the Villa-Zapata coalition against them in the Convention which elected General Gutierrez temporary president. The "Denver" stamps were issued by the Constitutionalist while they were still in the field, fighting to free their country from the usurper Huerta.

After the Constitutionalist entered the capital, they found themselves without enough of the "Denver" stamps to supply the whole Republic; moreover, the "Denver" stamps were not yet recognized by the Universal Postal Union and could not be used for foreign correspondence; so they surcharged all the 1910 stamps immediately available in Mexico City and vicinity, and distributed them where stamps were needed. If any went to Sonora, it was simply because Sonora is one of the states of the "United States of Mexico"—they are not in any sense Sonora stamps, any more than they are Coahuila, Guanajuato, Hidalgo or Tamaulipas stamps, for they were a general issue for all of the states of the Mexican Republic.

Later on (Oct. 7, 1914) an order was issued calling in all unsurcharged stamps of all previous issues—except the "Denvers"—to be sent to Mexico City and there to be surcharged like the others. We refer to these stamps as the "printed surcharges" to distinguish them from the handstamped surcharges which preceded them in certain districts already under Constitutionalist control, particularly the "Monterrey" issue bearing the same words, "Gobierno Constitucional-ista," in two lines, but put on with a rubber stamp.

Here is a translation of the order of October 7, 1914, above referred to:

GENERAL POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT, MEXICO CITY.

Technical Section Business Regulations
 Circular No. 1653.

Validity of the postage stamps of the Constitutionalist Army.—In view of the fact that there are still large quantities on hand in the northern part of the Republic of the second issue of postage stamps of the Constitutionalist Army ["Denver" issue.—Ed.], it is desired to confirm to the offices of the Service the instructions contained in Circular No. 1650, dated Aug. 21st last, stating that said stamps should be recognized both for domestic and foreign service.

Surcharging the postal forms of this Department.—In order to avoid certain abuses which could be committed on account of the irregularities which have occurred in connection with postal forms issued by this Department, the Secretary of Communications and Public Works has decided that the postal values of said issues be surcharged with the inscription "Gobierno Constitucionalista."

It is therefore recommended to the offices of the Service that they immediately make such requisitions to this Department as may be necessary of said postal forms in order to supply the needs of the service, with the understanding that, as soon as these requisitions are received, they will send to this Department the postal values which they may have on hand which do not have the said surcharge. This does not apply to the stamps of the second issue of the Constitutionalist Army.

Date up to which these values will be recognized without the surcharge.—It is also recommended that the post offices make known to the public, by means of notices posted in a prominent place that they will be allowed up to the 15th of November next to make use of, in the respective services, the postal forms which they have without the said surcharge. After that date all mail will be considered as unpaid to which may be affixed said stamps without surcharge, and, therefore, such sendings will be subject to the disposition applicable to that kind of mail. It is to be noted that, on account of the irregularities to which reference is made in the second paragraph of this circular, no exchanging will be allowed, under any circumstances, of the current postage stamps of this Department for postal forms already surcharged, because such stamps without surcharge are illegally used for postal purposes after the said date will not be good for postage.

Which is communicated to the employees of the service for their information and guidance. Constitution and Reform.

Mexico, Oct. 7, 1914.

The Director General.
 Cosme Hinojosa.

The "official seal" described in your "Chronicle of New Issues" of February 6th, is not a new issue at all, but an old familiar friend of all specialists in Mexican stamps! Being at present "in the field" I cannot refer either to my library or my collection, but I know it was issued many years ago and has been used occasionally and from time to time ever since. Having no postal value, and being used merely as a seal to afford additional protection to a registered letter or package, very few collectors (or Mexican postal clerks, either) have paid any attention to them. The average Mexican postoffice clerk is not so fond of work that he will hunt around for a "seal" to put on the back of somebody else's registered letter, and so some of these beautiful seals remained on hand when the Constitutionalist took over the various Mexican postoffices and put new clerks in charge. On the principle that "a new broom sweeps clean," even if it be Mexican, I suppose, the new clerks got out all the pretty seals and soon used them up.

In your "Chronicle of New Issues," of Feb. 13th, you refer to the Mexico "2c 1910, with the overprint of a small G. C. M. monogram in black" stating that "this stamp is evidently one of a set issued from Mexico City to offices in the Carranza territory."

Some stamps were surcharged G. C. M. in Vera Cruz in December last, after the Carrancista capital had been moved to that place, as shown by official circular, No. 3 (translation of which follows), but no mention is made of the denominations so treated or the number issued. The surcharge, as shown by the impression on the margin of the circular was slightly smaller than the G. C. M. monogram previously used in Sonora, but the color of same is given as purple.

GENERAL POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT, VERA CRUZ.

Circular No. 3.

Certain of the postal forms having been exhausted that were printed in Mexico City with the inscription "Gobierno Constitucionalista," and lacking at this Port the equipment necessary to do this kind of work, the Department of Communications has had to permit these forms to be surcharged with the monogram "GCM" applied in purple ink, just as it appears in the margin of this circular. (This monogram is the same that is used to stamp the Government fractional currency.)

Therefore, the following stamps will continue to be good for postage. The stamps of the second Constitutionalist issue, with the inscription "Correos—Gobierno Constitucionalista—Mexico," which shows the national eagle; and the old or federal stamps surcharged "Gobierno Constitucionalista" or stamped with the monogram "GCM," it being necessary to refuse all those which do not conform to these requirements.

The same Department, in view of the labor and delay that results from the printing or stamping of postal cards, letter cards, wrappers and stamped envelopes, has ordered that these forms may be used without the requirement necessary for the stamps.

Constitution and Reforms.
 H. Veraacruz, Ver., Dec. 16, 1914.
 The Director General of Posts.
 C. Hinojosa.

It will be noted from the last paragraph of this circular that all postal cards, letter cards, wrappers and stamped envelopes surcharged with whatever kind of surcharge subsequent to Dec. 16, 1914, may properly be included in the unnecessary and speculative class.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

AUSTRALIA.—Frank P. Brown & Co. and the Sterling Stamp Co. have also shown us the new King George stamps chronicled in Nos. 1265 and 1267. Judging from the many directions from which these stamps are being received, their sale must be general at the Australian postoffices, and without particular restrictions.

CANADA.—The first values of the permanent set of War Tax stamps have been issued and specimens have been shown us by G. Hemond, Norbert Beauregard and George A. Hargraft. The regular postage stamps have been used, as in the earlier overprinted issues. The words "War Tax" appear just above the value in colorless block capitals strongly outlined in the color of the stamp. We have seen only the 1c and 2c values thus far, but presume that the 5c, 20c and 50c will receive the new overprint, as these were the values that appeared in the first two issues. Mr. Hemond informs us that under the new law which went into effect April 15 the 1c War Tax stamps were obliged to be added to the regular postage on all letters and post-cards, while the 2c stamps were to be placed on checks, money orders and other transfers of money. The fact that the lower value is to be used on mail matter gives these stamps a semi-philatelic character, somewhere between a fiscal stamp and a Spanish war stamp. They are exactly of the same character as the new "Timbru De Ajutor" stamps of Roumania.

CANAL ZONE.—Gerald D. Bliss sends us a cover from the Canal Zone with the new Panama Postage Due stamps overprinted, "Canal Zone", in blue, both words reading up. The stamps are of striking appearance but have been previously described. The 1c is a horizontal oblong while the 10c is an upright oblong. There is also a 4c value in the regular Panama set, but this has not been overprinted for the Canal Zone. The Postage Due stamps overprinted "Canal Zone" have been recalled and all remainders are to be destroyed. The same restrictions hold good on the new stamps as on the old, as far as the Canal Zone is concerned, and none can be obtained unused.

E. M. CARPENTER, Pres.; W. L. ALDRICH, Vice-Pres.; F. W. STILES, 310 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., Sec. OSCAR HILL, Foreign Sec. G. CARLTON RUSSELL, 88 Wellesley Park, Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; J. H. LYONS, Supt. Auctions; H. A. KIDDER, Supt. Sales; A. W. DUNNING, Supt. Bourse.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P.M.

BOSTON, MASS., April 10, 1915.

The 334th (regular) meeting of the Society will be held at the club room on Tuesday evening, April 20, at 8.15 p. m. At this meeting a portion of the Society's counterfeit collection will be shown and some other exhibition will be provided by the entertainment committee.

We hope to have a good showing of the members at the informal dinner at the Hotel Bova where we will meet at 6.00 p. m.

At the next informal meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, May 4th, Mr. F. L. Coes of Worcester, who has entertained us before, will bring his lantern and give us a talk illustrated by lantern slides. Part of his talk will be on the treatment by the various engravers of the portrait of Queen Victoria on different postage stamps and cannot fail to be interesting to the members. Do not let a small attendance at this meeting show a lack of interest.

FREDERIC W. STILES, Sec.

HOLTON

Following the sale of the E. Thiet stock and the "Luna" collection, I am now able to offer my clients the essential collection of Mr. Eugene A. Holton. Most of the collectors will remember him as a dealer previous to 1898. While this collection contains no great rarities, less than half a dozen stamps worth over $100.00, it has practically every stamp up to $20.00 or so previous to 1880, practically no stamps have been added since that time. Mr. Holton was a "Collector" since 1859 and dealer since 1861, and most of his old European stamps in the lower priced ones are wonderful examples. My usual low NET prices are marked on every stamp.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST COLLECTION.

This article was prepared for the Holiday Number of the "Philatelic Journal of America", but owing to the discontinuance of that publication it was not used, and has been secured for our readers. It is one of the greatest Stamp Stories ever written by Mr. Mekeel, the editor of that journal.

There is no disputing the fact that the world's greatest stamp collection or accumulation of postage stamps, from a philatelic standpoint, is the possession of Philip la Renotiere von Ferrary, but if anyone were to refer to him as the greatest stamp collector or philatelist in the world it might be a subject for difference of opinion, or at least reasonable debate. One of the penny stamp weeklies of England expresses curiosity in one of its recent issues as to what has become of the owner of the world's greatest stamp collection, now that Austria and Great Britain are at war. A portrait of the gentleman is published by our enterprising English contemporary in connection with its speculation on his welfare but the importance of this will be somewhat minimized when it is known that their portrait is from the same photographic sitting that we illustrated over twenty-two years ago in The Philatelic Journal of America, and the portrait was not then very good or at that time very recent. In earlier days this collector was usually referred to as Ferrary. More lately he has been known as l'Renotiere. As will be observed by the above dates, this famous individual is by no means young, probably between sixty and seventy years of age at this time. He was the son of the Duchess de Galliera and his adoptive father was an officer in the Austrian Army, Ritter Emmanuel la Renotiere von Griegsfeld. His own father was an old Austrian nobleman of almost fabulous wealth, owning vast estates in Austrian Lombardy, which is now part of Italy.

The wealth of this ancient and noble family was so vast that it is almost immeasurable in figures. Our American multi-millionaire stamp collectors would class up as mutilated Mexican money in comparison. The renunciation of his father and the vast wealth that might have come to him from that family has not left Mons. l'Renotiere entirely without the means of gratifying his love for stamps, as his mother, the Duchess de Galliera, was an extremely wealthy woman, as may be imagined from the fact that she gave marble palaces and gifts running into the millions to the City of Paris, among which is a museum for the exhibition of fine needle-work of the French women.

It is not our purpose to enter at this time into a discussion of the intimate family relations or biographic history of Mons. l'Renotiere, although some interesting stories might be developed from the material that exists.

It is to consider him simply as a stamp collector and his relation to our hobby that these observations are made. We do not regard l'Renotiere as a great philatelist, nor even as a collector that philatelists have any great reason to be proud of. We simply have to consider him as he is and his existence as it relates to the subject which we are all interested in. Mons. l'Renotiere is not a family man, living the life of a recluse, and concentrates his interest on very few things. The love of stamps is in his case probably a mania. We hesitate about using this word, because it is so often misapplied to stamp collecting by the uninitiated, but in this particular case it is in every way justified. This vast collection of stamps which has been made possible by the immense wealth and resources which the owner has been able to command is in every sense a selfish accumulation. They are not exhibited, nor have they ever been available in a large way for the benefit of stamp collecting. The collection is a hoard stored in a "strong room" in Paris. M. l'Renotiere has for many years made his headquarters in Paris, at the Austrian Embassy, from which point he makes many excursions into the European stamp world, carrying with him good financial cheer to those who have had his philatelic favor.

Now that Austria is at war with both Great Britain and France is it not at all strange that the query should now be raised as to what has become of this great aggregation of stamps. For over fifty years the accumulation of this collection has been going on, backed with almost unlimited financial resources by a man so keenly interested in his pursuit that he has made it in fact a life work.

The figures that our English contemporary quote are those that are usually given in connection with the collection, but we doubt whether they represent the true extent or value of the accumulation. They refer to his collection as numbering over 120,000 stamps, and that he has spent more than $1,500,000.00 on his collection. M. l'Renotiere has been besieged and surrounded by grafters and sycophants for generations. He has been a continual source of income of no mean proportions to many European dealers who have made a specialty of catering to his wants. As a result most of the great rarities of the world have passed from the dealers which have largely been his source of supply into this mysterious stamp collecting cavern, the strong room in Paris. The stamps for which he has paid as much as $1,000. apiece ran into the hundreds, and when the length of time and vigor with which he has pursued his accumulation are taken into account the mathematical basis of the monetary value of his collection and the price which it represents may be faintly considered. We on our part should hesitate about even making an estimate either in price or value. These observations must be taken in a journalistic way, published for the information of our readers, who we feel are entitled to know the facts as they exist.

The newspapers of the world, always anxious for items of sensational interest and "good stories", have published innumerable accounts, many of them very ridiculous, with regard to this famous stamp collector and his wonderful accumulation of stamps, but none of them, however absurd or grotesque, would we dare say approach in sensational interest a perfectly true story of this man, his life and his collection. The editor of this Journal has been a personal correspondent of M. l'Renotiere for perhaps thirty years, during which time he has only seen the gentleman once, but has had an excellent opportunity to study his peculiar personalities, his idiosyncracies and life through his correspondence. He believes that he is violating no confidence in publishing his personal impressions and opinions, and that his obligation to his readers is greater than to an individual. It is well known that M. l'Renotiere has had a special interest in the postage stamps issued by the early postmasters of the United States, also the local and express stamps that preceded the regular issues of the United States Government, also those locals and carrier stamps which were semi-official and often accompany the earlier issues of the U. S. stamps, and later, but not less important, the issues of the Confederate postmasters, which were issued provisionally during the Civil war in this country from 1861-64. For many years

M. l'Renotiere has purchased from our editor rare varieties of these and other stamps, the total running into many thousands of dollars.

During this long and intimate relation the correspondence has been entirely personal, Mr. Mekeel having uniformly refused to deal through intermediaries who were usually grafters, demanding a percentage on the business without being entitled to it, because in the majority of the cases they were false emissaries paid by interested parties nearer to the base of supplies who were constantly seeking to restrict and govern the financial outgo. The number of rare Postmaster's Provisionals, U. S. Locals, Carriers and Confederate Provisionals that Mr. Mekeel has sold to the world's greatest stamp collection, the prices of which exceed $1,000.00 apiece, have run into the scores, not to speak of the thousands of less important stamps which may be priced with three figures. One of the most famous U. S. Local Stamps in l'Renotiere's collection was the 2c black St. Louis local that Mr. Mekeel sold him for £500 sterling, a photograph of the check for which he preserves as an interesting souvenir being for $2,435.00, that being the current rate of exchange for five hundred pounds at the time of the sale. This check, as was usually the case, was simply written on the second sheet of M. l'Renotiere's blank note paper, and read:—

PARIS (Date)
Iselin & Co. Bankers, New York.
Pay Mr. Mekeel of St. Louis
Twenty-four hundred and thirty-five dollars ($2435.00)
PHILIP l'RENOTIERE FERRARY.

There was one "stamp find" however, that was simply too much for the great stamp collector. We refer to the St. Louis Postmaster's Stamps that were discovered in the Louisville Court House in 1895. This was undoubtedly the greatest stamp find of the world, because coupled with the discovery of the richest accumulation of rare stamps ever turned up in one place, there was the philatelic discovery, or rather recognition of the three successive printings of the St. Louis plate, a matter which had been a subject of debate, study and discussion between prominent philatelists for two generations.

The proper recognition and classification of the varieties, printings and altered plates of the St. Louis Postmaster's Stamps was without doubt the most interesting combination of circumstances that has ever happened in philatelic history. In 1895 Mr. Mekeel in concerted action with F. W. Ayer, at that time a very prominent collector of Bangor, Me., purchased practically all the St. Louis

WE ARE OVER THE LINE.

At last!

This week the WEEKLY is mailed to 8000 paid subscribers and we are profoundly grateful to the scores of subscribers who have aided us in our endeavor to pass the goal line.

And now a new goal line is seen ahead of us—9000. It will mean a long, hard pull, but—it's possible. We simply ask all our friends to do what they can wherever they may find themselves, in the same spirit of hearty cooperation that has been manifested in past months.

It has been a hard pull but success is sweet.

EDITORIAL.

Canada's War Stamp—Writing from Sherbrooke, Quebec, Mr. H. S. Ashenurst sends a copy of the new war tax stamp of Canada which came into use April 15th, 1915. The stamp is of the same type as the current one cent green except that "War Tax" in two lines appears in colorless capitals about two millimeters high just over the inscription, one cent. With the war tax in force the Canadians again are paying the equivalent of three cents postage.

Opportune—The war stamp exhibition in London which was held March 1st to 31st, inclusive, was an occasion that was interesting not alone to philatelists but to the public as well; and we understand that it was duly appreciated. War issues and army, etc., cancellations of all kinds were on view as well as Togoland, German New Guinea, etc., with British surcharges and we can realize how attractive and seasonable, a display of this nature must have been. We notice that in this country envelopes from the front are occasionally shown in merchants' windows with suitable explanations; and the envelopes seem to have a potent fascination for the man on the street.

esting revelations concerning the war provisionals of the Pacific islands; and viewed from this distance there appears to be somewhat conflicting information as to the methods of issue and perhaps the number of stamps surcharged. In this connection it is to be said that a somewhat remarkable set, the ship type of Marshall Islands with Japanese overprint is the subject of controversy. The explanation made is that when the Japanese expeditionary force occupied the islands, the current stamps became unavailable for postage and some of the stamps were marked with the seal or Japanese surcharge, characters in tablet, by officers of the occupying force, merely as souvenirs to oblige friends. On the contrary it is said that a good case may be developed to establish the authenticity of these surcharges. It is asked that judgment be suspended on the reputation of these stamps until later by the publishers of our contemporary, which we may add always is a readable magazine.

Broken Plate Proved—Here is an interesting recital of personal experience that teaches that patience is a profitable asset in the schedule of the worth of a philatelist who is a natural student of stamps. Mr. E. R. Jacobs writes: "Having read Mr. H. L. Wiley's recent study of the three cent green, 1870 to 1887, United States, I am prompted to call attention to a research with these stamps as the subject which I believe could be compared to looking for the proverbial 'needle in the hay-stack.' Some months ago in looking over a quantity of these stamps I found one that appeared to have been printed from a cracked plate. Apparently, the stamp was from the bottom row, the crack having entered below the H of three, and extended up through the H into the oval, surrounding the medallion. In order to prove that this line was caused by a cracked plate and not by some foreign substance that adhered to the design, it was necessary to find a duplicate. I believe that I am quite safe in saying that I looked over at least 75,000 of the three cent green before I found a second stamp showing the identical crack; and from the number of these stamps that were printed, I imagine that I was fortunate in finding a duplicate. So far as I know the cracked plate on the three cent green has never been reported. There are many interesting details that can be found by research in quantities of this most common stamp; and anyone inclined to study the stamp is sure to find many things of interest. I was amply rewarded in looking over this vast quantity by finding many interesting cancellations, paper varieties, etc." Let us pause, gentlemen, and uncover our heads in memory of Mr. Jacobs' moment of almost sacred triumph when he found the second stamp. We may add that we have seen both of the stamps in question and there is no question but that the crack exists the same on either.

Nubbins—While on the subject of stamp plates we must refer to a startling example of shrunken plate variety in the shape of a pair of 12 cents of the 1851 issue United States that has been shown us. Variations of stamp size have often been cited in steel-engraved stamps and they have been accounted for on the score of shrinkage in the cooling off of the metal in its bath after having been subjected to much heat, as the vagaries of steel under different conditions are understood by those having a technical knowledge of it. We remember having seen the ten cent of 1861 that Mr. Stevenson told about and which in comparison with the normal specimen had a decidedly squat appearance. The measurements of the regulation twelve-cent 1851 approximately are, averaging eight copies, 1½" by 2¼" millimeters while the dimensions of the freak pair under discussion are 1½" by 2¼" millimeters and have a surface of only about 81% of the usual "area". We suppose that if one cared to experiment one could succeed in shrinking a stamp by an astringent bath of some sort but the remarkable pair of stamps under notice has not been tampered with; and further, the firm paper used in the 1851 issue would not be susceptible to compression to any great extent, we surmise.

Expansion—As indicating that by no means is philately in the doldrums, we adduce the information that the Philadelphia Stamp Company has just expanded its business. The fourth floor quarters that the company has occupied for so many years have been vacated and a ground floor location has been secured, that on Seventeenth street which Captain J. W. Haseltine has had for some years past, with stamps and coins. We may add that Captain Haseltine's stamp business has been bought by the Philadelphia Stamp Company and that he will continue his coin business having space for the purpose in the store.

postmark form is sometimes found on circulars and periodicals that were mailed in the fifties, no doubt in quantity for local distribution in Philadelphia, the idea being to expedite the handling of this local mail without having recourse to the use of stamps. These impressions cut out are sometimes found among the "locals" in old collections. The discovery of envelopes without a stamp but with the postmark, "Floyd's Penny Post," around the many-rayed star that was used for canceling the Floyd locals leads to the belief that a similar arrangement was in use in Chicago. It is needless to say that it is a disappointment to the avid stamp hunter to find these impressions on covers that should by all logic bear the coveted local stamps.

TELICO PLAINS.
AN HISTORIC DOCUMENT ON A RARE CONFEDERATE ISSUE

By VICTOR MARSH.

Among my philatelic autographs and documents not "interned" at Cassel is one of particular interest dealing with the Confederate provisionals of Tellico Plains, Tennessee, one of the emergency issues due to the civil war. In common with other stamps of a similar character, their discovery by philatelists was made long after the actual issue, in this instance no less than fourteen years having elapsed.

Moens announced the discovery of the 5 cents in June 1875, Timbre-poste, XIII, p. 45), and records the information that the issue lasted only two months. In May, 1876, it was reported (Timbre-poste XIV, p. 37), that M. Philippe de Ferrari showed Moens a "bande" of three—two of the 5 cents attached to one of the 10 cents. Their authenticity was confirmed by a well-known contemporary American philatelist, Mr. C. H. Coster in 1877 (Timbre-poste, XV, p. 48). Only one plate was used and from particulars gained from the document in question, only about 250

All the stamps like this one I have this day sold to Edmund M. Kohn as a curiosity; they were issued by me as P. M., and are genuine issues of 1861.
M. F. JOHNSON.
U. S. Commissioner.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Personally came before me M. F. Johnson, a Citizen of the Town of Madisonville, in the county of Monroe, and to me well and personally known, and after being duly sworn by me to speak the truth says the Confederate postage stamp as truly attached issued by M. F. Johnson as Post Master at Tellico Plains, East Tenn., is a true and original stamp got up at Knoxville in the State of Tennessee in the year 1860 and early part of 1861, but was got up in 1861 for 5 and 10 cents each and were used at Tellico by Edward Grout as Deputy P. M., and the Plate is genuine and the stamps now held by the said M. F. Johnson is all there is in existence only any means can be as so soon as the Amt. was struck off at Knoxville (about 250) the plate was absolutely destroyed and rendered void. The stamp is genuine for the purposes intended as it was got up before any stamps were issued by the Confederate Government and were intended for the immediate use of and the convenience of postal facilities of the citizens of Tellico Plains—M. F. Johnson further states he has the few remaining stamps he fully avows they are genuine issues of 1861 and that no other stamps exist except they may be upon envelopes used by the Office and cancelled. He is positively certain of the above statement as no stamps as above could exist without his knowledge—as if Mr. Grout had any they were burned up with him as he was burned up on a rail road Carr at Angola, Ohio, together with all his effects and could only be identified except by the number of his watch found from the wreck and further he fully avows to said statement—and further says not

(Signed) M. F. Johnson
Subscribed and sworn to before me, March 24th, 1876.
(Signed) W. B. STEPHENS,
Notary Public.
State of Tennessee. I, Arch. Mason, Clerk of the County Court for the aforesaid Monroe County. County and State, certify that W. B. Stephens, before who the above affidavit was made was at the date of signing the same Notary Public in and for said County of Monroe, duly commissioned and qualified and that all his official Acts are entitled to full faith and credit. Witness my hand at office this 31st day of March, 1876.
(Signed) ARCH. MASON, Clerk.

"I will endeavour to reconstruct what happened. The buyer of the few remainders, Kohn, had heard of Moens as a stamp dealer (the latter's catalogue had then reached its substantial fifth edition), and he sent the affidavit to him, with a stamp affixed, accompanied by a letter offering them for sale. As Moens retained the affidavit and presumably removed the stamp therefrom, one may assume that he purchased them. In that letter, doubtless, he gained the information about the period of their short existence. Then Ferrari showed Moens a "bande" of three: in the sixth edition of his catalogue Moens records two varieties of the 5 cents, and notes the printing as se-tenant, the stamps having been type set on laid paper. Apparently, the Postmaster of Tellico Plains considered that two examples of the 5 cents would be used to one of the 10 cents. It will be noticed that "about 250" copies were printed. Probably the exact number was 249 composed of 166 of the 5 cents, and 83 of the 10 cents. It would be interesting to learn the number of the population of Tellico Plains in 1861—perhaps some one would be good enough to look into this matter.

A Useful BookAT AUCTION—A BEAUTIFUL COLLECTION

CATALOGUED BY PERCIVAL PARRISH

On May 21st we will sell at auction, in Philadelphia, a superb collection of stamps including many of the 20th Century and would be glad to place the names of all auction buyers on our lists upon application. Rare Stamps, Blocks and Sheets a Specialty.

FRANKLIN STAMP COMPANY

PERCIVAL PARRISH T. CHARLTON HENRY HENRY C. GIBSON
1010 Real Estate Trust Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—I. C. Greene has shown us the current 8c stamp, single line watermark, but perforated 12, with the old "Bureau Engraving & Printing" imprint and the letter "A" in addition to the plate number 5718.

Ralph E. Harbold reports the current 6c, perforated 10, plate number 5430, with star and old imprint. The imprint is slightly worn, but the stamp design is fresh and unworn.

AUSTRALIA.—Unfortunately we have hitherto omitted to give credit to William S. Clark for showing us early used specimens of the new King George 1/2d and 5d stamps.

CANADA.—We are indebted to W. R. Pringle, J. D. Cox, Frank M. Mason and the New England Stamp Co., for further information regarding the new War Tax stamps. Our suggestion of last week has been quickly confirmed by W. R. Pringle, who reports a 10c value in the new oblong War Tax set. This is printed in olive green. There appears to be still some confusion regarding the administration of the new tax regulations. Mr. Pringle says "it is a puzzle to know of what use the 2c stamp is in connection with the tax on letters, as only one cent of the postage may be paid by a 'War Tax' stamp. If more is paid the postage is counted as short. On the other hand, the full three cents may be made up of ordinary postage stamps. The latter may, in fact, take the place of either the revenue or the postal-fiscal stamps."

HAYTI.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us four values of the new stamps issued by the O. Zamor administration. The frames are alike for all denominations, being a horizontal oblong, with figures of value in ovals in the upper corners and repeated in ornamental shields below. "Republique D'Haiti—Exterieur" is printed in two curved lines and "Centimes de Piastre" across the bottom. The 1c, 5c and 10c values have a portrait of President O. Zamor in the central circle, with "O. Zamor Fevrier 1914" below. The 3c has the Haytian arms with "Emission 1914" below. All are printed on white, unwatermarked paper and bear the imprint of the "American Bank Note Co., N. Y."

Adhesives.

1c dark green and black.
3c olive green and black.
5c dark blue and black.
10c dark brown and black.

MEXICO.—Russell H. Cooley reports having seen Scott's No. 373, surcharged "Un Centavo" in two lines in black, evidently done by a rubber hand stamp. Can any of the experts place this?

PANAMA.—We have received from Emil J. Rall a cover bearing the four values of the postage due set already described in our columns. The denominations are 1c, 2c, 4c and 10c all in dark brown.

Postage Due Adhesives.

1c dark brown.
2c dark brown.
4c dark brown.
10c dark brown.

PORTUGAL.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a new series of Postage Due stamps from Portugal, the design being the same as the 1904 issue, but with the value expressed in centavos instead of reis.

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—Various provisional issues of Angola, Cape Verde and Portuguese Congo have been overprinted "Republica," according to Whitfield King & Co. The New England Stamp Co. has also shown us specimens.

Angola—Nos. 55, 56, 58, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70 and 71.

Cape Verde—Nos. 54, 55, 56, 57, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68.

THE FRANKLIN STAMP CO.

A new stamp firm is presented to our readers this week none other than the Franklin Stamp Co. of Philadelphia, (an outgrowth of the Philadelphia Stamp Co.) with Percival Parrish as president. Associated with him are T. Charlton Henry and Henry C. Gibson, while the affairs of the old company will be officered by P. M. Wolsieffer as president-manager and Chas. Beamish, Sec. Treas. We are informed that there was a very harmonious adjustment of the matters connected with change of ownership and good wishes are mutual between the two companies.

Mr. Parrish writes us: "Our new firm will deal chiefly in high priced stamps and hold high grade auctions. We have recently secured the immense accumulations of the late Henry C. Davis and we figure that it will take us about two years to sell these things alone. There are many fine and rare stamps and a wonderful collection of English Plate Numbers. Mr. Henry Gibson, of the Franklin Stamp Co., has one of the finest collections of United States stamps in the country and Mr. T. Charlton Henry has a superb collection of United States and British Colonies, chiefly British North America. We are in the market to purchase fine rare stamps in fine condition up to $25,000 or $50,000 if we can secure the right stuff."

$60 DOCUMENTARY REPLACES $50.

By WM. W. WASHBURN.

I was informed today, April 19, at the N. Y. Internal Revenue Office, that the fifty dollar documentary stamp has been discontinued and all stamps of this denomination recalled. In place of the $50 stamp a $60 stamp has been issued and will shortly be placed on sale. I trust that this information will be of interest to the readers of the WEEKLY.

SAN FRANCISCO STAMP SOCIETY.

The third meeting was held at the Clubroom, 2233 Larkin Street, on Tuesday, April 6th, and the following officers were elected for the year ending September 30th, 1915: President, H. J. Seiler; Vice President, Chas. W. Arp; Sec. Treas., Donald Piercy; Auction and Sales Manager, Edwin P. Seeböhm.

A fine display of Great Britain and Colonies was exhibited by Mr. Arp, also a rare and interesting collection of Canadian tobacco stamps by Mr. Sanford.

It is the intention of this lively little society to hold a pleasant evening once a month and all collectors, young and old, are cordially invited to join. The secretary, Donald Piercy, No. 8, 48 Ave., San Francisco, will be pleased to receive applications.

I think we ought to start a fresh chronicle and give only those vouched for by collectors who actually have what they list. I have the following on postage paper:

When YOU were a Schoolboy!

Do you remember studying geography and what colonies belonged to each country?

The youngsters of today are keenly alive to the many probable changes in the map of the world. Stamp issues will be greatly affected. Why don't you take advantage of this situation and cash in on the desire to get for their collections now, stamps which will soon be past history? The great war is giving stamp dealers a fine opportunity, particularly among the youngsters.

Another point. Our youngsters are accustomed to buying high-grade things—including St. Nicholas, which sells for 25c a copy.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Two weeks ago we announced that the 10 perforation had not as yet been applied to the Philippine stamps, but several correspondents have called our attention to the fact that the perf. 10 has been seen in booklet panes. We believe we have already chronicled this perforation as having been used on Philippine booklets.

—A subscriber writes us, "When does my subscription to the WEEKLY expire?" For the benefit of this and other readers, we beg to reply, "Please look up the whole number on your wrapper."

—G. W. Hallenburg sends in a subscription from N. Y. City, but gives no street address. He may possibly reside in a nearby locality and anyone who can furnish his address will do us a great favor.

—H. C. Buland submits an original cover upon which the new 1c documentary helped to pay letter postage. Curiosities of this kind are not infrequent.

—G. W. N.—We do not know of any way in which part perforates other than the 8 1/2 can be distinguished from clipped specimens.

—By an error, the adlet of Sholley giving address was omitted, the last three weeks. Bear it in mind, 3846 Thomas Ave. So., Minneapolis, Minn., for "BC" approvals.

—About May 1st, 1915, Edward Michael, Chicago, will remove to a desirable location on the ground floor of the Chemical Building, 119 North Dearborn Street, which has many advantages over the old stand. In the new store, there will be more space at the disposal of callers and Mr. Michael's enterprise in leasing the attractive store will be rewarded, we trust. Mr. Michael's progress in the field of commercial philately has been steady and his position is now one of prominence.

—Denver is using an advertising cancellation of the flag type. The inscription reads, "International Dry Farming Congress and Exposition, Denver, Sept. 27—Oct. 9, 1915." We are indebted to A. J. Gunther for the information.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from H. W. Boers (3), F. M. Mason, W. R. Adams, O. Kendall.

—"I recently received a number of covers with Mexican stamps on them. In the lot were two that were used at Tlalualilo, State of Durango. They carried 10 centavo stamps of the regular Mexican Issue, but instead of being surcharged 'Gobierno $ Constitucionalista,' they were surcharged 'Gobierno Constitucionalista' in a nearly complete circle and T. C. in the center. It is handstamped with a rubber stamp, and purple ink was used."—ROBT. G. STAEDT.

—There was a self evident error in the Alfred Lechner adlet last week. The price given should have been $6.00 not $1.00. Please note this week's adlet.

—We have been informed that Chas. A. Cliften, formerly of Sugar Creek, Mo., mentioned in our April 10 number, is now at Dome, Neb.

—A. J.—We cannot give you any idea of the value of the current 2c with compound perforation 10 x 12. Such stamps would be of more value if perforating machines were not so easily obtainable.

—J. A. Galbraith submits specimen copies of the obsolete and new 5sh Falkland Ids., correcting a statement made in a recent WEEKLY, that the new 5sh was in brown red. The new color is purple.

—Various Canadian correspondents are favoring us with newspaper clippings dealing with the new war tax, also, with specimens of the stamps. We are indebted to O. Kendall particularly for favors in this direction. He has submitted for our inspection, the new 10c inland revenue uniform with the 1c and 2c and in a handsome shade of olive-green. Mrs. A. R. Oughtred also notes the appearance of the 10c in olive.

TEXAS PHILATELIC ASSOCIATION.

The nineteenth annual meeting of this society was held April 12, in the rooms of the Scientific Society, Galveston. Eight members and ten visitors were present. Reports were presented for the past year, and the following officers were elected:

President, E. W. Heusinger; vice-president, Oscar Jannasch; secretary-treasurer, H. S. Parsons; sales superintendent, G. W. Coryell; member of executive committee, Charles Roemer. The librarian will be appointed later.

President Heusinger exhibited his collection of United States and foreign stamps, which is one of the largest collections in Texas. Several interesting talks were given, and the present year promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

THE 3c GREEN BOOKLET.

A handsome production! Printed on heavy paper and fully illustrated all the way through. Cover printed in green of the color of the stamp, of which an enlarged illustration in half-tone is shown. It's within the postal regulations. Some ten blank pages, "Stamps and Notes," added to make the book right up to the minute. A chart, folded in, with data. Poems by Field and Fember. And the price only 12c!

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

COUNTRIES THAT CAN BE COMPLETED.

Many collectors prefer to devote their attention to countries that, with a reasonable expenditure of money and time, can be completed, as the prospects of having to wait for the many rarities of countries such as United States is not pleasing to them. In fact, nearly all collectors hope to complete their labors at some time or other, even though it be to sell out and start over again. While almost all countries contain some rare or expensive stamps, there are many that can be completed at an expense of one hundred dollars or less, and it is with these that we will deal for the present. This amount will seem like a small fortune to some of the new collectors, but when it is spread over the period of years usually necessary to accumulate a fine complete collection of a country, it is not such a terrific expenditure.

From the financial point of view, a completed country will realize a better sum than a hit-or-miss collection of many countries, even though the latter represents a larger investment. The writer knows of a collector who made two collections. The first was a seven thousand variety collection of ordinary condition, but not a dealer's "made-to-order" lot. It was made up from single specimens collected by the owner. It listed about $900. and brought $175., which is about the usual figure for a collection of this kind, when purchased by a dealer. The second collection was made up of certain countries, not more than two dozen, was exceptionally well arranged, and many of the countries were complete or nearly so. In all the collection contained about two thousand varieties, listed $450. and brought $200. from the same dealer. Why the difference? Because in the first collection, were many stamps that were unsaleable, and so few countries were complete that the lot was only available for 50% and 60% miscellaneous approvals, not for books by countries, and few of the better class stamps were present. In the second lot, practically all of the stamps were suitable for use in "selections by countries," bringing from 10% to 25% discount, and every stamp was in fine condition. See the difference?

Do not understand me as being in favor of specialism. I am not. I believe all countries should be collected, but special attention should be paid to one country or a group, to suit the pleasure of the collector, and those countries should be collected more deeply than the others and studied more carefully. Every country is interesting when studied by itself. After the collector gets practically all of the medium-priced stamps of a country, he should turn his attention to some other country and work that while picking up the rarities of the first country. Also, as bargains come along for the general collection, they should be absorbed and put away until the time comes to complete that country.

JAMAICA.

This colony in the West Indies has long proven popular with collectors. Its stamps are all within the reach of the average collector; since the highest in catalogue value is only $4.00, though unused and certain errors list as high as $10.00. Compared with almost any other country or colony, these prices are much lower than the usual run.

Jamaica has won its favor through the simplicity of its stamp issues and yet through the distinctiveness of them. There are no complicated perforation varieties to distinguish, though there are four different watermarks to be classified. These however are easily distinguished and are for the most part low priced. Only one surcharge is found in the postal issues, though two were made for official use. The specialist may plate this surcharge if he wishes, or he may be content with one or two specimens of it. In design, Jamaican stamps are attractive. With the exception of the current issue, which is really very handsome the key-plate type of colonials was never used. There are no varieties of paper to confuse the uninformed collector, nor are there any trivial differences of design so commonly met with.

The first issue of Jamaica appeared November 23rd, 1860. The set originally contained the 1d, 2d, 4d, 6d and 1sh denominations, the 3d being issued September 10, 1863. The stamps were manufactured by Messrs. De La Rue & Company, and bore a laureated profile portrait of Queen Victoria. The paper used was watermarked pineapple. Comb perforating machines gauging 14 were used. The designs of this series were used consistently until 1911 through the various changes of watermark and color.

The second series of Jamaica, watermarked Crown and CC (signifying Crown Colony) were issued in the years 1870-71. This change was made to conform with the other Crown Colonies using the new watermarked paper. The use of the pineapple paper, which was employed solely for the first issue of Jamaica, was discontinued.

In 1872, a half-penny value was issued for the first time. Prior to this time, the Post Office recognized the use of the bisected diagonally one penny stamp as a half-penny. This bi-sected stamp is quite scarce. The Crown and CC one penny being issued in 1873, after the issue of the half-penny, and after the repeal of the regulation authorizing bi-sected stamps, has not the same status as the Pineapple watermark.

In 1875, two higher denominations of 2sh and 5sh were issued for the first time, and were perforated 12½ instead of 14.

In 1883, the 4d stamp appeared on the Crown and CA (Crown Agents) paper adopted shortly before that date. The 1d and 2d appeared early in 1884. Owing to the changes in color the following year, the 2d which was only used a short time, is quite scarce. The 1d which was also only in use a short time is more common as more of that value were used.

In 1885 the ½ was issued in pale green on the new paper, while the color of the 1d was changed to carmine from blue, and the 2d to slate from rose. The shade of the 3d was changed to olive green. The 6d was changed to orange yellow from lilac. This latter stamp did not appear until 1890.

In 1889 a law was passed authorizing the use of postage stamps for fiscal purposes and revenue stamps for postage. In this year, a departure was made from the previous designs, and two stamps for both postal and revenue use were issued, in the denominations of 1d, 2d. The stamps were printed from a key-plate made for the colony.

The only surcharge issued for public sale appeared in 1890. Prior to this date, the postal rate on letters to United States was 4d, while the rate from United States to Jamaica was but 5 cents (2½d). On May 29, 1890, notice appeared authorizing the rate of 2½d to United States "under certain conditions". To meet the demand for a stamp of the new value, the current 4d was overprinted with the words "two pence half penny". A permanent stamp of the new value, in the key-plate design of 1889 was ordered, but did not appear until 1891. There are many minor varieties of the surcharge, making it possible to be plated. Also, errors such as double and triple impression, inverted surcharge and misspelled "PFNNY" for "PENNY" are known, though these are scarce.

In the year 1897, the shilling values appeared on the Crown and CA paper for the first time. Up to this date, the designs of the first issue were used exclusively, with the exception of the three values in the key-plate type.

In order to attract a little attention to Jamaica by means of a postage stamp, and to follow in the footsteps of Guiana and other British Colonies, Jamaica decided to issue a pictorial stamp, and accordingly May 3, 1900, an announcement of the new 1d stamp picturing Llandovery Falls. The exact location of the scene shown on the stamp has long puzzled collectors, and it has been rumored that the view is a bit of Welsh scenery and is not Jamaican at all. Authorities claim that the Falls are located in St. Ann, though comparatively unknown. However, we are not able to decide the question.

The picture stamp did not prove as attractive as the Guiana set since that series was bi-colored, so in 1901 the stamp was issued with the frame in carmine and the center in black. The stamps were manufactured by De La Rue & Co. and are on paper watermarked Crown and CC. Several minor varieties are said to exist. The writer owns a mint vertical pair from the bottom of the sheet, which is perforated at the top but imperforate between. Evidently this stamp is from a sheet which did not receive the impression of the comb at the bottom line.

The twentieth century issues are for the most part much scarcer than the nineteenth century. In the year 1903, a new design showing the arms of the colony was adopted, and stamps of the values of ½d and 2½d were issued. In 1904 1d and 5d (a new value) stamps in the new type appeared. These stamps are all on Crown and CA paper and are bi-colored with centers in black. A minor variety consisting of a missing letter "V" in the word "Serviet" occurred.

The financial advantages of a Jamaican collection will be discussed next week.

THE NEW CANADA WAR TAX.

In our chronicle of the new Canada war stamps last week which accompanied the illustrations we stated that it seemed to be singular that the two designs should appear almost simultaneously. An explanation can be easily offered in the fact that while the 1c with War Tax engraved in the plate will be used on mail matter, the special King George design is for Inland Revenue and will be used on medicines, etc.

THE TRINIDAD RED CROSS STAMPS.

The red cross stamps issued late in 1914 were not in the first instance intended for postage, but were sold at one penny per dozen for the benefit of the Red Cross funds and were used as seals. The Governor of Trinidad, however, sanctioned the use of 900 of these labels as half-penny postage stamps, for the purpose of franking envelopes containing circulars appealing for subscriptions to the local Red Cross Society. These were authorized for postal use on one day only, September 18th, 1914, some of the envelopes bear the signature of one of the lady members of the committee and some were unsigned; in some cases the labels are postmarked, in others not. The design is a plain oblong with a red cross in the centre, and inscribed "Trinidad Red Cross Society, one fraction," the labels are printed in red and are perforated.—Whitfield King's List.

"PRECANCELLED" PARAGRAPHS.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

By JOHN A. SOLOMON.

Despite the great European struggle, the serious Mexican situation and other adverse business conditions, precancels are enjoying a great run of prosperity. Scores upon scores of new issues from practically every part of the country have sprung up and even the most advanced collectors have a long way to go before they will catch up to the lengthy precancel procession.

Burlington, Vt., the home of the original authentic precancel, has discarded its old type and is now using a neat two line font.

Lowell, Mass., and Toledo, Ohio, are practically the only cities that still retain their original fonts, both these cities have continually used their original type over a decade without a change.

Salem, Mass., has risen from its charred ruins and is again doing business at the same old stand with a new bold type precancel.

Parcel Post precancels are increasing in popularity by leaps and bounds, many collectors are specializing on them and many of the scarcer varieties are in great demand.

Concord, Mass., the historic Revolutionary town, has recently taken up the precancel method.

Among the Pine Tree State cities using precancels are Portland, Bangor, Augusta, Camden, Auburn, and Westbrook.

Thousands of precancels hail from Boston, but it was not until a few months ago that denominations higher than 8c were used. Boston recently changed its regular type and also prepared a special font for Parcel Post use, many of which are very scarce. It is safe to say double Boston precancels are met with anything but frequently.

Kalamazoo and Ypsilanti are now in the precancel fold. It is said Oshkosh and Kokomo will soon be with us, but even so, the effect on one's jaw is not nearly as bad as pronouncing some of the European battle grounds.

To accurately rank the greatest users of precancels would be a difficult task for any precancel student. The following is probably a fair rating:—Chicago 1st, New York 2nd, Philadelphia 3d, Brooklyn 4th, Boston 5th, Buffalo 6th, St. Louis 7th, Cleveland 8th, Cincinnati 9th, Milwaukee 10th, Baltimore 11th, Providence 12th.

San Francisco has recently come to the front with a new precancel. The original 'Frisco precancels which were used before the 'quake are mighty good paper at present.

Baltimore, which precanceled postage dues but no regular issues nearly two decades ago, has within the past year shifted types twice and is now consuming vast quantities of various denominations besides many high Parcel Post values.

Akron, Ohio, the home of "auto" tires and numerous types of precancels, has relegated its famous smudgy precancel to the rear and is now using a somewhat better improved type.

The many artistic precancels of former days are now practically obsolete. Fort Wayne has discontinued its frame, Northampton has done away with its circular type, Jackson has discarded its oval, and Lansing has given up its railroad design. Lynn, Mass., is the only city now using a fancy framed precancel.

Providence, which is usually referred to as Providence, R. I., and is one of the precancel pioneers, is now using a new three line type spelling the entire name of city and state. It is over a decade since Providence used a precancel of this type.

Brockton's shoe business must be good. A few years ago when Brockton commenced using precancels, 1c and 2c precancels took good care of everything but of late assistance was needed and

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

We have in mind publishing in the WEEKLY a philatelic dictionary and as an aid to the author in charge of this work we should like to have submitted some suggested lists of A's.
 Our aim is to make the dictionary the most comprehensive one of its kind ever published and to answer the thousand and one questions asked by the inquiring philatelist.

We want suggestions and the three persons sending in the best lists of A's as candidates for the dictionary will be suitably rewarded. It is possible that we may also scatter other evidences of editorial good will in the pathways of other contestants.
 Let the responses come right along.

THE $2 "WINES AND CORDIALS".

By J. A. BANGS.

In answer to your question on page
 132 of your paper as to the use of the $2 "Wines and Cordials" revenue stamps, I will inform you that these stamps are used to pay the tax on goods in casks at 2c per qt. for wines and 6c per qt. for cordials. The $2 value is of great advantage arising from the fact that the use of many small value stamps is thus avoided.

Charles Beamish, Secty.-Treas.

21 SOUTH 17th STREET,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

LOOKING FORWARD.

This article is unsigned but philatelists generally will attribute it to C. A. Howes, an authoritative writer on matters of this kind. Our only aim in reprinting this article is to show the possibilities to philately in the peace that must soon become a reality.

The impression seems to be "in the air" that the tremendous European conflict will not last the year out, and prognostication even points to the coming July as about the limit of actual hostilities. Let us hope so for everyone concerned. Of course at present it is more or less of a "draw", but signs are not wanting to show the trend of the final result, especially to those who have followed fairly closely the military and financial aspects of the struggle. This is without prejudice to either side and being based on the current published news, may, of course, be "subject to revision."

One thing is certain, however, and that is that the map of Europe is to undergo some important changes, and that outlying possessions of the Great Powers will be more or less transferred in ownership. The one certain result in Europe is already forecasted, which-ever side wins, and that is the re-constitution of the ancient kingdom of Poland. This has been promised by both Russia and Germany—by the former more as a war measure to enlist the sympathy of the Poles she has so long oppressed, and by the latter with a similar object for the present, but with the future idea of getting a "buffer" state between herself and Russia. Russia's idea is to make Poland an autonomous kingdom under the control of the Empire, but whether Germany's idea is the same or to make it a partner with Austria-Hungary in a new "Triple Kingdom" is not quite clear. At any rate, its philatelic possibilities depend upon how far the "autonomy" is carried.

Turning to the west, Belgium immediately demands attention. Information from Berlin indicates that if Germany succeeds Belgium is doomed, for Germany needs more sea-ports like Antwerp, and she will hold as much as possible of the coast of the English Channel and Straits of Dover as a check-mate to England, even to the inclusion of Dunkirk, Calais, and perhaps Boulogne with that portion of France. On the other hand, the extension of Belgium at least as far as the Rhine, which seems to be the natural boundary between the Franks and the Teutons, would undoubtedly result from the success of the Allies.

Little Luxemburg is slated to accompany Belgium into the federated German Empire in the event of Germany's success, as well as portions of Northern France. Thus, if the Teutonic Allies win at least two album pages will be closed in Western Europe for the stamp collector. If the Allies win there is also a suggestion of returning the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstein to Denmark, from which they were filched by Prussia and Austria about 1865. But this is one of the "minor details" which will give the stamp collector no concern.

Southeastern Europe—the "Balkan cauldron"—next demands our attention. Serbia and Montenegro are doomed in case of German success, there are no two ways about that; the iron heel of Austria will be upon them and she will trample rough shod to the Aegean, her goal for years. Greece will have to give way, even if she has kept neutral, for she was the former ally of Serbia and Montenegro and now holds the port of Salonica which Austria covets. But Greece cannot be pushed too far if she does not become a belligerent, as her Queen is Emperor William's sister.

On the other hand, if the Allies succeed both Serbia and Montenegro will gain territory at the expense of Austria by taking Bosnia and Herzegovina at least. Serbia has also been promised her desire for a sea-coast outlet, which Austria robbed her of by constituting the new Kingdom of Albania. What will become of Albania is somewhat problematical, as Italy has interests there, but Italy's influence at the final settlement depends considerably upon her action before the war ends!

Bulgaria and Rumania are of course "on the fence" at present, and if they so remain there will doubtless be little "coming to them." Both are ruled by German Princes, yet Bulgaria is a Slavonic nation and should naturally lean toward Russia, while Rumania is avowedly friendly to the latter, though her population is related to the Latins. Bulgaria, however, is so intensely hostile to both Serbia and Greece as a result of the last Balkan War, that it would really surprise no one greatly if she finally joined the Turco-Teutonic combination—which would immediately bring Greece and Rumania into the conflict, with Italy undoubtedly at their heels if she had not already taken the step. Teutonic success would then mean the Greater Bulgaria which is her ambition, and the Allies' success would undoubtedly forever rob her of even her present importance.

We have now reached Turkey, and here we have a problem within a problem. If the Allies win, the Turk in Europe is doomed—but if he is simply pushed into Asia he will "adorn" our albums still. His European dominions, which amount to but little now outside of Constantinople, would probably be controlled by the Power that held the latter city in order to safeguard the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, and this would mean that a part of Turkey in Asia would also be held to protect these Straits on that side. Russia is the logical new master of this territory, on which she has set her heart for centuries in order that she may have a free and unobstructed passage from the Black Sea. Several times she has had it within her grasp and been held back by the power of England and France. Will they reverse their former policy this time? This is the inner problem. It has been suggested that the Straits and Constantinople be "neutralized" and turned over to King Albert of Belgium to administer; in fact it is claimed that this agreement exists among the Triple Entente. But there are grave doubts if Russia, at the final showdown, will give up possession if she once gets it. Terribly unfortunate would be a split upon that rock at the end!

But what if Germany wins? The Turks would be more firmly entrenched than ever at Constantinople, and while there would be practically no European territory to give her, the Germans propose to restore Egypt to the Sultan. Then a firm treaty between the Austro-German and Turkish Empires would give the Germans a free hand in industrial and commercial relations from Central Europe to the Persian Gulf and also put the Suez Canal in their control. That would mean England's ruin, for the German purpose then would be the "freeing" of India and the extension of Germany's interests and influence again into the far East. Does this not show why the Turks were brought into the struggle?

There remains now the overseas dominions. The Germans demand, naturally, the return of all Colonies taken from them, and the handing over of all the French Colonies as well, which would doubtless include the Portuguese African Colonies. The French Protectorates of Tunis and Morocco as well as Algiers will also be demanded. Besides this "the greater part of the British Colonies" are included and the Belgian Congo. The effect of this would be to make practically the whole of Africa German, to give Germany footholds in all the seas for her commerce and its protection by her navy, and to reduce Great Britain and France to impotence. As regards the demands upon Russia it is proposed that the Baltic Provinces be "returned" to Germany and that Finland be constituted a kingdom and united with Sweden.

Italy only is now left. Does anyone suppose, after the Kaiser's threat, that she would be shown any consideration even if she stuck to her neutrality? Oh no! Trent and Trieste, which she now seeks, would be lost forever, and her new African dominion in Tripoli would without doubt be demanded to round out the new German African Empire. Would Italy dare protest?

The above covers pretty well the possibilities as well as the probabilities which ever combination wins, and the material has been gathered from several authoritative sources and is not wholly imaginative as future months will show.—

EDITORIAL.

Signals Mixed—The usually alert postmaster nods occasionally and it is then the duty of Washington to awaken him with a shout. Some weeks ago, the third assistant postmaster general issued a notice: "The postmaster at San Francisco, Cal., has reported that he receives frequent requests from other postmasters for Panama-Pacific commemorative postage stamps. To obtain these stamps, postmasters should not apply to the postmaster at San Francisco, but should draw requisition upon the Third Assistant Postmaster General," etc. It is explained that as these stamps are printed in sheets of seventy stamps, orders for the stamps should be in 70 or a multiple. It is stipulated: "The Department will not expedite requisitions for the Panama-Pacific stamps. They are usually shipped within a week after receipt of requisition. The value of the Panama-Pacific stamps, handled must be included in postmasters' quarterly stamp accounts."

* * *

They Come—We are late in reporting that we were informed nearly a month ago of a reduction in letter postage between the United States and Barbados and the Leeward Islands. By this token the postage on letters mailed in Barbados and the Leeward Islands (including Antigua, Barbuda, Redonda, St. Kitts, Nevis, Anguilla, Dominica, Montserrat and the Virgin Islands) is reduced to one penny or two cents in our money. The new rate is effective April 1, 1915. Thus, the British colonies named take their stand with Newfoundland, Bahamas and British Honduras in the enjoyment of penny postage with the United States which shares in the boon reciprocally. We look for further accessions to the ranks.

Good Signs—There are indications of activity in the philatelic publishing world. The first number of the Stamp Journal combined with Collectors' Blue Book has appeared as a March-April issue. It gives details of its absorption of a number of journals and promises well for the future. A newcomer, the Stamp Trade, a monthly for stamp dealers is particularly welcome. It is a well conducted sheet that covers its special field ably; and we are pleased to notice that it stands for the higher principles in commercial philately. The April number of the Albamarle Stamp Collector is very interesting and instructive; and in its enlarged form, the paper is a valuable contribution to the journalism of the day. We notice that the editor says that no mention was made of China's recent admission—September 1, 1914, effective in an American paper, according to his recollection. We had due notice of the alliance and should have recorded it.

* * *

Rousing Testimonial—Some of the letters that come to our office from readers are highly interesting and bespeak a sense of comradeship between them and our paper. While it is not our intention to take advantage of this feeling of intimacy yet it may be at times that we do not exercise the utmost delicacy in speaking of matters that may have been submitted merely for our own edification, but we presume in a good cause at least. The following letter has impressed us and knowing that its very human interest will appeal to readers we cannot forbear from speaking of it publicly. The letter is from the Hon. W. Parker Lyon of Pasadena and Fresno, California; and it is one of the most glowing and eloquent tributes to philately that we have ever read.

The Endorsement—Mr. Lyon says: "So many of my old friends so often express amazement that a man such as myself who until recently was deeply engrossed in politics and business could live in full contentment in a city many miles from home with the sole occupation of collecting stamps for pleasure. Five years ago I was a sick man. I was mayor of my home city and was at the head of a large mercantile business which required great care and attention. Further, it was necessary that I look after twenty-nine other stores that I owned in the same city. My doctors insisted that I give up everything connected with business and take a rest. I went abroad and tried to find a location that was relatively satisfactory only to return home with the conviction that I could not get along without something to engage my mind. Finally, almost in desperation, my doctor told me to try stamp collecting."

I understand that the Internal Revenue Bureau borrowed from the P. O. D. one and a half million sheets of paper with the single line U. S. P. S. (postage paper) watermark. This paper was used for part of the first printing of the new revenues and from different articles I have read, the greater part of this paper was used for the denominations under $1.00, as I have only seen one higher denomination listed and that was the $2.00 Wines and Cordials. It is unknown how many of each denomination were printed and as these stamps were sent all over the U. S., it would be a benefit to philately if many dealers using your columns would take an interest in these new revenues and advertise the ones they can furnish, especially the ones on postage paper. The values on revenue paper (U.S.I.R.) will all be available in course of time.

CANADIAN WAR TAX STAMPS.

By A. J. DAVISON.

There seems to be quite a lot of misunderstanding re the new war stamp issues of Canada. The tax for Inland Revenue has been in force since February 12, 1915. The stamps used for this were the ordinary 5c, 20c and 50c postage stamps surcharged in black and the 50c in red, with the words "War Tax" and "Inland Revenue War Tax". These were discontinued when the new stamps were issued of the same denominations with the words "Inland Revenue" printed round the profile of King George.

April 15, saw the commencement of the postage war tax, tax on checks, notes, drafts and patent medicines. The postage tax is the 1c green and the 2c carmine, both stamps with the cut-out-on-plate "War Tax", the 1c being used for letters and postals and the 2c for money orders.

There are great quantities of ones to be had, but the twos promise to be a scarce variety and collectors will do well to hold the twos. Here in one of the largest cities in Canada they cannot be obtained, the stock having been exhausted early after the tax was operative. From all information I can gather there will be no more printed and the ordinary twos are being sent out in place of the "War Taxes." The other issue for inland revenue purposes can not be used to pay postage or as war tax stamps on letters or postals, but banks and druggists may use war tax postage stamps or ordinary stamps to cover the tax on medicines, checks, etc.

BAVARIA.—The Portzegelnieuws is quoted by Ewen's Weekly as saying that the 20pf of the 1914 set has been seen with the usual "E" perforation for railway use.

FRANCE.—Offices in Morocco.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 50c and 1pe stamps of the 1911 issue, with the additional "Protecorat Francais" overprint, as previously announced.

GUINEA.—Whitfield King & Co. report the following Provisionals, all surcharged on the 1902 Provisionals, "Repubblica" 115 on 2 1/2, 5, 25, 40 and 50 reis; 130 on 80, 100, 150, 200 and 300 reis; "Provisorio" 15, 50 and 75 reis, and 50 on 65 reis.

LOURENÇO MARQUES.—Lemaire's Journal reports two provisionals, one being in black on the 5r of the old issue, surcharged "Repubblica" and the other in red on the current centavo issue.

Provisional Adhesives.

MEXICO.—"There are some great doings in that unhappy country," writes Hermann Focke, "a great many, more or less spurious, provisionals having been manufactured, as it seems, with the connivance of enterprising postmasters, principally in the Carranza zone of influence, i. e., the State of Vera Cruz. As these creations are offered for sale on the entire covers, they have the appearance of genuineness. The following varieties I have seen so far:

"a. The set of 1910 Centenarian stamps from 1c to 1 peso surcharged with large Monogram G. C. M. in red instead of purple. These stamps originate from the City of Vera Cruz.

"b. The same set, surcharged vertically in various colors and very crudely 'Gob. Const.'

"c. The 2c apple green and the 3c orange of the Denver set surcharged in three lines 'Vale—20 cts—1914' in black, at Cordoba (Vera Cruz).

"d. Various revenue stamps of the 1913-14 and 1914-15 issues surcharged in red ink 'CORREOS' with and without additional surcharge of 'Gobierno Constitucionalista'.

"Fortunately the prices asked by the Mexicans are such that no collector will easily invest in the stamps, thus a cover with set 'a' and a 10c U. S. stamp (present issue) posted at Vera Cruz, was priced at $35.00 U. S. currency. Two covers with one specimen of the 2 varieties under 'c' at $5.00 U. S. currency each, and so on."

PERSIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have informed us that as the last issue, as well as the recent Provisionals, are exhausted, they have resorted to the 1910 issue, which are now being used on all correspondence.

AREN'T THEY THE CUT-UPS?

Sydney Philatelic Club.—The February meeting was a particularly enjoyable one. Although there were only about a dozen members present, the proceedings were characterised by more than ordinary hilarity. Mr. Williams officiated with great gusto as the auctioneer in the sale of a small lot of Papuan and other stamps, his running fire of remarks regarding the various specimens being received with much laughter. The members were consequently put in a good humour with themselves, and spirited bidding resulted. The debate which followed was interlarded with a good deal of "chaff," and arguments advanced by the various speakers were couched in some cases in forcible language, all of which was in a humorous strain. The fact that the meeting did not adjourn till twenty minutes past ten goes to prove that the interest was maintained right to the end.—Australian Journal of Philately.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are indebted to J. Rausch of San Francisco for a copy of the Official Guide to the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It is the expectation of the managing editor to attend the A. P. S. convention in August, and this courtesy by Mr. Rausch is appreciated.

—The WEEKLY acknowledges receipt of an invitation to attend the World Court Congress to be held at Cleveland, Ohio, May 12-13-14. We note that the Hon. Charles Lathrop Pack is a member of the Committee of One Hundred in charge of the program for what is designed to be a notable peace congress.

—The S. P. A. convention will be held at Reading, Pa., Aug. 5-6-7. A Brooklyn Branch of the S. P. A. has just been formed, as has a Washington, D. C. Branch.

—We are indebted to various of our subscribers for information concerning the Canada War Tax. Letters are at hand from Hilliard Dusang, W. W. Walsh, E. W. Sawyer and Geo. A. Hargraff. We think the nature of the services of the two sets of war tax stamps are now understood by our subscribers.

—M. E. J.—We do not know what your used German Morocco with surcharge inverted is worth. We should advise you to ask one of your dealer friends who would know more about stamp values than the editor of the WEEKLY.

—Wendover Neefus, Hudson, N. Y., would like name of party in Batesville, Indiana, who remitted for order on March 25.

—In the Classmate for April 10, published by the Methodist Book Concern, is an article by C. L. Chamberlin of more than ordinary interest to the stamp collector. It is entitled "United States Postage Stamps," and we are indebted to O. R. Hunderson for the clipping.

—We have received a letter from Hilliard D. Dusang, the postage being paid by a 1c and 2c Canadian War Tax stamp. Mr. Dusang says, "At first letters which had the 2c War Tax on would go to the dead letter office but the law has been changed now and this stamp is valid for postage." It would seem as though this stamp would ultimately find recognition in the stamp catalogs, now that the original regulations have been changed as indicated.

—"Students are being sent from the University of Oregon as guides at the Oregon Building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and I have been one of the fortunate ones selected. Shall be glad to pay particular attention to A. P. S. members and am looking forward with much anticipation to the coming convention."—J. L. WHITMAN, Eugene, Ore.

—M. Ohlman submits a specimen copy of a very low priced yet excellent approval card, and interested parties will do well to correspond with him.

—The firm of Bridger & Kay, 71 Fleet St., London, Eng., has just issued a large price-list of British Colonial stamps. It is a splendid book and should be in the hands of every collector. It will no doubt be sent on request.

—From Fred Michael, Chicago, Ill., we have received his May, 1915, new issue list. It is a pretentious list covering a wide range of desirable stamps.

—"The Villa authorities have issued a set of stamps in the Sonora Coach design for Southern District of California, except that the reading is 'Distrito Sur de ha Baja Cal.' in place of 'Sonora'. The seal is red in place of green and the background gray. I have seen the 5 centavo but presume the set comes in the 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50c."—W. J. STANTON.

We have just bought a very fine collection of these interesting stamps, the collection is very strong in early issues, both used and unused and contains many fine pairs and strips showing different types and errors. Want lists will be filled at reasonable prices on receipt of A1 references.

contrary it was regarded by them as a counterfeit and its appearance threw such a scare into them that the entire 'transitorio' set was discontinued (except in the Monterrey district, where it was protected by the Monterrey surcharge) and a new set of entirely different design was ordered. The use of the '5c perf. Transitorio' in certain offices in the western district was entirely unauthorized and irregular, and was promptly suppressed."—S. B. HOPKINS.

—At the next informal meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society to be held at the club room, Tremont Building, on May 4th, Mr. Frank L. Coes of Worcester will give a little talk on the treatment of the portrait of Queen Victoria on different postage stamps by various engravers. He will illustrate it with a lantern and colored slides and as the Boston Society is contemplating the purchase of a similar outfit it is hoped there will be a large attendance. Come and bring a friend who is interested in stamp collecting.

NEW AUSTRALIANS.

The latest to hand in the King George design are the 1/2d and 5d and another shade of the 4d. We might say with regard to the latter that, while up till recently, the 4d King George was on sale at the Sydney office in an orange yellow color, similar stamps were only obtainable in Melbourne in a deep orange. Last week the color of the stamps on sale at the Sydney office was a pale orange.

Owing to a shortage of paper a week's supply for the Melbourne Post Office of the 2d kangaroo stamps was printed on the King George paper, the watermark on which is slightly different from the kangaroo paper.

The 5d King George, which was quite a surprise, comes to us perf. 14 on the single line machine. In all probability it will be seen shortly perforated on the comb machine.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THE BUSINESS SIDE OF JAMAICA.

In our last week's discussion of the country of Jamaica, we touched only on the biographical side. This week, we will analyze the country from a financial point of view, and see whether money invested in Jamaican stamps is a good investment or not.

Let us consider first the "Pineapple" set of 1860-3, which was the first series to appear from the colony. This set, like the first issue of almost any country, is rare, and much in demand. It compares well with the "classical" issues. My experience has been that these stamps are far scarcer than price would indicate. In the '80's and '90's, it was a favorite pastime of collectors to hunt through Jamaican stocks for Pineapples, and the only reason the sport has diminished is because the supply has also diminished. Perfect copies of this set are almost unobtainable, though poor and fair copies are not as uncommon. If I had any superb copies of this set, I should want considerably over catalogue for them. Let us consider the prices as given by Gibbons 1915, Scott 1910 and Scott 1915:

Value	Scott 1910	Scott 1915	Gibbons 1914-15
*1d	$1.00	$1.75	$2.12
1d	.15	.35	.50
2d	1.50	2.50	2.50
3d	1.00	1.25	1.50
4d	1.25	1.50	2.12
6d	.85	1.25	1.87
1sh	.60	1.00	1.50
Set used	$5.35	$7.85	$9.99

From the above table, it will be seen that the price of used copies has advanced nearly 50% in five years, amounting to an increase of approximately 10% a year. In other words, these stamps are worth 50% more than their cost price in 1910 and have been paying a dividend of 10% a year.

In comparing the prices of Jamaica, using the 1910 and 1915 Scott lists, the writer noted that while no stamp had decreased in value in that period, all save five have increased in value. Comparisons with the Gibbons catalogue indicate that the prices will rise even higher in the future.

The Crown and CC has advanced also, as follows:

Value	Scott 1910	Scott 1915	Gibbons 1914-15
1d	$.04	$.15	$.16
2d	.04	.15	.25
3d	.75	1.00	1.50
4d	.18	.40	.50
6d	.15	.35	.36
1sh	.35	.50	.50
Set used	$1.51	$2.55	$3.27

The advance on this set, amounting to 60% in five years, is even greater than on the Pineapple set. This, however, may be accounted for by the fact that the Pineapples are more expensive and have come nearer to the level, where they will remain for a while, or will advance more slowly. As a rule, stamps do not increase as rapidly as these two sets, and few stamps increase continually in price. While low in price, they are much in demand and sell readily, thus forcing up the price. After a certain plane is reached, the sales are not as easily made and the stamps, while they do continue to advance, do not go up with the leaps and bounds of cheaper stamps. I am firm of the opinion that the Crown and CC set will continue to advance until it, too, is priced in the dollars.

The unused set is priced to-day at $15.25, as against $11.00 five years ago. Since the law of supply and demand regulates stamp prices as well as all other values, and since the demand for unused is not as great as for used, though the unused are scarcer, the price has not advanced as fast. Unused copies with original gum, and well centered, of these issues are very scarce, and command high prices in proportion to catalogue.

The 2sh and 5sh values have not proven good investments, since they have failed to increase materially. The 2sh Crown and CA is the best of the lot, and has advanced from 75c to $1.25, or 60%. Unused, the advance is from $1.00 to $1.50, or 50%. Also, the 5sh Crown and CA has advanced 20% or from $2.50 to $3.00 for unused copies. Of course, in the twentieth century, the 2sh Multiple Crown and CA is one of the rarities of the country, and has advanced from 70c to $4.00 in five years, or an increase of nearly 600%! This stamp, by the way, is a real rarity for this small country, and is eagerly sought by dealers. A recent buying quotation from a dealer was $3.25. The used stamp is far scarcer than the unused, but the price is somewhat lower. The 2sh violet on blue promises to be a fair stamp for these high values. The 5sh 1905-9 (Multiple) promises little future, owing to its continued use.

The other nineteenth century issues have all shown an increase, though not as strong as the two mentioned above. The 6d yellow shade of 1885-90 has increased, used, from 25c to 75c. This is one of the few large jumps.

In the fifteen years of the twentieth century, Jamaica has certainly kept things lively. Not by a flood of surcharges, or even many issues, but the scarcity of the stamps themselves have kept collectors busy.

As a matter of fact, Jamaica has issued only one stamp without sufficient cause or necessity. That is the 1d Llandovery Falls stamp. There was no real reason for the issue of this stamp, excepting that many of the other colonies were issuing like stamps, and Jamaica wished to follow suit. However, the stamp in question is a low priced one and bothers no one. Every other issue was necessary. The twentieth century issues follow those of most of the other colonies, being Single CA; Multiple CA; New Color Scheme, and King George.

The Single CA values are quite common, both unused and used and hence are advancing slowly. The 5d has advanced from 30c to 75c unused in the five years, and the used has advanced from 25c to 75c. In the last year, this stamp has increased from 50c and 35c to 75c, and I believe that the next issue of the catalogue will find it still higher. This is an odd value and but little used.

The Multiple CA set in the old colors is one of the scarcest in the twentieth century, and nice used copies are far scarcer than the unused. This is accounted for by the fact that most new issue services send out the stamps unused, while the used ones must come through the mail. The 1/2d is probably the commonest stamp of the set, and I doubt if ever be a "record breaker," though it will advance. The 1d is quite scarce used. The unused which was listed at 50c in 1912 was advanced to $1.00 in 1914, but as this price seemed excessive and supplies were put on the market, the price dropped to 60c in 1915. I believe it will remain in this neighborhood for a year or two, and will then advance a little. The stamp is not common, but my experience has been that the used copies are the scarcest. In writing up the rest of this country, it will be to no avail to use the 1910 catalogue since many of these stamps were current at that time, and are priced as such. I cannot help wishing, however, for a sheet of the two shilling stamp at the price of 70c as listed in the 1910 book.

In my own collection, I had more trouble in securing the 4d stamp of the Multiple set than any of the others, including the two shilling. I finally picked up a canceled copy, but waited a great deal longer for my unused specimen. I believe this 4d stamp is harder to find than any other Jamaican stamp, unless it be certain of the Pineapples, and will be mistaken if the near future does not make this a $5.00 stamp. The stamp does not seem to be in as much demand as the two shilling, as it has not received the publicity, but I have seen far fewer of them.

The 5d Multiple is likewise scarce, and scarcer canceled. The 6d is not so scarce as the above two, but is a good one. The shilling is rather elusive unused, and I have never been able to secure a canceled copy, even though it is listed at a price lower than any other shilling. I look for a decided increase in this stamp used.

Now we come to the much-talked of two shilling. This stamp was one of the last in the set to be issued, appearing November, 1908. Two shilling stamps are not used to much extent, and 50c a stamp is a lot of money when the thousands of new issues are considered. Therefore, many collectors postponed buying their copy until too late. The 2 shilling in the new color scheme appeared without notice September, 1910, and the opportunity of getting the old color 2 shilling was gone. Immediately, collectors wanted it, and many are still wanting it. It is worth $3.50 to $4.00 to-day and Gibbons lists it at a pound. Used copies are equally scarce and are worth practically as much. I believe this stamp will before long be classed with the 2sh 6d British New Guinea and the 1sh New Hebrides, and certainly deserves the honor.

The five shilling stamp is still current and must be treated as such. Used copies are not common, but can be had with a little patience.

Of the new color set, the 4d printed in black on yellow paper is the star. This stamp was also short-lived and was replaced without notice by the red on yellow. I remember well the day I received my supply of these stamps and how I sold them at 12c each, about five years ago. The latest auction quotation is $2.25, and the stamp is worth it. Canceled copies are practically unknown, and are worth more than unused. I have only seen one, and that one cost me 80% of catalogue three years ago.

The 3d stamp is quite fair, but is rather common canceled. Worth holding, however. The 6d is, I believe, a little high at 85c, as quite a number of copies seem to be floating around. Nice used copies are much scarcer than unused. The shilling is rather good. The two shilling is still current, but will be worth having, I think, as used copies are not plentiful.

The 2d gray Edward (the only Edward stamp issued) was put on sale after the death of the king, and was only in use a short time. It is an odd value and does not appear to be as common as the 3d.

The 4d red on yellow is very good, though too recent to be appreciated. I believe it will advance materially before long. The 6d Arms type is another good stamp worth buying for speculation. I have never found a used copy that was not damaged by soaking. Used are far scarcer than unused.

Of the King George issues, which are still current, little can be said. All values are appearing on the mail. The 2d is quite scarce, the 1/2, 1d, and 2 1/2 are scarcely worth saving, and 3d are used quite extensively on registered mail to U. S. Values above 3d are not of course, as rare as those of the other West Indian colonies, in canceled condition, but will never be really common.

The "white-backs" or more strictly speaking, the values on surface-colored paper, will without doubt prove good investments. This holds true in all the colonies. The shilling value, being the latest to appear, will be the best stamp of the three, I believe, and I would urge all collectors to invest in a copy. Quite a number of 3d were used, and seem to be quite as common as the yellow-backs, but no doubt, the supply will be readily absorbed. The 4d is not frequently met with, and will be better by far than the 3d.

What will Jamaica do next? The island was the first and only colony to use a pineapple watermark; was the first to use the King George key-plate of the particular type used, and was the first to issue White-back stamps. What next?

From the above summary, collectors will readily see that Jamaican stamps are "good business." They seem to be the only ones that always win and never lose.

In preparing this article and the one of last week, I must give the credit for the biography to Mr. Melville, who has so ably treated the subject in his little hand-book. For the benefit of any collector who wishes to learn more of this little colony and its postal affairs, let me suggest that they invest a quarter in the Melville book on the stamps of "Jamaica."

THE DOCUMENTARY REVENUE STAMPS OF THE STATE OF NEVADA.

By FRANK L. APPELGATE.

Certain points in connection with the revenue stamps of Nevada, like those of California, have always been shrouded in mystery. After a great deal of correspondence and research I am now prepared to report on some of these while certain other problems must still be left unsolved. In the course of my researches I was particularly fortunate in making the acquaintance and enlisting the aid of Dr. S. L. Lee, an old time resident of Carson City, a member of the State Board of Health and withal an enthusiastic student of stamps and passed by the legislature of 1865, and went into effect on the first Monday in May, 1865. The Act specified that the sum of $3000, should be taken from the general fund, by the State Controller for the purpose of securing the necessary plates and the printing of sufficient stamps to meet the demands of the State or such portion of the said three thousand dollars as might be necessary. By examining the State Treasurer's report for 1866, it will be seen that the plates and printing cost only $600. In the text of the Act, there is no especially the issues in question. We will allow Dr. Lee to report his findings in regard to the history of the Nevada revenues:

"The reason for issuing those fiscals was to assist in raising a revenue sufficient to pay off a large territorial debt assumed by the State when it was admitted into the Union on the 31st day of October, 1864 and to meet the current expenses of the State government. The authority for issuing them was included in the 'general revenue Act,' mention made of the denominations to be printed and at this late date it is impossible to ascertain the number of each, nor can I find out the exact amount, in dollars and cents, that was issued in the aggregate, but from the meagre data at my command, conclude that the first printing amounted to $350,000 worth of stamps, face value. I have reason for believing that all of this first issue were unrouletted. Of course, I may be mistaken in this, but I find that in 1872 the Controller had $41,500

U. S. PLATE NUMBERS

1895 AND 1898 ISSUES

I am breaking up the most wonderful Plate Number collection ever offered of the 1895 and 1898 Issues in strips of 3, only,—no blocks, and all positions.

It is especially strong in the rare 1898 regular issue. Some marvelous shades. Write me if interested.

H. F. COLMAN,

Second National Bank Bldg.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

more printed and turned them in to the State Treasurer as the law instructed him to do. All of those latter stamps, I know to have been rouletted and of the same number on each sheet.

The law specified that the Controller should have a sufficient number printed for the Use of the State and County Treasurers and then turn the plates over to the Secretary of State, taking his receipt therefor and turning the stamps over to the State Treasurer. When an emergency arose, calling for another issue, the above procedure was to be again enacted.

Where those plates are now it is impossible to say. The present Secretary of State knows nothing about them. I can find no present official and but one of a former administration who has the least memory of what the plates looked like. Mr. P. B. Ellis, Atty. at Law, was Deputy Secretary of State in 1885-9, recalls their appearance and says they were either copper or steel, and feels quite sure that they were the former. They were, probably, carried down to the basement of the capitol, thrown among the rubbish and subsequently hauled to the garbage heap.

I find in my examination of the Treasurers' reports from 1866 to 1875 that the stamps sold during those years aggregated $125,972.94 and by years as follows: 1865-6, $17,810; 1867, $22,464.65; 1868, $35,865.41; 1869, $15,534.18; 1870, $740.94; 1871, $24,269.02; 1872, $9,288.74 = $125,972.94.

I have overhauled with the assistance of Mr. Frank Pyne, of the State Library, the documents, reports and legislative proceedings of 1865, and among the latter, we found the report of the Controller, A. W. Nightengale, for the above year, but it was most unsatisfactory. He simply states that there had been sold "about" $20,000 worth of stamps for the eight months the law had been in operation. That the greatest expense had been in getting out the first issue, that hereafter the only expense would be for the printing, which would be insignificant. He concludes by saying that there were enough on hand to last throughout the coming year (1866).

Owing to increase of real and personal property and proceeds from mines, the legislature repealed the stamp act on the 2d day of February, 1873. The remainders were in the hands of the State Treasurer, he having called in all that were in the possession of the several County Treasurers, until the 31st day of December, 1873, when he turned them over to the State Controller. The remainders amounted to $223,637.87, which added to the amount sold, $125,972.94 = $349,581.13, which leaves a discrepancy of $618.67 of stamps unaccounted for upon the assumption that $350,000 were issued. It is highly probable that this amount, $618.67, was sold between the first day of January and the second day of February, 1873, when the Act was repealed. I do not find any evidence of such sale but it is most improbable that none were disposed of.

I know that the remainders were in the possession of the State Controller as late as 1884. Then there were many of the high values in his vault, but I have reason to believe that none can be found there now. No law has ever been passed as to their final disposition. No one about the capitol has ever been interested in stamps of any kind, so it is a mystery as to what has become of them. Probably they found an end in the same way as did the plates.

The stamps were to be supplied to the several County Treasurers in amounts necessary to carry out the provisions of the Act. Any person purchasing from the State or County Treasurers stamps to the amount of $50.00 and not exceeding $100 was allowed a commission of 5%. On amounts exceeding $100 and up to $500, a commission of 8% and in any amount exceeding $500, a commission of 10%. County Treasurers were allowed for their own use a commission of 3% on all stamps sold by them.

In the law there were 70 items or instruments mentioned upon which stamps should be applied and the amount thereon. I mention the following as appearing in the list: Affidavits, 5 cents; Bills of Exchange, 2 cents on each $100; Bills of Sale, 5 cents; Official Bonds, $1.00; Indemnifying Bonds, 50 cents on each $1,000; Mortgages, 50 cents for each $500; R. R. Bonds, same as mortgages; Bonds of all other descriptions, 25 cents; Contracts, Broker's, 10 cents; Life Insurance, 25 cents on each $1,000 up to $5,000.

Unless the future may discover a Controller's more amplified report for 1865-6, the name of the engraver of the plates and printer of the stamps will never be positively known, although it is probable that the contract was awarded to Valentine & Francis, as that firm did most of the engraving and ornamental printing on the Pacific Coast during the 60's and 70's.

I wish to acknowledge the great and generous assistance rendered me in my research by the Hon. P. B. Ellis and Mr. Frank Pyne, State Librarian."

THE 1865 IMPERFORATES.

The issue of 1865, consisting of ten values, were all issued imperforate, some with gum and some without. A thin, hard, white wove paper is common to all values, but there are certain exceptions to this rule. The plate arrangements and principal varieties as far as can be ascertained from such full sheets and part sheets as are now known to be in existence, is as follows:

Two Cents—These were all of the variety known as "single star," having reference to the large star in the middle of the design. There were at least two sheets used for this stamp, at least two plate arrangements. One shows fifty impressions, arranged in five horizontal rows of ten each, and the other is arranged in eight rows of eight impressions or sixty-four to the sheet. There are two spacings between the stamps as arranged on the plates, one about one and one-fourth millimeters between designs, and the other much wider, ranging from two and one-half to three and one-half millimeters. I am not prepared to say to which plate the wide spacing belongs, but believe to the

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

Charles Beamish, Secty.-Treas.

21 SOUTH 17th STREET,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

fifty stamp plate which I believe was used first, and that the impression from this sheet is the one with the faint outer line. Under this variety comes the stamp printed in orange of different shades, some quite rare and the scarce bright yellow as well. Some of this variety in orange come on a heavy wove paper, quite distinct. The stamps from the other plate have a much heavier outer line and come in a more uniform color and paper.

Four Cents—The four cent stamps were from one plate of eighty impressions, consisting of eight horizontal rows of ten each. It was never gummed and never rouletted.

Five Cents—These were printed from a plate consisting of two panes of fifty each. Some were on a very heavy wove, even thicker than that of the two cent mentioned above, in a gray green color, but the great majority of them were on the usual thin, hard paper, and in yellow green, dark yellow green and dull green ink.

Ten Cents—There were two plates for the 10 cent value. One consisting of fifty impressions, in five horizontal rows of ten, and one of eighty in eight rows of ten as in the four cent. The sheets of fifty came from the printer both with and without gum, but those of eighty stamps were always ungummed. As in the two cent, there is considerable variation between the spacing on the sheet.

Twenty-five Cents—I cannot ascertain for sure how many there were of this value to the sheet, but it is thought either sixty-four or eighty. It is thought also that they were originally ungummed and that some copies which are found with gum, have been so treated unofficially, as the gum on these is peculiar and does not correspond with the gum found on other values. This gum imparts a peculiar oily and transparent appearance to the stamp and makes the vermilion color take on a peculiar reddish cast. It is worthy of note that a gummed stamp showing this peculiarity when soaked in soap and water for some time comes off clean and of the same shade as the common ungummed variety.

Fifty Cents—Even less is known of the plate arrangement of this value than of the twenty-five cent, but as to paper; some are on the same extremely heavy paper that has been described in connection with the five cent value. Most of them being on the regular paper.

One Dollar—This denomination was printed as near as I can ascertain consisting of two panes side by side, each pane consisting of five rows of five impressions.

Five Dollars—Nothing definite can be stated in regard to the plate arrangement of this stamp. It is quite scarce, more so, perhaps, than either the ten or twenty dollar values. It has been said that this stamp exists on the peculiar buff or "straw" paper known in connection with the latter two values. If so, it is doubly rare. Dr. Lee, who vouches for the ten and twenty dollar on straw, has never seen the five dollar on this paper.

Ten and Twenty Dollars—These two denominations are from plates consisting of a single pane of twenty impressions arranged in four horizontal rows of five each. The ten dollar is in dark brown and the twenty dollar in violet ink, both, normally, on the regular thin wove paper. But—and here we enter on ground long contested by collectors and students of this state's issues. Hear Dr. Lee:

"I will say that the $10 and $20 imperforate Nevada revenues did appear on fresh, bright straw paper. They are sometimes spoken of as changelings, but they are not. I have seen at least twenty sheets of each denomination, some over thirty years ago. They were in use and I am certain they are now as they came from the printer."

In fairness, I must report the contentions of the other side, which is that the color of the paper was diverted from its original white color by the action of fire, having passed through some conflagration in which they were protected from actual destruction by being confined in a safe. No actual evidence of such a fire is forthcoming, but this is inferred from the appearance of quantities of stamps of other kinds known to have received this treatment during the great fire in San Francisco.

Having examined several copies of each denomination, I find the paper of a uniform color and of the same quality and tenacity apparently as the white paper; the only suspicious feature, as far as I can see, being the color of the $20 stamp which is not violet, but gray. Dr. Lee accounts for this by the assumption that they are not of the same printing as the stamps on white paper, but earlier. Certain it is that all the proofs of Nevada I have seen are printed in gray ink, showing the use of gray ink at that time.

Hence, as a check list of imperforate Nevada revenues we have:

On thick, white wove paper.
2c reddish orange, single star, thin outer line.
5c gray green.
50c dark red lilac.

On thin, white wove paper.
2c yellow, single star, thin outer line.
2c orange (shades) star, thin outer line.
2c orange (shades) star, heavy outer line.
4c carmine rose.
5c gray green.
5c yellow green (shades).
10c blue, (light to dark).
25c vermilion.
50c dark red lilac.
50c violet brown.
$1.00 carmine.
5.00 orange brown.
10.00 dark brown.
20.00 violet.

On thin, buff wove paper.
5.00 ?
10.00 dark brown.
20.00 gray (?).

WE HAVE A RIGHT TO CELEBRATE.

We propose May 29 for the date! It will take the form of special number that will celebrate the "new birth" as well as the great circulation feat of 8,000 paid subscribers recently accomplished by the WEEKLY.

It will have a pretty cover made entirely from postage stamp designs. Advertisers will note the date and make their plans accordingly. Put a little "pep" into your publicity propaganda and there will be a quick response.

RETIREMENT OF MEKEEL INTEREST.

With this number of the WEEKLY, a business transaction has been effected that concerns this publication as has none other during its entire career. Two years ago last February, Mr. I. A. Mekeel, who held a controlling interest in the WEEKLY, died at his home in Montclair, N. J. A short time since, the estate of Mr. Mekeel offered the Mekeel stock to the two other stockholders, Messrs. Severn and Wylie, and they have purchased the same in conjunction with Mr. William W. Jewett of the Jewett Printing Co., Portland, Me., formerly owner of the Weekly Philatelic Era and for the past eleven years, printer of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. The management of the WEEKLY is now an exceedingly powerful one and better equipped than ever before for its great work—the popularizing of stamp collecting. The new order of things will no doubt be dealt with a little more fully in subsequent issues.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Twice A Month—The American Philatelic Society has met the emergency that followed the suspension of the Philadelphia Stamp News by placing in force measures that were legalized at the convention of 1912 and were calculated to meet this crisis. Hereafter the American Philatelist will be issued twice a month; and so by stress of circumstances the official journal of the A. P. S. must take a progressive step; and under the direction of the secretary, Mr. Ault, we feel that a fitting success will follow.

* * *

Society Affairs—Several requests have been heard for information about the coming convention of the American Philatelic Society at San Francisco. We can say that there will be a sprinkling of members to attend from the east according to promises that already have been made. Particulars as to the time and place of the convention and arrangements for the entertainment of delegates will be announced in due course of time. Speaking of conventions, it may be added here that Boston already is in the field for the 1916 gathering. As for political activity in connection with the coming election, soon there will be evidences that several branch societies have been giving thought to the selection of directors for the coming year. General Coolidge will be a candidate for a third term as president and the inference is that the office will be bestowed on an eastern man this year. Personally, we should like to have the presidency given to Cleveland for reasons that need not be reviewed here. However, we know that the honor will be fittingly awarded.

Caps—A reader who has noticed with indignation the liberties that are being taken with the good name of the two cent, 1890 United States, right cap, writes to us in the customary high dudgeon. He laments that the Philistines would rob him of the solace that he derives from the contemplation of his right cap 2, which he paid three dollars for on the strength that it was worth five dollars even at the time of purchase, fifteen years ago. He asks if he is to doubt the evidences of his senses. There are right caps and caps that are not right. Sometimes an enthusiastic owner can almost imagine a right cap where only an apology for one exists. Our correspondent need wait no more. The right cap does exist and a record of its sale at auction for the season of 1912-13 showed the following prices that were realized: $3.75, $5.10 and $8.00, and this is an average of something over five dollars for each stamp.

The Real Thing—The story of the World's Greatest Collection that appeared in our issue of two weeks ago was a revelation to many readers and judging from the comment that it has occasioned, the recital made a profound impression. For many years first as Ferrary and later as l'Renotiere the owner of the vast horde of stamps has been the subject of much speculation in the philatelic world but little information of a personal or intimate nature that could be considered authentic has been available heretofore; and so, this wonderful stamp gourmet has been a figure cloaked in mystery and fascination. Those who were in a position to speak by the book have refrained from satisfying the curiosity of philatelists but we are pleased that the silence now has been broken by one who was capable of weaving an interesting tale about this philatelic personage, that was at once candid and truthful. In the last forty years thousands of newspaper notices have mentioned this collector in connec-
